Notre Dame School Edges Albert 6-5, Wins COSSA Senior 'B' Grid Title

In one of the hardest fought, yet cleanest games played on any local field in a long while, Notre Dame College School of Welland, Ontario, took the Senior "B" COSSA title for 1954 from the Albert College gridders by a score of 6 to 5.

Both teams were big, rugged and well-drilled, and provided a brand of football that delighted spectators in a continual uproar. The hard-hitting tackling of Albert lead to numerous fumbles, but most of these were around the centre of the field and did not directly lead to any of the scoring.

Notre Dame elected to kick off, and Albert made yards twice in succession on plunges by Bob Lemon and Jim Parkins, but the visitor's line stiffened and they took over the ball. Little had be done with the Albert line, and on resorting to the air Hamilton picked off a pass attempt and ran the ball to the Notre Dame thirty yard line, on the first play Pete Miller skirted the end for a good gain to put the ball on the 5 yard line, from where Bob Lemon plunged across for the touch down but missed the convert.

Parkins, the Notre Dame captain, were given a chance to lead and had to retire from the game.

KICKING BETTER

Play ranged around centre field for most of the second quarter, with Notre Dame twice being within the Albert territory, but on each occasion the fine work of Walman, Raspenen, and Benton kept them from scoring the line.

Albert received the ball on the kick-o ' at half and had little success i advancing the ball. Notre Dame's kicking was particularly better than that of Albert, and they gained a little ground was lost in the exchange of punts. Late in the third quarter, to a penalty and fumble, Notre Dame got the ball up to the Albert 30-yard line, and scored eros the short deadline for a point.

Neither team could get into scoring position in the first minutes of the last quarter, Hamilton recovered his own kick to get Albert out of danger, and Notre Dame got possession when Albert tried for a yard on a third down and missed by inches.

A series of line plays brought the ball down to the Albert forty yard line — on a wide sweep, Beaulieu carrying the ball, bounced off two Albert tacklers and made for the coffin corner, outfooling the Albert defence to give the visitors the winning margin. The convert after three tries was missed, the ball being offside on the first two.

With about four minutes to go Albert had a good chance when they forced the Notre Dame boys back to their own goal line, but on the punt, O'Shea recovered his own kick to take his team out of danger.

Girgenti, at quarterback for Notre Dame, and Rupert in the pivot spot for Albert, both called good games. Offensively Lemmon, Hamilton, Donaldson, Miller and Scott were all outstanding for Albert, while Benton, Parkin and Tallon were good for Notre Dame. Both lines played outstanding ball with Bud Gormley of Albert being perhaps the outstanding player on the field defensively.

The line-up:

Notre Dame—Girgenti, Luka, Parkins, Pennachetti, Swazas, Jeffery, Imrie, Wingard, Hathorne, Diffen, Tallon, O'Shea, Juneau, Beaulieu, G. Beaulie, B. Sheehan, Walman, Benton, Farrell, D'Antonio, Anderson, Cote, Cutbush.

TEAM ENTERTAINED

Albert College entertained the team and specialists of Notre Dame School of Welland after the COSSA final game to a buffet supper in Ackerman Hall at the college.

Before the serving of the supper, Rev. A. E. MacKenzie welcomed and congratulated the Notre Dame team on their victory, he then introduced Father Nates, coach of the Notre Dame team, along with Bernie Parkins and Pete Beach of the Albert team, along with Bernie Parkins and Pete Beach of the Albert team, who explained the respective teams. Each one spoke for a few moments to the assembled group.

Following the meal both groups entertained and toured the college buildings.

Northern Electric Hockey League

The Hornets and Barons were victorious in the Northern Electric Recreation Department Hockey League over the week-end with the Hornets defeating the Flyers 6-0 and the Barons coming out on the long end of a 4-2 score with the Indians.

Wallbridge paced the Hornets in their pre-holiday-night game, getting two of his team's markers and assisting on another. Whalen, Creegan, Locke and Philp were the other marksmen with helpers going to Locke, Creegan and Philp with a pair. Eight penalties were handed out by referees B. Hurst and D. Ashley, including two majors. Creegan collected eleven minutes in penalties to lead in this department.

The Barons split their scoring up with Weitbrall, Jones, Hatfield and Woodley hitting the heavy while Pucanik was the playmaker, drawing a trio of assists. Hatfield helped himself to a goal and an assist for the Indians while Roberts claimed the other and Belnap had one assist. Only two minor penalties were dished out by referees B. Sturst and E. Hurst in this game.

NOVEMBER

November days! days of brown leaf and sere,
Late autumn days! so dull and dark and drear,
With wind winds wailing o'er a dying year.

The tree upstretch bare branches to the sky,
As if imploring help now winter's nigh.
While under lowering clouds the ravens fly
But soon white clouds across the sky will sweep,
And soft shall glow the Indian summer day,
Though summer from the earth
has passed away.
—Helen B. Anderson.

WELLINGTON — Although November is a dreary month, yet it has its advantages. The other day, after being deprived of the pleasure of the out-of-doors for some days owing to illness, I ventured to motor down along the shore of Lake Ontario through the villages of Rose Hall and Hillier and on to Pleasant Bay. The leafless trees gave an extended view of the scenic countryside, a view not enjoyed in the summer when the trees are clothed in their foliage. It seemed like a new world with the picture of the lake and bay bordered. Truly, "Distance lends enchantment to the view."

And robes the mountains in an azure hue."

Remembrance Day was observed in Wellington on the morning of Thursday with a service at the Memorial Park Gates conducted by Rev. C. P. Heaven and Rev. J. Pouller, followed by an address by Mr. Norris Whitney, M.P.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Orr, Belleville, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Vandewater.

Miss Nellie Arthur and Miss Clara Anderson, Belleville, called on Miss S. E. Blakely Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Neilson has returned home after spending several weeks with friends in Victoria and other western towns.

Mrs. Flora Durant left last week to spend the winter in Los Angeles, California, after visiting friends in Toronto enroute.

Mrs. Laura Adams, Toronto, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. L. Allison, Bloomfield. Mrs. W. H. Anderson, Wellington, and Mrs. Annie Way, Pleasant Bay.

Mr. Clare Platt's auction sale of dry goods stock at the town hall for several evenings has attracted large crowds and good bargains are reported. Although disposing of his dry goods, Mr. Platt will continue the grocery business in the Wellington store.

Mrs. Ernest Benham, Bloomfield, spent Wednesday with her sister, Mrs. Harry Carley, Maple Avenue.

Miss Mary Lumb is spending a few days with friends in Hastings.

Mrs. Mary Hutchinson and Mrs. Helen McCorkill have returned home after spending a few weeks with friends in Detroit and Windsor.

Miss Marjorie Blakely with Mrs. E. Bond and Mrs. Harry Carley motored to Belleville on Thursday.

The W.M.S. of the United Church met in the Sunday school room on Tuesday afternoon for the November meeting with the president, Mrs. G. Stenburg in charge.

Mrs. Gay with her granddaughter enjoyed a motor trip to Ottawa last week.

MEMORIES

Remembrance Day and its observance brings memories of the close of the First World War when we were waiting expectantly for the return of a soldier, Rev. Ernest Harston. It was a beautiful evening with a resplendent sunset and an oriole pouring forth its soul in song. Then an automobile arrived with two local lads, Lance Davern and Clayton French, bringing the returned soldier from the village station. Needless to say there was a warm welcome. Even the old dog cried with joy on his master's return.

DREAM OF THE PAST

"The oriole's back," we hear her say
As she watches the gleam of its friendly way!
But her thoughts are soaring far away
To a radiant eve of a long-lost spring.

On an apple bough an oriole sang
'Mid the golden gleam of the sunset glow,
And over all was the evening calm
In that glad hour of the long ago.

A guest was expected—a soldier lad—
O dreary the days of the long war years—
But now the waiting hearts were glad
And past the suspense, the toil and tears.

Hark! the oriole's song is sweet!
The sound of wheels on the gravel grates,
The old dog leaps the lad to greet
And after all, how kind is fate!

The twilight deepens, the shadows fall,
Softly fades the sunset glow,
Again she starts at the wild oriole's call
From her dream of 30 long years ago.
—Helen B. Anderson.

Friday, case of the jurors became ill and the trial was adjourned until Saturday. The juror did not appear Saturday and the trial was continued with an 11-man jury.

Traffic Crashes Claim 8 Lives; Three Are Shot

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Traffic accidents accounted for the majority of eastern Canada's 17 violent deaths during the week-end.

By midnight Sunday, eight persons died in highway mishaps, a Canadian Press survey shows. Three persons were killed in accidental shootings and two in falls. A train accident, a drowning, a fire and a Toronto subway accident accounted for the other four.

Quebec, with nine, had the most fatalities. Ontario had seven and New Brunswick one. No violent deaths were reported in Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island or Newfoundland.

In Quebec four persons were killed on the highways.

In one of the other fatalities, Mrs. Georges Bordieau, 24, died when a shotgun held by her husband accidentally discharged. The charge did not touch her three-month-old child, Jocelyne, cradled in her arms.

Three persons died in traffic accidents in Ontario.

Thomas McGhee, 75, of Oshawa, died when his automobile skidded on a curve and crashed into a tree stump near Bowmanville. Joseph Riteci, 75, of Aldershot was killed when struck by a car east of Hamilton.

The body of a 53-year-old woman, identified by police as Mrs. Mabel Leaks of Pembroke, was found on a Pembroke street, her chest crushed and her skull fractured. Police said she apparently was the victim of a driver who sped from the scene.

Helen Carter, 42, of Toronto was the first victim of Toronto's new subway. Police said she apparently tripped into the path of a train as it pulled into a downtown station. The train carried the woman's body 168 feet along the tracks.

Four-year-old Daniel Neilson died in a fire at his Timmins home. He died under the bedclothes in his second - storey bedroom, apparently in an effort to escape from flames and heat.

Oswald Auger, 42, was killed on a hunting trip when a companion mistook him for a deer 10 miles northwest of Mattawa. Harold Maguire, 18, died when his 10-year-old brother shot him, mistaking him for a deer on his father's farm, 60 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie.

Scientific Breeding Makes P. E. I. Pigs Crust of Canadian Swine Society

By GERALD FREEMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I. (CP)—Prince Edward Island pigs are long and lean and class-conscious. Scientific breeding has made them the upper crust of Canadian swine society.

Some of the haughtier hogs have pedigrees going back nearly 60 generations, without a flaw in their illustrious names. By 1955, Island pigs had attained such quality that no breeding swine anywhere could be found to improve them, and none has been imported since.

Prince Edward Island boars now are in demand by breeders all over the continent.

The island's super-pigs won the first prizes for bacon at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto in 1952 and didn't bother to compete last year. H. W. Clay of the Dominion agriculture department here asks "why keep showing after you beat the world's record?"

Mr. Clay is proud of the hogs that have come to be the island's second industry. It was his constant prodding that made farmers develop their pigs until they became the world's best specimens of Yorkshires, the top market breed.

Prince Edward Island has about two-thirds of all Canadian sows qualifying in advance registry, a means of scientific selection designed to produce peerless pigs.

Knowland's Foreign Policy Speech Is Called Dangerous

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator W. William Fulbright (Dem., Ark.) says Senator William F. Knowland (Rep., Calif.) engaged in "dangerous talk" Monday when he told the United States' Senate that "ultimate Communist victory" would result from "peaceful co-existence and atomic stalemate."

Fulbright called it "dangerous talk" to suggest that the U. S. could see no possibility of working out a peaceful solution of pressing world problems. He cautioned that it could lose the cold war "by losing the allegiance of India and other nations through our emphasis on military power." Fulbright urged "a lot less talk and a lot more responsibility" in the foreign and military policy fields.

Knowland called for a "new national inquiry into "our foreign and defence policy to find out where . . . it will take us and whether this clear and present danger which appears to exist is such that a basic change in the direction of our policy is warranted."

OFFERS WITH EISENHOWER

Knowland's speech appeared to place the Republican leader at odds with President Eisenhower on American policy toward Russia.

Eisenhower held a press conference last June that the hope of the world lies in peaceful co-existence with Russia, but he stressed he would "not be a party to any treaty that enslaves anybody enslaves."

Knowland said Russia is deliberately pushing the concept of "peaceful co-existence" for the purpose of gaining sufficient time to accomplish what we may term "atomic stalemate" so that the Soviet target date for reaching this objective probably is between 1957 and 1960.

By then, Russia would be in position to start "open-ended" blackmail wherein they will seek to take over the peripheral nations bite by bite."

RUSSIA 'CANNOT RECONCILE SELF' TO GERMAN ARMS

Moscow Radio Warns Steps Will Be Taken

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio said today that if the Western powers try to carry out the Paris agreement on West German rearmament, the Soviet Union and its allies "will examine further necessary measures to ensure their own defence and security."

The broadcast quoted the Communist party newspaper Pravda as saying Russia "cannot reconcile itself to the rearming of Western Germany."

The English-language broadcast, beamed to North America, was devoted to a Pravda article signed "Observer." It said it was a mistake to suppose the Soviet Union, which recently proposed a 25-country meeting of European collective security, "can be put off" until the agreements on West Germany are ratified.

PREPARE REFUGEES

The Western big three already have decided not to take part in any such meeting while West Germany is still outside the Western defence camp, American, British and French officials met at the foreign office here Monday to begin drafting their joint replies to the Soviet proposal.

The East German government Monday night that Communist Czechoslovakia had rejected the Kremlin suggestion for a conference Nov. 29. The Prague regime was the first of the 25 states invited to approve the idea.

U.S. May Share Guided Missile Data With Canada

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Canada today open high-level talks aimed at bringing a sharing of more U. S. guided-missile secrets with her northern neighbor.

American officials called this a logical extension of the long-time closely dovetailed air defence programs of the two powers aimed at protecting the North American continent from air assaults coming over the North Pole.

Canada's defence and defence production ministers, R. O. Campney and C. D. Howe, arrived here Monday for closed-door briefings with U. S. defence and state department officials and a luncheon meeting with President Eisenhower before they return home. There the American missiles are assembled and tested.

Already a Canadian Army group has been learning how to operate the Nike anti-aircraft missile at Fort Bliss, Tex., in preparation for guided-missile bases to be set up in the Hudson bay area in January and February.

Safecracker Who Stole 15 Millions Issues Warning Once Does Not Pay

VANCOUVER (CP)—A man who stole an estimated $15,000,000 has issued his warning in a letter to a Vancouver newspaper (The Sun).

The letter, published Monday, was directed to Vancouver's underworld in an attempt to stem the current crime wave sweeping the city, Police Chief Walter Wilson, 73, sent a letter to Mayor Fred Hume offering to lecture in the city on the theme, "crime doesn't pay."

The mounting crime wave has resulted in three murders, as many bank holdups and numerous smaller holdups and robberies in Vancouver in the last two months.

Wilson a native of Wyoming, Ont., admits to a lengthy string of convictions. He now lives in retirement at Courtenay on Vancouver Island. His life story was published in five parts in a U. S. national magazine five years ago under the title of "the man who robbed 10,000 cops without firing a shot."

The ex-convict told Vancouver criminals he knew from experience that there is no escape from the law for the criminal who starts a life of crime.

"Whether you're to be a chump," Wilson said in the letter. "If you stay on the racket, you can't get out from under. Even now, John Law will catch up with you.

"Many of you will organized for puny individuals like you and me to outsmart them all the time, but you never will expect it something will happen and you will be up in the air."

Wilson, who left a career in the ministry as pastor of First Baptist church in San Diego to take up a life of crime, said he is convinced crime doesn't pay despite having master-minded some of the biggest safecrackings in United States' history.

Wilson said he had studied burglary as a science and mastered it, but still had been unable to avoid the law.

RCMP Says Law Officers Need Medical, Social Groups' Help

OTTAWA (CP) — Law officers alone cannot cope with the problem of narcotics addicts, the RCMP says. It suggests that medical and social groups lend a hand to seek a long-term solution to the situation.

The RCMP's annual report, released today, said there is a growing realization that "addiction is the outward manifestation of social and medical conditions which enforcement authorities alone are not competent to deal with."

It reported a steady increase in narcotics trafficking and said that 307 narcotics arrests by the RCMP in the 1953-54 fiscal year, compared with 426 for the previous year, is a record high for recent years."

"The cycle of periodic arrest, subsequent conviction and imprisonment of the addict has failed to make any appreciable progress towards correcting this situation and it would seem that any real hope for positive, long-term results in dealing more effectively with the drug addict can only be achieved by the combined efforts of medical, social and enforcement bodies."

The 60-page report said there has been a steady over-all increase in criminal offences in areas under RCMP jurisdiction.

The 6,222-man force, besides enforcing federal statutes throughout Canada, acts as the provincial police force in eight provinces—all but Ontario and Quebec—and as local police in 124 municipalities, besides being the only police force in the Yukon and Northwest Territories.

The force carried out 170,224 investigations during the 1953-54 year which ended March 31, an increase of 2,870 fromt the previous year. Of 117,886 cases prosecuted, 97.1 per cent resulted in conviction.

"It now is clear there is a steady increase in the number of offences reported all over Canada, but not as substantial as in previous years," the report said.

The force made 49,471 investigations under the Criminal Code, an increase of 5.46 per cent. The biggest jump was in British Columbia, to 14,447 from 13,475.

In the five main offences against the person—murder, manslaughter, attempted murder, infanticide and lesser offences—there was a 15.7-per-cent increase to 8,114 cases from 7,872 in 1953-53.

The force investigated 46 murders—12 more than the previous year—and 15 of them were in British Columbia.

The report departed from cold statistics, however, in dealing with the narcotics problem. It traced a close connection between addiction and theft.

Heroin has become the most popular drug of addiction in Canada, the RCMP said. The average addict will $15 a day to illicit market.

"This amounts to about $5,400 yearly in terms of the value in terms of stolen goods, since the buyer of stolen property can pay from one-third value.

"It is therefore not surprising to find some form of illicit element of any large city—the shopping districts, the tenderloin, prostitute, pimp, gamblers and thieves —a high incidence of drug addiction."

The report maintained the trafficker is well conscious about the risk of its activities—the special branch which investigates communism and espionage, and the security and emergency planning branch, prepared to meet any national crisis or emergency that threatens the country's security.

The only difference in the two branches said they "continued to keep abreast of the activities in their respective fields."

Two Scandinavian Airliners Criss-Cross Arctic in New Route

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)— The trail-blazing Scandinavian Airlines System's aircraft Royal Viking landed at Copenhagen's Kastrup airport at 9:22 a.m. (3:22 a.m. EST) today, inaugurating the world's first commercial passenger service across the top of the world.

The giant aircraft touched down just 24 hours and 17 minutes after taking off from Los Angeles, Calif., for the 5,800-mile trans - arctic flight via Winnipeg and Greenland. She brought a load of civic officials, movie stars and reporters.

Meanwhile another SAS airliner, which left Copenhagen Monday night, was speeding to Los Angeles with a blue-ribbon party aboard including three prime ministers and the Danish royal family.

The flight brought Denmark and southern California only sunrise apart by air.

Although the Royal Viking left Los Angeles in a fog, the sun was shining brightly at Kastrup airport as the big airliner came in for the landing. Prince Knud of Denmark and other Danish dignitaries were on hand to welcome the 32 passengers and crew of 10 on the flight.

Lieutenant-Governor Goodwin Knight of California was the first to leave the plane. He was followed by other state officials and by only Danish-born passenger; the Canadian-born movie star Walter Pidgeon, and Los Angeles' Mayor Fletcher Poulson.

They and the other passengers, including Prime Minister Hamilton of Canada and two dozen reporters, were welcomed to Denmark by Mr. Bakke, SAS executive vice-president.

The Scandinavian flight was due in Los Angeles this afternoon. It is flying the reverse of the SAS flight's route, with similar stops in Winnipeg and Greenland. board Mr. Bakke's party were Premier Hansen of Denmark, Oscar Torp of Norway and Tage Erlander of Sweden, Foreign Chairman Per M. Hansson, SAS President Per A. Norlin, and Scandinavian government officials.

The Royal Viking made the first leg of the flight, 5,000 miles from Canada northlands and Hudson bay to Greenland in seven hours and 344 minutes.

At Blue West 1 airfield, where the United States Air Force group is stationed, the plane was greeted by a crowd of American airmen in fur parkas.

The last and longest leg of the flight, 1,000 miles from Blue West 8 to Copenhagen, took seven hours and 30 minutes.

The new SAS route crosses the Arctic circle but runs nearly 1,000 miles south of the pole.

British Cabinet Discusses Soviet Parley Proposal

LONDON (Reuters) — Sir Winston Churchill and his cabinet today held their first discussion on the Soviet proposal for a European general conference on European security Nov. 29.

Foreign Secretary Eden told the cabinet Tuesday morning the note was "openly and explicitly directed against the Paris agreements" for West German sovereignty and rearmament.

He said a preliminary reading of the Soviet note showed the proposals had been put forward except the date for a conference.

The government's first task would be to ratify the Paris agreements and put them into force "We must not let ourselves be deflected," he said.

The cabinet discussed arrangements for a two-day House of Commons debate on the Paris agreements opening Wednesday.

MOTHER IS HELD FOR MURDER OF THREE CHILDREN

Woman Attempted Suicide After Crime

NAMAO, Alta. (CP)—Mrs. Edward Stannard was under police guard in hospital today following the death of her three children in what police described as a mercy murder and attempted suicide.

Monday at the RCAF Namao station, nine miles north of Edmonton.

RCMP in Edmonton are holding Mrs. Stannard, about 40, wife of an RCAF sergeant stationed at Namao. An RCMP spokesman said she will be charged with murder.

Dead are: Eugene Wayne Stannard, 11; Donald Leanne Stannard, 9, and Kent Douglas Stannard, 5.

Sgt. Stannard, a veteran of 10 years' service in the air force, is in hospital suffering from shock, and Mrs. Stannard were natives of the Edmonton district.

The triple death brought to six the number of violent deaths in the Edmonton region in the last five days. A movie operator and his wife were found in their tents and stepdaughter last Thursday at Muskrat Falls, east of Edmonton, and shot himself dead. Police said it was murder-suicide.

The children were found dead when Sgt. Stannard returned from lunch. He found his wife unconscious on the kitchen floor with the gas jets on. Bodies of the children were in the bathroom.

A post-mortem was ordered to find the cause of death. But police said there was evidence the older boy had been beaten on the head with a hammer and the others were drowned in the bathtub.

An RCMP spokesman said no motive has been established.

Drew Showing Improvement

OTTAWA (CP) — Hon. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, "is better this morning," Dr. H. H. Hall reported today. He passed a good night and continued to make progress during the morning, a statement which sent him to hospital last week.

The Canada Steamship Lines' freighters, Hochelaga and Glencagles, are carrying a full load of wheat from western Canada. The wheat will be unloaded during the winter, and shipped out by train.

Queen Outshines Movie Stars As Duke Jokes With Jane Russell

LONDON (Reuters) — Queen Elizabeth outshone the movie stars at the royal film show Monday night, when Duke of Edinburgh kidded with Jane Russell.

The Queen, radiant in a gown of white tulle embroidered with gold, arrived at the Empire Theatre with the royal party in the "Royal Brummell," this year's chosen film. Then she and Duke joked with starring and mink-clad movie show of the year.

This year's selection, however, drew almost unanimous disapproval from London critics. Most of them were outraged at the chosen picture's irreverent handling of British royalty in scenes showing King George III going mad and the then Prince of Wales bursting into tears when refused permission to marry the "woman he loves."

Some critics saw in sills an obvious reference to the Duke of Windsor's decision to give up the throne to marry as he chose. Most agreed choice of the movie showed considerable taste in the Queen.

The Queen and Princess Margaret, in a dress of white satin, also asked Rudy Valee and Brian Donlevy about their stay in London and their part in the performance.

The crowd cheered as the film celebrities arrived in their limousines, but the biggest applause was reserved for the royal party.

At a stage show before the movie performance, which raised £30,000 for the cinematograph trade benevolent fund, Miss Russell sang "Buttons and Bows" and Miss Winters held the spotlight in the dressing room to exact the dramatic death scene from the movie "A Place in the Sun."

Britain Joins U.S. In Offering 'Fuel' For Atomic Plants

Makes Fissionable Material Available for Peaceful Use

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (CP) — Britain joined the United States today in earmarking a quantity of atomic material for use under the atoms-of-peace program to build experimental reactors in other countries.

British Minister of State Anthony Nutting told the General Assembly's political committee that Britain had allocated 20 kilograms of fissionable material to be added to the 100 kilograms set aside by the United States Monday.

The announcement came as UN delegates hailed the U. S. move as the biggest step toward which President Eisenhower first conceived his plan to use atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

Meanwhile, private talks continued on a series of Soviet amendments to a seven-power resolution outlining plans for an international agency which will handle distribution of the fissionable materials.

Informed sources indicated the Western countries had turned down the main Soviet amendment to place the agency under the Security Council, where Russia has the veto.

Chief Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky has privately submitted a list of amendments to the resolution as a condition for Russian co-operation in the proposed international atomic energy agency.

WANT RED CHINA IN

The seven powers met Monday night to consider the amendments in the most troublesome of which is reported to be that Red China be invited to a proposed international atomic scientists conference.

The U.S. already has made it clear that Red China will not be invited.

Another Soviet amendment is said to recommend that the agency responsible to the General Assembly, and in certain cases involving international security, to the Security Council.

The Western resolution suggests the agency have only an informal link with the UN. This suggestion was made to avoid the risk of having the agency's operations hamstrung by the Security Council veto.

However, Canada is reliably reported to have put forward Monday night a formula that meets with the approval of the six other powers seeking unanimity. It would create a compromise with Russia on the agency's link to the UN.

The seven powers authorized Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U.S. delegate, to advise Vishinsky on their reaction to the Soviet amendments.

In an address to the committee Monday, Lodge announced that the U.S. had allocated 220 pounds of fissionable material to operate experimental reactors provided for in the seven-power resolution.

This amount of material is reported to be enough fuel to run 30 to 40 of the atomic reactors.

To Sell News, Defend Liberty Papers' Task

KINGSTON (CP) — George Ferguson, editor of the Montreal Star, said Monday night newspapers have a double responsibility—merchants of news and palladiums of liberty.

Speaking in the first of the annual Dunning Trust lecture series at Queen's University, Mr. Ferguson said newspapers sell news at a profit to their readers but also are the basis on which the liberties of a nation stand.

He gave a number of newspaper problems, particularly in relation to radio and television.

"In a democracy, it is very important that as much information as possible and as many opinions as possible should be at the disposal of its citizens," Mr. Ferguson said.

The reports of the various conveners showed an increasing interest in the different crafts and hobbies, and with the expected visit of the craft specialist, Mr. Henry Longstaff all next week, from Monday thru' Friday, covering every phase of craft lore, for the benefit of our community, the enthusiasm should be boundless.

Years ago, one had to be proficient in a craft to be a member of a Guild, but when a member, there was instruction for further progress.

Mr. Weir said the Department received the greatest assistance from the establishment of classes in the rural areas, such as Bancroft and Haliburton. In Bancroft last year there were 10 subjects taught, with a total of more than 9 percent in attendance, while it something very exceptional, in any community.

Mr. Weir's talk was most informative and helpful, with regards to the future growth of a Community effort in the City.

FIREMEN HOLD WORKOUT

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Ten fire department companies poured water into an old building here Sunday during a civil defence exercise for St. Catharines and district units. In addition to shooting imaginary fires, the civil defence personnel put casualty rescue methods and first aid.

HOME DONATED

BRANTFORD (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. William Blodgett, 75 and 78, lost their home and all their possessions in the Oct. 15 fire at Etobicoke. During the weekend they moved into a new home here, appropriately named "Fairhaven," donated by a local club.

Background of Railway Explained to Rotary Club

Canadian tourists don't appreciate the attractions of their country, Leo Gilchrist, CNR ticket agent, informed members yesterday.

Figures show Americans from below the border spend $202 million a year in Canada, while the ravishly smaller number of Canadians spend $35 million annually in the U.S.

In an address to the weekly luncheon of the Belleville Rotary Club, Mr. Gilchrist said Canadians could "find a great deal of interest" in inter-provincial travel among Canadian provinces, and the "great inclination Americans to be to head for the United States as soon as an opportunity for travel arises."

It would be good business, "not without its opportunities for pleasure," if Canadians were to make it their policy to "See Canada First," he said.

Noting that most of the nation accept the railroad system as a "natural phenomenon", Mr. Gilchrist took the audience through the back-stage stages of operating a railroad system.

Among the many pertinent facts that emerged were: More than 68,000 miles of railway are owned by the CNR in catering for meals and sleeping car accommodation. The system is made up of 33,000 miles of track, giving CNR president, Donald Gordon, a longer walk on the North American continent than any other owner. Some 99 percent of rail travellers drink water on trains; names for cars are chosen by chance, observation cars are named after mountains, dining car cars after Canada's lakes, and sleeping cars after Canadian cities and their suburbs, Mr. Gilchrist said.

"The 99 percent who quaff off drinking water deserve praise for so without any question as to its purity," Mr. Gilchrist said. However this question does not arise since sanitation is minutely attended to. Behind everyone employed stands the CNR's scientific laboratory at Montreal.

TESTED REGULARLY

The water supplies and their sources are tested regularly while drinking of food from the manufacturer to the consumer is checked and methodically supervised.

Even the engine crews are periodically given a medical examination, to assure that train crews are healthy and free, from communicable disease.

The wave given by station men to trains awaiting departure means more than the often-remarked friendliness of railroad staff. The gesture is a "highball", which means the train has been checked over and is fit to proceed. One of the latest interesting features of Mr. Gilchrist's address was the unique use of the "punch card" by ticket collectors for marking tickets. The punch is the collector's fingerprint: no two being alike. On the CNR system 9,000 punches are used, each with a different design, from the shape of a fish to a high-button shoe. Accurate records make possible an accurate tally of concealed railway destinations, which in turn makes for greater economy, possible.

The railway, more than any other single organization, was responsible for holding together the links of Canada's culture and civilization, while the nation was in the process of growing it now is experiencing.

Thomas Laing his address Mr. Gilchrist reminded his audience that: "As the railway goes, so goes Canada. Nothing, no less important," he said, "is the need for Canadian awareness and knowledge of the role played by the railroads."

Temple Charges Lack of Co-operation In City Govt. Stifled Progress

"Lack of co-operation between the incumbent mayor and city council during the past year has stifled any progress that might have been made in advancing the interest of this city," charged ex-Alderman Robert Temple, Monday evening in a campaign address to ratepayers at a meeting at Club Cedars.

Mr. Temple resigned his seat in council last Monday to run for the office of mayor in the municipal election, November 8th.

"No progress was made by the city council this year because of this lack of co-operation," he said, "and I am not blaming anyone. If elected mayor I promise that not one of my main jobs will be neglected and I will end co-operation between the mayor and council.

"This whole area is bound to grow," said Mr. Temple, "with the advent of the seaway and the completion of the new four-lane highway and development of the mineral wealth in Hastings County. Belleville will grow physically and we must adopt a municipal plan that will provide for orderly development on a long term basis and not simply on a year-to-year basis. We have a program that changes with each change in council."

In speaking of a city manager, Mr. Temple said that "the issue should be put to the people after a comprehensive study of that form of municipal government is made.

"I do not think the hrue should be put to a vote this year. Neither the council nor the voters is sufficiently well informed of the arguments for and against city management, nor are they sufficiently aware of the responsibilities of city-manager government to vote meaningly at this time.

"If elected I shall ask city council to form a committee to investigate city-manager government in conjunction with all interested civic groups and to publicize their findings so that the matter may be presented sanely and soundly to the electorate at the next municipal election," stated Mr. Temple.

Robbers Hold 3 at Gunpoint To Take Jewels

DETROIT (CP) — Two armed robbers who held three children and an adult at gunpoint for 45 minutes Sunday night escaped with $15,000 in jewels.

Police said the robbers forced their way into the apartment of Mrs. Florence Plusinski, 4, a jeweler, and forced Plusinski's son Ronald, 15, his daughter Geraldine, 11, and his playmate, Rosalie Lesniewski, 11, to lie on a bed and then bound and gagged Mrs. Plusinski.

Mrs. Stella Lesniewski, 38, Rosalie's mother, came into the apartment and was also bound with tape.

The robbers escaped after forcing a safe in the apartment.

Deer Was Gone When Party Went Back for It

Deer hunters this year are deporting all kinds of luck but the gangs had the tough-luck of a party, which came out of the bush in the area north of Marmora.

The party had apparently shot two deer but for the time being were able to remove only one from the bush. So they hung one in a tree intending to come back for it later.

But on their return they were surprised to find their deer gone. Apparently members of some other party had taken the deer as their own. The disappointed hunters reported the matter to Police Chief Lockwood at Marmora.

In addition to four criminal cases there are two jury cases and eight non-jury cases listed for trial.

Port Perry To Remain Dry

PORT PERRY (CP)—Residents voted Monday against having a beer parlor, a liquor store or a brewer's warehouse, so this village 30 miles north of Oshawa will remain dry.

In the second vote in three years, 560 persons voted for the dryss and 521 against. The vets needed 60 per cent of the vote for a change.

Tom McNeil, leader of the wets, said he has lodged a protest claiming that in one division, ballots were not properly polled and not taken off properly, thus returning officers.

Sale of liquor in Port Perry has been illegal since 1916. Nearest outlet is Oshawa.

Dies While Hunting

GORE BAY (CP) — Roy C. Hannah, prominent Sault Ste. Marie businessman and veteran of the 119th and 227th battalions in the First World War, died in Gore Bay hospital after dropping a deer with one shot. It is believed he suffered a stroke.

Moroccans Call General Strike

PARIS (AP) — Nationalist leaders in Morocco called today for a three-day general strike to protest French rule.

In various cities of the North African protectorate leaflets were distributed urging the Moslem population to close up shop Thursday, Friday and Saturday. They denounce former sultan Mohammed Ben Youssef, whom the French deposed.

In Tunisia, another protectorate at the eastern end of French North Africa, clashes continued today between French troops and bands of rebels. The French were besieging a band entrenched in rough country northwest of Tebessa, from the interior came reports of attacks on two French farms. Ten rebels were said to have lost 20 dead.

Berlin's Subway and Elevated Trains Easiest Ways For Refugees to Take Departure

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

BERLIN (AP)—Every day some 300 East Germans pierce the Iron Curtain — simply by taking a one-cent subway ride.

Divided Berlin's subway (Uhahn) and elevated (S-bahn) are the easiest ways for refugees to take their departure from communism.

These trains comprise the only "through" transportation linking Red-ruled Berlin and the free part of the city.

The trains are checked by Communist "people's police" only sporadically and for the most part Berliners travel on them without trouble.

10,000 MONTHLY

In the first nine months of this year, the flow of refugees into West Berlin averaged about 10,000 a month. (Others, far fewer in number, cross into West Germany at zonal borders).

At the present rate, the total for the year in West Berlin should run about 120,000.

Last year, 305,000 refugees funnelled west through Berlin. The exodus slowed down after the Communists relaxed pressure in the wake of the workers' uprising of June 17, 1953.

Although the subway ride is the easiest, there are more spectacular routes. Some refugees swim across the canals or the Spree or Havel rivers. Others have arranged with taxi boats or river barges. Occasionally, refugees pedal across on bicycles. One daring driver made it this year on a bicycle belonging to an East Berlin policeman. Another came in a wheelchair.

10,000 POLICE DESERT

A significant class of refugees is made up of deserting members of the "people's police" (Vopos). In the first nine months of this year, 7,227 Vopos fled to West Berlin. Of these 170 were officers.

From 1949 to 1953, the amazing total of 19,213 Vopos—nearly an infantry division—crossed west.

Beverley Baxter Voices Protest At Fingerprints

LONDON (CP) — Sir Beverley Baxter, Canadian-born member of Britain's Parliament, protests that he has had his fingerprints taken 20 times just because he wants to visit the United States.

The Conservative MP, once a press salesman in Toronto, registers his complaint in a letter to The Times.

"I went to American territory in Grosvenor square (site of the American embassy) with clean hands, and came away with dirty hands," writes Sir Beverley, "and it is not worthy of so hospitable and courteous a nation."

As the holder of a Canadian passport, he could have gone to Canada and entered the United States without a visa.

Sir Beverley said 20 impressions of his prints were taken—two days after he had toasted the American ambassador, Winthrop Aldrich, at a Canada Club dinner.

The refugee ranks have included engineers, public prosecutors, judges and ordinary workers. One recent refugee was a fleet-footed 14-year-old girl who escaped under a hail of Communist police bullets. Another refugee was an 87-year-old grandmother. A large proportion are students and youths seeking to avoid conscription in the Red "police" force.

One of the slickest departures from the Communist East was engineered early this year by an East Berlin shopkeeper whose store specialized in beer steins.

The shopkeeper and his wife made two or three trips from East Berlin to West Berlin daily until they had moved the entire store, stein by stein.

Graham Towers, Bank of Canada Governor, Retires

OTTAWA (CP)—The man who signs his name in the lower right hand corner of your folding money is quitting his job.

The Bank of Canada announced Monday that its tall, astute governor, Graham Towers, will leave his $50,000-a-year position Dec. 31, and there were indications that the cabinet would name deputy governor James Coyne (the slight in the left hand corner) as his successor within a week.

Mr. Towers will retire on a pension of about $10,000 a year.

The 51-year-old governor's move seemed sure to initiate some shifts in the bank's lower echelons. With the elevation of Mr. Coyne, the ranks of the deputies would be cut to one—L. P. St. Amour.

WANTS TO RELAX

During his 20 years as governor, Mr. Towers has done more than sign his name to bank notes. Appointed in 1934 by the late Lord Bennett, a Conservative prime minister, he stayed on in the job after the Liberals swept into power the next year and since has mapped out most of the government's monetary policies.

Mr. Towers told reporters after the announcement that his immediate plans include only travel and golf, his favorite sport. Asked whether he intended to take some other Canadian or international post, he replied: "I haven't been asked."

Queen Mother Opens Bridge At Rideau Falls

OTTAWA (CP) — Queen Mother Elizabeth today unhooked an aluminum chain to open a new bridge overlooking historic Rideau Falls as thousands of grown-ups and school-freed youngsters cheered.

She named the structure the Bytown bridge, reviving the former name of this capital founded by British Col. John By more than a century ago.

From Government House, almost within shouting distance of the bridge, the Queen drove through lines of massed youngsters while others looked down from rooftops and trees.

Flushed to completion for the royal opening, the bridge's asphalt surface over which the Queen walked had been laid only a few hours before by construction gangs working through the night.

New Building For Legion Is Considered

TRENTON (Special) — A new building for the Trenton Legion branch is closer to becoming a reality. That is the conclusion arrived at after hearing discussions at the annual election of officers of the branch here Monday night.

By spring the branch hopes to have $20,000 in the building fund. One of the three plans submitted to the building committee calls for expenditure of $70,000.

Various ways and means of providing finances for a new building have been discussed. A proposition last night, to be announced later, seems to be the answer to the veterans' problem.

W. E. Donaldson, first vice-president of the out-going executive was voted president; K. K. Kenny, first vice-president; J. Farrell, second vice-president; Lou Knack, treasurer; Bill Warn, secretary; Don Allison, sgt.-at-arms.

Elected to the executive were: Luke Glover, Alvin Cole and Jim Patterson.

Trustees appointed were: Ross Burtt, (3-year term), Ernie Cunnell, (2-year term) to serve with Harry Donaldson appointed for a 3-year term last year.

Membership continued to increase as 22 new members were inducted into the branch last night.

Nomination Day For Mayor And Council Friday

TRENTON (Special) — Friday is nomination day. At night local governments representation, candidates and citizens interested in town affairs have the opportunity of voicing their opinions. There has been talk of strenuous opposition to the present council regime but at this late date nothing to indicate a "rip roaring" campaign has been evidenced.

Interest in the mayor's chair waned recently. Mayor Hicks' council are looked for since one present councillor indicated he would retire and his unsuccessful campaigner last year announced he would be in the race again for election.

WILL COMPLETE CLUB HOUSE

The executive of the Trenton Yacht Club decided to sponsor projects to raise finances for completion of partially built clubhouse and extension of activities.

First function designed to raise money came in announcement that the club will hold a dinner and dance at the Queensway Hotel, Tuesday, December 7.

The executive met at the Trenton Country Club last night.

NEW PLAYGROUNDS

Trenton Recreations heads last night decided to concentrate on playgrounds on the east side of the river during the coming year.

Canada Pictured As '2-Car Country' Of Supermarkets

LONDON (CP) — Canada was pictured today as a "two-car country" of supermarkets, fast-growing suburbs and changing social habits.

James Bedford of the Maclean-Hunter Publishing Company told a predominantly Canadian audience the industrial boom is bringing with it a minor population explosion. As the big cities expand, a new kind of community life springs up in the suburbs.

"People are less clothed and are getting away from the formalities," Bedford said in a speech to the Maple Leaf luncheon club. Women wear more sports shirts and slacks, and things like baby sitters are arranged on a group basis."

The Toronto-born Bedford, back from a seven-week visit to Canada, said these changes were taking place to a marked degree between Hamilton and Oshawa, but there were similar developments in Montreal, Winnipeg and Vancouver. He described development schemes for the Don Mills area of northeast Toronto as one of the "best suburban plans."

The two-car complex was typical. "Many people said they couldn't afford two cars, but they just had to have two cars whether they could afford it or not."

Things don't look much alike in the new suburbs we're the shrine of success, the ever-deepened herd instinct and the "ghastly" preoccupation with television.

Hundreds of Millions of Dollars Spent to Enhance Sales Appeal

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT (AP)—The automobile industry is nearing the completion of another model changeover season, having spent hundreds of millions of dollars to enhance the sales appeal of its product.

One of the things that stands out as the new offerin rolls from the assembly lines is the increasing importance the manufacturers are giving to eye-appeal.

Engineering, with half a dozen new V-8 engines, better brakes and improved transmission, still took the major share of attention in the $10,000 spent on the model changeover, but styling has become so vital in sales volume that designers are beginning to talk about what they call the "science of glamor."

For years whatever glamor there was in automobiles came mainly from their exterior contours. Now there is general agreement that glamorizing an automobile has many other factors, including interior styling, color and fabric selection.

Chrysler Corp., which has just spent $250,000,000 to bring out entirely new lines of cars in a comeback effort, is one of the major producers with a vast styling budget in its engineering division. As an example of what is involved in glamorizing a new model, the Chrysler engineers point to the fact that more than 12,000 man-hours were devoted to developing the style and eye-appeal of the 1953 Firesweep model alone.

The group of "glamor scientists" working on the Plymouth made complete analyses of 90 different exterior colors, made and discarded more than 100 designs for new seats, arm rests and door panels. They conducted seven different tests on each kind of 222 kinds of fabric. They then compared their findings with an impressive list of known facts on buyer likes and dislikes compiled from consumer studies.

Color is only one phase of the job of selecting interior fabrics. Others include texture, durability, color fastness and proper balancing of color, pattern and texture. Fade-resistance also is vital.

Fabrics must also be dye stability, for abrasion, for flex and folding.

It all adds up to the fact that building an automobile to compete in a $2,000,000-a-year market is decidedly different from what it was in the 1920s. It probably also explains, in part, why from 18 months to two years now are required to get a new automobile from the drafting board to the assembly line.

No Indication Of Convention In Near Future

OTTAWA (CP) — Progressive Conservative party headquarters said today there is no indication of a national leadership convention of the party in the foreseeable future.

William Rowe, PC national director, made the statement today in commenting on a demand by the party's British Columbia branch for a convention "as soon as possible." The branch leadership has been at odds with the national organization since its executive voted no confidence in opposition leader Drew last summer.

Mr. Rowe said there has been no talk of another convention except from the B.C. insurgents.

A convention, unlike the party's annual meetings, considers the leadership question when there is a major crisis in the party or when the national leader dies or is incapacitated for a long period.

Thought Drowned In St. Lawrence, Seamen Are Safe

HALIFAX (CP) — The RCAF reported today two seamen believed drowned in a Gulf of St. Lawrence gale are alive and awaiting rescue with seven companions on the remote Anticosti island coast.

The two were thought to have perished when they were swept overboard from the motor vessel Marsouin shortly before the mile-and-a-half ship drove it hard aground Monday on Anticosti at the mouth of the St. Lawrence River.

Want Night Shopping

TORONTO (CP) — J. William Horsey, president of Dominion Stores Limited, told Monday the Canadian public wants night shopping.

Most Canadian city bylaws regulating night shopping are antiquated, he said in an address to the Canadian Club.

THE SPIRIT OF THE PAST

The British sentry stiffens suddenly in the mud of the trench as a shadowy figure, with a bundle over his shoulder, looms past him out of the night.

"Alt! Oo goes there?".

"You shut yer . . . mouth, or I'll come and knock yez 'ead off."

"Pass friend."

The above, although not officially recorded as an actual incident of World War I, is typical enough of its time to be true. Actually, it is one of a series of war cartoons drawn by the British artist, Bruce Bairnsfather, during the First Great War.

Around the walls of the Canadian Legion hall here are hung copies of several of his cartoons. Actually though they are more than cartoons, for Bairnsfather, a clever artist and humorist, did more than turn out funny pictures of Tommies' predicaments in the mudbath of frontline trenches in France. Although Bairnsfather and his vignettes are almost forgotten by the general public now, they are probably the greatest war cartoons of all time. They are the very epitome of the spirit of the troops who stood it out for over four years, during a time when their only reward for continued persistance in holding their position appeared to be a severe attack of trench foot.

In 1914 the nations went to war confident in the righteousness of their separate causes. By 1915 they were becoming doubtful and when in 1916 60,000 casualties were sustained in the first day of the bloody battle on the Somme ugly little notes of disillusionment were creeping in.

But not so at the front line. The men not only held fast to their courage and their positions but retained their humour, a lot of it lewd, but a lot of it with a wholesome quality against the panorama of filth and death that surrounded them. It was this spirit that Bairnsfather caught in the pages of his hand and transferred onto paper for the world of his time.

There is nothing far-fetched about the humor in them, in fact nowadays probably only an old Sweat would appreciate their very fun at times. Shown in the cartoons in the Legion hall recently, one individual born a long-time after the Armistice, confessed to being unable to find anything funny about them.

Also pictures in the Legion hall present a fair crosssection of Bairnsfather's output on the Great Little Army.

Take this one, an incident that probably happened many times in the line. A front line German shell has fallen close to the lines tumbling a mound of sandbags and sundry wreckage atop of a Tommy. Worse, it knocked a bottle of whisky out of his hand smashing it on the ground. Up to his neck in rubble the Tommy shouts: "And me a rifle someone. I'll give these . . . 'ell for this."

And at back-line officialdom is taken in a cartoon set during the September offensive at Loos. The sky is filled with shrapnel while shot of every description blaze out over the trenches. A dug-out for the colonel commanding the section receives the following message from GHQ: "Please let me know as soon as possible, the number of tins of raspberry jam issued to you last Friday."

The condition of the mud in the trench and the trenches in that war cannot easily be described. It would be complimentary to call them uncomfortable. But their persistence in clinging it out excluded their inhabitants. A deep trench Bairnsfather used it in a cartoon entitled "The Innocent Abroad." A raw recruit on guard duty all the night spunts in a tiny make-shift shelter, his only protection from the deluging rain. The relief sergeant approaches and inquires: "Well what sort of a night have you had?" Comes the cynical reply from the huddled sentry: "Oh, alright. I had to get out for a rest now and then."

The official archives are jammed with records of the incidents and events of that war, of heroic deeds and courageous actions. But the greatest single quality of the soldiers who fought in France from 1914 was their persistent cheerfulness in the woeful conditions under which they fought.

It was their refusal to be downhearted, more than all the barrages or successful assaults they hurled at the enemy, that kept them going onto victory. It is in Bairnsfather that we have recorded a cartoonist that posterity will find a clear-cut record of that great spirit—the spirit of an invincible army.

HE MADE A HIGHWAY SAFE

Judge Eugene Lafontaine died at Montreal on Saturday. He was credited with making the Laurentian highway virtually fatality-free. His method—heavy fines and short jail sentences for violators of traffic regulations.

Judge Lafontaine in 1952 began this war against motorists guilty of speeding and other offences. It is thus evident that he got quick results. Part of the credit for this must be given to the publicity which attended his campaign, for no "crack-down" on traffic law violators can be effective unless the motoring public knows about it.

What Judge Lafontaine achieved at St. Jerome, Que., could be duplicated in other districts, if other jurists would copy his example. However, hardly looks like a case where individual initiative should be necessary. What is required is a co-operative campaign, so that speeders, drivers who pass on hills or on curves and those who cut in and out of traffic will face heavy penalties no matter where they drive.

FREE LOADERS

The ring-necked pheasants long have found
The garden safe to roam.
From dawn to dusk they strut around
As though they were at home.

For food they clamor, just as I
When I am asked to wait.
My keen plate boy wonder why
Their breakfast is so late.

There is no hunting season here
That danger lies afar.
These pheasants little have to fear
Since guests of ours they are.

The boarding house demands
Commission or a fee.
These pheasants little have to
To load them up "for free."

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO
NOV. 16, 1934.

Mr. Charles H. Grass, who is spending some time with his daughter, Mrs. J. L. Tickell, Charles Street, observed quietly on Wednesday the 53rd anniversary of his birth, and many friends were pleased to be present to offer congratulations and good wishes. Besides Mrs. Tickell, another daughter, Mrs. Shelly Anderson, resides in this city; a son, Mr. Charles Grass lives in Thunderlow township.

Master Ronald Fralick entertained a large number of his young friends at his home on the occasion of his seventh birthday. The little guests enjoyed the games and also the tasty refreshments. They all departed in happy spirits wishing Ronald many happy returns of his birthday.

In spite of the freezing weather, which has frozen over the smaller ponds and creeks during the past few weeks, conditions are still blooming in some parts of the city. One specimen, unbeknown by the frost, was picked by Mr. Walter Hall, Sidney, on Moira Street west on Thursday.

Mrs. J. W. Weatley, Chairman Sterling, accompanied by friends from Toronto, has left to spend the winter at St. Petersburg, Florida.

Finds English Is Changing

(Ottawa Citizen)

Sentence structure is a subject over which hover the warders of the English language with solicitude. Is steadily liberating the final preposition: "What are you thinking of?" Porter quotes another authority, Sir Ernest Gowers, who points out that what one was contrived to put four prepositions at the end of a sentence when she exclaimed: "That is the old you choose that book to be read to out of?" Does Sir Ernest or Mr. Potter, disapprove? Not at all. The nurse "said what she wanted to say perfectly clearly, in words of one syllable, and what more can one ask?"

Nor, perhaps, would these authorities frown upon the specimen of English created on the day by Mr. Dusty Rhodes of the New York Giants when, praised for a run-scoring hit following an even more sensational one on the previous day, he replied modestly: "This wasn't nothing beside of yesterday."

The English language still remains a fluid instrument in the mouths of such masters.

On Naming Hurricanes

(St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

Who would ever have thought that women would object to having hurricanes given women's names? We'd have thought, offhand, that they would have felt flattered. It doesn't take much of a woman to be a gentle zephyr. There are, poor souls, some women without much more force than the air that comes out of a bellows when it is stuck with a pin—but we draw the mantle of charity, propelling it shut with the spear of gallantry. All men women born and there will deserve comparison with a March wind.

But a woman with the magnificence and irresistibility of a hurricane! That would be something to stay up late waiting for. If the womenfolks object to being considered any more than little puffs, or eddies, or squirts, let 'em name the big winds after the menfolks. There's not a man we know who would object to the naming of a Hurricane Henry—and a lot of Henrys would be genuinely enough to catch all who was no more than they deserved.

India Ends Rationing

(Caravan of India.)

During the week commencing April 14, 1951, when India's Five Year Plan went into operation, about 122,000,000 people or one-fifth of the world's population shops throughout the country to buy food grains for their families. Each week, as they stood impatiently in the queues, they asked when this irksome ritual which they had had to perform since May, 1943, would stop.

A necessity imposed upon the nation during World War II, and a dweller's constantly recognized for ensuring equitable distribution or supplies, food rationing (and other food controls) had lingered on after the war because of several adverse factors.

The year which immediately preceded the plan was the "bottom year" since Independence in respect of food grain output, which had suffered grievously as a result of unnatural and man-made calamities and failures of monsoon. Imports had been piling up, reaching in 1951 an all-time peak. The grip of rationing had tightened as a gradually increasing circle of vexed householders' food grain prices had risen alarmingly.

Against this background of unrelieved gloom, one thing stood out, man's resolve not to be beaten.

As the plan went into operation, the "grow more food" enticed its decisive phase. It was fought on many fronts and with many weapons.

The Grow More Food Campaign was intimately and integrated with the plan, which gave agriculture dominating importance in national planning.

A new emphasis was placed on irrigation, particularly that which promised quick results, and more than 40 per cent of the plan's total resources were devoted to such work.

Fertilizer supplies were organized to encourage farmers to increase crop yields on land already under cultivation. Large scale experiments were made with the Japanese method of paddy cultivation, and as its success was demonstrated its application is being extended.

Vigorous attempts have been made to encourage the intensive application of fertilizers and other manures as well as for the use of improved seeds.

The cumulative effect of the various measures to increase food production began to be visible in 1952. Then, 1953, a merciful rain came rallied to the support of the people. The tide was beginning to turn.

But even the prospect of an improved harvest was itself not enough to lead the government to long fears of shortage or fear of shortage could be allayed. It was argued that the end of scarcity was approaching. The safety valve of rationing was considered an argument for their continuance. It was necessary to create a "psychology of sufficiency" — a slow process, which called for the utmost faith and vigilance. To this and future effort was directed.

In June, 1952, the Government of India took the first step. Statutory rationing was abolished in Madras, and certain other relaxations in control were made in that state. This was a calculated risk. It proved a success. The ice was soon be a thing of the past.

From then on there was no going back. Heartened by its example, the Central Government gradually liberalized rationing and adjustments in food controls elsewhere.

In state after state, the queues before ration shops, which had lengthened since 1943, thinned, then finally disappeared. Restrictions and austerity measures were one by one.

After the Five Year Plan had run approximately half its course, Sri Kidwai told the nation: "The food problem has ended."

Nature continued to co-operate, and 1953-54 proved a bumper year. Harvests were encouraging. Prices in the open market began gradually falling. The steady return to normalcy had registered the victory which the people and the Government had won in the battle for food.

In September, 1953, quantitative restrictions on the issue of wheat to the grower as a reserve against the vagaries of nature and the trade were lifted. In November, 1953, all state governments were advised to de-control wheat and course grains completely but to retain the ban on their inter-state movement. As the fall in prices continued despite decontrol, the ban on the movement of coarse grains also went in January, 1954. Then what passed as several states each were subsequently formed, and movement of foodgrains was made unrestricted. Finally, on July 10, 1954, came the complete decontrol of rice. The one major exception of decontrol was now almost completed.

Woman of 78 Turns Bandit

(Windsor Star)

Now that a 78-year-old woman has stepped into a life of crime, it may be necessary to take another and closer look at comic books and television and the invincible wicked grandmothers.

What else would inspire a meek old lady, who probably never in her life slapped a child in the face, to turn bandit, and to a cashier's wicket and whisper: "This is a stick-up."

And the role she carried in her purse, with a toy gun, completed the illusion of a realistic crime. Just like in the big time.

Perhaps just as the conscience was troubling her, she found quick and easy forgiveness in the bank and the law.

But if Walt Disney has animal characters are to blame for this, somehow may have to put a foot down.

Otherwise, the next that Little Red Riding Hood's grandmother killed the wolf.

Old Adages Out-Moded

(Philadelphia Bulletin)

"How can papa teach the children that a penny saved is a penny earned; early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise, when a penny saved is $250 in debt to the instalment creditor, goes to bed late, and gets up just in time to rush to the supermarket?" inquires a reader.

The point is asked by Dr. Helen G. Hurd, chairman of the department of sociology, Rutgers University, as a $64 question for the parents to answer . . .

Mrs. Hurd thinks that parents not to use the instalment plan, or to go to bed early, but that the thrifty old-fashioned discipline for children cannot be effective in today's practice of new-fashioned ways . . .

What is required is a new set of values, a new behavior rules that meet modern conditions and a more repetition of those Benjamin Franklin made.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

FAITH TRIUMPHANT

Science has streamed many a light into the world, but it has not solved the problem of existence and the problem of life itself. But the world moves on in an expectant mood, leaning heavily upon faith.

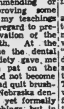
I recall a statement by Gen. Charles A. Lindbergh, after he had completed a dangerous alliance flight for the Ford Motor Company. He said this: "This attitude flight at Willow Run taught me that in worshipping science man gains power but loses the quality of life."

Our power to survive does not rest in either planes, ships, or any other equipment, as great it does in the preservation of moral and spiritual qualities, re-enforced by faith and ruggedly employed each day of our lives. Every step has been one that faith contrived. There is little or no wisdom in mere science that can help us or us how to live and how to survive.

Religion alone suggests a way of life that is safe.

Everything planted within this earth was for our enlightenment, our comfort and our protection, not for men to discover and organize a power for the destruction of human beings, including ourselves. Imagine the power of Satan, if he but devote the same amount of money to education that it does to war.

Nothing of good and lasting influence has ever been initiated without deep and abiding belief in faith. It was faith that opened up this nation. It was a simple faith. The peoples of the old world to come to these shores and learn of freedom and a new way of life, with opportunities unlimited.



There is a power behind all faith that no one has yet adequately appraised. It has a direct application in results. Something of God resides in every human heart, whether it is realized or not, and it is labelled—Faith!

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

I AM FLABBERGASTED

Somewhere in my maddening files or, maybe in a scrapbook there is, I hope, a citation as if I may flatter myself — I received from a Nebraska dental society, commending and approving some of my teachings in regard to preservation of the teeth. At the time the dental society gave me the pat on the back the dentists had not become fully aware that I had quit brushing my teeth. The Nebraska dental society has not yet formally repudiated my teachings; but in the past decade I seldom have heard an encouraging word from dentists in Nebraska or anywhere else.

Dr. Brady

In several throw-away publications, which seem popular with the dentists, I have been treated as the sponsors who sell glorified soap and trick brushes to the public on public, think I deserve.

Sept. 2, '54, a Michigan dentist wrote:

"As for dental health, balanced diet, good thorough prophylaxis, plus rigid scaling of roots when indicated, and semi-annual periodic X-ray check-up of the teeth — then there wouldn't be such a loss of human teeth. I think you expound this type of treatment." (Signed).....

D.D.S.

I had become so accustomed to unfriendly communications from dentists that this friendly note flabbergasted me.

In regard to scaling of roots and periodic X-ray films of the teeth (I do wish the dentist had not used the glib term "check-up", which, like "stet", "definite", and "rather" is affected by people who don't know what they're talking about), I'd defer, believe it or not, to the judgment of my dentist. These are technical questions which the dentist is better qualified than even the smartest patient to judge whether an anesthetic is to be used and if so, which.

What the dentist means by "balanced diet" I don't know. What anybody means by "balanced diet" I don't know. Does anybody?

Even though I try to pick a quarrel with the dentist before he has finished what he had to say, I assure him that his letter has done much good. For one thing it reminds me to look in my book, columns, pamphlets, and leaflet, good though they be, for a sane health, comfort, vite, good looks, and longevity; and between rounds, at work when the dentist admires all dentists for their contribution to the greatness of America.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

We expect children to be noisy and exuberant. If they are not, we worry about them. In the case of teens, boys may be excused for showing off their voices after they have changed. We expect girls to be a little loud and bollery. Girls in their early teens usually show more sens of propriety, though the occasional tomboy among them is unmistakably enough. The real question rises: at what age should the teen agers, particularly the boys, begin to moderate, what in children, is exuberance but, in a boy of eighteen, is the mark of a rowdyism?

I don't see these lads, anywhere from eighteen to twenty-two or so, almost everywhere on the streets, coming aboard buses, boats, or frogast, big-stuffy; they come into movie theatres and they romp through department stores in small bunches; especially in motor cars, usually borrowed, they are most unpleasantly conspicuous, with their loud, careless airs and often disdainful or even threatening manners. There are, I suppose, merely retarded teen-agers. For a few years after they pass twenty, they are a problem in the street manners.

But, then what happens to them? Where do these arrogant, rowdy little swabs vanish to? For they do vanish. You rarely see them any more at the age of twenty-seven say, and more rarely still after they are thirty. In fact I have tested them down. I doubt if it is the police who tames them, or their parents, or any social principles that might have been submitted to their better judgment.

Probably they got married. Possibly the girl they had in order to eat, and have a roof overhead, and to wear clothes, even the most modest of clothing, had to have a job.

Whatever one of these little clusters of offensively care-free, noisy arrogant young men encounters in the restaurant, it is interesting to look about at the older diners and wonder which of them could have been, a few years ago, just such a rowdy as these.

It would be unkind, it would be the saddest, tamest, most subdued men in the room. At all somedowns, the unhappiest must be that of a young tough who reaches thirty.

Football Sorrows
(Portland Oregonian)

A college coach says many schools would be amazed at what good football teams you can get by not paying the players. Even more amazing is the bum ones you can get when you do.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

KEEP GOING

Some time ago it was necessary for me to go to a shop run by a very old man. He had been a skilful artificer in his day and he still is, although life has almost gone out of him. He has allowed his shop to become dusty and disarranged. One thing struck me as being particularly significant and symbolic—the place was full of clocks but not a single clock was running.

On the other hand, I live in a community where some of the most amazing elderly men in this country reside. The chief of these, of course, is Dr. Einstein, who by a few years ago evolved a mathematical formula to end all formulas. But there are other elderly men here who produce a book a year. I am personally acquainted with two elderly men nearly 90 who are writing articles in their fields which by every criterion must be given the highest possible rating.

Not only in this village, but all over the country there are elderly men who are doing remarkable things, and there are others sitting dejectedly in a little room in which all the clocks have stopped.

The human brain is a marvelous mechanism. If we only understood it, men at 90 would be doing as good or better work than many of the middle-aged heads of our communities today.

Don't give in to old age. There is no reason why you should.

COUNCIL-MANAGER FORM OF MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT

This is the second of a series of five articles published by the Belleville Chamber of Commerce which considers it a public service to present to the Citizens of Belleville, all the information, both for and against Council-Manager form of Civic Government which it has been able to assemble.

CHOICE OF THE MANAGER.

Once a municipality decides on the council-manager system, the selection of a competent city manager becomes a matter of public importance. The man appointed needs to be an undoubted expert of demonstrated capacity, leadership and tact. He must be able to gain and hold the respect of successive councils. He must know how to obtain the active co-operation and service the employees of those who serve under him.

One aim in adopting the manager plan is to achieve worthwhile economics in the cost of civic administration. Hence, in shopping for a manager is certainly no time to try bargain hunting; for a few dollars saved on the manager's salary can easily cost a wise selection and greatly prejudice the success of the whole development. A year ago the average salary paid to managers in United States cities between 10,000 and 25,000 population was $7,283 per annum. The figure given as indication of what Canadian Towns and Cities ought to be paid.

Because of the expert and particular qualifications demanded, a suitable person for manager is seldom available locally. The City of Victoria, for example, brought in a man from Kingston, Ontario, while Sarnia secured its manager from Saint John, New Brunswick. In the United States, Manager cities have developed a solid tradition of professional recruitment and long service, with over 75 percent of new appointees coming from other cities. More than half the managers who obtained positions in 1950 had served previously in manager cities as managers or managers in training. Twenty percent of American managers have worked in their profession for more than fifteen years.

In spite of the weight of contrary opinion, local councils have sometimes been reluctant to face fact that home talent is usually an unreliable source of good managers. One U.S. city took 35 years to decide that its charter provision requiring a local person to be appointed was wrong. In that time there were no less than thirty-one successive managers.

At the present time there are close to one thousand persons with manager training serving throughout the United States. Here, it would appear, is a natural source of candidates for Canadian appointments. The difficulty is that the differences between the two countries in the law and traditions behind the development of municipal institutions, as known from the United States background would begin work in Canada under a severe handicap. Moreover, the successful manager in the States can find plenty of opportunity in his own country where his training will be fully utilized.

In Canada there is no professional schools for managers. A Canadian manager's training, therefore, has ordinarily been as a clerk, treasurer, engineer or other municipal officer who has gained a sufficient grasp of the work of city government to be able to supervise their operations. In smaller centres, he is likely to double in his former capacity while assuming the wider responsibilities of the new position.

THE MANAGER'S AUTHORITY

A municipality is said to operate under the council-manager form so long as its local government is organized on certain recognized lines. The International City Managers' Association classifies as 'manager cities' only those places which observe what it regards as the basic's of root essentials. In 1915, the National Municipal League issued a model charter which was designed to promote uniformity. While these efforts have been regarding, there continue to be a great many variations from city to city. Particular differences show up between the law and actual practice and, again, between one Canadian province and another.

Ordinarily, the manager is given complete power to appoint or remove department heads and their deputies. In the Province of Quebec, however, the council controls all the offices of clerk and treasurer; the manager can suspend other officials but only the council can dismiss them. Manager cities in Ontario must leave the formal authority over all senior appointments with the elected council. Custom in these centres is rapidly changing. Nevertheless, the council must refrain from acting when it does seriously against a manager's recommendations or it makes his position untenable.

A municipal assessor, in carrying out his duties, must value properties according to the law of his province and disregard any contrary instructions from his local council. Similarly, the manager must be limited in his control over assessment, unless he happens also to fill the post of assessor. And, in the same way, there are as a rule statutory provisions governing the duties of the auditor, the clerk and other municipal officials. With this major exception, the intention of the manager system is that the manager should direct all phases of civic administration. Indeed, he should not be appointed unless he is capable of doing so, and, once appointed, the council should see that no one, least of all its own members is allowed to interfere with his powers.

THE ROLE OF THE COUNCIL

In Canada, we are apt to think that the manager system requires little more than to appoint a city manager and give him the green light. In the country of its origin, however, the form of council, the range of its responsibilities and the way it is expected to carry on its work, are regarded as equally important. Certainly the manager plan cannot claim to be a scientific approach to municipal government unless a good deal of attention is paid to such questions.

The council under the manager plan is intended to be only a small body, and most manager councils in the States live up to this objective. In small cities, five is the commonest number, while the larger cities usually have about nine. The favored method of Council election for manager-operated municipalities is by general vote, and in the United States this practice is widely followed, in places over 5,000 population, election at large has entirely replaced ward contests in close to three-quarters of the centres employing the manager plan. In a few cases where the mayor is often given extremely strong powers, he is expected in manager cities to be merely "first among equals". Well over half the manager cities over 5,000 follow the English custom and let the council choose one of its number as Mayor. In some cases, also, the Councillor who polls the highest popular vote becomes mayor automatically.

Under the council-manager plan, the responsibilities commonly farmed out to numerous boards of commissions — either elected or appointed — are expected to be returned to the immediate control of council and placed under department supervision of the manager. Education is the single exception. The city council ordinarily controls such services as libraries, parks and public utilities. In this way, the council and the manager can be held directly accountable for the responsive and efficient handling of every civic service. Actually, in manager cities, one or more separated bodies remain, but the number has been greatly reduced. Advisory planning functions, however, are generally handled by separate commissions.

How far the pyramiding of council authority has been carried in U.S. manager cities is perhaps the least known aspect of the system in Canada. Council-manager government has been the means of getting rid of elected treasurer, assessor and administrative officers — an evil never encountered in this country. It has reversed the trend to transfer more and more services from the control of separate boards. Finally, it has been used to reduce the number of standing committees of council and special committees of council. In some manager cities, the full council handles all committees work.

While the elimination of council committees can hardly be called a basic part of the manager plan, it points up two of the plan's strongest objectives: (1) to make the council responsible for the city as a unit, and (2) to prevent elected representatives from getting direct part in the actual administration. Members of the council commonly gain special knowledge which their fellow councillors do not share. Where this is not stopped, they expect their opinions to carry extra weight when the matter comes before council. Eventually, they are apt to regard themselves as qualified to rule on technical matters which should be left to the manager and his subordinates.

There is no doubt that the council under the council-manager system has heavy responsibilities, but responsibilities of a policy rather than administrative nature. The virtue in this is that persons of the highest calibre should be attracted to run for office. With plenty of broad problems under their jurisdiction, the council should be less temptation to intrude on the work of appointed officials. Nevertheless, the standard set for the council members is not an easy one and this fact may be one explanation for the failure of the manager plan to displace mayor-council government in the largest American cities. Cincinnati, the biggest manager city, has just passed the half million mark.

THE ACCOMPANYING CHANGES

For many years, the virtues claimed for the council-manager plan have been regarded in some quarters with a good deal of skepticism. It was no doubted out that cities adopting city manager government had been suffering from patent maladministration and open corruption. Any sweeping change, therefore, must be good or bad, was likely to result in some improvement, if only temporary.

But the open hostility some municipalities showed toward the plan in its early days has long since disappeared. In most cases, the introduction of the manager system was the whole focus of the administration raised. Almost invariably there was an internal shake-up and the adoption of more business-like methods. In addition, most cities took up what might be called optional supporting features of the basic reforms. Manager municipalities are the lead in extending the term for elected representatives from two to four years, formerly common throughout the United States, and which still plagues many Ontario municipalities. Half the U.S. manager cities over 5,000 population now go their individual councillors four or more years in office. Over 41 percent of these have terms and with a couple of exceptions, the only councillors for three years. Coupled with the longer terms, the manager cities have taken the lead in adopting the principle of overlapping terms so as to eliminate frequent elections with proper continuity in municipal management. Council-manager cities have also made better progress than other U.S. cities in getting rid of partisan elections, which for over the years helped to hold many of their municipalities in the clutches of political bosses and wardheelers. Opposition to elections by wards has also been a blow at the unsavory elements which have been too common in civic elections in the larger U.S. cities.

The outstanding success of council-manager government in the United States has at least demonstrated beyond question its value in that country. The difficulties occasionally encountered in manager cities and the relatively small number of U.S. places that have reverted to the mayor-council form are more apt nowadays to be regarded as evidence that the system was not properly followed than as any sign of weakness in the plan itself. In all probability, the same observation holds true for Canadian experience.

One point should be stressed. No municipality should adopt council – manager government until its citizens understand what is involved and give evidence that they are prepared to work for its success.

The Rev. H. Jones officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Elmer Wilson, the bride wore a lovely gown of bronze shot taffeta, in street length, with accessories, and corsage of yellow roses.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Shirley Wilson, who was attired in sky blue shot taffeta, in street length, with navy accessories, and corsage of red roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception and supper was held at the New Queen's Hotel, Belleville.

For travelling to western points, the bride wore her wedding ensemble with beige-toned tweed topcoat, and corsage of yellow roses.

HARRISON—LABELLE

A quiet, but very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Joseph's rectory, Belleville, on Saturday, October 30, at 10.30 a.m., by Reverend J. J. Buckley, when Marie Marguerite Juliette Labelle, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emile Labelle, became the bride of Carl Roland Harrison, of Picton, R.R. 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Harrison of Picton, Ontario.

The bride was attractively attired in a navy blue suit with pale blue hat, and gloves with navy shoes and purse and corsage of red roses.

Later the happy couple left for Hamilton and Niagara Falls, the bride wearing her wedding ensemble with light blue coat and navy accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison are residing in Belleville.

Guests were present from Hamilton, Picton, and Ottawa.

ALLISON—CORNALDI

A pretty double-ring wedding ceremony was performed at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Belleville, on Saturday, October 30, at 4 p.m., when Rev. Geo. G. Hornsby united in marriage Catherine Ise Cornaldi, daughter of Mrs. Helen G. Cornaldi, to Thomas Earl Allison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleland J. Allison.

The traditional wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Egerton Boyce, and Mrs. Beverly Shaw, soloist sang "The Lord's Prayer", before the ceremony, and "Because", during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, wore an imported gown of silk Valenciennes lace and nylon illusion. The fitted bodice emphasized the bouffant skirt with its lily point tier upon tier petals of illusion and lace. The matching lace jacket had long tapering sleeves and chapel collar, outlined in opalescent beads and seed pearls. A coronet of pearls held her fingertip veil and her flowers were a semi-cascade of white gardenias, and blue carnations with trailing ivy.

Miss Judith Mills, as maid of honor, and Miss Shirley McFarlane, as bridesmaid, wore gowns of shrimp and blue nylon taffeta over taffeta, styled with scoop neckline, and long full skirts. They wore matching headdresses and carried small cascades of yellow marguerite daisies, blue and yellow carnations with yellow pom.

Little Miss Margaret Allison was flower-girl, frocked in blue tulle over taffeta with a matching bandeau and mitts, and carried a dainty cascade of similar arrangement to the bridesmaids.

Mr. William Babbitt, Belleville, was groomsman and the ushers were, Messrs. Donald Hanna, of Trenton, and John Francis, Belleville.

A wedding reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Miss Ann Lefave and Miss Audrey Seale assisted with the serving.

On their return from New York City, Mr. and Mrs. Allison will reside in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Mumby, Rawdon Twp., Wed 50 Years

STIRLING (Special) — Lifelong residents of the Rawdon township area, Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Mumby, of Bonarlaw, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Monday when they were "at home" to their immediate family and to a wide circle of friends and neighbors. Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Mumby were guests at a family dinner held at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Mumby of Springbrook. Many congratulatory messages were received, including telegrams from George S. White, M.P., and from the Dominion secretary.

Rev. H. E. Beare of the United Church at Springbrook, opened the afternoon and spoke kind words of his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fox, Stirling, brought greetings from the Orange Lodge, component of the IOOF, while gifts were presented from the Rebekah lodge, of which Mrs. Mumby is a valued member.

FARMER ALL LIFE

A farmer all of his life, Mr. Mumby at 76 still operates his 100-acre farm, keeping between 15 to 20 head of cattle, hogs and other farm stock. He operates the farm alone and drives his own tractor, which he purchased a few years ago to help him keep up with the farm work.

He is the second youngest of a family of twelve children, and is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mumby, of Bonarlaw, known at that time as Big Springs. Until about 35 years ago when they purchased their present farm on the 12th line of Rawdon Mr. Mumby made his home homestead in the Spry Settlement.

Looking after the operation of his farm and doing farm chores is a full time job for Mr. Mumby but he still has time to be a good neighbor and is always ready to do a good turn.

Mrs. Mumby was the former Jessie Johnston, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Johnston, whose farm overlooked the Trent River at Healey Falls.

FATHER OPERATED FERRY

She well recalls when her father operated the ferry across the river at Healey Falls before the bridge was built.

Members of Springbrook United Church, and all Mrs. Mumby's formerly took an active interest in the work of the church. Mrs. Mumby for many years has been associated with the Springbrook Women's Association and the Springbrook W.I. Mr. Mumby is a charter member of Springbrook IOOF and is a Past Noble Grand of his lodge.

They have two daughters and two sons, Mrs. Reg. (Leda) McKeown of Springbrook; Mrs. Clarence (Rona) Jeffcy of Nepanee; Hiram Mumby, general merchant at Springbrook, and Ralph Mumby, manager of Monarch Belting Co. of Montreal. They have six grandchildren.

Mr. Mumby has three sisters and two brothers still living. They are Miss Milda Mumby, of Toronto; Mrs. Martha McInroy, of Tweed; Mrs. Elizabeth Lipsett, Moscomin, Sask.; James Mumby of Belleville, and Charles Mumby of Rawdon. One sister and five brothers are deceased. Mrs. Mumby has one sister living, Mrs. Aggie McComb, of Morganston. Carl Johnson, of Campbellford, is a nephew.

WRITTEN IN INK

An interesting document displayed at the anniversary was the hand written wedding certificate given Mr. Mumby's parents following their marriage back in 1857. The certificate was written in ink by the minister performing the ceremony. The certificate has been in the possession of Miss Milda Mumby of Toronto. The family's gift to Mr. and Mrs. Mumby was a silver wegreen tree decorated with the new issue of Canadian currency, the centre piece for a corsage among the Mumby clan. Next summer Mr. and Mrs. Mumby of Belleville, will observe their 50th wedding anniversary, while Miss Milda Mumby of Rawdon, will shortly celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

Albert College W.G. Enjoys Talk on Europe

The regular meeting of the Albert College Women's Guild was held in the Manor, last Thursday, with the president, Mrs. Finkle, presiding.

Rev. A. MacKenzie, principal of Albert College, addressed the meeting on the subject of "Albert College Centennial Campaign", which will take place during the months of February, March and April, 1955.

On account of the increased number of students at the college extra accommodation has become necessary, and it is hoped that the money needed to provide this accommodation will be raised during the campaign. The appeal for funds will be made throughout the Bay of Quinte and the Toronto to conferences. In these two conferences there are a large number of pastoral charges.

Mr. MacKenzie has been instrumental in having committees formed in these charges to assist in the campaign.

Mr. W. J. Morrison, who is in charge of the Belleville committee, also spoke on the Centennial campaign, and said, "that in any undertaking of this kind, the spirit of optimism was of the greatest value in assuring its success."

Miss L. McDougall, accompanied by Mrs. J. K. Franklin, sang a solo "One World," by Clokey. Her solo was much enjoyed.

Mrs. Wilbur Sherry read the Scripture Lesson from Revelations seventh chapter.

From Edinburgh, Mrs. Sharpe and her party motored south through the lake district to the old walled city of York, and then east to Stratford-on-Avon, where they stayed at the Shakespeare Hotel. Here, as in other hotel are old and have low ceilings, plastered walls with dark beams and casement windows. Each room is named after a character in Shakespeare's plays. In the country near Stratford are Warwick Castle and the ruins of Kenilworth Castle.

LONDON

From Stratford-on-Avon, the party went to London, on the way, visiting Windsor Castle, and Hampton Court. From London they went by train to Newcastle-on-Tyne and took ship for Bergen in Norway. They also visited Stockholm in Sweden and went south to Denmark and other countries in Europe.

While in Germany, Mrs. Sharpe visited the War Memorial Cemetery, in Hannover in which her husband is buried. She said that the cemetery was beautifully kept with roses growing on all the graves.

'Women's Rights —If Any' Topic At Kiwanis L.A.

At the opening of the meeting, a minute's silence was observed in honor of "Remembrance Day."

A new member, Mrs. A. G. Dalrymple, was introduced to the Auxiliary, and Mrs. S. Eaton, who has returned from Northern Ontario, was warmly welcomed back.

Reports were made by the various committee conveners pertaining to the month's activities, in the absence of Mrs. W. Cook, Mrs. W. Allen read an interesting report on the success of the autumn ball and the "pop-as-you-pull tickets.

Mrs. E. Lusk was presented with a president's rose as a gesture of appreciation of her untiring efforts and those of her committee.

Mrs. H. Cross reported on the activities of the hobbycraft classes and the Christmas gifts the children are making.

GUEST SPEAKER

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. V. White, who called upon Mrs. H. Craig to introduce the speaker of the evening, Mr. K. G. Ross, Q.C., who spoke on "the most interesting talk entitled, "Women's Rights If Any".

Mr. Ross was amusing and informative and said that women have come a long way from the medieval days, when they were considered slaves or less chattels, especially during the 1st 100 years. Women's rights in marriage were clearly set forth by Mr. Ross, and it would seem that women have more rights than they probably realize. The law is on the women's side for the most part, unless she is proved undeserving.

Mr. Ross made witty, and provocative comments on what constitutes a happy marriage, and how Belleville could benefit from the services of a pre-marital counseling bureau, and marriage counselling bureau, where young people and older people might go and receive a little disinterested, unbiased and sympathetic advice on marital problems.

Mrs. H. H. Murray thanked Mr. Ross for his interesting talk, which was enjoyed by the members.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. W. Riley and her committee, assisted by a choir of most pleasant evening.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SHE GOT WHAT SHE DESERVED—NOW IT'S UP TO HER

A woman who, I would say, got exactly what she deserved, now bemoans her sad fate in the following letter:

"My first husband died about six years ago, leaving me with four children. About two years ago I was married again, to a man who divorced his wife for me. He had four children by his first marriage.

"I have a little girl, three years old, that we had before he and I were married, and I have a baby a year old who was born after we were married. My husband has left us, and has never seen the baby boy. He is hiding somewhere to get out of supporting us. I know I should get a divorce from him, but I don't have the money.

"My biggest problem, though, is that his first wife lives just around the road from me, and her children resent my little girl. They call her all kinds of names, and tell her she was born before I was married, and I have a baby. The children's mother will not do anything to stop them, and you can't make her understand that such treatment is hurting the child more than me.

"What would you do in my case?

My first comment on this letter would be that I think this woman has been entirely too worry about her child being hurt. Something went over three years too late, in fact.

Why didn't she stop to consider, before she took upon her the unfair with her neighbor's husband, that, if she did so, it was very possible that she might bear a child out of wedlock and thereby, as it grew older, expose it to the very kind of ridicule and abuse she now claims is causing her such great concern? So who is the one most responsible for her child's hurt? The woman whose husband she stole, or she herself?

If the second thing I would say is, that if this woman can possibly manage it, she should move away at once from where she is now living, and go to another town. It is incredible that she has continued to live across the road from the woman she wronged, and I can't possibly imagine why she had done so. She does say elsewhere in her letter that she owns the house in which she lives. But would it not be to the benefit of everyone concerned in this nasty mess, herself most of all, if she sold the house and moved away?

Again, the character she first stole, and later married, is quite evidently a bad one. This is no more than was only to be expected, since the man who double-crosses his wife usually eventually double-crosses the girl friend, too. Now he is "hiding out" to escape from assuming any responsibility for the family he took on after breaking up his own, and it's highly unlikely that this woman will ever be able to force him to support herself and the children even if she can find out where he is and take him to court.

If she has anything at all substantial in her own character, she will make up her mind, right here and now, that she is going to have to be the one to bring up her family herself, and get busy making plans to do so. For her to sit around waiting for her husband to show up and give her any money will be just so much wasted time, and leave her worse off than she is now. Why doesn't she show some gumption, and accept the responsibilities she has brought on herself?

Of course, I can see that she is going to need a lot of help in working out a way of supporting all these children, unless some of them are old enough to lend a hand. In any event, she had better look up her local family service organization, and get there as fast as possible, to ask for advice on what she can do to earn money. They will certainly do what they can to show her how she can meet her double problem of caring for her children while earning the money to support them, but, in the last analysis, it will be up to her to find the initiative and will power to follow out the advice they give her.

So far, she seems to have made a fine mess of things. But she doesn't have to keep on doing so, unless she is herself too shiftless, and too spineless, to make the effort to do anything else.

Watch Your Posture And Your Figure, Too

No bones for movie star Sally Forrest. Exercises such as this toe-touching routine keep her figure slim and firm.

By HELEN FOLLETT

It seems that every reason clothes become more revealing, the more demands on feminine figures. The bare-top formal refuses to go into retirement because so many women who have pretty shoulders love it.

No matter what you wear, your diaphragm must be self-contained, your back straight as an arrow, neck firm, bust rounded.

PERSEVERANCE PAYS OFF

If your anatomy does not qualify, the solution of the problem will be found in exercise, salon-given or home accomplished. When proportions are good, one may only need a few toning up stunts, such as stretching, torso-twisting, walking on tiptoe. A little perseverance brings hips inches or overcomes a slight slump.

If it is possible to patronize a salon, you'll learn self-improvement tricks that will work wonders for you.

POOR POSTURE'S DEPRESSING

Dorothy Nye, in her interesting book, "New Bodies for Old," says:

"The realization of over-large hips, rounded shoulders, a drooping bust makes you depressed. You feel inferior, so you do not talk or look your best. Often, it is just a few inches, a few pounds that build this seemingly unsurmountable barrier.

"Streamline your body. Sculpture it to functional lines. Then you will break down the barriers.

QUICK AND HEALTHY

"The surest, quickest, most healthful way to do this is by exercise. Here is what happens when you exercise: Your mind orders a certain part of your body to move. The muscles in that part contract. They relax and again contract. The blood is rushed in and out of them. The heart and lungs function harder to give these active muscles more blood.

"The lungs work faster to supply more oxygen. Fatigue poisons, which would otherwise linger and pollute the system, are forced along and out. Knots in the nerves are ironed away."

New Zealand Needs 40,000 Girls of Marriageable Age

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP)—New Zealand needs about 40,000 girls of marriageable age as brides for young men who cannot find wives.

Boys now reaching manhood in New Zealand have only a 50 per cent chance of marrying before they are 35.

Dr. O. C. Mazengarb, QC, an authority on social problems, says the number of male and female in the country is about equal and birth rates are also fairly close, but a shortage of girls available for young men to marry has arisen gradually over a long period.

In the pioneering days there was a surplus of young men and this had been increased by recent immigration. As a result older men began seeking wives in the younger age groups. "They have been gradually encroaching on the preserves of their juniors—poaching on the younger groups," Dr. Mazengarb says.

Today in the 20 to 35 years group there are 96,253 unmarried men and only 56,158 women, a shortage of over 40,000. If the comparison is extended down to include 16 years and over, there are 145,295 bachelors and 103,705 spinsters — a shortage of over 45,000.

The male population, Dr. Mazengarb says, does not get an even chance of marrying until 40 to 45, when many of them marry the widows of those who were more lucky in their younger days.

Dr. Mazengarb's solution is for New Zealand to send about 30,000 to 40,000 home-loving girls from Britain and northwest Europe.

PROBLEM OF SHOWER GIFTS ALWAYS WITH US

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

When I am invited to a shower, and cannot or don't want to attend, is it absolutely necessary for me to send a gift? There has been and is so much discussion about this in our group of friends.

—Margaret D.

No. . . if you 'regret' the shower invitation and don't wish to send a shower present, you needn't send one. However, sometimes, whether or not you wish to send a present depends somewhat on circumstances. For example, if you have been invited to several showers for the same girl (which happens too, too often in these shower-minded days!), your pocketbook may well be so deflated that you simply cannot afford to give another present . . . and you shouldn't be expected to. So you may 'regret' the invitation, not go to the shower. But, on the other hand, if the engaged girl is a very dear friend of yours and she is to have only one general shower given for her, you may want to send a shower present even if you are not able to attend.

THE FRANCES PARENTS SHOULD KNOW THIS RULE

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I have just become engaged to a man I met when we were both in the service in California. His family lives in New Mexico, he lives in Florida, and I now live with my family in Connecticut. Quite a problem of distance! My family and I have not met his family. My fiance has written me that he told his family of our engagement a month ago, and I have been waiting till I heard from them before announcing the engagement. But not a word from them. Mr. family and I know that my fiance's family should write first. But what should be done if they just don't know they should make the first gesture? — Marsha's S.

It does seem strange that so many people don't seem to know about this important rule that the young man's family should make the first social move, either to call on or to write (or telephone) to the girl and her family. It would seem to be such a natural thing for them to do! However, when it becomes apparent that they aren't going to take the initiative, the girl and her family should take it. It is so important that that relationship between the two families should be established as soon as possible.

Tender Fish

By Mary Moore

Our overseas sisters and cousins are miles ahead of us when it come to serving fish.

Here we are constantly tempted to spend more money than we should on expensive cuts of meat, because they are tender when all of the time lovely fresh fish, which is always tender, is patiently waiting to be caught up by us from the fishman's counter.

Next time we are giving you some oven meal ideas, but I would dearly love to have worked one of today's fish dishes into next column. Since I did not have the space, today's is strictly fishy.

For the first recipe I used a pyrex pie plate to bake the fish on, then stood it in a silver ring that fits it, and after garnishing with lemon and parsley carried it directly to the table. I enjoy using the baking dish for a serving dish when it is present-able. The food reaches your plate many degrees hotter, and the dish washing pile is reduced by one large item.

EPICURE'S BAKED FISH

Sprinkle a shallow baking dish with enough fine breadcrumbs to coat the bottom. Lay on the crumbs 2 lbs. fresh or frozen fish fillets, having them slightly overlapping if necessary. Gently melt 1-2 cup butter and add 1 tablespoon each vinegar, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, 1-2 teaspoon each prepared mustard and salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper. Mix smoothly and pour evenly over the fish. Sprinkle with paprika. Place in very hot oven of 450 deg. Fahr. Baste well once during baking period. If fillets are fresh and 1 inch thick this dish requires about 12 minutes at this high temperature. If fillets are frozen and about 1 inch thick they require about 20 to 25 minutes.

The husband of one of my friends says he loves to eat fish but detests the smell when he comes home and opens the front door at night. A happy solution to just that situation is

FOIL-BAKED-FISH,

Use fresh or frozen fillets. If fish is frozen it need not thawed but do chip off any excess bits of ice that have formed on the surface. Sprinkle fish with salt. (See note below on seasoning before baking.) Grease aluminum foil and wrap the fish much as if it were an envelope-making double folds and pinching them, so that fish will steam. Place the package of fish in shallow pan and bake at 450 deg. Fahr. Allow more time for foil-wrapped fish—about 15 minutes for each inch thickness of fresh fish and about 25 minutes for each inch of fish that is frozen.

One of our best summer party meals has a Bretlettenore or Gaspe salmon as a feature. We look forward to salmon and steak, but

Montreal Now North America's Biggest Financial Underworld

By BOB JOYCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Top-level officials of Montreal's financial district say this city has succeeded Toronto as the headquarters of North America's biggest financial underworld.

In a few short months Montreal, long considered a bastion of conservatism finance, has become the business home of the fast-talking, high-pressure stock salesman.

They say that since the start of the year these men have built an empire of monetary vice that has muleted gullible Americans of millions of dollars.

HUGE TAKE

Stockbrokers estimate the total take of fly - by - night promotion shops exceeds $25,000,000 — other estimates are more restrained. All agree it is big business.

"Montreal is getting a bad name because of these operations," Brig. James B. Weir, president of the Montreal stock exchange said. "I'm quite sure that when the situation is cleaned up in October they'll move elsewhere."

Stock exchange spokesmen say there are 20 to 30 shady promoters in the city, but that they are getting crowded out. Brokers and members of the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges, both of which are in this city—a bad name.

"They operate either by selling uranium, oil or mining stocks traded on the exchanges or by well-known stocks traded over the counter," an exchange official said.

"Very few of them are phony in the sense that they fail to deliver stock certificates — they're not bucket shops as in the old days.

CAME FROM TORONTO

"What they do is to take a speculative stock and sell it up, giving the impression that it is a sure-fire investment."

He said the "salesmen" moved in from Toronto late last year when the Ontario securities commission made things too hot for them.

"They opened offices, apparently legitimate. The stock exchange was gone elsewhere, often in another building. 'Boiler rooms' were set up with as many as 50 telephones to call prospective clients all over the United States.

"One firm mailed out five letters —including a glossy booklet that must have cost at least $1 a copy to produce—before they even suggested the purchaser buy a particular stock.

"Other concerns got options on stocks long listed on the exchanges and bought or sold small lots to bid up the price. Then they sold the big lots to investors in the United States.

COMPLAINTS MOUNT

"We've been getting as many as 30 letters a day from persons as far off as Hawaii complaining they've been taken."

He said the firms use dummies to hold the stock while the price is bid up and buy back from him at a shade less than the new "market" price.

"That way they avoid high income tax and the dummy could claim his "profit" as a capital gain, not taxable in Canada. He may be an outsider or a junior employee but he never actually handles the stock certificate.

One hotel waiter who filled the role made $10,000 in a few months and headed for the West Indies for a holiday.

He said the peak of this so-called speculative trading was reached in July, but that it seems to be tapering off now.

"It looks as though the boys are getting nervous," one broker said. "The Ontario government has already cancelled the licences of more than 10 and certainly the boiler rooms have had to move for fear their calls would be traced."

TAKE NEW TACK

Some seem to be trying to line up long-distance phone facilities through importers and exporters whose volume of international calls would normally be large," he said.

Use of the mail for stock frauds is a federal offence and carries a two-year prison sentence. The Quebec Securities Act forbids the sale of stock by phone except in special cases.

If you feel ALL-IN
These days most people work under pressure, worry and daily loss. This drains on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense, busy, frayed resistance overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel like a million dollars—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter.

Last week Premier Duplessis announced plans to amend its present Act. The premier did not indicate what form the amendment would take but political observers in Quebec believe it will stiffen enforcement agencies in Montreal.

Meanwhile, government heads its first move in July when it sent to Rome Hebert, senior crown prosecutor in Montreal for the last 10 years, as registrar of securities. Hebert was given the task of ferreting out the phony operators.

AMERICANS IN CANADA

Brigadier Weir said many of the top men are Americans who moved into Canada when U.S. officials got to know them too well.

"Over the last year or so several stocks have been suspended from trading or delisted on the exchanges. In some cases because our committees had sufficient evidence that the market for the shares was being rigged or maintained at artificial levels."

Mr. Weir said he has warned members of the exchanges not to help these promoters directly or indirectly, but that the bulk of promotional stocks are not traded on the exchanges.

"If in the opinion of the committee trading in [illegible] changes) shares constitutes aiding or abetting fraudulent selling, the committee may meet out a non-exempt fine a member up to $5,000.

Hastings County Farm Forum

On Monday evening the forums met to talk about "Forum Play Many Roles in Community."

Only two forums reported meeting but 31 interested people met. It is certain other forums met, so should send in the reports by Friday.

Both forums agreed that the results of farm forum is a better informed community. Brookdale put neighborliness first; they felt this friendly spirit would lead people to meet together for mutual help and benefit.

Hazzard's, though they believed neighborliness to be most important, said that the better informed community on agricultural problems throughout Canada would lead to a development of leaders.

Other things that follow would be more reading and study; world-wide recognition, and benefits, such as co-operative insurance.

Hazzard's said: "Forums promote better understanding. We see our neighbor's fault, but we like them just the same because we understand."

Some things the forums have done:

Brookdale has used films from local film council, discussion forums report serving refreshments for the Federation of Agriculture county meetings. Hazzard's also say they have invited Kiwanis and Junior Farmer groups to forum meetings to promote understanding.

Eisenhower Asks Senate Approve Arming Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower asked the Senate Monday to approve treaties freeing and rearming West Germany on the side of the Western powers. He said the treaties "are founded upon the profound yearning for peace" shared by peoples of the Free World.

The measures would restore sovereignty to West Germany, ending the British-U. S.-French occupation. Germany also would become a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and together with Italy join the 1948 Brussels pact.

These steps, Eisenhower told the Senate, could be accomplished under the agreements "in a manner which will ensure freedom and equality for the people of Germany, and at the same time will avoid the danger of a revival of German militarism."

Eisenhower, apparently aiming at Russia's often expressed fears of a rearmed Germany declared: "The agreements endanger no nation. On the contrary they represent one of history' first great practicable experiments in the international control of armaments."

Raid by IRA Fails to Occur

LIVERPOOL, Eng. (Reuters)—Military and naval authorities Monday called off emergency security precautions in the Liverpool area after a suspected Mesandron raid by the underground Irish Republican Army failed to materialize.

Special armed guards had kept watch on more than 30 posts during the weekend and all servicemen had their leave cancelled during a special check on security arrangements.

Unconfirmed reports said the tightening up followed police interception of a message in which the I.R.A. disclosed plans for a raid in the area.

Probably Diamond Deposits In Canada Waiting for Someone

By JACK BEST
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—Somewhere in Canada there probably are diamond deposits waiting for someone who wants to take the time and trouble to find them.

So runs the theory of a number of United States geologists, none of whom can find the time to go diamond hunting and many of whom wish they could.

Canada's best-known link with the diamond industry is Dr. John Williamson of Montreal, who went to Tanganyika in East Africa 14 years ago and made millions by discovering a great diamond "pipe" there.

But ever since diamonds first flashed from river beds in the northern United States nearly 100 years ago, geologists have speculated that the deposits from which they came, potentially worth millions of dollars, were located in Canada.

CARRIED BY GLACIERS

These great gems have been found in Ohio, Wisconsin, Indiana and Michigan. Dr. C. P. Alexander, geologist at the New York diamond house of Tiffany and Company, estimates their total value at $200,000.

Geologists believe these loose diamonds were carried from Canada by glacial drift during the ice age. One geologist, W. H. Hobbs, studied a glacial path to one spot where diamonds were found and surmised that they came from somewhere in the James bay area, some rock in which diamonds are

Union Chief Suggests Move to Combat Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — President Maurice A. Hutcheson proposed Monday to his AFL carpenters' union amend its constitution to permit local unions to demand a non-Communist affidavit from members suspected of "communistic leanings."

Hutcheson's suggestion was contained in his remarks prepared for the opening session of the huge union's general convention, held once every four years.

$125 Zenith Hearing Aid Better Buy Than Aids Averaging $268!

SCIENTIFIC TESTS PROVE that the Zenith—priced at less than ½ as much—offers equivalent performance for ½ the average operating and upkeep cost!

Zenith has always said you can pay up to $300 or more but you don't buy a finer hearing aid than a Zenith. To support this statement, Zenith requested the United States Testing Company, Inc. —America's foremost private, independent testing laboratory—to purchase on the open market two Zenith Hearing Aids and two each of America's five foremost competitive brands of transistor hearing aids, and to test them thoroughly.

Price of the 5 transistor Zenith "Royal-Five" was $125. Prices of the other hearing aid brands ran from $229.50 to $295...an average price of $268!

These scientific tests proved that the Zenith—priced at less than one-half as much—offered equivalent performance for one-half the average operating and upkeep cost of the other brands tested!

The results of these rigorous tests are so important to the hard-of-hearing that we have prepared a free booklet giving the details. It should be read by every hard-of-hearing person before buying any make of hearing aid. The facts may save you or a friend $150 or more! You can obtain a copy from your local Zenith dealer (he's listed in the classified telephone directory) or simply mail the coupon below.

Even gives a "leg up" to a knight in full armour? In a recent film about Joan of Arc the movie makers got over this weighty problem by dressing the actress who played the title part in readily-cut armour made of aluminum. Result: shooting, including scenes showing Joan mounting her horse, proceeded on schedule.

Canadian manufacturers use a lot of weight-saving aluminum not only because it makes things lighter to handle and cheaper to ship but because it makes up into more products per pound. Helps them market their products for less. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Mr. Lumley Sparked Dawdling Leafs Into Unbeaten String Of 7 Wins, Tie

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

YOUTH WILL BE SERVED

This is the year of the big flood!

This year thousands of armed suspects will converge on skating arenas carrying wooden weapons and steel blades ready to join battle in the annual "civil war."

In Belleville it is estimated that at least six hundred of these "ferocious warriors" will seek berths on teams ranging from the "squirt" to the juvenile classification.

This year organized minor hockey enters its twentieth year and all indications point to every record established thus far going by the boards. This city, thanks to hockey-minded men, plus a number who have the recreation welfare of the younger fry at heart, will enjoy its biggest year in the sport since organization inception here a few years ago.

The odds, as President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League pointed out the other day, are about one in five hundred of any of these youngsters "making" the major league. A lot of them will become promising juniors and graduate to intermediate and senior ranks. But at the moment, while each youngster has a secret ambition, big mind will be centred upon making the "Maple Leafs," "Bruins," "Rangers," "Canadiens," "Red Wings" or "Hawks" of his own category. Show us a kid who has been placed on a team and we will show you one of the proudest youngsters in town.

Service clubs of the city are solidly behind the movement. Rotarians, Kins, Kiwanis, Kinsmen, Optimists and Lions have sponsored teams of these youngsters, not for the advertising value obtained, but as a community welfare movement.

Merchants, business men and private individuals, too, have sponsored minor teams, not through any promise of financial gain (there's none for them) but merely to help organized hockey and the inestimable good it does for the youngsters.

Organization of all the minor categories will be completed this week and schedules will start on November 23. Convenors Mel Richards, Squirts; Harry Collins and Bill Brennan, Peewees, and Orlitt Lloyd, Bantams, and their various coaches have been busier than the proverbial one-armed paperhanger lining things to an organizational head! The juveniles' and midgets' schedules will appear in the immediate future.

JUNIORS PRACTICE

Belleville's newly formed junior club, under the managership of Bill Gault will practice at Memorial Arena on Wednesday evening from six o'clock to seven, Gault announced today. The team has been entered in the Trent Valley Hockey League, which, by the way, is having a special meeting in Stirling Thursday night, and Manager Gault asks all boys of junior age desirous of making the club to turn out for practice. All positions are open and will be allotted strictly on players' merits.

OMHA ANNUAL

President Mike Nicholl, secretary Jack Christie and their merry men of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association have girded their loins for the biggest season since the organization came into being 19 years ago. It is expected that the largest number of delegates in OMHA history will attend the annual convention slated for the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, December 4.

The annual feature of minor hockey's greatest convention will be the presentation of the OMHA Eddie Powell trophy in recognition of outstanding service to minor hockey. The name of this year's winner has not yet been announced. The late Errol Russell, of Sarnia, won the award last year.

Incidentally, nominations for any office in the association, or proposed amendments to the constitution or resolutions, must be in the hands of the secretary, J. L. Christie, 5 Glen Edén Crescent, Toronto, 16, not later than Friday, November 19, to be considered at the annual meeting.

HENCE THE HOWL

Two hockey referees "passed the buck" in no uncertain manner last Saturday night up in Brampton when they gave "Buzzi" Houle, coach of the Weston Dukes, the heave-ho. The OHA backed up its officials in the same manner and tacked a year's suspension on Houle without right of appeal. That's what you get, huh, when you take your team off the ice before the bofs men tootle "Taps" on their official piccolos.

Houle pulled his Dukes off at 12.30 of the third period after a batch of misconduct penalties had been handed out to Brampton and Weston players during a prolonged argument between officials and players. Two match misconducts, four 10-minute misconducts, two majors and 21 minors were called during the game. Brampton was leading 4-1 when the game was called.

Peace, it's wonderful!

NO GAIN!

Hark to the sad fate which befell Don Carter of Central State. He ran back the opening kickoff against Kentucky State an even 100 yards for an apparent touchdown. But then the referee announced that he hadn't blown his whistle to start the game. Therefore the score didn't count. Just in case you're interested—which you probably are not—Central State won anyway.

Hendrix, King Fight to Draw

TORONTO (CP)—Tony Hendrix of London, Ont., and Harold King of Toronto battled to a five-round draw in the main event of an amateur boxing card Monday night.

Hendrix built up a slight edge in the first two rounds, then weathered a two-fisted comeback by King. They were in the 147-pound class. The fights were televised locally by the CBC.

Pedar Boland of Toronto took a five-round decision over Willie Reddy, also of Toronto in the 147-pound semi-final.

Day Dreams Flit from Fourth To Nudging Spot Behind Habs; That Smith Boy a Big Help

MONTREAL (CP)—Little more than a cursory examination of the National Hockey League's new crop of statistics is needed to show that timeliness in scoring and a slick job of net-minding proved the combination that has sparked the rampaging Toronto Maple Leafs.

Two weeks ago the Leafs were dawdling along in fourth place, three points away from the cellar. Today, having passed New York Rangers and Detroit Red Wings, the Leafs are only three points from the top and scoring Montreal Canadiens aplenty.

The Leafs' unbeaten string now sheds at seven wins and a tie. They scored only 18 goals in those eight games, an average of little more than two a game. But big Harry Lumley gave up only seven goals, a remarkable display of less than a goal a game.

The Leafs' big week came up with four victories in as many starts. The handy man was Sid Smith, crewcut right winger, who supplied the ball's-eyes in two 1-0 shutouts over the Red Wings. His goals in a 3-1 win over Boston Bruins and an assist on one of the two goals that overcame New York Rangers.

SID MOVES UP

Smith's five points in one week boosted him in the individual point-scoring race from an 18th place tie to a tie for seventh. He now has 12 points on seven goals and five assists.

The leader is Jeanie Geoffrion of Montreal, was finally thrown off his goal-scoring schedule and is flirting with it. His two goals in three games last week ran his total to 10 in 16 games. He has five assists, and with 20 points is three ahead of teammate Maurice Richard.

Richard picked up four points on two goals and two assists, to take over second place from Montreal's Ken Mosdell, whose one-goodone count brought his total to 15. Tied with Mosdell, but with fewer goals, is another Montrealer, Jean Beliveau. The big centre collected a goal and one assist last week.

Danny Lewicki of New York Rangers matched Smith's four-point output and moved from ninth place into a fifth-place tie, at 13 points each, with teammates Dick Mickoski and Don Raleigh.

Montreal posted seven victories, during the week to run their winning streak to six, but then were bowled over by Detroit Red Wings. It was the Wings' only victory in three starts.

The lower-placed teams also had one win each—New York and Boston in the former's case and Chicago Black Hawks in four.

Lumley's great stand put him well in the lead in the goal-tenders' race with 24 goals against the Leafs in 23 games. Detroit's average is a clay 1.60. Terry Sawchuk of Detroit holds second place with 1.87.

Argos Quest American Stars In Rebuild Job

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Argonauts already are looking after big league United States players in a bid to build a winning team in the Big Four Football Union next season.

Coach Frank Clair said Monday night that Argo scout Harry Sonkins has talked to about 20 players in the National Football League and some college boys.

Argonauts ended the 14-game schedule last week when they were defeated 15-9 by Hamilton Tiger-Cats. They finished in third place, behind Ticats and Montreal Alouettes, with six victories and eight losses.

"We haven't signed anybody yet," Clair said. "We've been screening. We'll talk to many more before we're through."

Clair knows what he wants in the playing line. Young talented linemen in the weight vicinity of 240 to 270 pounds and backfielders in the 190-215 class will have priority.

Last-Minute Injuries May Be Factors In Alouettes-TiCats Eastern Series

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats were hit with another injury Monday night and all but scuttled the hopes of coach Carl Voyles to have Ticats at peak condition for the Big Four Football Union playoffs against Montreal Alouettes.

Vito Ragazzo, 27-year-old star defensive halfback, was taken to hospital with a severe charley horse and is not expected to play here Wednesday when Ticats meet the Als in the first of a two-game, total-point series for the Big Four title.

Ragazzo's injury, apparently suffered in Ticats' engagement with Toronto Argonauts Saturday, raised to three the number of players who probably won't see action Wednesday.

Guard Pete Wooley, who substituted for the injured Les McClelland in the last two games, hurt his knee in the Toronto-Hamilton encounter and is expected to be on the sidelines. Also out will be end Pete Neumann, whose ankle was broken several weeks ago.

MONTREAL (CP)—Jim Staton, Montreal Alouettes' big tackle from North Carolina, is not likely to get into either game of the Big Four football playoff with Hamilton Tiger - Cats, coach Douglas (Peahead) Walker said Monday.

Staton sprained his right ankle badly in the final game of the regular schedule Saturday against Ottawa Rough Riders.

Walker said present indications are that Staton's injury would prevent him being of real value to the Als and it would be useless to figure on him playing.

Bruce Coulter, second-string quarterback who injured shoulder and neck muscles in Saturday's game, was reported coming along well.

Alouettes were to fly to Hamilton today for the first game Wednesday of the two-game, total-point playoff. The second game will be played in Montreal Saturday.

OUT OF HOSPITAL

However, Anderson and defensive back Gene Krueger, who suffered a broken nose Saturday, have been released from hospital.

Jackie Parker's foot injury has been diagnosed as a recurrence of an old ailment and his knee troubles are minor. Steve Mendryk's charley horse should be cleared up in time for the game. The sore back of Rollie Miles and the bad leg of Frankie Morris are supposed to be treatment.

If the Eskimos get past the Dutchmen on a report-by-the-chips plans to out-do all previous weeks. Grey Cup entertainment in Toronto Nov. 27.

The Eskimo theme will be followed with red sled dogs, troopers' costumes and an igloo in a downtown hotel lobby. About 25,000 ice cream bars with "love those Eska" wrappers will be given out during the Grey Cup parade.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

Beyond the athletic magnificence of the British Empire Games, climaxed by the greatest race in history, there glittered all the greatness and the solidarity of the British Spirit. Incidentally, this was an Olympic Games among friends, and the example of sportsmanship is worthy to match the Olympic world match, with or without Russia.

Quite apart from record performances was the imposing array of nationalities within the Empire that posted victories or scored points. England, Jamaica, Scotland, Wales, Australia, Canada, South Africa, Uganda, Hong Kong, Northern Ireland, Trinidad, Nigeria, New Zealand were all on the list, which reminds you that the British Empire and Commonwealth, despite economic ups and downs,in these troubled times, is still quite an institution.

And it made you feel proud of the sport tradition of this great Empire that with millions looking on, two runners, Bannister and Landy put on a miracle display of speed and stamina. They might have loafed along, outside the 4-minute area, and still have won. But with literally the eyes of the world upon them, Landy disdained to withdraw because of a 4-stitch cut in one foot, kept the injury secret lest it might be thought he was establishing an alibi. And each ran the greatest display of speed, courage and class, the greatest cinder-path battle in world history.

These Games provided an added thrill to any thinking Britisher, because Britain is the cradle of sports, and can boast that it was the original developer of more strictly international modern sports than any other nation.

In the list we may include boxing, soccer, football, cricket, rugby, track and field, polo, thoroughbred horse racing, tennis and golf.

And the thought came to us that if the far-flung Empire and Commonwealth countries could enter the Olympic Games as a unit, instead of 25 or so separate countries as of today, it would be a major threat to the United States' continued Olympic supremacy.

Carter, DeMarco Confident of Victory In Lightweight Championship Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Activities slowed down to a walk around the block shadow boxing belittling words of confidence flowed from the camps of lightweight boxing champion Paddy DeMarco and the man he dethroned, Jimmy Carter.

They meet over the 15-round route in the vast Cow Palace, with a national television audience sitting in—outside the San Francisco area—Wednesday night.

Carter, a 30-year-old New Yorker, observed almost casually:

"I'll win decisively, and I may knock him out."

Carter seldom makes a pre-fight promise of this nature.

DeMarco, 26, from Brooklyn, who surprised the boxing world in beating Carter by a decision for the title last March 3, remained at his training quarters at Bermuda Palms in nearby San Rafael.

"I came out here as the champion and I'll leave as the champion," he promised.

Carter, who once before lost the lightweight crown and won it back, is a 2-1 betting favorite.

Glover Still Tops In American Loop

NEW YORK (AP)—Fred Glover, Eddie Olson and Jackie Gordon, Cleveland's top forward unit, still hold the lead positions this week in the American Hockey League's individual scoring race.

Glover is first with 14 goals and 16 assists for 30 points. Olson has 26 points on 13 goals and 13 assist. Gordon with 22 points on nine goals and a league-leading 13 assists, is tied for third with Zellio Toppazzini of Providence.

Springfield's Graham Hastings rounds out the top five with 20 points.

Rookie Don Simmons of Springfield leads the goalies with a average of 2.43 on 17 goals allowed in seven games. Hank Bassen of Buffalo and Charlie Hodge of Providence share the league shutout lead with two each.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Having noted principal U.S. tennis hero, Tony Trabert, had just taken a shellacking from a minor Australian player named Don Candy, I'm glad Trabert ran down that dozen of American tennis teachers, Marcel Bessling, and asked him what he thought the game was coming to.

Bessling, who has devoted his last 31 years to showing youth the proper end of a racquet to grip, was gloomy.

"Thinking has gone out of the game," he said. "I would have to say that that is the principal development I have seen in my time. If there is a man playing today who thinks on the court the way Bill Tilden did, I don't know who he is. Bill would have thought any of our present masters right off the court.

"All they know now is to hit the ball as hard as they can and try to take possession of the centre of the net as quickly as they can. Their minds do not work beyond that point. Trouble is there aren't any good ones around who can hit the ball past them down the lines. Maybe this dates me, but that's the way I see it."

Bessler, who was instrumental in the development of two such stars as Ellsworth Vines and Frankie Parker, is convinced that if the U.S. ever is to reclaim its former place in the net world it must look to the public parks.

SWEDES MAY PREVAIL

In his present frame of mind, the old coach isn't convinced that the U.S. expeditionary force will prevail this past the Swedes in the inter-zone final of the Davis Cup matches at Brisbane early next month, much less prevail over the Aussies in the challenge round at Sydney later on.

"Those Swedes have two good players in Lennart Bergelin and Sven Davidson," he said.

"If we are lucky enough to reach the final round against the Australians, I don't see that our chances are any better than they were a year ago when we lost by 3-2.

"The Aussies made a mistake last year when they paired Rex Hartwig with Hoad at the last minute. They won't do that again. I see that they have put that lefthander, Mervyn Rose, back on the squad. He's one of the best doubles players in the world, and I think you can look for him and Hoad to be their pair this time."

Rawlings Bows To Scortichini

NEW YORK (AP)—Italo Scortichini, making his first start after a five-month layoff, brushed aside Luther Rawlings' stinging left jabs Monday night and used his superior strength to win a split decision in a 10-round match at St. Nicholas Arena.

Scortichini weighed 154½, Rdwlings 146 pounds.

PLAYER IN HOSPITAL

MONTREAL (CP) — Big Jim MacPherson, defenceman with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, entered hospital Monday for examination of a back injury. MacPherson was injured in a game here Thursday with Chicago Black Hawks and missed week-end games against Boston and Detroit.

COLLEGE SEASON ENDS IN 3-WAY TIE

The pigskin proves too elusive for Queen's Gary Schreider, left, as he just misses a pass during the eastern Intercollegiate thriller at Toronto. Alert pass defender, Bill Horton, right, was one of the reasons why University of Toronto Blues earned an 11-9 triumph over Queen's Gaels from Kingston, scoring two majors in five minutes during the fourth quarter, the U. of T. came from behind to force a three-way tie for first place in the Intercollegiate league. While Toronto earned a bye into the finals, Queen's and University of Western Ontario Mustangs will clash next Saturday in a special semi-final game. (Central Press Canadian.)

Blues Will Fly To West Coast For Grid Game

TORONTO (CP)—University of Toronto Blues will fly to Vancouver Thursday to meet University of British Columbia Thunderbirds in an East-West football game, it was announced Monday night.

Warren Stevens, Varsity's athletic director, said the game is scheduled for Tuesday. Varsity will fly back Sunday to start practising for the Senior Intercollegiate Union football final Nov. 27.

Stevens said Varsity agreed to make the trip because Western Ontario Mustangs and Queen's Golden Gaels turned it down.

The game was originally scheduled for Grey Cup day, Nov. 27, but the two-way finish for first place in the intercollegiate circuit cancelled it.

Then it was suggested that the loser of the playoff semi-final between Mustangs and Gaels here this Saturday could go. Western and Queen's turned down the offer. Varsity, idle this Saturday, agreed to go.

Thunderbirds haven't won a game this year.

Brian Kelly Verdicts Garcia

MONTREAL (CP)—Bryan Kelly, welterweight from Niagara Falls, Ont., Monday night hammered out a unanimous decision over Guy Garcia of Paris, France, in a 10-round bout at the Mont St. Louis Arena here.

Kelly weighed 141 pounds to 139 for the Frenchman.

Kelly scored with three successive right leads to make Garcia's knees buckle in the fourth round and he hit the floor for a no count. In the seventh round Kelly caught Garcia with a hard left, opening a cut over the right eye.

Garcia took the fifth round with a flicking left. He scored with a series of short rights to take the sixth as well. His best showing in the ninth, scoring a hard left to draw blood from a gash on Kelly's forehead.

BETORS FOUR IT OUT

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario racetrack followers poured a record $59,527,080 into pari-mutuel betting machines in the province in 1954, an increase, of $7,254,326 over the 1953 figure of $52,272,874, the previous high.

Betting on running races totalled $37,131,423 in 166 days of racing, compared with $30,000,916 in 157 days last year.

Mutuel handle at harness races at Woodbine track in Toronto was $2,395,656, compared with $2,271,558. The harness race meetings, only ones in Ontario with pari-mutuel betting, each ran 35 days.

Fort Erie, with two added days of racing, reported $13,534,233 this year against $10,446,943. The Fort Erie figures include racing under charters held by the Ontario Jockey Club, 29 days, and by the Orpen interests, nine days.

Feud Between Grid Coaches Rages Hotter

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The feud between coaches Hampton Pool of Los Angeles Rams and Joe Stydahar of Chicago Cardinals was hotter than ever Monday with Pool accusing the Card pilot of breaking a National Football League "gentlemen's agreement."

Principal issue was the controversial play at the end of the first half in Sunday's game, won by Los Angeles, 28-17, on which the officials ruled that time ran out before the Cards began a play ending in a touchdown which was disallowed.

Pool charged time would have expired before that if a Chicago player hadn't faked an injury with one second remaining, and Ram players accused the Chicagoans of playing dirty football throughout the game.

There has been bitterness between Pool and Stydahar since Ramp replaced Joe as Rams head coach two years ago.

The Los Angeles coach told the Southern California Football Writers Association Monday that a gentleman's agreement reached in Philadelphia last year called for no more fake injuries.

'Hurricane' Blows Simmons Down

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Tom (Hurricane) Jackson of New York, undefeated heavyweight, survived two stormy opening rounds but then rebounded strongly in scoring a sixth-round technical knockout over Keene Simmons of Bayonne, N.J., in a scheduled 10-rounder Meaday night.

Jackson weighed 198 pounds, Simmons 208.

Rose Trounces American Star In Aussie Tennis

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Lefthander Mervyn Rose trounced Hamilton Richardson, Jr., of the United States, 6-4, 6-4, 7-5 today to set up an all-Australian semi-final round in the New South Wales tennis championships.

Rose's one-sided victory gave Australia's newly - named Davis Cup squad three of the four berths. Ken Rosewall earlier had advanced by whipping Lennart Bergelin of Sweden 6-4, 6-3, 6-4, while Rex Hartwig made it with a 6-1, 1-6, 6-1, 6-0 victory over his countryman Don Candy.

Only Lewis Hoad, ace of the Aussie cup squad, was missing. He was the victim of the biggest upset of the tournament, having bowed to veteran John Bromwich, 6-4, 6-3, 7-5.

Tony Trabert of Cincinnati and Richardson earlier entered the semi-final round of the doubles.

Tiger Flowers, former world's middleweight boxing champion, died in a New York hospital 27 years ago today following a minor operation. Flowers reached the top Feb. 26, 1926, with a 15-round decision over champion Harry Greb, but lost the crown the same year to Mickey Walker.

Bromwich Ousts Lewis Hoad

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Veteran John Bromwich) former member of the Australian Davis Cup team, turned in one of the big surprises of the New South Wales tennis championships when he eliminated 'teen-age Lewis Hoad 6-4, 6-3, 7-5 in the quarter-finals.

Tony Trabert of Cincinnati and Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., earlier entered the semi-final round of the doubles.

At the While City Stadium the Americans beat the fourth-seeded Australians, Don Candy and George Worthington 6-4, 7-5, 6-4.

Dutchies Fly To Edmonton

KITCHENER (CP)—An advance party from Kitchener – Waterloo Dutchmen's football camp moved to Edmonton Monday as the Dutchmen began preparations for their Grey Cup semi-final next Saturday.

Coach Harvey Johnson said none of his players suffered severe injuries in the two-game Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union final against Sarnia Imperials.

But the Dutchmen will be without end Syl O'Hara, former University of Western Ontario player who was married Saturday and won't be going to Edmonton.

The team will fly out Wednesday.

Eskimos Ready For Clash With Dutchies

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos resume workouts tonight in preparation for their Saturday night clash here with Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union champions, in the Grey Cup semi-final.

Eskimos, 10 of their top players suffering injuries that may keep some of them out of the semi-final, are expected to be forced by the cold western weather indoors for practice sessions. However, no decision has yet been made by coach Frank Ivy.

Eskimos took a stiff battering along the line in their best-of-three Western Interprovincial Football Union finals with Winnipeg Blue Bombers, who they downed 10-5 Saturday with a strong ground offensive to win the series 2-1.

End Frank Anderson finished the final game with his teeth showing through an upper lip, his thumb fractured again, braces on both knees, a charley horse and taped-up ribs.

Bernie Faloney called his best split-T game of the year while running with both legs taped and an injured shoulder.

Cobourg Farmer Has Prize Heifer At Winter Fair

TORONTO (CP) — Two horses owned by Dr. R. L. Treleaven, Woodstock, Ont., are prominent in the lineup of some of North America's top jumping horses at this year's Royal Agricultural Winter Fair.

His Beau Geste, a seven-year-old chestnut gelding, beat the best in Canadian-bred jumpers Monday night to win the $1,500 Burton Stake event.

Dr. Treleaven's Khornaette placed second in the lightweight hunter class Saturday.

A Canadian horse, Patricia Volo, owned and driven by Dr. E. C. Foster of Galt, won the single trotter harness event against 18 entries.

COBOURG MAN WINS

A Cobourg district farmer won his first event at the royal after 34 years of showing his Holstein cattle. Bertram Hoskin won the senior yearling heifer class in the dairy cattle competitions.

T. H. McGee of Norval won the junior champion female prize in the Holstein show. W.A. Armstrong of Ottawa won the junior champion bull heifer ribbon in the Jersey class.

TAKES 3 TOP PRIZES

Henry Borden of King, won three grand prizes in the Guernsey class. He won the senior champion female and reserve champion bull and the junior champion bull-prize. R. O. Briggs of Dundas won the junior champion female in Ayrshires.

Paket farms of Ocnonomowoc Wis., won the senior and grand championship for Holstein bulls.

The Royal sale of the stars was held Monday night for Jersey cattle. Thirty-four head were put up for auction and brought a total of $25,000. Biggest sale was the $2,800 paid by Molson's of Montreal for Brampton Mable Beacon, consigned by R. R. Bull and Son of Brampton.

Entertainment Unions Sign Peace Treaty

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's entertainment war, an inter-union squabble that ravaged many performances, ended Monday.

The American Federation of Musicians and the American Guild of Variety Artists signed a five-year peace pact in New York that halted a jurisdictional dispute that broke out last year.

The treaty paves the way for night clubs and other organizations to hire vocal and variety entertainers. Union musicians will provide the musical background.

The trouble threw a monkey wrench into the entertainment industry in Toronto and Montreal, where the musicians refused to play for AGVA acts because of a disagreement over the guild's right to engage non-federation musicians to play at its shows.

Seven Survivors Of Wrecked Ship Struggle Ashore

HALIFAX (CP)—The first of the North Atlantic's angry winter gales slammed into the eastern Canadian seaboard Monday. The Gulf of St. Lawrence crackled with distress signals and two seamen were swept to their deaths.

Hurricane-force gales howling down from the northwest in advance of snow and below-freezing temperatures battered the fresh motor vessel Marsouin off Anticosti Island, carried two crew members overboard and drove the vessel ashore where her hull rested in a few feet of water. The victims were not identified.

Seven seamen survivors struggled onto dry land 22 miles from Southwest point and awaited a tug from Gaspe, Que., 55 miles south across the St. Lawrence river estuary.

Meanwhile the freighter Baxterville, after plowing through the stormy gulf waters, reached the 7,111-ton Panamanian merchantman Bluth where engineer Miller reported his decks cracked and his hold awash. The Baxterville stood by to await the arrival of a tug from Quebec.

Immigrant Hanged For Stabbing Of Mother of Four

WOODSTOCK (CP)—A Yugoslav immigrant was hanged early today for the stabbing death June 19 of a 34-year-old mother of four children.

Velibor (Bill) Bajlo, 31, went to the gallows in the courtyard of the Oxford county jail house shortly after midnight. A witness said Bajlo had the same calm, impassive bearing he maintained throughout his custody.

A crowd of about 150 persons wailed outside in the street during the execution until sheriff Alfred Bishop posted the official death notice on the door of the old, weathe-beaten jail house.

The trap was sprung at 12:12 a.m. Dr. J. A. C. Webb, jail physician, pronounced Bajlo dead at 12:22 a.m.

Bajlo, an unemployed woodworker, was sentenced Sept. 11 after a Supreme Court jury under Mr. Justice J. L. Wilson convicted him of murder in the knife-slaying of Mrs. Florence Boyd. Bajlo had been a roomer in the Boyd home.

The convicted man, who testified in broken English during his trial, showed no emotion and little interest in the proceedings from the day of his arrest to the last day of his life. Mrs. Boyd was attacked in her kitchen and stabbed approximately 30 times.

The crown's chief witness at the trial, Embry Wood, a Canadian war veteran, said he discovered Bajlo bending over Mrs. Boyd plunging a knife into her.

Quebec Prepares To Establish Ungava Riding

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec government is preparing changes to Quebec's electoral map to create a new constituency in northeastern Ungava's mining territory bordering Newfoundland-owned Labrador.

Qualified informants say Premier Duplessis may propose the move marking Quebec's stepped up development in a bill during the annual session of the legislature opening Wednesday.

Study of legislation to create what would be Quebec's vastest—351,780 square miles—least-populated electoral constituency has been under way for some time.

The Quebec government, it is understood, aims by the bill during privileges to residents of Schefferville at Knob Lake, part of Canada's huge iron ore development, and of other smaller mining posts in time for the next Quebec election, expected in 1956.

Oil Pipeline Opened

EDMONTON (CP)—A new $17,000,000 oil pipeline between here and the rich Pembina fields, 90 miles southwest, was officially opened Monday by long-distance telephone.

During ceremonies in Edmonton, Alberta's Premier Manning spoke by telephone to Ian McMillan, field operations manager for Pembina Pipe Line Ltd., the company's control room one mile from Drayton Valley town. Mr. McMillan then gave the word which started crude oil flowing through the pipe.

Gordon MacRae New Emcee, Soloist on The Comedy Hour

(By BOB THOMAS)

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gordon MacRae, entering the Sunday night TV sweepstakes, is challenging the front-runner, "Toast of the Town."

The solid singer from East Orange, N.J., is the new emcee and soloist on the Comedy Hour, which has been battling the Ed Sullivan show for five seasons. Both shows occupy the prime spot on television—the Sunday mid - evening hour.

Last year the Comedy Hour had the best of it, as far as audience ratings are concerned. This season "Toast" has triumphed, racking up the highest total for any show in October, according to one poll.

After a few weeks of mishmash offerings, the Comedy Hour is bringing up its big guns. MacRae's slate of guests for last night included Dorothy Kirsten, Sammy Davis Jr., Larry Storch and Gene Sheldon. Next month, Martin and Lewis take over for the first of their five guests.

DOING 17 SHOWS

MacRae will do about 17 of the season's shows (Mike Lefferan "Spectaculars" take the time spot every four weeks). Since the singer will be the only continuing member of the cast, he will bear the brunt of the comedy hour's rise or fall in the ratings.

"It doesn't worry me," he said. "All I can do is the best I can. I can act all right, I can sing and I look pretty good. We'll just try to put on a better show."

MacRae got his seasoning in TV as a pinch hitter. He took over the shows of Jackie Gleason, Eddie Fisher and Arthur Godfrey. Ed Sullivan, during illnesses or vacations of those stars.

INTERRUPTED PLANS

The comedy hour deal interfered with his master plan, which is to leave Hollywood for a year and do a Broadway show.

"I think you need to get away from Hollywood once in a while," he said. "I was all set to do it this fall, but the TV deal came along. I'll have to come back to resist the money."

"But I'll be through with the show in June. I play four weeks in Las Vegas, two in Reno, then I intend to move the family to New York in time to get the kids in school. New York will be good for me. I can study voice and do a show. After all, my best years are ahead of me. I'm 33, and a baritone continues to improve until around 43—10 years from now."

He has been sent a couple of play scripts, including the new one about P. T. Barnum. Upon advice of Richard Rodgers, he'll abstain from movies until after "Oklahoma!" comes out. MacRae plays the leading role of Curly.

CNR Hotel Will Be Managed By Hilton Group

MONTREAL (CP) — Announcement has been made Monday that the Canadian National Railways' new hotel in Montreal, to be ready in 1957, will be managed by the Hilton hotel group, operators of hotels in the United States and other countries.

The announcement was made jointly by Donald Gordon, CNR president and chairman, and Conrad Hilton, president of Hilton Hotels Corpe. It said the Hilton organization has obtained a Canadian company charter under the name of Hilton of Canada, Ltd.

Mr. Gordon said in a statement the hotel remains in full ownership of the CNR system.

Death Takes Another of Fabulous Barrymore Family, Lionel Dies at 76

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Grumpy-sounding, warm - hearted Lionel Barrymore, who had no stomach for the theatre but won long ones of the most illustrious of actors, died Monday night at 78.

He was dying at home Sunday night shortly after reciting the "Tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow" soliloquy from Shakespeare's Macbeth.

The senior member of acting's "royal family" had been in a coma 10 hours in Doctors Hospital. A publication of ailments included arthritis, which, after two hip fractures, had sent him to a wheelchair and crutches for the last 17 years. And John Paul Jones' fatal heart congestion was the immediate cause of death.

Only Ethel Barrymore, a year younger, survives Lionel in the famed family triumvirate of stage and screen. Their brother John died in 1942.

PLAYED CRUSTY SCROOGE

Radio fans remembered Lionel's portrayals for years as "Mayor of the Town" as narrator of the Sunday night "Hall of Fame" and his annual Christmas enactment of Dickens' crusty "scrooge." His last movie role was "Duke Sin" in 1951, with Clark Gable and Ava Gardner.

Dore Schary, head of MGM, the studio where Barrymore has been under contract, said his death "is a loss to the entire world of the theatre. . . He was a great actor and a wonderful man."

But of his own talents Lionel said:

"I have managed to get along all these years through a series of undeserved promotions and by fraud."

Wheat Supplies Estimated At 393,200,000 Bus.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's total 1954 wheat supplies were estimated Monday at 393,200,000 bushels, the fourth largest in history.

The bureau of statistics, in its monthly wheat review, said Canada's 1954 crop has been badly affected by weather and took into consideration the latest downward revision of the crop to an 11-year low of 296,500,000 bushels.

But it pointed out that Canada had a record carryover of 96,700,000 bushels from last year, raising 1954 supplies to the high level.

Thus, as it is when the new crop year began, Canada's estimated supplies totalled 393,200,000 bushels, exceeded only by last year's record 483,100,000; the 980-408,000 in 1952; and the 905,100,000 in 1932.

Bridge

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Bridge players do not live long before they learn that one of the best ways to make an opening bid. But most of them do not live long enough to know their correct second bid.

Culbertson's rules for the second bid are somewhat complicated, the average player could learn and remember his recommendations, but it is not likely that an average player would.

Goren spends 21 pages to explain what opener may do with his second bid. So many ramifications are included in his treatise that no ordinary player is capable of retaining it during a game.

This is because the second bid falls into four classifications, and his responses follow a devious pattern. So, his second bid will take too many adjustments into consideration.

Accordin' to Gordon the second bid by opener is easily described. He follows the order of choice in T-A-N; takeout, assist, no-trump; he may raise once for each trick more than shown; jump when he sees game.

If you can understand and remember Culbertson rules, go to it. If you can wade through what Goren says, help yourself. If you like mine, here it is. My future series will tell you why and which is best.

Sit south as dealer with the hand you see here:

Your opening bid is one heart. Your opening shows five tricks and your count is 12; five face cards when you have five; two face tricks which you have exactly; and a suit that is biddable.

If partner responds with a spade your second bid is a raise to two spades; one raise for the sixth trick. If his response was two clubs or two diamonds your second bid is two no-trump.

If response is two heart you two hearts, raise to three hearts to show your sixth trick. If his response was one no-trump, raise to two in no-trump to show your fifth high card (no-trump is trick). Plain!

Ministers Arrive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Canadian cabinet ministers arrived here Monday to talk about guided missiles, anti-aircraft problems and to visit American missile-testing centres.

Trade Minister Howe and Defence Minister Campney were met at the airport by Defence Secretary Wilson and other officials.

Howe and Campney conferred with U.S. defence officials before leaving. Their visit will take them to bases in Colorado, Nebraska, California, Texas and New Mexico.

Canada Asks UN Not to Increase Share of Budget

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Canada asked the United Nations Monday not to increase her share of the UN budget.

Paul Martin, acting chairman of the Canadian delegation to the General Assembly's budgetary committee that Canada feels "we would be imposed upon if our contributions were permanently increased for reasons that are demonstrably unsound."

The budgetary committee is considering a draft resolution submitted by its contributions committee that would increase the percentage of Canada's annual contribution to the UN budget to 3.63 per cent from 3.3.

Canada's share of the UN's $40,-000,000 budget last year was $1,-320,000.

The procedure followed in determining how much each UN member should pay toward the budget takes into account the national income of the country, a ceiling on the United States contribution of 33.3 per cent of the budget and the annual per capita income of each country.

Jenner Blames Censure Move On Communists

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator William E. Jenner (Rep. Ind.) says he will ask the United States Senate to kill off censure charges against Senator Joseph McCarthy, but Senator Homer Ferguson (Rep. Mich.) predicts the move will fail.

Jenner, who told the Senate Monday that "the strategy of censure was initiated by the Communist conspiracy," said he had discussed with other members a motion to quash the censure charges against the Wisconsin Republican, and "the idea has a generally good reception."

Jenner's proposed motion would shut off debate and offer members a chance to vote on the parliamentary question of tabling—and thus killing—a censure resolution recommended by a special six-man committee.

THINKS IT WON'T WORK

Ferguson said in a separate interview in advance of Jenner's resumption of debate that he believes most members want to meet squarely, and not in such indirect fashion, the issue of whether the Senate shall rebuke McCarthy.

Ferguson, chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee, said he hasn't made up his mind how he will vote on censure.

McCarthy, saying "I still believe I will be censured," told reporters he hopes the matter can be decided promptly.

Mendes-France Urges Austerity For His Nation

By MEL MORRIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Pierre Mendes - France, ex-premier turned French premier, left here by plane for Ottawa today to outline his plan to win France greater stature among the major trading nations of the world.

The 47-year-old premier, whose nationalistic policies have evoked criticism from supporters of a plan for an economic union of Western Europe, was to drive from the airport in the office of Prime Minister St. Laurent. After a round of social functions, he will meet Mr. St. Laurent for dinner at the prime minister's home.

He will confer with other government leaders Wednesday, before flying to Washington.

Mr. Mendes-France spent another hectic day in Montreal Monday, visiting universities, attending receptions and delivering the first major speech of his tour.

In the address to the France-American committee and l'Alliance Francaise, two French-language cultural groups, he advocated a belt-tightening program for France similar to the one that helped Britain in its post-war recovery.

HITS ALCOHOLISM

And in a country where good wine is as common as good water, he rapped alcoholism as one of the factors responsible for lowering sanitary, moral and social levels.

The stocky premier, whose soft voice belies his blunt words, also promised that France will do better showing on the Canadian trade market in the near future.

Revived Man Dies Second Time

TORONTO (CP)—James Dobson, 24, the man a Toronto doctor revived Monday by opening his chest and massaging his heart, died early today.

Dobson was first pronounced dead on arrival at hospital shortly after he lost consciousness when given a general anaesthetic at a dentist's office. Firemen worked for two hours with an inhalator.

The surgeon, who was not identified, opened the chest and massaged the heart. Hospital authorities, reluctant to comment, said his life depended on extent of injury to the brain.

Patent Institute Approves Present Law in Principle

OTTAWA (CP)—The Patent Institute of Canada Monday approved the principles behind the country's patent laws, but recommended some incidental changes in the legislation and in its administration.

Gordon F. Henderson of Ottawa, president of the institute, representing Canadian patent attorneys, said there are known instances of Canadian patent laws having a detrimental effect on the public interest.

The institute is the first witness to appear before the royal commission appointed to study Canada's laws on patents, copyright, trade marks and industrial designs.

The three-man body headed by Chief Justice J. L. Ilsley of Nova Scotia has the responsibility of reporting on what, if any, might be made to the law. Other members of the royal commission are Guy Favreau, a member of the restrictive trade practices commission, and W. W. Buchanan, a member of the tariff board.

The institute's recommendations were contained in a series of replies to a questionnaire prepared by the royal commissioners.

The institute recommended repeal of a section of the Patent Act which compels the inventor of a food or medical invention to license others to manufacture his product. The patentee thus obtains only a right to a royalty instead of an exclusive right to use the invention.

The institute said inventions related to atomic energy should be patentable as freely as are other types of inventions. The law provides that any invention related to the production, application or use of atomic energy must be sent to the atomic energy control board before it can be patented.

War Might Make Western Canada Top Oil Source

KANSAS CITY (CP)—Political upheaval in the Middle East or a major war in the world could make western Canada a foremost source of oil for the North American Continent, Ole Berg, Jr., president of British American Oil Company, said today.

In an address to the American Petroleum Institute Association, Mr. Berg said western oil had stirred all Canada with new wealth. In no field of Canadian industry were prospects brighter. It could carry the Western provinces into phases of economic development that in time could make them rivals of the older, more industrialized provinces of eastern Canada.

Queen Mother, French Premier May Meet at Massey's Home

OTTAWA (CP)—Two visitors to Canada—Queen Mother Elizabeth and French Premier Pierre Mendes-France—may meet today at Government House.

The Queen Mother is due back at Government House about 3 p.m. after attending a civic luncheon and Mr. Mendes-France is scheduled to call on Governor-General Vincent Massey about 5 p.m.

The Queen Mother was to start her official day about 11 a.m. by opening the new Rideau bridges over the Rideau river and then renaming Canal road, on the opposite side of the city, Colonel By Drive, after the capital's founder.

Mayor Charlotte Whitton and city council then were to give a cheer, cit and grouse luncheon in honor of Her Majesty at the Chateau Laurier.

In the evening, the last of her five-day Ottawa visit, the Queen Mother will attend a performance by the Canadian Repertory Theatre of "White Oaks" by the Canadian author Mazo de la Roche.

Monday was devoted to sightseeing, a visit to city hall in neighboring Hull, Que., a reception given by the New Zealand high commissioner and dinner at the home of Prime Minister and Mrs. St. Laurent.

The Queen Mother appeared in three different outfits.

In the morning, for an hour-long visit to the National Gallery, she wore a velvet mauve ensemble.

For the reception, she appeared in a deep red gown and matching close-fitting hat.

For the dinner, she wore a grey satin crinoline dress covered with iridescent beads and emerald bracelet, necklace and earrings.

At the gallery, where a crowd in the hundreds broke through police lines, the Queen Mother showed particular interest in the Canadian paintings and in a carpet woven by the late Queen Mary.

In the afternoon, she was greeted by another large throng in front of the Hull city hall. In reply to a welcoming speech by Mayor Alexis Caron, she said simply:

"Je vous remercie de tout mon coeur." (I thank you with all my heart).

The royal cavalcade then drove for 30 minutes through the outskirts of Hull and Ottawa's west end on the way back to Government House.

On the way to the reception, two sharp blasts on the whistle of a shunting locomotive brought the royal procession to a halt at a level crossing. A police officer jumped from one of the cars and motioned to a brakeman with a lantern in front of the locomotive.

The brakeman waved his lantern, the locomotive stopped and the cavalcade proceeded.

Crown Withdraws Charge Against Construction Co.

WHITBY (CP) — One of two charges against the Bergmann Construction Company over roadbuilding contracts was withdrawn by the crown Monday for lack of evidence. The charge—conspiracy to defraud the government—concerned a winter road at Dog Hole bay in northwestern Ontario.

David G. Humphrey, assistant crown prosecutor, said in court the crown will press a fraud charge laid in connection with construction of the trans-Canada highway link to Highway 65 in the Huntsville district.

He substituted the fraud charge for one of conspiracy to defraud.

Charged with the firm are the president, Walter Bergmann; John A. West, superintendent; Donald J. Patterson, former highways department engineer at Huntsville; and William Bredin, former instrument man with the department.

No pleas were entered by the defendants Monday. Trial by judge without jury was chosen and Judge John E. Pritchard set the trial date as Nov. 25.

The charge dropped by the crown named Bergmann, West, Cecil H. Nelson, former chief engineer who died in September, and Harry Phipps, assistant division engineer at Port William.

"We now are not in a position to prove overpayment to the Bergmann company," said Mr. Humphrey.

Striking Workers Called Suckers By Truckman

TORONTO (CP)—Striking workers at Ford of Canada's Etobicoke parts depot Monday pelted a truck driver with stones when he called them "suckers."

The unidentified man was loading his dump truck with sand when the incident occurred. Police told him to stop hailing strikers and warned men on the picket lines not to be so touchy.

The 133 workers went on strike Monday to enforce demands for wage increases, hospital and medical insurance benefits. They tied up the third and final Ford manufacturing unit in Ontario.

About 3,700 men are on strike at Windsor Ford plant. About 800 are striking and about 1,700 laid off at Oakville assembly plant.

At Windsor, officials of the United Automobile Workers Union (CCL) said several of the three plants will settle their disputes on the same terms. They said the disputes will all be settled around one conference table.

Best of Canadian Art Shown To Queen Mother

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada Monday displayed before Queen Mother Elizabeth a cross-section of the best of Canadian art and the Royal visitor, an art connoisseur, described many of the pieces as "interesting" and "lovely."

Crowds broke through police lines as the Queen Mother entered the National Art Gallery for an hour-long tour. The RCMP had to hold the enthusiastic crowd back from her car.

Spectators cried "long live the Queen" and the words were repealed again by some in the French language as the Queen Mother was greeted at the door by Clifford Ship Minister Pickersgill and Dr. H.O. McCurry, gallery director, and Dr. Robert H. Hubbard, curator of the Canadian paintings.

Her Majesty went through the three-storey building from top to bottom, stopping to admire three big rooms of Canadian art, including an early period collection, modern and contemporary creations.

She agreed with Dr. McCurry and Mr. Pickersgill that Arthur Lismer's September Gale, widely-known throughout the world, was "very stormy."

Of A. Y. Jackson's selections, she said: "They are lovely."

She was shown selections from Canada's famed Group of seven, including Lismer, Jackson and Lawren Harris. She also saw the familiar totem-pole paintings of Emily Carr, who was inspired by the Group of Seven.

Later, she viewed Canada's collection of British and European masters, including paintings by El Greco, Tilian, Hobbema, Filippino Lippi, Corot, Cezanne and Van Gogh.

NEW Esso EXTRA WINTER GASOLINE

Stops winter stalling . . . due to gas line freezing and carburetor icing

Does your car stall when idling? Research now proves a major cause of this is ice in the carburetor and gas line! Yes, ice! Even at above-freezing temperatures—in fact up to 55°F.—ice forms. To overcome this, Imperial Oil developed NEW Esso Extra with special anti-icing qualities that prevent stalling. This new gasoline also prevents gas line freezing . . . you no longer need to add remedies to the gas tank.

If you stall, don't blame your engine until you try new Esso EXTRA

OTHER GASOLINES
a major cause of engine stalling

As you start your car, air is sucked through the carburetor and gasoline enters the air stream. As the gasoline evaporates, it chills the carburetor. Moisture in the air condenses on this chilled metal and freezes into ice, if the humidity is high and the temperature between 35° and 28°F. When idling, the ice forms a bridge between throttle plate and carburetor wall, the flow of the fuel mixture (see arrow above) is stopped . . . the car stalls.

NEW Esso EXTRA prevents stalling
caused by carburetor icing

New Esso Extra will not, of course, stop stalling due to mechanical defects but the special anti-stalling qualities of new Esso Extra prevent the formation of ice from the moisture in the air. The opening between the throttle plate and carburetor wall cannot become bridged with ice. The fuel mixture (see arrow above) continues to flow through the carburetor to give you smooth performance, free from stalling.

'I Feel Lucky' Says Girl, 22, Doomed to Die

TORONTO (CP) — Pretty 22-year-old Catherine Heward has sat in a wood chair for seven years. She knows she is going to die soon.

Catherine, a victim of muscular distrophy, told an audience here Tuesday of the difficulties of children suffering from the crippling and deadly disease, and the troubles of parents of such children.

She spoke to a gathering of the newly-formed Muscular Distrophy Association of Canada. The group, with the Toronto Firefighters Association, is going to help raise $500,000 for research on the disease.

Catherine has found life in a wheelchair "interesting and worthwhile . . . I do feel very grateful. I have friends and religion. Life gets a little harder for everyone, after all, and everyone has intolerable. I don't fear death at all."

Catholic Calls Anglican Charges Quite Unjustified

OTTAWA (CP) — A Roman Catholic spokesman today described as "quite unjustified" certain criticism directed against proselytism of Indian schools in the North at a Toronto meeting Tuesday of the general synod of the Church of England in Canada.

Rev. Gentran Laviolette, general secretary of the Indian and Eskimo welfare commission of the Oblate missionaries who operate virtually all Roman Catholic Indian and Eskimo missions in Canada, said the criticism was wrongly directed at the government of which he is a member. The schools in question are under the citizenship and immigration department's Indian affairs branch.

There was no immediate comment from the citizenship and immigration department.

Dulles Tells Reds U.S. Will Counter Formosan Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles Tuesday gave a fresh warning to the Chinese Communists that any attack on the Chinese Nationalist stronghold of Formosa would mean hostilities with the United States.

As for congressional demands for a full-dress reappraisal of U. S. policy towards Russia, Dulles said no one in government has any notion that would require such a review.

"I do not myself see any immediate emergency which requires either that review or discussion should be on any different basis from what it normally is," he told his press conference.

Dulles said the American 7th Fleet, which is assigned to guarding the island of Formosa off the Chinese mainland, concurrently could go into action to defend the Tachen Islands, some 300 miles north of Formosa.

But the secretary declined to say definitely that the Tachen chain would be defended.

On foreign policy, Dulles made it clear that he disagrees with Republican Senate majority leader William Knowland's view that the present American policy is leading toward a "atomic stalemate" which opens the way for "nibbling aggression" by the Reds.

WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis: Mild, sunny weather will continue today in southern Ontario. Elsewhere in the province, skies are overcast. A few showers are expected in the central regions and occasional snowflurries or drizzle in the extreme northern areas. A low pressure area moving eastward will bring cloudy skies and showers to southern Ontario Thursday.

INDIA, RUSSIA TO END DEBATE ON ATOMS PLAN

Martin Expects Vote Unanimously in Favor

By WILLIAM HARCOURT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (CP) India and Russia speak today in the 60-country UN political committee as general debate ends on President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace plan.

India's V. K. Krishna Menon was expected to criticize a resolution, designed to launch the plan, submitted by seven Western powers. There also was a possibility Moscow would submit a resolution of his own.

Andrei Vishinsky of Russia was expected to reveal the outcome of private negotiations over his attempt to amend the Western resolution. Russia made her co-operation in the atomic venture conditional on Western acceptance of her amendments.

Some delegates believed the debate would end with a unanimous vote approving establishment of an international agency to develop the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Canada's Paul Martin told reporters Monday he thought chances of 99-to-1 that the vote will be unanimous; U. S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge said he is confident it will be unanimous.

On the face of initial Russian objections to parts of the Western resolution, Canada's post forward plan—and the other six powers accepted it—that agreement should be sought on first things first; that other problems should be dealt with in subsequent negotiations.

Establish Air Link Over Polar Regions

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An historic land air link between southern California and Europe over the polar regions was established here Tuesday when two commercial airplanes flying in opposite directions completed hops across the rooftop of the world.

The first flight, a Super-Cloudmaster of the Scandinavian Airlines System, landed in Copenhagen nearly less than 24 hours after leaving Los Angeles. It was followed shortly by a British Viking, a Super-Cloudmaster, arrived in Los Angeles, making the trip in 27 hours and 10 minutes.

Each plane made stopovers in Greenland and Iceland.

The planes, carrying parties of public officials and newspaper men, inaugurated regular trans-Arctic service of the Scandinavian airlines system.

The Royal Viking flew the new route on a proving flight to Iceland and Greenland in 20 hours and 40 minutes. Time out for the two stops was 3 hours and 30 minutes, minutes on this flight.

Prime Minister Hans Hedtoft and Prince Axel of Denmark were among those aboard the plane that arrived in Los Angeles.

Canadian, 'Incessant Philanthropist,' Will Head British Social Service

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Sir Edward Peacock, Canadian financier, is to head Britain's national council of social service, it was learned today.

Sir Edward, once described as an "incessant philanthropist" has been connected for 25 years with the council, whose purpose is to act as a spur to all forms of voluntary effort. He takes office Nov. 23, his predecessor announced.

The appointment adds another to the mandrill activities of the multi-millionaire octogenarian from Ontario's Glengarry county, who still retains Canadian citizenship though he has lived in Britain since 1907.

Known as the "universal uncle" of the City, London's financial district, Sir Edward is chairman of a London banking company and can look back on a long life. He was active in relief to royalty on financial matters and figured in deals involving millions of pounds.

A tall man with a courtly, old-fashioned manner, Sir Edward still goes to his office every working day, commuting some 30 miles from his home near Ascot, where he plays 18 holes of golf on Saturdays and Sundays.

"I go round in 2½ hours," he told a reporter recently. "Except, of course, when I am with one of those slow players."

Car in Queen Mother's Party Ditched in Gatineau Drive

By JOHN McHANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—A near-accident touching close to Queen Mother Elizabeth has not clouded the royal day Ottawa visit that ends today.

One car of her cavalcade went into the ditch Tuesday as its driver swung out to avoid a possible 40-mile-an-hour pileup, but the Queen Mother rode on without apparent knowledge of the potential bumping that might have involved her car.

She was driving through Quebec's nearby Gatineau hills—by express wish revisiting wooded scenes she saw in 1935—when danger to her person seemingly danger to her person seemingly threatened as her car slowed down unexpectedly to pass a school bus full of children on a rain-slippery road.

An army vehicle four cars behind her couldn't stop in time to avoid hitting the car in front, and Sgt. Fred Schrie of Pembroke, Ont., swung to the left-hand ditch as cars between him and the Queen's braked to a sudden stop.

He said he had a chain reaction if I didn't head for the ditch," the sergeant said. No one was hurt, and his car rejoined the procession.

The incident came when the Queen Mother's transparent-topped car was stalled by a huge crowd of youngsters get a good look at her. It was one of a few minor mishaps that beset the motorcade on a bustling day through a capital swarming with youngsters freed from school for the royal visitor.

At one point, the crowds jostled seven - year - old Robert Denais of Ottawa, but the youngster, who but he escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

But the youngsters generally enjoyed it all mightily and so evidently did Her Majesty.

She stopped often to wave to them and she paused once to talk to a couple of them frozen into unaccustomed silence by the royal presence.

Today, after days devoted to a round of sightseeing, she was to spend the time privately before leaving by air at 2:30 p.m. EST for New York, where she will board the liner Queen Mary for home.

She had lunch with Canada's Premier Pierre Mendes - France, who had not met before, had their first meeting Monday at Rideau Hall. Mr. Mendes-France, who arrived Tuesday for talks with government officials, paid a call on the governor-general at about the time Her Majesty was returning from her Quebec drive. Mr. Massey was present, and a brief informal talk followed.

Tuesday, too, the Queen Mother was presented by the Duke of Ottawa with a series of gifts for herself and other members of the Royal Family.

For her and her Queen daughter, there were bonnet pieces of the factory of Ottawa. Prince Charles got a set of miniature cannon, and for Princess Anne there was a gold maple leaf pin. For the royal corgis and poodle, there was Canadian maple sugar.

Post Office Dept. Warns Public Against Mail Fraud Kackets

OTTAWA — Due to the increasing number of reports which are being received from all parts of Canada concerning fraudulent affirms attempting to use the mails for the operation of "Get Rich Quick" schemes, the Post Office Department today issued a warning to the public to exercise the greatest caution in accepting delivery of unsolicited articles through the mails.

It was pointed out that the department was doing everything in its power to halt such operations that are clearly of a fraudulent nature, but that in many borderline cases only a sustained vigilance by the public can be effective in curbing loss.

The schemes referred to are varied in character, but most commonly take two forms.

One is the forwarding of unordered and usually worthless articles through the Post Office C.O.D. system. Frequently by the person who is asked to accept delivery does not know of anything having been ordered.

for delivery in this way, but addressed days for the parcel on the possibility that someone else in the household has done so.

In some cases, operators of this type of scheme have made acceptance of delivery subject to obituary notices, taking advantage of the opportunity to be the first to secure acceptance of the unsolicited parcel.

The other is the sending of a printed card to an individual advising him or her that they have won a lovely gift package and stating that the individual should be forwarded to cover cost of packaging and posting the gift package, after the fee has been received. Needless to say the contents of the gift package when received is found to be practically worthless.

The Post Office Department advises that an addressee has every right to refuse delivery of a C.O.D. parcel and suggests that where doubt exists as to this course should be followed.

Temperance Body Asks Dismissal Of Judge Robb

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Temperance Federation in a resolution adopted Tuesday demanded removal from office of Judge J. A. Robb, chairman of the liquor licensing organization of the board.

The federation said its executive was instructed to approach Premier Frost within three months "to discuss changes that will bring about drastic improvements in conditions and more effective control" of the liquor situation in Ontario.

R. F. Moulton, federation president, secretary, read the board of "supervising sale of liquor in our province" resolution to reporters after it was adopted.

He said applications for licences in Ontario have been approved more easily than ever before.

The federation commended Ontario Premier Frost's intention for serving only non-alcoholic beverages at the reception for the Queen Mother.

NOVA SCOTIA BY-ELECTIONS END IN SPLIT

Second Attempt Fails To Decide One Seat

HALIFAX (CP)—Liberals and Progressive Conservatives split in two Nova Scotia by-elections Tuesday and a third ended in a deadlock.

Progressive Conservatives gained a seat for their opposition forces when Mayor Richard A. Donahoe won Halifax South, a Liberal stronghold for 21 years.

J. Clyde Nunn, manager of radio station CJFX in Antigonish, received lesser votes than the Liberals.

In Hants East, a riding with a recent history of political uncertainty, Liberal Alfred Reid and Progressive Conservative Ernest Ettinger ended in a stalemate with 2,260 votes each.

If the vote is unchanged after a recount, the returning officer will cast the deciding ballot. No date has yet been set for the recount.

The standing in the 37-seat legislature before three by-elections fought by-elections was:

Liberals 26, Progressive Conservatives 10, CCF two, and three vacancies.

The standing now:

Liberals 21, Progressive Conservatives 13, CCF two, and one doubtful.

ELECTION VOIDED

Hants East election was held previously Mr. Ettinger but the general election voting of 1953 in the riding was declared void by the Nova Scotia Supreme Court because of balloting irregularities. Mr. Ettinger won by one vote on election night but the declaration day figures gave Mr. Reid the same margin. Then court action was taken.

In Halifax South, Mayor Donahoe's first time since 1930 that a Progressive Conservative has run in Halifax county seat. Halifax South was vacated by the death of Angus L. Macdonald, Liberal premier, Angus L. Macdonald.

The Liberal candidate, Thursday was Allen M. Murphy. The vote was Mr. Donahoe 5,831 and Mr. Murphy, 4,677.

In Inverness Mr. Nunn had 4,742 votes against 3,026 for Progressive Conservative Isaac MacDougall and 326 for CCF candidate Joseph Smith.

Collapsible Car Front Suggested As One Way to Save Many Lives

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Changes in your car's front end could save perhaps a big slice of the annual highway toll of gravity.

Retractable seat belts fixed to that kind of seat. Until then, seat belts fixed to the car frame itself.

Steering columns which telescope downward under impact, to avoid their becoming "a spear aimed at the heart."

A front nose 2½ feet thick made of compressible, honeycombed metal which would crumple slowly, absorbing the shock of a crash.

Mendes-France Urges West Delay Talks With Reds

Be Strong Before Parley Advice He Gives at Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—France apparently wants the west to be strong and well prepared before it engages a Russian invitation to talk about European security.

Premier Pierre Mendes-France indicated Tuesday that for his country, ratification of the Paris agreements must come first.

He told a press conference of more than 50 correspondents that Russia's bid must not be allowed to delay ratification of the agreements signed last month in Paris. He said he expects the French National Assembly will ratify the agreements before the end of the year. It was unrealistic to consider that West Germany will turn down the agreements granting her partnership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and a 500,000-man army.

The 47-year-old premier, on a two-day Canadian visit which ends today when he leaves for Washington, said leaving in abeyance the proposal does not mean that talks could not be held some time in the future.

PREPARATION NEEDED

But such a meeting should be well prepared in advance to avoid "useless talks" which would be propaganda and value and no constructive worth.

Mendes-France spenters a few hours after spending more than 1½ hours in private discussions with Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Today, he meets with External Affairs Minister Pearson. Later, he places a wreath at the National War Memorial and lunches with the Canadian Club of Ottawa before flying to Washington.

The Mendes-France did not go beyond saying that his talks with Mr. St. Laurent were a review of matters affecting France and Canada specifically, and other international problems and that the two countries are largely in agreement.

Judge at Royal Pulls Cow's Tail, Tail Comes Off

TORONTO (CP) — The Royal Agricultural Winter Fair had a lighter moment today.

Eleven years of Waukesha, Wis., judging the Holstein show, took a great interest in the tail of Rockwood Beulah Pal Rockette, entered by Rockwood Holsteins of St. Norbert, Man.

The switch in particular held his attention. Mr. Swartz gave it a tug and Rockwood Beulah Pal Rockette stood with the tip of its tail practically in her hand.

Treatment for the show ring had apparently included a false switch to make the cow's tail look more like a Holstein's should.

However, the cow wasn't penalized and went on to win the best aged cow and best collected female at the show. In addition, the cow was one of three to win the Henry Trophy for the three best udders in the show.

UK Conservatives Defeat Labor On Pension Policy

LONDON (CP) — The Churchill administration held its Conservative party ranks solid Tuesday night on the hottest domestic issue in British politics and easily survived a Labor opposition move to bring down the government.

The Labor motion on a censure government policy on old age pensions was defeated 305 to 284, a government majority of 21.

The vote came after a sharp and at times bitter debate on the Labor motion that the government failed to relieve the plight of old age pensioners."

The new Sir Winston Churchill public school will be officially opened on December 2nd, it has been decided by members of the Belleville public school board.

Seven rooms of the new school will be ready by the end of this week and 261 pupils presently attending classes at Queen Alexandra, Queen Victoria and Queen Elizabeth schools are expected to report for classes in the new building on Monday of next week.

The official opening of the school will be held in the evening of December 2nd, with ceremonies to get underway at eight o'clock. Mr. J. R. McCarthy, assistant superintendent of elementary schools for the Department of Education, will officially open the school.

TO BUILD ADDITION

With the new building now being readied for occupancy, school board officials are already planning for an addition to the new school and sketch plans for the six rooms extension have been received from the architects. The plans were presented to the board with a few minor exceptions, one calling for an additional porch for the auditorium.

The cost of living bonus paid teachers will have risen by the time it is paid, to a total of seven per cent.

A special committee of the board will meet with members of the recreation committee to discuss the upkeep and maintenance of playgrounds buildings at the East and West Belleville playgrounds.

Canada's Growth Subject of Talk To Sales-Ad Club

Canada, with a population increase of four millions, together with a tripling of personal income in 13 years now is the second richest country in the world.

Rodney Hall, leading underwriter for the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada, used this statement as a spearhead to a shower of statistics on Canada's enormous potentialities in an address to the Belleville Sales and Advertising Club at the Shrine Club, last night.

Since 1941 the population increase to 13 million has been paced by personal income gain, after taxes, to $19 billion from 3½ billion.

"On the whole, Canada, from the days of Champlain has had a enough time," he said. "There have been, until recent times, no windfalls in Canada."

But now, "it seems to me that we are rather like a family that has been living on a farm and we doubt the lawyer's letter that tells us we have come into the fortune" he said.

PROSPERITY TO STAY

"We have got it rich," and "... conditions are going to be the better when the reality comes home that this prosperity is here to stay.

"To many nations the next 50 years are going to be a time of trouble. But we are going to be one of the lucky ones. We have a prospect of a people blessed with a resource of goods that is fantastic."

He told the club: "You are sitting on the greatest sales venture any country has ever seen. It is fantastic what is going on and what is going to be in the next decade."

The nation's home owners have increased from 11 percent to 68 percent of the population since 1941. Only Britain and Australia and exports more life insurance than the rest of the world together.

"And the reason is, I guess, because we are good freemen."

BOOMING ONTARIO

Booming Ontario accounts for 44 percent of the buying power of the nation and 52 percent of its manufacturing and production potential, he told the club. The province also holds 42 percent of the country's life insurance.

Nucleus of the province's potential is Metropolitan Toronto, growth of which Mr. Hall described as "the most fantastic thing I have ever been privileged to watch."

"Toronto is the first city in the world for retail sales, for factory expansion and for population growth," he said.

The population of 1,250,000 spread over 100 square miles, is increasing at the rate of 50,000 annually. Retail sales there total over $3,000,000,000 compared with over $3,615,000,000 for the remainder of the eastern provinces.

Sneak Thief Dissatisfied With Auto Loot

A sneak thief was dissatisfied with part of his bargain late yesterday afternoon when he stole a topcoat and auto robe from a car parked on a Front St. service station lot.

The owner of the car, Vic Brownley, spotted the man leaving his car and was able to give police a good description but a check of the area failed to turn up the responsible party.

The topcoat was on top the auto robe, however, which along with a ski cap was found abandoned at the rear of the Capitol Theatre.

Over 200 'Hasty Pees' Attend Week-End Training Scheme

Call 'em what you will—"Hasty Pees", "Trowbout" or their proper name, th eStarings and Prince Edward Regiment, the fact remains the militia successors to one of the "fightinest" infantry units in the last war. It was letting rep alfalfa grow beneath their feet. They haven't the time.

"How doth the busy Pees improve their shining hours?" One week to week they undertook intensive training at the Bridge Street Armouries, and occasionally they spend a highly informative and interesting week-end at Barriefield camp. Last Friday night they have earned the reputation of being the best militia unit in the Eastern Area Command.

And some two hundred, all told, from the colonel to the drummer boy, will substantiate that statement.

The Hasty Pees have harmony and co-operation in the ranks. They have pride in their regiment and its traditions. And they have training schemes which have come into being under the new intensive training of Canadian militia units.

MANY QUALIFY

The regiment underwent its last training scheme of the year and the first year on November 13-14. Under the command of lig commanding officer Lieut. Colonel Ross Farman, over 200 all ranks, which include the regimental band from the city and district centres where units of the regiment are located, underwent instruction in rifle, sten gun, revolver, wireless and transport, and inspect training at the Barriefield training centre.

Adaptability and enthusiasm of officers and men of the regiment are evidenced in the fact that to date 203 have qualified on the ranges in various types of weapons. The ranges are carried out in a highly organized manner with officers and senior non-commissioned officers directing in practical instruction and lectures.

Highlight of the training of the scheme especially for the youthful cadets was the actual firing on the miniature revolver, rifle and sten gun. The cadets, firing the .303 rifle on a highly creditable performance, some of them proving excellent marksmen.

ATTEND DIVINE SERVICE

Nor was the week-end confined to training alone. On Sunday morning the regiment paraded to diving service held in the Barriefield English Hall. There Captain W. J. Robinson, rector of St. Thomas Church, Belleville, one of the regimental padres, conducted the service. Roman Catholic members of the regiment attended their own services.

A feature of the Anglican service was the fine singing of the choir composed of members of the regiment. It was discovered that others besides regimental sergeant majors and other S.M.'s have good voices.

Food and sleeping accommodation at Barriefield proved excellent with orderly officers reporting on "sent a perfect".

On Sunday, November 20 the Hasty Pees will return to Port Hope where they will attend the dedication of the colors of the Midland Regiment. On that night leave the armouries at 8.30 a.m., Church Parade during morning afternoon. Meals and transportation have been "laid on."

Training for the week's syllabus of the regiment includes an indoor rifle shoot which will take place in the armouries during the second week in January. Sand-table exercises and the training of signal equipment will be brought home to us.

As was mentioned before the regular weekly training period takes place on Tuesday night. Recruits will be given a cordial welcome.

Colonel Farman and his officers following the training period Churchill, Canada's most highly interesting talk given in the mess by Lieut. Colonel Henry Thompson, who was the official body guard for Sir Winston Churchill during his visit.

Mr. Thompson regaled the officers with a host of anecdotes of British Prime Minister's visit to the late Stalin, pointing out the strategic measures taken during the meeting. Stalin, he declared, was a pronounced coward over Russia during his regime. During the meeting he was surrounded by fearless secret police. The conversation was carried through an interpreter although "Winnie" knew the secret police both spoke and understood English.

Prior to visiting the officers' mess, Mr. Thompson addressed the Canadian Club here. — G.H.C.

Churchill's Great Personality Subject of Talk to Canadian Club

Last evening the Women's Canadian Club had as guest speaker at its annual luncheon in the Masonic Temple Lieut. Colonel Henry Thompson, one of the top detective-inspectors at Scotland Yard, who spent 18 years as bodyguard of Sir Winston Churchill, one of the world's outstanding statesmen.

Mr. Thompson, who was introduced to his audience by the president of the club, Mrs. W. J. Langley, said that it was an honour, as well as a privilege to have lived during the lifetime of Sir Winston, as the world had not seen a greater man, nor would it ever see one.

In recounting his connection with the famous Minister of Great Britain, the speaker stressed Sir Winston's strong personality, his great faith that he had a mission to accomplish, and that during the accomplishment there was a Higher Power which would protect and shield him from harm.

In illustrate this Mr. Thompson cited the occasion when, during the fall of a bomb thirty seconds after the Prime Minister had entered his private office, a thing which he was averse to doing, since he believed that he should not protect himself while others suffered.

Sir Winston Churchill is stern, severe, and ruthless, but at the same time loveable, sentimental, humorous, and to his friends a true friend. He is a hard driver, sleeping little, and rising from his bed at 8.30 a.m. He is a man of absolute integrity, an example of which the speaker mentioned that Sir Winston had asked him on one occasion to leave the room while they were travelling in a government car, on personal business. This he paid for out of his own pocket, and in everything of like he was absolutely honest.

Mr. Thompson mentioned also the boyike characteristics of Sir Winston, and the fact that he, Sir Winston were her husband, she would poison him, to which Sir Winston replied with a twinkle in his eye, "Remember if I were your husband, I'd drink it!"

He touched on the early days in Egypt and Palestine, and of the trip to Cairo by camel; Sir Winston falling off the camel, but determined to continue his trip via same means, saying, "I started on a camel, and I will return on one."

During Sir Winston's visit to the United States, he addressed a Canadian Club, and while precipitating the agility of his amazing brain, he answered all questions as fast as asked. When asked if he would like to be made president of the United States, he answered that If he had been born there his mother would have terminated. The more opposed the more determined he is to overcome any obstacle.

When Mr. Thompson, who has retired from active duty, handed over the duty of guarding the Prime Minister, Sir Winston remarked that during the day time he could look after himself, but that at night he required a good night nurse, and that was the one he chose.

Mr. Thompson concluded his talk with Annie, Betty and Garnet Searles, singing.

His brain never relaxes, but goes like a machine, a human dynamo.

When Sir Winston became first Lord of the Admiralty, he noticed that something was wrong with the dummy ships in Scapa Flow —there were no gulls hovering around them. Straightway he ordered that food be thrown on the water around those ships in order to lure the gulls there, and the hoodwink the Germans into thinking that they were manned, and ready for action. Never ever misses anything and sees too much.

Sir Winston's chief characteristic was his unbounded belief in duty. Any request would be granted if he believed it was in the line of 'duty'. His great abiding faith in the protection of Providence until his task was finished, and his fearlessness, coupled with his innate humor, are a few of the outstanding traits of his generation.

Mr. Thompson was thanked by the president of the club, Mrs. W. J. Langley.

Tie Vote Defeats Purchase Of Oil Burner for Town Hall

TRENTON (Special) — Mayor Ross Burtt cast his first tying vote Tuesday night when council rejected by tie vote a tender for a gasoline burner for the purchase and supply oil for the burner for a period of one year. Half of the council objected.

According to Mr. Fitzgibbon the only tender for the oil was to have been included in the tender for the burner. Failure to mention the contract was an oversight he explained. He said he thought accepted his explanation and voted to authorize the purchase.

When the matter was tabled Fitzgibbon's tender of $210 to provide the burner. The burner was installed.

A DIFFERENT OUTLOOK

One of the most interesting publications received by The Ontario Intelligencer is "The Listener," published weekly by the British Broadcasting Corporation.

Its contents consist mainly of verbatim reports of addresses made on one or other of the three BBC services.

These addresses cover a wide variety of subjects. In the latest issue, for example, there is an address by Prime Minister Mendes-France of France on his nation and the recent nine-power conference at London. Michael Curtis discusses Russia's latest disarmament plan. W. E. W. Potter deals with "The Case for the Light Fighter Plane," P. E. Witham outlines methods of providing capital for colonial territories, F. J. Odgers outlines British law on what constitutes an actionable libellication, Geoffrey Grigson tells of cave paintings discovered in France, "A Painter and His Public" is the subject of a talk by Barnett Freedman, Lord Morrison of Lambeth discusses Herbert Morris as an artist, "The Story of Chinese Mirrors" is Arthur Waley's subject, and Adam Curle discusses "A Matter of Communication" presenting the argument that the problems and difficulties which beset our personal life are not unlike those which have to be faced in the dealings of one nation with another."

Not only are these articles informative and thought-provoking in themselves, but they also provide meat for the mind in considering the strong contrast between radio programs in Britain and on this side of the Atlantic.

Of course, "The Listener" does not provide a faithful picture of the BBC programs. It prints only those items which are educational. The entertaining does not lend itself so readily to transmutation from one form of communication to another. The comedian generates laughs as much by the way he says a thing as by what he says.

Nevertheless if a perusal of the titles of the addresses listed above convinces one that the BBC offers more for the mind than does the CBC—and vastly more than do the private U.S. broadcasting chains—the impression will not be erroneous.

There is, of course, a reason for this. Privately owned companies are interested primarily in making money. They make money by selling their time to advertisers. Advertisers want to contact the greatest number of people as possible. More people are interested in a comedy routine or in a drama than are interested in economics, law, art or philosophy. Consequently programs which have paid large sums for radio time will not use it for the purpose of providing educational lectures.

There will be those who will argue that the public is entitled to choose for itself the type of programs to which it can listen, that the majority should rule. This is true. But it is also a fact that the minority has rights, too. Just because the number of people who desire to be educated is smaller than the number who want to be entertained, it does not follow that all radio programs should be entertaining and none educational.

The CBC offers a number of educational programs, more than do the U.S. broadcasting chains. Judging from "The Listener," however, the BBC outclasses the CBC in the educational field. The type of talks discussed suggests that it is endeavoring to cater to all tastes, that it is being used as an instrument of national policy in exactly the same manner, and with as valid a reason, as the nation's schools.

GET YOUR TEETH INTO THIS!

The inexorable advance of science is at last coming to grips with one of the most fearsome weapons in modern society. Scientists are revamping the dental drill.

Delegates to the American Dental Association convention in Miami were given the good news last week. However, in order to preserve some semblance of self control among the sensitive we must caution against vivid imagination in reading details of the changes.

"Gone are experimental drills that use diamond cutting heads, blasts of compressed air, water powered turbines and even sound waves were demonstrated," says the news release. Impressive though all this is, dentists and dentists men working with ultrasonic tooth cutters—ultra high frequency sound waves with the power to cut teeth—caution that results on volunteers were "inconclusive and characterized by erratic, unpredictable instrument performance."

To those who have been terrified for years of the "cutting heads" on dental drills and who envisage "blasts of compressed air" as something similar to pneumatic jackhammers, this announcement must create mixed emotions. Dental patients imagining "water powered turbines" as being in the electric power class should not laugh when placed against an aching molar—can take comfort from the scientists' admonition that such devices require "more research." The fact remains, however, that unpredictable instrument performance" is less than comforting to one with a carious canine.

Optimism, however, is justified. All the aforementioned instruments have the magnificent property of diminishing or banishing drill vibration. It is the vibration that is responsible for most dental discomfort in the dentist's chair. Painless manual waves, while still "erratic and unpredictable," will certainly be a boon when corrections are made.

There was a light fall of snow, but the wind storm made the decline in temperature much more greater than it was. The sudden change was unexpected as the weather had been mild and pleasant for some time. Many motor cars had radiators frozen and garages were full of steaming heat.

Canadian distributors of the Alemite Products of Canada Limited assembled in convention for the first time at Hotel Quinte. Thirty-five delegates from Calgary on the west to St. John on the east are here for three days. The general manager of the company, Mr. F. W. Rowsome, is in charge of the meetings. THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

On a recent hunting trip, I had a couple of nights in camp with usual delicious dehydrated meals through to deeper territory. One of them was a doctor, and a more sleepy lodgery old bird you never met to seventy I never encountered. He had amusing things to say about health.

"Why do we crave?" he asked. "We crave for the foods given the capacity to crave, if it weren't of some practical, important use! My belief is that when we hanker after something, like pickles, or tomato juice, a salt herring or a feed of fried chicken, it is merely our system calling, as clearly as if it were shouting to us, for certain chemicals in particular foods that supply us, and which our system is in need of. I don't think our systems are inscrutable. I honestly believe that they can speak to us, and that they do.

"Among animals, you will see that craving expressed in a sudden desire for some unusual food: a dog eating grass, a cow chewing its stall, a horse eating rope. Often, these are signs that the animal is ill; but if so, it may be because it has been getting what its system requires either to keep it healthy or to combat the illness.

"This seems to me to be true of us humans too. Maybe we get a craving for something that is really bad for us, like sugar for a diabetic. In that case, the craving is a signal from our system that things are out of kilter, and to be avoided. But time and time out often, a sudden craving for a particular item of food, whether it is a routine food like beef or some unusual delicacy like oysters, is merely a call from some particular portion of our system for an urgently needed ingredient of its particular process or function. For example, right now have you got any onions in camp?"

We all rose from our bunks and stools and accompanied the old rascal, though it was away past ten p.m. and our bedtime, as honest hunters, to the camp kitchen, where we found a bag of big rough, hot onions. And with camp bread we each made a whopping big sandwich of thick sliced onions seasoned with salt and pepper, with a dollop of Worcestershire, a squirt of Worcester sauce, a dribble of vinegar, a dash of mustard and a sprinkle of anything else that was handy. And we all went to bed healthy.

St. Joan On Roller Skates

(Hamilton Spectator)

A small, dark, rumpled and wry-faced European whose meteoric arrival among the world's Big Names gives him a good claim to the title of Man of the Year has come to our continent this week for formal visits to Ottawa and Washington.

M. Pierre Mendes-France brings with him an unanswered question: After his sudden rise to the premiership of France and his explosive political influence in the Western alliance, will he, like a sky-rocket, vanish as suddenly as he came; or is he a new fixed light in the sky?

Not everybody in France likes M. Mendes-France (nor, for that matter, does everybody in Washington) by any means (nor does popular.) But even those who officially detest his methods and his realism are bound to feel a healthy respect for his singleness of purpose and the determination with which he pursues it. His purpose, as he has been to snap France out of a political, social, economic and—especially—emotional lethargy which, when he took office, was on the point of turning into gangrene. Brusquely, he has done it. What he has done this; he has forced his country to the ratification of a Western European Union including a rearmed Germany and into a detente with Russia. He has settled life involving disciplines such as had almost ceased to exist.

What next? M. Mendes-France has come a long way already from the kind of a boy his parents wanted to travel. His parliamentary career began in 1932 and he had been aimed at the Ministry of Finance, a position from which he would be straightway out his country's economy and finances. Instead, he wound up as both Premier and Foreign Minister, and at a time of crisis in both fields. The real question is whether it is now possible for him to be anything else but either or many of his country's hopes are not by now pinned to him that he simultaneously is the nation's last hope.

One of his colleagues has remarked that he would not shoot a fast-moving Premier." There are plenty Frenchmen of both the extreme Left and extreme Right with itchy trigger fingers.

But if he keeps moving as fast as he has done so far, where will it lead him? Already, by calling the Nine-Power meeting (on the analogy of the EDR of New Deal days), a good many French-men are thinking that they think of him no longer as a man but as a kind of Joan of Arc on roller skates—a much more for him to become the focus of one of those half-mystical urges to which France is prone and to appear as a second—and more successful—Charles de Gaulle. Indeed, one French cynic, looking at the present premier and the past general, has quipped that this is the first time in history that we have had two Joans of Arc in one generation.

Is this rumpled, unglamorous but compelling man, who certainly listens to no voices but those of his own brain, leading us on the way to becoming a sort of Joan of Arc on roller skates? And how would such a modern-ized, high-speed St. Joan fit into the balance of the Western alliance? It is an interesting speculation.

Letter to the Editor

Says Party Line Users Gave It Up at Once

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer,

In regard to your editorial column in Saturday's paper, about the Melrose fire, I was quite astonished to hear about the party line. I was the clerk in the store at the time of the fire so naturally was first to call on the phone. I went about ten times before I got the line for which I was thankful as it meant I got help immediately, and as soon as I told one of my plight they hung up their receivers, so whenever the line was gone, I could not get through. I then rushed my baby out of the house as he is only 2½ days old, which was the "W" line but with no results. It was dead. I then ran back to the store and Mr. Allen came along and I asked him to go down to the next line and call the fire department, which he did. I then proceeded to see what I could from the burning store. I am truly thankful for Messrs. Jeffery, Delille and Cook for coming so quickly to my aid.

MRS. WM. CUMBLEY.

Hardly Remarkable

(Stratford Expositor)

We see nothing remarkable in the baited breath report by a Hollywood columnist that a star who directed 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea can't swim. Lots of film stars can't act.

Sounds Of Autumn

(New York Times)

The surgle of cider pouring out of a jug. The low clear call of a ring-necked pheasant. The hollow thump of a falling football. The clattering of a mowing wheels, scraping over stones in pumpkin patches. Contented voices in front of that old friend the fireplace. The rhythmic raking of rakes on lawn and in garden. The thin rattle and rustle of a whirling leaf ballet.

The wailing of crows excited as witches. The click and the hum as oil burners get working. The happy assimilation of a shotgun. Sleek clicking on cold windowpanes. The quick thirsting of little foraging birds during a November pause. The fast-dwindling insect chorus at its last ebb. The thumping as last apples drop from the trees. The Scraping of outdoor furniture being stored in the shed. The hot whisper of burning leaves.

Bubbling waters at boulders by new open. The banging of shutters going 'up at beach-front cottages and shanties. Creaking of blocks as boat yards haul in the fleet. The tumbling of heavy autumn storms. Cheery chickadee chatter. A hunter's shot echoing under a bright hunter's moon. Excited chatter as the pumpkin face is carved. The quick surf-like roar from the football stadium.

The wild geese honking announcing their hungry return. The grinding hum of trucks hauling out of fields with wholesome bounty. The gay chatter, squeals and giggles of college girls on holiday trains. Pounding as bird-feeding stations are set up anew. The first drumming of the landing mallard. The dry rattle and hustle of cornstalks standing shores. The light snap of a turkey wishbone. The whistle of baseball cut the first brokenin cleat. And, suddenly, the first early carols of Christmas.

Should Modify Gambling Law

(Ottawa Citizen)

With an investigation into fraudulent raffles now under way in Vancouver, the British Columbia government has announced itself in favor of legalizing charitable lotteries. Gambling sponsored by charitable institutions or agricultural societies is already legal in Canada, under certain conditions, but the restrictions are so severe, and evidently so unpopular, that they are largely ignored and consistently broken. Moreover, professional promoters sometimes profit, fee, to run lotteries on behalf of charitable groups. A revision of the law is called for, not simply by a parliamentary committee, and consequently an angry populace.

Under existing regulations, prizes are limited to a value of $1,000, and promoters' salaries may not sell tickets off the ground—which is a requirement left in the hands of provincial attorneys-general, and whether the law is enforced may be left to what degree, appears to depend on the local public opinion of individual provinces.

The disadvantages are manifest if the rules are broken with impunity in a town on one side of a provincial boundary, while strictest rigid enforcement is maintained in a neighboring community on the other side. Respect for any such law is obviously diminished.

Liberalization would tend to create some uniformity, for it could give the country a gambling law that the public would be able to obey and provincial governments to enforce. Possibly, as in the case of British Columbia's attorney-general, Mr. Robert Sommers, the provinces might supervise lotteries to the extent of ensuring that the "expenses of running" are reasonable, and no person or corporation other than the charitable organization makes a profit." Certainly, the law as it stands is out of keeping with realities.

Food Editor Makes Error

(Newsweek Magazine)

Head hung in shame, Clementine Paddleford, famed literate and comfortably epicurean food editor of The New York Herald Tribune, confessed last week that she had left out the shortening in a previously published recipe for Florida Orange Cake. "A heavenly cake," she added, "but for our readers it proved a hellish business." Some 200 women had realized that you were baking hard as chunks of cement." Sorrowfully, Miss Paddleford wrote the recipe to her "with terse little notes."

USE YOUR BELLOWS

It seems logical to assume that since breathing is automatic, it is best left to nature. But our way of life is hardly natural. Breathing is not entirely automatic. The diaphragm is more or less under control of the will. You can hold your breath or breathe faster or more deeply for a little while.

Dr. Brady

And most Americans have been taught in childhood or early youth, to throw out the chest, protrude like a pouter pigeon, or pose like a tin soldier. This caricature has pervaded physical and military training in Yankee land chiefly, I believe, because Americans are ignorant of their own physiology and hygiene.

With a few exceptions, Americans just don't know how to breathe. This astute observation started to be an honest one, I assure you, just as I started out to be an honest doctor.

Trouble with a lot of you poor souls is you are prudish about some words and shameless about others. For instance you boggle at mention of the belly but wax coy but not eye shocked at the belly or bosom.

Webster says belly means bulge, beg, paunch, bellows. He gives no hint that the word is indelicate or improper. On the other modern word conveys the same meaning. It is ridiculous to shudder at such mawkish words as midriff, middle, tummy, midsection, diaphragm, stomach, or abdomen for the belly. Particularly not abdomen.

The abdomen is accent the "dough" on the larger body cavity containing stomach, liver, spleen, gall bladder and ducts, duodenum, intestines. The belly is the front wall of that abdomen. The smaller body cavity is the thorax or chest, containing heart, lungs, great vessel and great artery (aorta).

The two body cavities are divided by a partition, composed of muscle and tendon, called the diaphragm. The diaphragm, as attached to the tip of the breastbone, hastles at the ribs, and the lower dorsal vertebrae. It covers liver, stomach and spleen as a tarpaulin covers a haystack. The diaphragm is shaped like an inverted soup plate.

When the diaphragm contracts it presses or squeezes down on the abdomen and belly. Incidentally, this gently massages the biliary system if breathing is natural. At the same time contraction of the diaphragm lowers pressure in the thorax, chest, lungs, and so air is sucked into the lungs. This inspiration, inhalation, inflation. But that is only part of the function of great muscle, the diaphragm. It serves also as a booster pump, unconscious or under control, and you will see that natural breathing is a series of inflations of the bellows (belly).

REVIVED MEMORIES

There is satisfaction in the thought that our old friends never really die. Memory keeps them alive. For years the books of David Grayson have warmed and inspired me. I have met the author and I read and reread them. Many are signed to me, as he was my friend and many a day I have talked and expressed our mutual love for places, people, and books.

So intimately and simply are all the David Grayson books from that when I take one down from the shelves in my library to read, it is difficult to believe that my friend no longer lives in the flesh. He does live in his books and will continue to live in the memories of the name of David Grayson, but his friend and true Ray Stannard Baker, famous magazine writer and the biographer of President Woodrow Wilson.

This memory of ours is what keeps alive scores of our friends who no longer can meet us face to face. We look upon their photographs, read their many letters and books, and somehow breathe a silent prayer of thanks and appreciation that we "in the blue."

How strange it would seem did we have no memory—and yet that no friends would be recalled, no experiences look back to mind for enjoyment, no great art to frame anew in our mind. Thank God, memory is one of the gifts once called our own. J.M. Barrie, in his famous address before the Andrews University in 1922, quoted from someone who said "that memory is the memory of that we might have roses in December."

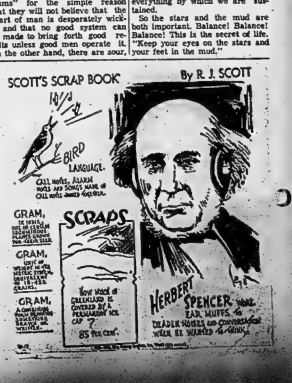
STARS AND MUD

Recently in one of our national magazines an article ended with the words, "Keep your eyes on the stars but keep your feet in the mud."



This is a striking way of saying that life's satisfactions arise from a balance and that the balance most necessary to maintain is the balance between idealism and realism. There are those who say those who go through life looking only at the stars. They refuse to believe that they live in a wicked world. They fall victim to all sorts of "isms" for the simple reason that they will not believe that the heart of man is depraved wicked and that no good system can be made to bring forth good results unless men operate it. On the other hand, there are sour, cynical people who declare that the only thing of value in life is "folded money" and that the only thing you can believe in is the human heart is self-interest. There is enough truth in both sides of these assertions to lend some credence to their assertions but not enough balance and the balance necessary to nurture a happy life.

For the feet beneath our feet and stars above our heads are both very real. From the largest of these stars, the sun, proceed elements without which we cannot live and from the earth comes everything by which we are sustained.

So the stars and the mud are both important. Balance! Balance! Balance! This is the secret of life. "Keep your eyes on the stars and your feet in the mud."

Farmer Charged In Triple Slaying Goes on Trial

DIGNE, France (Reuters)—Gaston Dominici, crusty 77-year-old goat farmer, went on trial today charged with the strange triple slaying of Britain's leading wartime food expert, his wife and young daughter.

Sir Jack Drummond was shot in the back, Lady Ann Drummond was shot in the chest and Elizabeth, their 11-year-old daughter, was clubbed to death while running away from the spot where they had parked their station wagon and pitched camp while vacationing near the Dominici farm Aug. 5, 1952.

The aged and capricious farmer, father of nine and patriarch of the district, confessed to the crime, but later retracted his confession. He later attempted to commit suicide.

Dominici listened intently as Judge Marcel Bousquet read a list of more than 50 witnesses, including two sons, Gustave and Clovis, who denounced him.

Judge Bousquet in his preliminary questioning of Dominici, asked him about his attitude toward liquor. Dominici said he drank between two quarts and a gallon of wine daily, depending on the weather, and carried a small flask of liquor in his pocket.

Phenacomys, commonly known as heather voles, have been so rare that scientists have kept a log on each noting time and place of capture. Foster expects a rush of North American biologists to the museum to look at the specimens.

All wore floor length crinoline.

Cream Your Lashes But Never Cut Them

TO MAKE LASHES LUSTROUS and lovely during the day, use a colorless lash cream that also helps to tilt them upward.

By HELEN FOLLETT

If you laugh and speak with your eyes, you'll want to be sure they are fringed with long, silky lashes that add to their appeal. Eyes lose some of their glamour if the lashes are short, straight or brittle.

Lashes grow in two or three rows, are heavier and longer in the centre of the eyelid. Look carefully and you may observe that the tips are of slightly lighter shade than the roots. You can make your lashes look longer and thicker when you darken the ends.

If you do not wish to apply mascara, which may look like too much artifice in the daytime, you can resort to a natural color by using cream. It does a double job as tonic and beautifier. Brushed from the roots upward, it coats the shafts, makes them slant up and look silky.

It is a nice idea to use this cream on the eyebrows, too, since it will promote thrift. The eyes should interest older women who often complain that eyebrows are coarse or unruly.

Growth of the lashes does not take place at the feathery tips, but at the roots where the overlapping cells emerge. Some of the young beauty questers fancy it is a bright idea to clip the eyelash ends. A mistake! Clipping does no good at all, merely makes the ends stubby and forceful. Gentle massage along the edges of the lids may have a stimulating effect as it increases circulation.

Upswept lashes follow the pattern of youth which is always the upcurve in facial expression. Down lines emphasize the qualities of age. Avoid them as you would a virus.

SAVINGS BONDS MOUNT

OTTAWA (CP)—Sales of ninth series Canada Savings Bonds rose to $615,000,000 at the end of the fourth week of the official campaign, the finance department reported today. The total is $50,000,000 below the $655,000,000 sold in the similar period last year, said the bank.

Lacquer Sheen on Hair Acts As Invisible Net, Adds Sparkle

By MURIEL HARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Women bound for a winter party this season can expect starlight and stardust on their tresses.

The latest technique in hair-styling has been introduced by Mayfair coiffeur Steiner with a blue-blood clientele. The developer is a lacquer "sheen to inject as an invisible net, adding sparkle and lustre and controlling wispy curls.

Starmist sheen with a lilac tone gives a glinting surface to the hair suggesting snow or ice gleaming in moonlight, says the man responsible. With a flame gown frosted with sequins, the lacquer choice might be a moonewhite shade to match the brilliants. There are other colors, too.

WORD OF CAUTION

The same stylist believes that the old bedstraws-a-night routine is not necessarily good for the hair. Too much brushing can harm the hair and scalp, he says.

Among his latest curl treatment is the shoestring coiffure. It imitates the weapon by "taking a swerve from the expected line."

For the younger woman, he brushes upward on one side with a loose spring and downward on the other in a shallow kiss curl. The same style for the older woman has a centre parting, flat-ness at the centre forehead and wide curls curving forward to soften the planes of the cheek.

To give the impression of longer hair, without the need for keeping the real thing tidy, the hairdresser adds a plaited coil, a plait of real hair in any shade from moonwhite —or silver—to raven black, corn yellow or auburn.

STYLED TO MATCH

The coils cost from six pounds up and can be styled to match your hair, suit, gown or lipstick. Again for the brave woman, it is sometimes combined with a black yashmak veil sporting two large diamonds.

A long-standing competitor, Raymond of Mayfair, however, says Elizabeth Barrett style, named after the poet wife of Robert Browning. The hair is given a deep color treatment called lustre blonde and the curls come close to the head at either ear, giving a dagger line from the brushed-up forehead effect.

The same stylist, a television hairdresser, recently illustrated his command hair-fix by having the mannequin dive into a tank of water and come up with her hair in place.

Women's Activities

SALEM W.A.

The November meeting of Salem W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Ed. Colden on Wednesday afternoon, with a splendid attendance of members and visitors. The President opened the meeting with a poem.

Mrs. Albert Twiddy reported $106 cleared from community sale. Business was discussed and it was decided to send $25 to Hurricane Relief; and $15 to missions.

The Concession quilt was to be quilted at the home of Mrs. Gladys Rine.

A letter of appreciation was read from the Tanner Lodge for assistance with the supper and also a cheque for $50. The shutins were to be remembered at Christmas.

PROGRAM

Mrs. Mel Wilkins took charge of the program. A hymn was sung followed by prayer by Mrs. Flora Bowen. Mrs. Bert Heagle read the Scripture lesson. Readings on "Armistice Day" were given by Mrs. Will Johnson, Mrs. Lindsay Tanner and Mrs. Stan Thompson. Mrs. Harold Holden gave a suitable reading, and Mrs. Lorne Hagerman and Mrs. Tom Clements gave well prepared papers on the "Preparing for and Approach of Christmas."

Mrs. Jenkins moved a vote of thanks to hostess for hospitality and all who helped with the program. Refreshments were served.

ADVICE BAD, SUES

VANCOUVER (CP)—A woman convicted of bigamy Tuesday began Supreme Court action for unstated damages against a lawyer she says gave her some wrong advice. Mrs. Lillian Tucker, hairdresser, is seeking damages from George W. Annable, Vancouver barrister and solicitor, because she says he advised her to go to the U.S. and get a divorce and told her it would be good in Canada.

Q.W.I. Sewing Club Meets

The sewing meeting of the Sewing Club sponsored by the Quinte Women's Institute, under the capable leadership of Mrs. Robert Atkins, and Mrs. Clifford Reid, was held at the home of Mrs. Clifford Reid on Saturday.

After a short review of the first meeting for the benefit of those who were absent, the business meeting was opened by the president, Lole Emmerson, with the singing of "The More We Sew Together."

An interesting reading and discussion period followed on the topic "Choosing lines and texture to suit your personality and figure," at which time small models were displayed, showing different types of figures and clothes suitable and unsuitable for them.

After the closing of the meeting refreshments were enjoyed by all, and expressions of thanks extended to Mrs. Reid for her hospitality.

Institutes Perform Many Unusual Tasks

TORONTO (CP)—Women's Institute branches in Ontario are called on to do some highly unusual tasks, says Ina Hodgins of Carp.

In her report on community affairs at the annual board meeting this week of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario, Miss Hodgins said one branch installed a complete set of village street lights; another donated $1,000 towards a new hospital and a third gave away television sets to aged people in the community.

New appointments included: Mrs. D. S. Macnaughton, Bluevale, TWIO representative on the rural leadership forum committee; Mrs. W. A. Davidson, Chatworth; Mrs. Douglas Hart, Woodstock, and Mrs. Norman Keating, Wingham, a committee to study auxiliary class work.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SHE'S "BILL'S SLAVE"—BUT WHY CONTINUE IN THE ROLE?

There are various kinds of matrimonial slavery.

There's the kind in which a husband just will not work almost excessively hard to create and maintain the kind of home he want for themselves and their children. In this case, they're slaving with a purpose, for their future, and they know it's worthwhile. Moreover, because they're teamed in the labor, it doesn't seem so hard. Each is pulling his share of the load.

But when it comes to a woman working herself into a veritable wreck for a mean wretch of a husband keeping his nose to the grindstone to support her while he makes his life miserable, then I see no point in such slavery of any sort.

Take, for example, the wife who signs the letter she writes me "Bill's Slave"—Bill, of course, being the slave-driving husband.

She says, in part:

"I have been married for 12 years, and have three children who mean so much to me that I work day and night for them and am glad to do it.

"I go out to work because my husband doesn't earn enough, and, besides, is very stingy with what he does make. Half the time he will keep all he makes for himself, and the rest of the time he gives me so little that if I didn't work we would all starve.

"I even have to pay a woman to come to my house and look after the children while they come home from school because although my husband is out early from his job, he refuses to come home until he is ready. He is afraid if he does come home home early, he will be expected to start the dinner, so he is careful to stay away until he is sure I have got dinner and dinner is on the table. In the evenings, I do my housework, the washing and ironing, and make all the children's clothes.

"On top of all that, my husband is very jealous, and insists that I don't go to work for a chance to see other men, which is ridiculous. Because of this jealousy, he will never want me to go anywhere, not even to church or to an event at the children's school.

"To work all the time, and never have either rest or pleasure, is really getting me down, so please give me some advice."

Now as long as this woman puts up with being "Bill's slave," Bill is obviously going to let her keep right on doing it, and impose on her just as much as he can. But why should she put up with it? Already she has deconstrated her ability to earn money. If she can do all she does, while sharing the same roof with such a mean-spirited mate, couldn't she continue to do it, and much more easily, under a roof of her own?

Naturally, if a woman has anything to gain by tolerating this type of husband, there is another story. There are women who remain so helplessly in love with stingy, jealous, thoroughly selfish men that they would rather be with them, in their unhappy they are, than leave them. And there are women who are forced to put up with marital misery because they would be unable, on their own, to support themselves and their children.

But none of this appears to be the case in this instance. On the contrary, every indication points to the probability that this woman would be far better off by herself.

So my advice would be for her to begin dropping a hint now and then to her husband that the thought of a legal separation has entered her head, and see what comes of it. She might just mention it casually—"I've been wondering if we might not be happier apart." That might be all that would be necessary to make her husband prick up his ears. But if not, when I recommend that she consult a lawyer who can guide her wisely.

BETTER FOLLOW YOUR PARENTS' ADVICE

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am dating a boy seven years older than myself. We get along very well with each other's family, except for one thing. This is, that I can't understand why my parents do not like the places where he go. They say they are wild, but they are not, and we don't drink anyway. All we do is dance and enjoy ourselves. — C.L.O.

Dear C.L.O.:

I don't think it's very smart for you and your boy friend to go to places your parents don't approve.

Whether you drink or not, it's a bad idea for a very young girl, which I assume you are, to make a habit of spending her evenings in a place where liquor is sold. If you let this young man, who is so much older, take you to places where it's not appropriate for you to go, first thing you know your parents may object to your going out with him at all. They may think he is not taking proper care of you, and they may be right.

My advice you to find out what places your parents approve and stick to them. There are plenty of places where you can dance and enjoy yourselves without going where they are not at all smart. If you want folks to feel that you're mature enough to associate with this older chap, you'd better show them that you're mature enough to know where it's suitable to go and where it is not.

NOW, REALLY, ISN'T THIS GIRL PRETTY SILLY?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 15 years old and a sophomore in high school, and I like a man who is is in his twenties.

This man is shy, in a way. Sometimes he gets out with women, and I see him come home, but I don't know how to start talking with him. I'm not shy, but he may think I'm too forward.

Will you please help me? —J.P.

Dear J.P.:

Don't be a silly girl. You would be, if you tried to strike up an acquaintance with this man.

All right, so you think he looks nice and you'd like to know him. That doesn't mean you should make a fool of yourself by acting as though he might take an interest in you. The only reason he seems "shy" to you is probably he wants you to let him alone.

Keep your mind on your school friends, and don't let your thoughts go straying out of bounds.

Dinner's in The Oven

By Mary Moore

All of a sudden dozens of you seem to have acquired automatically controlled ovens.

Did I give you the impression that I had prepared a bulletin on this subject? If so I'm sorry.

In some way distant future I may have time to compile such time-consuming documents as bulletins and cookbooks but right now this daily chore keeps this body busy and out of mischief.

When we think of oven meals our minds turn to meat loaves, baked potatoes, baked squashes, baked apples—all things that are durable and can withstand variations in oven temperatures and baking times.

But you all know those old standbys, and since so many of you want to bake everything for dinner right now—here is a menu that is not particularly economical, but it is pretty and colorful and may be baked at 325 deg. Fahr. or 350 deg. Fahr.—but 325 is better if you can give it the extra time needed.

Baked Ham Slice with Pineapple
Glazed Sweet Potatoes
Spinach Soufflé
Celery and Carrot Strips
Baked Lemon Pudding Coffee

BAKED HAM SLICE WITH PINEAPPLE

(This was selected because the price of pork products is down.)

Buy a slice of smoked ham 1-inch thick and place it in a baking dish that just about fits it. Mix together 1 teaspoon mustard, 1-4 cup brown sugar, 1 tablespoon vinegar and spread this evenly over the ham. Pour over 1 cup milk. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. until ham is nearly tender—about 1 hour. About 15 minutes before this is up place halved pineapple slices on ham to heat through and brown a little.

GLAZED SWEET POTATOES

Place 6 pared cooked halved sweet potatoes in buttered baking dish. To 1-3 cup butter add 1-3 cup boiling water, stir to melt butter, then add 1-3 cup brown sugar. Baste the potatoes with this until all is used, about three times during 1 hour of baking. Covered, at 325 deg. Fahr.

SPINACH SOUFFLE

Two lbs. spinach, washed, cooked and chopped finely. Undercook this spinach in only the water that clings to the leaves. It should be bright green and still a little crisp. To the well-drained cooked spinach add 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, and the yolks of 2 eggs. Beat the lefteregg whites until stiff and fold into the spinach mixture. Turn into buttered baking dish, cover. If there is room in the oven by this time this should stand in pan containing hot water to oven-pooch. If not don't worry—it just sticks a little "coff" much. Bake 30 minutes when you are serving it. It requires about 40 minutes at 325 deg. Fahr. so you have time to make it after putting the ham and potatoes in the oven.

BAKED LEMON PUDDING

Juice and grated rind 1 large lemon, 1-3 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon cornstarch, 1 cup milk, 2 eggs, 4 thin slices white bread. Add lemon juice and rind to sugar and let stand to dissolve. Mix cornstarch with 1 tablespoon cold milk. Scald remaining milk, then stir in the cornstarch paste until thick, stirring constantly. Pour this slowly over beaten yolks until blended. Butter a baking dish and put in a layer of bread squares with crusts removed. Spread with 1-3 of the sugar-lemon mixture. Repeat. Pour the custard mixture over all. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. until firm. Then cover with meringue made of remaining egg whites beaten until stiff with 4 tablespoons sugar. Return to oven to cook meringue for about 15 minutes.

PLANT OPEN AGAIN

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Work resumed Monday at the Niagara wire weaving plant, strike-bound since Sept. 17. The strike, affecting 200 men and women, was declared illegal by Labor Minister Daley. Contract negotiations are expected to resume with the establishment of a three-man conciliation board by the Ontario department of labor.

JAP DEATH RATE CUT

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese now have a longer life expectancy of 59.35 years for men and 62.73 for women—nearly 10 years better for both than in 1943—the welfare ministry announced today.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. SHECKMAN

PLANNING THEIR PARENTS' SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have a sister and I would like your advice. Our parents' Silver Wedding Anniversary is to be soon, and we are planning to have a party for them. Do you advise us to have a "surprise" party or should we tell them about it beforehand?

(2) The anniversary date falls on Sunday. Should we have "Open House" in the afternoon, or invite friends to come in in the evening?

(3) Are there any special tips for such an occasion? — Reader

(1) It is not outgmany to give a "surprise" party for an occasion such as the Twenty-fifth Wedding Anniversary, which should have dignity as well as charm. I see no point to having it a "surprise." That takes from your wife—your mother and father, co-operate with their wishes, make the affair fits with them, and you'll have more joy making the arrangements.

(2) You are extremely fortunate to have the actual date fall on Sunday, for this is usually the most convenient day for the majority of guests. Customarily the hours for "Open House" on this occasion are in the afternoon: 4 to 7 o'clock the most usual, although often 3 to 6 or 3 to 7. However, its quite proper, of course, to have the evening party, if that is the most convenient time for the majority. Occasionally the party is given in two parts: 3 or 4 to 6 in the afternoon, and 7 or 8 to 10 in the evening.

(3) Two "musts" for the refreshments: "(a) as handsome an Anniversary Cake as possible, iced with the dates (1929-1954), and with the names or, usually, the initials. Make a festivity of the cutting of the cake, the "bride and groom" cutting the first slice together and sharing it. (b) the guests gather 'round and merrily sing, "The Bride Cuts the Cake," to the good (and easy) old tune of "The Farmer in the Dell." A gala feature of the party, and memory-making.

(b) Also provide a cold beverage (fruit punch or wine—your choice) for the drinking of the toasts which will be made "to the Bride and Groom." Your father will probably want to send your mother her corsage to wear, and the might provide him with a white carnation or other boutoniere. And if the best man or an usher or an usher from the original wedding party is to be present, you might ask him to propose the first toast otherwise, ask a man relative or a close family friend.

TWO DETAILS OF MOURNING ETIQUETTE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

(1) Is it necessary, or simply optional, for the close members of the family of the deceased to wear black when receiving callers at a funeral home?

(2) Isn't it true that white is just as proper as black for mourning? —L.P.

(1) To be correctly dressed, the women members of the family should wear hats when they are receiving callers at a funeral home. This is a proper detail to give fitting dignity.

(2) Yes: all white is a proper as all black for mourning. . .and the materials must be dull.

Short Evening Dress Again Season's Queen

By MURIEL NARROWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—London's store windows predict the coming party months and jewel - bright gowns suggest festive occasions ahead.

Rich reds, deep golds, russets and winter greens catch the eyes of home-going crowds—and queen of season again is the short evening dress.

The Queen, Princess Margaret, the Duchess of Kent and Princess Alexandra now wear short evening gowns for all but the most formal occasions. Each new season London's best-known couturiers and most of the manufacturers concentrate more and more on that item of fashion.

In most of the fall fashion shows short evening dresses outnumbered long ones by at least two to one. More than one designer showed only one to two ground-length gowns.

The short dress has the most intricate embroidery, the newest neckline and the greatest number of skirt layers.

Working girls are buying mass-produced ballet-length gowns from less than £5 upwards. There are also many gorgeous frocks available at 10 to 30 guineas.

COLORFUL STYLE

A short evening gown by Matili in fuchsia satin brocaded with black and gold knots has flared skirt, tight bodice and halter neckline. It is worn with a "garter stole" in iridescent red and blue organza, which gets its name from the huge bow that anchors it to one arm.

Such royal designers as Norman Hartnell and Victor Stiebel include a larger number of floor-length gowns. A dress by Hartnell in black Chantilly lace has bodice of black velvet with deep points coming low on the hipline and matching applique net on the full hemline.

Rhododendron - pink organza is worn with vast skirt and many Stiebel's choice for a fitted ball underskirts.

RESCUED FROM RIVER

AMHERSTBURG (CP) — Three Michigan men were pulled from the Detroit river Monday, after clinging for almost half an hour to their overturned boat in 35 degree water.

The men, Vincent Brow, 22, Henry Sampson, 32, and Anthony Von Hatten, 37, told firemen their 14-foot boat overturned after Brow fell overboard.

New Brunswick Has Two Sets Of Quadruplets

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—Birth of the Doucet quadruplets at Bathurst Oct. 18 was the second event of its kind in New Brunswick since 1953.

The Mahaney quadruplets were born at Saint John on Christmas Day that year and all are living. Each New Brunswick set of quads comprises three girls and a boy, but one of the girls born to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Doucet died after eight days.

Now 30 years old, the Saint John quads were named John Douglas, Lyda Christine, Edna Louise and Edith Mae. After childhood they began to seek obscurity. Slight, dark-haired John Mahaney thinks they have finally found it in married life. All have children of their own but there have been no multiple births to any of the Mahaney quartet.

WIDELY SCATTERED

Edith became Mrs. Thornton McCully and lives at Parrsboro, N.S. Christine, as Mrs. Gordon Ryan, resides in Ottawa and Edna is Mrs. Leonard Fairweather of Saint John. John wound up the weddings with his marriage in 1947 to the former Mildred Allan of this city. With his wife and four children, he lives in adjoining Lancaster.

Parting of the ways for the quads began with the Second World War when John enlisted and served overseas with the Canadian Army and Christine joined the CWAC. The four keep in touch with each other through letters, combination Christmas - birthday presents and telephone conversations. A few months ago they had their first reunion in five years.

The father, William Mahaney, a carpenter, died in 1947. Harriet Meiklejohn, who nursed them during their early years, died last year in Montreal. The mother of the quads and six other living children are still in Saint John.

Canadians Find Queen Mother Little Changed Since Last Visit

By LLOYD McDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians who see Queen Mother Elizabeth during her visit to Ottawa will find her little changed from the royal guest of 15 years ago.

She still has the same smooth, warmly tinted face which an almost constant smile lights up to make her seem much younger than her 54 years, and her dark hair is untouched by grey.

If her figure might be described as matronly she still appears to those who saw her in Britain during the war years as somewhat slimmer than then, and much the same as during the 1939 visit to Canada.

GUNMETAL SHADES

This time her daytime clothes run more to gunmetal shades than the pastel tints of the summer visit of pre-war days. She usually favored dark blues, greys or gleaming purples during her autumn stay in the United States, with metallic gleam predominant. Her hats still follow the familiar off-the-face pattern, but often have feather trims in lighter colors to set off her coiffure.

Woman reporters who followed the American phase of her tour commented most often on her shoes. As opposed to a few of the pairs worn by her daughter, the Queen, when she visited Canada as Princess Elizabeth in 1951, the Queen Mother's footwear has constantly been far off the damning description of "sensible" which appeared in several Canadian papers in 1951.

The Queen Mother often appeared in four-inch high heels during gruelling official engagements which kept her on her feet for some hours. But through it all she appears to have stood the strain which began to tell on others accompanying her on the trip.

FORMALITY PATTERN

The pattern for most days included formal visits or functions where standing for long periods or walking slowly through such points of interest as art galleries or museums was the rule. But the Queen's interest and enthusiasm never flagged. She seemed to take greater delight, though, in little unscheduled happenings which occasionally broke into the official round.

One Washington columnist described her during her stay in the capital as "the best ambassador Britain ever had," and the crowd reactions throughout her American visit seemed to bear this out. She didn't draw loud applause, but the faces in the crowds lit up noticeably whenever she passed, and an actual greeting or brief handshake set many blushing in the ears.

For her formal evening appearances the Queen Mother was truly regal. Her jewel chest includes fabulous treasures such as the famed Strathmore diamonds, five sparkling rose sprays worn in clusters or divided into separate ornaments, a number of separate diamond bracelets and a spray of flowers in diamonds.

PARTIAL TO NECKLACES

There are two magnificent necklaces for formal wear—a two-strand chain of huge diamond brilliants and a garland of diamonds with three tear - drop pendants. Then there is her best-known piece of jewelry, the three-strand pearl necklace which she wears on most daytime occasions.

Good Public Relations Need Of School Group

TORONTO (CP)—Good public relations for a home and school group can include such unlikely factors as cold beans, says Mrs. R. M. Sherk of Niagara Falls, president of the Ontario Home and School Association.

"If Johnny tells his friend that he always gets cold beans for supper on home and school night, his friend's mother may decide she doesn't want any part of the organization," she said in an address to the Central York Home and School Council.

Public relations also extend to the teachers, Mrs. Sherk said.

"What are we doing to make teachers like home and school?" she asked. "Do we buttonhole them after a meeting to talk for half an hour about our children's problems?"

Save the problems for an appointed discussion with the teacher, she advised.

She also has a variety of lapel pins, such as twin blue sapphire "button flowers" with diamond leaves and stems. Her favorite earrings are pearl half-ospheres rimmed with diamonds.

Washington circles took delight in one passage in a biography of the Queen Mother distributed by the British Information Service. Recalling that President Eisenhower's favorite hobby — besides golf—is trout fishing, they noted that his royal visitor at the White House is an enthusiastic angler too.

"Among her favorite outdoor activities," said the BIS, "is freshwater fishing, at which she excels."

But there has been no time for fishing on the crowded three-week trip which began in New York Oct. 25.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was the last one down to breakfast and there was a letter for him in a perple envelope, and ma picked it up and looked at it and sniffed it with her nose to smell it, saying, Goodness.

What's a matter, ma? I said, and she said, Who could be sending your father a perfumed letter?

Maybe it's some lady that likes her things to smell, I said, and just then pop came down and started to open the letter, and I said, Smell it first, pop.

Heh? pop said, and he held it up to his nose, saying, Yes gods.

And he took it out of the envelope and redd it, saying, Eh heh, well well.

And he put it back in the envelope and stuck it in his pockit, saying to me, What were you saying my dear?

I haven't said a werd, who was that letter from? ma said, and pop said, couldn't be less important.

Oh, I'm not in the least curious ma said. You sound as if you thought I was a jellis wife or something, for land sakes. Keep it to yourself by all meens, she said, and pop said, What an idea, here, I'll reed it to you.

And he took it out of his pockit again, and ma said, Please dont bother, I'm not at all intristed.

Neither am I, it's from some perfume people that want me to try a shaving lotion called Cave Man, pop said. They even sent it in a plain envelope to make it more carbolic, he said, and ma said, Never mind, never mind, I dont care to know.

Then I wont repeet it, pop said, and he hafted and finished his breakfist, and ma didn't look at the letter till after he left.

Being just what he said it was.

RAWDON

W. M. S. Hears Talk on 'Peace'

RAWDON — Mrs. Raymond McConnell was hostess for the November meeting of Mount Pleasant-Rawdon Women's Missionary Society on Wednesday with 14 members and five visitors present.

The service opened with quiet music and the president read a selection on the Rosary, "Peace," and all sang "Peace Perfect Peace."

Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave her report and a letter of thanks was read. The treasurer reported the autumn thankoffering of $42.25. Plans were made to quilt these supply quilts at the hall on Tuesday. The community friendship secretary read a letter from her department. Mrs. Rose Jeffs read a stewardship paper on "Faith," and Mrs. Frank Jeffs and Mrs. James Hoard gave reports of the autumn rally and the evening service at Bridge Street.

Mrs. Carleton Potts presided over the program which she had prepared. Two papers on "Peace" were read by Mrs. Don Johnson and Mrs. Percy MacMullen. All sang Charles Wesley's hymn of "Peace." Mrs. Burton Sharpe was accompanist. Mrs. Will McAdam sang "Living for Jesus," and the convenor read a poem "He is Contented if His Heart is Kind."

Mrs. Ira Davis1 synopsized the study, "The Christian Contribution to the New India." Canadians have been supporters of Missions abroad for more than half a century. William Carey, "a cobbler of shoes," established the first newspaper in India known as "The Statesman." He also assisted greatly with the indigo dye industry. As a translator he was instrumental in having the Bible set up in 30 different languages.

Dr. C. F. Andrews and Dr. Stanley Jones did much in raising the standards in that land, and the late Mahatma Gandhi spent his life teaching that "Untouchability was a shameful abuse of the r gits of man."

FIRST MEDICAL WORK

The first recorded Christian medical work in India was done by Dr. Thomas, a ship's surgeon in the employ of the East India Company.

Dr. John Scudder came to Ceylon in 1819 and today Christian institutions train nurses to care for the sick. Public health is still an urgent matter and India has only one trained doctor for every 20,000 of the population.

"Our greatest contribution is in the lives of the millions of Christians in India and some of these are India's first men and women."

Mrs. Rose Jeffs read a poem and a paper on peace followed. November is poppy month, or more specifically, November 11 is the anniversary of the signing of the armistice.

"In real sincerity we ask our Heavenly Father to grant peace, but peace is not above all things, the absence of war. It is a positive condition whether we speak of peace of mind, world peace, at peace with one's neighbors, or peace conferences, it can never mean the absence of battle. It is rather an active force, implying an unsatisfactory matter having been faced, and dealt with in such a manner as to be assured of its never becoming a serious problem again.

"Peace with all men" with our neighbors, we have mastered the art of dealing with the problems that beset neighbors. If we are called a peaceful nation, we may be sure that wise leaders have earned us that reputation, by exercising intelligence and self-control when dealing in international controversies.

"If we are at peace with ourselves we have learned to recognize our smallnesses for the human frailties they are, and have learned that we can grow in mental and moral and spiritual stature to the same extent as we are willing to understand and tolerate frailties in others.

"Let us not allow the centuries to confuse us by the difference in phraseology then and now. When offence arises and/or misunderstand, can think 'they didn't mean it that way' or 'they just don't know all the facts' or 'they didn't realize that would hurt me'. Words are said with our Lord, 'Father forgive them, for they know not what they do'."

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. Anne Gordon (Mother of 3)

When I was a little girl my mother used to tell me that carrots would make my hair curl. Taint so, say the experts. But carrots do contribute to the general well-being of wee ones. Carrots are high in the vitamin-A value that helps keep tender young skin clear ; bronchial and intestinal systems healthy.

Speaking of vitamin A, here's a new, good-tasting source for baby: Gerber's Garden Vegetables — a happy combination of carrots, peas and spinach. Gerber's blend these important "green and yellow" group vegetables for their exceptionally high vitamin-A value, and to provide a mild, pleasant new flavor. Gerber's Garden Vegetables also provide liberal amounts of iron. Good — and good for baby.

Shapes of things. Baby's woolen booties will stay nice-looking longer if you stuff them with paper after washing. Keeps them in shape, helps prevent wool from matting.

It's well worth knowing why so many doctors suggest Gerber's Cereals when it's time to start baby on solid foods. Gerber's Cereals supply baby with the nourishment he needs because they're enriched with iron, minerals and essential B-Vitamins. Good tasting, too—Gerber's Cereals have the smooth texture and mild, pleasing flavors that appeal to the very young. Try all five: Mixed, Rice, Barley, Oatmeal and Wheat.

Sitting pretty. You can make a soft, comfortable mattress for baby's play pen by folding and tufting an old blanket. Very cozy seating arrangement.

A lovely spoon for your baby! Heavy silver plated Baby Spoon in famous Winthrop design (regular value $1.25) is yours for only 25c plus one box top from any of the five Gerber Baby Cereals mentioned above. Send to: Mrs. Dan Gerber, Box 68, Toronto 18, Canada.

Canada's Finance Minister Amazed Country Tolerates Present High Rate of Taxes

MONTREAL (CP)—Walter Harris, Canada's new finance minister, said Tuesday night he is amazed Canadians tolerate present tax rates.

Mr. Harris said he has made an initial examination of the tax rates and has found them "pretty high." Personal income tax, he said, is "severe."

What amazed him most was that Canadians allow federal and other governments to "take away" money in taxes equal to nearly one third of their income.

"This is a situation worth pondering," the said delegate to the annual meeting of the Canadian Tax Foundation here.

"It is of course true that defence expenditures bulk large in the total, but, even so, the figures do reflect an amazing propensity on the part of Canadians to allow or demand interference in their everyday affairs by governments."

RATES REMARKABLE

"At the moment I am not asserting either approval or condemnation. I am merely stating the fact that I find the situation remarkable."

Turning to corporation taxes, the finance minister said he is concerned over the rate under which the federal government "takes away half or more of the rewards of hard work and risk in the promotion."

He promised: "We will get to gether later to see what can be done about lower tax rates."

He said it is necessary that governments impose high tax rates but he feels "the most unfortunate if prospects in this land are destroyed or rendered in any gainful employment."

Earlier, Premier Frost, Ontario's provincial treasurer, told delegates that having control of direct taxation in the hands of the federal government would help provinces in depression times.

Wisconsin Wins Holstein Herd Award at 'Royal'

TORONTO (CP)—A 34-year-old Spaniard Tuesday night made it two in a row at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair horse show.

Francisco Garcia C. Goyeneg rode his two mounts, Bayano and Derby, to a first-place victory in the international two and two combination over a difficult course.

Monday night he won out in a second jump-off against Germany's Franz Thiedemann for the international individual trophy. Tuesday night he finished ahead of H. G. Winkler of Germany, who placed second, William Steinkraus of the United States, in third position, and Mexico's Lieut. Roberto Vinals who was fourth.

The two and two was the second half of the international jew score competition, the first half of which was won by Mexico Saturday night.

Just which country won the low score overall was decided Tuesday. The judges went into a huddle after the two events and announced an hour later that they would meet again late today to determine a winner.

The two Canadian riders, W. R. Ballard and Lt.-Col. Charles Barker, managed their jumps all right but took too long. Ballard took 104 seconds and Barker 75.09. Vinals, the latter's longest time, and were well ahead of the winner's 34.

TAKES HOLSTEIN AWARD

Outside the jumping ring, interest centred on the traditional "black and white" Holstein show. Dr. Hector Astengo, who has farms in Canada and Argentina, was named premier breeder and exhibitor for the third successive year. Runner up for the premier breed prize were Pabst Farms of Oconomowoc, Wis.

A highlight of the show was the inter-provincial or inter-state competition for herds. Wisconsin won out over Ontario, perennial winners at the royal.

F. Roy Ormiston, of Brooklin showed the grand champion female and Dr. Astengo won the reserve. Rockwood Holsteins of St. Norbert, Man., won the Hawkburt Trophy for the best soldered female and the Henry trophy for the best three udders.

Widow, Veteran Forfeit Bond For Clergyman

ORILLIA (CP)—A Gravenhurst widow and a veteran have been forced to sell property worth $20,000, their life savings, to pay a bail bond of $5,000 they forfeited when their minister did not appear for trial.

Mrs. Mary Harbridge of Gravenhurst and Harry Christie of nearby Germania acted as bondsmen to provide bail for Rev. Donald Jones, arrested in March, 1953, on a charge of gross indecency.

Both Mrs. Harbridge and Christie are members of the Orillia Apostolic Church where Jones was minister.

When Jones did not appear for trial, a postponement was granted until September. Jones still did not appear.

County Judge J. G. Harvey said Nov. 4 no further postponements could be granted and signed a court order making the two bondsmen responsible for immediate payment of the $5,000 bond.

Mounting Butter Stocks Alarm Dairy Farmers

TORONTO (CP)—William Rettie of Fergus said Tuesday Ontario dairy farmers are becoming increasingly concerned over the mounting stocks of butter in government storage.

Mr. Rettie, chairman of the Ontario cream producers' marketing board, told board members that while the amount produced annually over that consumed is relatively small, if allowed to increase over the years it can reach serious proportions.

"This small surplus is the result of competition from a product made from imported oils which enter Canada with little or no tariff and which are produced in countries with a much lower standard of living than prevails here."

Catholics Active Among Indians And Eskimos

By STEWART ANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Rt. Rev. D.B. Marsh, Anglican bishop of the Arctic, said Tuesday Roman Catholics would fly Indians or Eskimos 800 miles to get them into a Roman Catholic school.

"They would make room for Anglican Indians or Eskimos even if their own adherents were left completely without education as a result," said Bishop Marsh.

He spoke at a meeting of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada and the church's general synod executive council.

Bishop Marsh said Eskimos come back to their villages after being exposed to Roman Catholic influence in hospital and tell of the treatment they have received.

"They tell of being subjected to constant Roman pressure," said the bishop. "They wake up in the morning to find a crucifix pushed down under their pillow."

ESKIMOS RUN OFF

"Now, wherever a government ship comes in with doctors, the Eskimos take to their heels. They have learned to fear the white man's land."

The federal government and the Roman Catholic church were both under fire by bishops and clergy who expressed strong criticism of government policy on Indian schools and pressure of the Roman Catholic church for converts.

Rev. Canon Henry G. Cook, superintendent of the church's Indian schools administration, said the government decision to classify Indians as Roman Catholic or non-Roman Catholic was "unhappy and unfortunate."

He said the Church of England in Canada should take "strong action" against the practice of the government in sending Anglican pupils to other non-Roman Catholic residential schools.

Great Quantities Of Timber Stolen

MONTREAL (CP) — Provincial police said Tuesday enough timber has been stolen off forest limits of the Canadian Paper Company since last June to build 850 bungalows.

Police estimated that 2,500,000 board feet of timber have been stolen from the company in the thefts, they said, have centred around St. Michel des Saints, a small community about 100 miles north of Montreal, and around Lac Taureau on the Mastigouche river.

Montreal lumber dealers said the timber stolen could be worth approximately $250,000.

Detective C. Farah-Lajoie of the provincial police said that 25 police are awaiting orders from the attorney-general's department before laying charges.

Police said a ring of sawmill operators and lumberjacks were involved in the thefts. Investigations showed that trees were being cut on company lands during the day and hauled away to neighboring sawmills by night.

DISCRIMINATION CHARGED

BOSTON (AP)—A conference of officials of public anti-discrimination agencies and private Jewish organizations opened Tuesday on some of the country's largest commercial and industrial firms guilty of discriminating against Jewish workers. Louis Feinmark of New York, said a list of discriminatory firms "reads like a "Who's Who" of American industry."

Newfoundland Tug Reaches Crippled Vessel in Gulf of St. Lawrence

HALIFAX (CP)—A tug from Corner Brook, Nfld., reached the side of the crippled 7,111-ton freighter Stork Tuesday night as heavy seas continued to pound the west coast of Newfoundland.

The tug stood by as crew members of the Panamanian freighter continued to pump out the water to keep down water coming in through cracked deck plates.

Earlier Tuesday the captain of the freighter ordered his crew to abandon ship. The Stork is believed to carry upwards of 40 men.

But later the skipper changed his request to an escort tug instead of a rescue vessel.

There also was a report that help the Stork was 65 miles west of Corner Brook, and battling a 50-mile-an-hour gale.

Late Tuesday night she had reached shore with their seven

Peruvian Planes Machine-Gun, Bomb Whale-Fleet Flagship

LIMA, Peru (AP)—The 12,000-ton whaler Olympic Challenger radioed Tuesday night it had been machine-gunned and bombed by Peruvian planes swarming over the whaling fleet of shipping magnate Aristotle Socrates Onassis.

Unconfirmed reports said the Challenger, flagship of the Il-vessel fleet Onassis sent to the south Pacific in September, had surrendered to Peruvian naval authorities.

The navy already has brought four Onassis whalers to port under arrest on charges of violating Peruvian waters. A fifth has been ordered to proceed to the coast. Authorities said the rest of the fleet is surrounded and about to fall into the hands of the Peruvian authorities.

Official sources confirmed that the Challenger had been seized but declined to say whether Peruvian planes or ships fired on the vessel to force the surrender.

Peruvian whaling interests claimed Onassis violated international accords that permit whaling only between Jan. 2 and May 7. They also said the agreements limit the catching of more than 16,000 tons of whales a year. The Challenger alone is said to have caught 12,000 tons, while Peruvian whalers have bagged only 121 tons, the sources said.

General Electric Workers Accept New Contract

TORONTO (CP) — Members of the United Electrical Workers' Union (ind.) voted Tuesday to accept a 13-grant contract offered by the Canadian General Electric Company for plant workers in Toronto and Peterborough. No wage increase was involved.

The contract was worked out last week at a meeting with union and company officials with chief conciliation officer Louis Fine of Ontario.

Company spokesmen said no voting figures were available, but said a majority in the three plants will come under the agreement if separate contract negotiations there are unsuccessful.

The Toronto and Peterborough locals voted Monday by a 15-to-1 count hourly boost, nine paid holidays instead of five, present eight days of fringe benefits. The last contract ended in March.

MACFADDEN MUST PAY

NEW YORK (AP)—Bernarr Macfadden, physical culturist, was ordered Tuesday to pay $600 a month permanent alimony to his wife, Mary Macfadden. The 86-year-old publisher was granted a separation from him last winter. Macfadden won his separation on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment, non-support and abandonment.

Two More of Field Family Released by Hungarian Reds

By ENDRE MARTON

BUDAPEST (AP) — The five-year-old mystery of the vanishing Fields took a new turn today when Hungary's Communist government announced it has released Noel Field and his wife, Herta.

There was no immediate indication of the whereabouts of the 50-year-old former United States state department employee and his German-born wife. A spokesman at the Hungarian legation in Budapest said the legation had not been informed of the release.

Noel and Herta were among four members of the Field family who vanished at intervals behind the Iron Curtain in 1949 and 1950. Another Hungarian government, made over Budapest radio, came 22 days after Poland's Communist government said it had freed Hermann Field, Noel's brother. Hermann, a German architect, had been arrested in Warsaw while searching for Noel. He is in Poland convalescing in a sanatorium.

The latest announcement leaves only the fate of Noel's adopted daughter, Mrs. Noel's Waldeck, still unexplained. Mrs. Waldeck, the former Erika Glaser, disappeared in Prague Jan. 26, 1950, while searching for her foster-father.

NAMED AT TRIALS

During the intervening years there was no official indication of what happened to Noel Field, although their names cropped up in various Iron Curtain treason trials. Communist propagandists accused Noel of being an "anti-Soviet" American spy and linked him to "Titoist" plots in Hungary.

The Hungarian announcement said the Budapest government dropped all spy charges against Noel and Herta after a review of their case led to the conclusion that the charges could not be substantiated.

(In the U.S., admitted former Communist Whittaker Chambers and Hede Massing have testified that Noel Field was once a member of a Communist apparatus in Washington.)

The Field mystery began in May, 1949, when Noel left his wife in Switzerland and went to Prague, Czechoslovakia. He was last heard from in that city on May 12. After the disappearance, Herta flew to Prague to look for him and she, too, vanished.

Noel's name came up in the trial in October, 1949, of Laszlo Rajk, then Hungarian foreign minister. Rajk was accused of scheming with Yugoslavia's President Tito to hand the country over to "American imperialists." He was hanged.

The prosecution at the trial described Noel as an assistant to Allen Dulles—now head of the central intelligence agency—in the office of strategic services—the U.S. wartime espionage organization during the Second World War —with the job of organizing Germans in espionage in Russian-occupied areas of Europe.

Expect 'Unknown' Will Get Quebec Upper House Seat

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP)—A prelude to today's economy-jolted opening of the third session of Quebec's 24th legislature is expected to be appointment by the cabinet of an unknown figure to provincial politics to the Quebec Upper House.

Albert Bouchard, vice-president of the provincial transportation commission, is reported to be the top candidate for the post at the Upper House right after a statement by Colonization Minister Begin that he is not seeking re-election and intends to carry on as minister "as long as I can."

Mr. Bouchard, known only to a handful of high government circles, is a Liberal party official often described as a man "who avoids the public spotlight."

Premier Duplessis is expected to announce his appointment before the opening session starts at 3 p.m. EST.

Mr. Begin's statement, made before departmental employees at an annual oyster party, took a political complexion tipped off by last week's lengthy cabinet meeting during which Mr. Begin was rumored to have resigned.

REPORT PARTY RIFT

Reports of an inner struggle within the Union Nationale party overshadowed in local interest inauguration of what is expected to be a busy session.

Highlight of the speech from the throne is expected to be the government's outline of the status of Quebec-Ottawa relations in tax matters, modified since the Oct. 5 meeting of Prime Minister St. Laurent and Mr. Duplessis in Montreal.

FORD BARN BURNED

Baby's Glands Transplanted To Woman's Body

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Glands taken from a dead baby are apparently still living and working two years later in a young woman's body, two surgeons reported Tuesday.

They are the thyroid gland and the parathyroids, apparently the first case of successful transplanting of these glands for a long time.

They were described to the American College of Surgeons in prepared papers by Drs. Arthur C. Sterling and Ralph Goldstein, of Albert Einstein Medical Centre, Philadelphia.

The woman, now 31, had her own thyroid and the adjoining parathyroids removed in 1941 because her thyroid was too active.

TRANSPLANTED IN GROIN

Just two years ago she was given the glands from a baby who died at 21 days of age. The baby's parents gave permission for removal of the glands from the infant's neck within an hour after death.

The glands were placed in the woman's groin. Blood vessels of the glands were connected with her own blood vessels.

She has been free of disease complications ever since, Sterling said. Once in a while she takes medicine, but no longer needs thyroid pills or other medicines. There is evidence that the glands have grown in size since the transplation.

SERVED AT QUEBEC

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—John Randolph, retired diplomat and one-time Associated Press correspondent, died Tuesday. He was stationed at Moscow in 1917 when the Czar was overthrown by revolution. He also served as correspondent in Quebec and Edmonton before retiring in 1943.

INCONSISTENT

NOTTINGHAM, Eng. (Reuters) Nottingham transportation workers voted Tuesday against employment of Negro drivers and conductors because this might "lead to inconsistency" with the fact that trades council with which their union is affiliated is running a campaign against racial discrimination in industry.

McCarthy Hopes Senate Will Vote Censure So 'I Can Go Back to Work'

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Joseph McCarthy says in response to a move to censure him that he proposed for him that he hopes the United States Senate will promptly "go ahead and vote all the censure they want to."

The fight over proposed censure of the Wisconsin Republican was touched off on Monday with the announcement by Senator Wallace Bennett (Rep.-Utah) that a special committee set by the Senate a new charge based on McCarthy's attack on a Senate committee subcommittee has recommended an official rebuke for him.

Bennett's announcement followed an emotional appeal from the chairman of the special censure committee, Senator Arthur Watkins (Rep. Utah), who asked his colleagues what they were going to do about McCarthy's statement that the Communists had tried to get intended "its tentacles" into the Senate itself.

An indignant Watkins denounced to as "a hit-and-run speech" McCarthy's accusation that the special committee had acted as an "unwilling handmaiden" of the Communist party in recommending censure.

REMARKS ACTION

While his colleagues listened quietly and intently, Watkins said the Senate should make this a third count against McCarthy.

It was the Senate who called upon us to perform this duty," he said. "We are entitled to know what we are going to be done about it?

"Are we, the Senate of the United States bold up its head among other free governments of the world unless it does something about this matter?"

McCarthy, after learning of the additional charge, said: "Now they want to censure me because I am defending myself—that is getting so ridiculous it's beyond comprehension.

"I wish they would go ahead and vote all the censure they want to so I can go back to work."

Top Canadian Money Makers Are Engineers, Architects; Nurses Still Poorest Paid

OTTAWA (CP)—Consulting engineers and architects have replaced lawyers as Canada's top money earners — and taxpayers. Nurses are still at the bottom of the income heap.

A 126-page revenue department tax analysis called the "green book" issued today shows that the average income of engineers and architects jumped to $12,266 in the 1952 tax year from $8,628 in 1951. Their average tax bill rose to $2,644 from $2,453.

The architects and engineers had been in third spot in 1951. This was taken over by the legal men who slid from first place with average income dropping to $9,222 from $12,474 in 1951 and average tax down to $2,125 from $2,535.

Medical doctors and surgeons retained the second spot with average income rising to $10,522 from $9,975 and the average tax to $2,518 from $2,132.

While architects and engineers earned the biggest money, the body of workers providing the government with the bulk of its income tax revenue were those known as the "employed" taxpayers. This word covering office workers and policemen, firemen and civil servants, office boys and bank clerks.

HELP FILL BIN

Of the total 3,125,000 income tax returns for the 1952 tax year, 2,753,003 were "employees," up from 2,444,850 in the previous year. Their total income tax contribution to the federal treasury jumped to $1,600,000 from $543,900,000 in 1951.

But of 22 occupation classifications they were fourth from the bottom — unchanged from 1951—though their average income rose little to $3,036 from $2,884.

Nurses still held the bottom spot with the average increasing slightly to $1,894 from $1,817.

Other features of the tax analysis:

1. Trail and Rossland, B.C., held the top spot in 1952 as the cities with the highest average income—$3,789. Trail also was first in 1951 with $3,486.

2. Sarnia, oil and synthetic rubber city, moved up from fifth place to second with an average income of $3,683 against $3,222. Windsor, Sault Ste. Marie jumped to third from 12th, with $3,631 against $3,222.

Bond Dealer's Trial Resumed

PERTH (CP)—The trial of Walter L. McKinnon on 33 charges of fraud and theft in connection with bankrupt Toronto bond business opened Tuesday and seemed likely to run all week.

The charges were made against the 71-year-old Toronto broker in another in this district 60 miles southwest of Ottawa after his bond firm went into bankruptcy in 1953.

The trial first opened last June but was adjourned after 25-26.

Crown prosecutor and defence counsel because of previous commitments.

Some 25 to 30 witnesses are expected to be heard, with much of the evidence detailed and technical.

William J. Short, former office manager of the McKinnon company, testified in court that he first suspected the firm was in financial difficulties in 1948. At that time a number of banks asked the company to reduce its loans.

Under examination by Mr. Short said it was the company's policy to give customers a return of at least five per cent on their investments.

"Some made more on certain investments," he said.

Vancouver Asks 'Colombo Plan' To Feed Jobless

VANCOUVER (CP)—A plea for the Colombo plan to help Vancouver feed its thousands of unemployed will be placed before the federal government, Mayor Fred Alderman Jack Cornett, will carry the city's request to Ottawa as provincial, labor, management and charitable agencies combine to tackle the problem.

The suggestion of a "Colombo plan" for jobless came from Ald. Anna Sprott, who said:

"I'm in favor of foreign aid but the time has come when we must feed hungry people within our own borders. She suggested Canada's food surpluses, now going in part, to feed hungry millions in Asia, should be diverted in some degree to Vancouver.

Horace Keetch, National Employment Service office manager, said there were nearly 16,000 persons in unemployment rolls in the city at the end of October. Available jobs listed during the month totalled 3,400.

Expectant Father Cannot Locate Wife and Baby

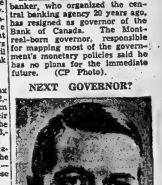
TORONTO (CP)—Wilbert Julien thinks he has become a father. But he can't find his wife and can't find a baby.

Julien went to police Thursday in a dither and said his wife, Jean, had been expecting a child and was overdue for delivery of the child to date.

He left her at home Monday when he went to work. Everything seemed all right then but when he returned that night he found this note:

"Dear Wally: I am leaving you $10. The doctors say I must go to hospital at once before it is too late."

The note didn't say who the doctors were or what hospital she was going to.



Police telephoned every Toronto hospital but none had heard of Julien's wife.

Shoemaking, Canoe Manufacturing Long-Established N. B. Industries

By JOHN MORRER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

FREDERICTON (CP) — Quality products are ensuring continuation here of long-established but dissimilar industries such as shoemaking and canoe manufacturing.

New Brunswick's capital city has three nationally known shoe factories and the biggest canoe factory, in point of production, in the Commonwealth. Footwear production elsewhere in the Maritimes is confined to a new plant in Newfoundland and one at Amherst, N.S.

Shoes from Fredericton have an international reputation for high quality. Hartt shoes were worn by a King of England (George VI), two Canadian prime ministers (Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and Viscount Bennett), the Duke of Connaught and the Duke of Windsor.

SPECIAL LINES

The Hartt Company, founded in 1826 and employing about 150 workers, concentrates on high grade dress shoes for men but has other specialties. Its products have been exported to many parts of the world.

All three shoe factories here produce similar lines with varying emphasis. The John Palmer Company, for example, stresses oil tanned leather moccasins and work boots. Its output includes heavy footwear for hunters and other sportsmen. This firm, established in 1871, employs 120 to 125. The Palmer McLellan Company, of similar scope, has been operating since 1812.

The Chestnut Canoe Company with 65 employees produces about 60 canoes and dories a week, mostly canoes. The canoes, made of cedar, range up to 25-foot freighter types. They are mainly hand-made products so the plant requires little machinery.

SHAPELY CRAFT

Trim craft fashioned here have won prizes at exhibitions in North America and Europe. Canoes from Fredericton are paddled throughout Canada—by Indians—prospectors and trappers in the north, by anglers and by holidayers at vacation resorts.

They also go far beyond this country. Paddling enthusiasts in Europe order them for pleasure and exercise. Explorers in Africa prefer them because they are easier to handle than native dugouts.

CANOE FACTORY

Canoes from this factory at Fredericton—largest in the Commonwealth—have won prizes at exhibitions in North America and Europe. Explorers in Africa are said to prefer them because they are easier to handle than native dugouts. The company, incorporated in 1907, employs 65 workers and turns out 60 canoes and dories a week. W. I. 'At Home' Well Attended

The annual "At Home" of the Women's Institute was held in the Ivanhoe township hall, where a large number of the Institute members and their families partook of a sumptuous supper.

Mrs. J. McIlroy in memory of the fallen, read "Young Fellow My Lad." Two minutes silence was observed, followed by a reading, "Flanders Fields" by Miss E. Tanner. A poem was read by Miss Guy, and the singing of "The Queen" brought the memorial service to a close.

Mrs. J. Wright and Mrs. W. French were presented with gifts for their six years of service in the W.I.

Miss Rose Ann McAvoy sang "I Was Looking Back For You" and "Beautiful Dreams," accompanied by Miss Jean McAvoy.

The remainder of the evening was spent playing games.

Mrs. F. McMaster thanked the president for her work in preparing such a splendid program.

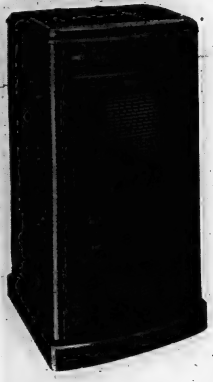
Blood Stream Used to Combat Rheumatic, Arthritic Pain; No Pills

Penetrant Dilates Capillaries, Flows Fresh Oxygen-Rich Blood Through Afflicted Areas

Toronto, Ont. (Special) — Discovery of an entirely new method of relieving pain has been announced here. The new method applies, for the first time, a well-known medical principle of pain relief to a product now readily available to Canadians for home use. The discovery literally calls upon the blood stream to bathe away pains of rheumatism, arthritis, sore muscles and joints of most kinds.



Sold under the brand name "InfraRUB," this new cream is colorless and greaseless. InfraRUB has the unusual ability to penetrate the "skin barrier" — go to work to relieve pain in muscles, nerves and joints. The bloodstream carries the soothing medication right to the seat of trouble where it actually helps drive away pain-causing congestion and "pressure." Users claim almost immediate relief from rheumatic and arthritic pains, sore muscles and joints.

Another feature of this new product that appeals to many people is its ease of application. No long and painful rubbing is necessary as InfraRUB penetrates in a few seconds and vanishes with a moment's light massage.

InfraRUB leaves no oily film or pungent objectionable odour on the skin. Users find they are able to put on clothing in complete safety immediately after application.

InfraRUB is now sold at all drug counters. No prescription is necessary.

Adventures All Part of Day's Work for Canadian Actor

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Gary Billings, son of Canadian dancer Jack Billings, wonders what his grandparents in North America will think of his latest escapades.

In recent weeks, the lively, impish 10-year-old has:

Wallowed in a crate of eggs; been "covered" in clouds of soot from a falling chimney; climbed a 40-foot barge mast in a howling wind and got stuck in the rigging.

ALL IN A DAY'S WORK

These adventures are all part of a day's work for Gary, who has his first screen role in the British film "Raising A Riot," due for release early in 1955. He plays one of three young children whose father is left in charge when mother goes to Canada.

Gary and twin sister, Bonnie, visited their grandparents in Hamilton, Ont., and New York last year. The twins, born in Britain, have triple citizenship for the time being and have already made a couple of Atlantic crossings.

When Gary last visited grandmother Mrs. Jean Billings in Hamilton, he had no thought of movie fame. He was content to leave such "sissy" pursuits to Bonnie, who wants to be a dancer like her father, Jack, of Hamilton, and her American mother.

Gary got into films by chance. His sister Bonnie was auditioned for a part in "Raising A Riot," but she was too tall and fat, so who wasn't booked for an audition, got a part instead.

AT HOME ON SET

A brown-haired lad, Gary didn't know anything about movies when he first set foot on a studio set, but he took to the game like a trouper.

The film brought Gary's "first big romance." He fell so hard for co-child star Mandy Miller he told his parents he wished the film called for a love scene with her instead of her sister Jan Miller.

The script calls for Gary to "make a pass" at 10-year-old Jan, who is a Canadian. She was born in North Bay, Ont., while Scots father David Miller was in London. Mandy was born in Britain.

Another Canadian in the film is Lionel Murton of Montreal.

Boston Bruins Bench 'Sugar Jim' Henry; Leafs, Canadiens Clash Tonight

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

"A ROSE BY ANY OTHER NAME . . ."

Mr. Ray Miron, manager of the Cornwall Colts, does not think this Senior "B" hockey group is properly named. In fact he agreed with his own proposal at a pre-season meeting that the group should be dubbed the "Eastern Ontario Senior League." The OHA does not concur in Mr. Miron's suggestion.

Speaking with the Cornwall manager here the other night, we learned that he is of the opinion that the new moniker would result in bigger box office returns, especially in his home town, where, he says, the puck customers have been more or less used to watching teams of Senior "A" calibre.

As a fact Mr. Miron admitted, "this team has always played Senior "A" hockey in and around our district." We can scarcely argue the point, for the Colts have come up with some samples of the "A" type and if the story is true they have four former Quebec League "holdouts" waiting to come to terms, they may prove more like a Senior "A" squad than any in the loop.

However, assuming the Colts are Senior "A" calibre, as Mr. Miron intimates, how does that categorize the rest of the pack? The lowly Fetes defeated them 4-3 in the opening game of the season, but that could scarcely be called a criterion. The Kingston Cadets whipped them 5-3 in a thriller in the Limestone City. The Memos, despite costly penalties, bowed by the odd goal in five heroes and with a little more scoring punch around the nets would have won the lot, while a raft of goals were installed the Colts to pull out a 5-4 win over the Brockville Magedomas. Their most impressive victories have been against Kingston 10-5, and the Fetes 12-7.

We are not depreciating the apparent power of the Colts. From what we have observed, we are of the opinion they are one of the strongest teams in the league, but not, by any stretch of the imagination, do they stand head-and-shoulders over the rest of the pack. In the Memos's gradual upsurge in power and effectiveness, what looks like the battle of the season, or one of them, is scheduled for Thursday night in Cornwall when the Colts entertain the Goodyears. That we would like to see.

The Colts have a fine manager in Mr. Miron. He oozes confidence in his Canal City Colts. In fact at one pre-season meeting he inquired if there was any possibility of winner of this group entering the Allan Cup playdowns.

WHITBY TONIGHT!

The Memos safari to Whitby tonight where they take on the Whitby "Ortuns" in quest of their fifth victory of the season. A win for the Memos would put them in second place on a par with Kingston, Brockville and Clinton played last night and at the time of writing the score was not available. In any event the winner will move into third place with Whitby and Belleville if the Memos lose tonight. Standing appears elsewhere.

FINE SPIRIT

By writing this piece we are courting disaster in the shape of a black eye, a "ride out of town" or possibly sudden demise. But it should be published and here it is.

It is the story of a grand sportsman—and what he did for sport. He is Hugh Jones, father of Peter and Davy of the Memos senior hockey club and the Satas senior baseball team. And if people attended church as regularly as Hughie attends sports events—for the sheer love of the game —they would probably better the minister's attendance record.

A quiet incident took place at the Jones' home last week—one that brought out to the full Hughie's sportsmanship characteristics. Four young baseball players were his guests were Robert Pollwell of Golden Shelters; Pat Asselstine, CNRAA; Charles Kingston, Bobb's Rockets, and Kent McLean of Elliott's Motors. None was more surprised than these youngsters.

They had been named to the "Most Sportsmanlike Players" in their age groups in the Belleville Minor Baseball Association. The BMBA, not overblessed with funds, could not afford a banquet, nor trophies with which to honor these fine youngsters.

Enter Hughie Jones. He secured the trophies and presented them to the young athletes with a few modest words of congratulation. And it has come to light since that Hughie did the same last winter with young hockey stars, and has expressed the desire to repeat his fine gesture this season.

This column doffs its chapeau to a grand sportsman, one whose interest "in the game" extends a lot further than paying his way and enjoying athletic contests. This city could do with more sports-minded men like Hugh Jones.

GOOD SHOW!

What should be an evening's fine entertainment takes place at the Collegiate auditorium tonight when the magician-hypnotist Ray-Mond stages a two hour show. The mystery revue is being sponsored by the Belleville Police Association to raise funds necessary to equip a room at the hospital here. Ray-Mond "beheads" a beautiful gal with a buzz-saw, hypnotises up to 20 people and does many other illusionary acts. The show is raised highly and folks who enjoy entertainment of the beaten track should not miss it.

Patrick Says Veteran Goalie Trying Too Hard, Needs Rest; Habs Sad Over Leafs' Defence

By AL COLLETTI
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Harry Lumley and Sugar Jim Henry provide a grim contrast today in the fortunes of goaltending in the National Hockey League. Perhaps the lesson is never get caught with your defences down.

The two fierce competitors are old pros when it comes to the art of stopping pucks, but for one everything has turned out right, for the other nothing.

Lumley, who was 26 on Remembrance Day, is enjoying the best season of his hockey life with the hottest club in the NHL.

The Vezina Trophy winner has allowed less than a goal a game during the eight-game unbeaten streak which the sizzling Toronto Maple Leafs lay on the line at home tonight against the league-leading Montreal Canadiens in what shapes up as a blood-and-guts series.

The Leafs have an encore in Montreal Thursday night.

The Canadiens aren't happy with Toronto's defence lineup, and they make no bones about it.

RIDES THE BENCH

Sugar Jim will be riding the bench tonight because Boston Bruins' defence has fallen apart while the club has won only two of 13 games. Coach Patrick says the 34-year-old veteran has been trying too hard and needs the rest.

Johnny Henderson, 21-year-old rookie brought up from Hershey, Pa., will replace Henry against the Rangers in New York. Henderson had allowed an average of 3.07 goals in 15 games with the American Hockey League club this season.

The Bruins are desperate for a win to get out of the cellar, while the Rangers, winners of only one of their last six starts, are fighting to hold fourth spot behind Montreal, Toronto and Detroit.

Coach Dick Irvin of the Canadiens is also unyielding. Conn Smythe, King Clancy and Hap Day over the Leafs' defensive style. Irvin said he couldn't understand Smythe.

"Years ago, when I worked for him, he used to sit behind the opponents' goal and yell 'Come in and see me' at his players. He wanted them to bust in and score goals.

"Now all you hear is King Clancy and Hap Day yelling 'Get back, get back'."

Wolves Wallop Cocky Russians Before 56,000

WOLVERHAMPTON, Eng. (CP) — Wolverhampton Wanderers banded Morcow Spartak a decisive 4-0 setback Tuesday night to the delight of 56,000 soccer fans who turned out in raw weather.

The victory by the leaders of the Football Association's first division gave a shot in the arm to England's faltering soccer pride. English teamg had been defeated in their last six international matches, three of them with Russian clubs.

Spartak, Russia's second-ranking team which edged Arsenal 2-1 last week in the first engagement of an English tour, trailed 1-0 with five minutes to go in Tuesday night's match and was pressing hard for the equalizer. But the Britons banged in three more goals in barely as many minutes to run up their winning margin.

The Wonderers left their own in the scoreless opening half but were thwarted by the brilliant work of Spartak goalkeeper Michael Pirayev. In the 62nd minute Jackie Mudie, Wolves' leader, pounced on a loose ball and drove it home from five yards out to give Wolverhampton the lead.

The teams battled on even terms until outside right Johnny Hancocks broke through at the 83-minute mark with the first of two goals. Then the Russians suddenly wilted, yielding the final two goals to centre forward Roy Swinbourne and Hancocks.

St. Michaels Wallop Barrie Flyers, Fights Feature Junior 'A' Battles

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A 30-minute brawl marked a Toronto game Tuesday night when St. Michael's College Majors defeated Barrie Flyers 8-4 in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

Two game-misconduct penalties and five 10-minute penalties were handed out in the ruckus.

In other games Hamilton Tiger-Cubs defeated Biltmores 4-2 at Guelph and St. Catharines Teepees beat Galt Black Hawks 7-4 at St. Catharines.

The half-hour fight came with 70 seconds left in the second period. Although it centered around Ray Hannigan of St. Michael's and Dan Pollizani of Flyers, almost every player on the ice, except the goalkeepers, was involved. The remainder of the period was carried over to the final frame.

Hannigan, tagged with a double minor for high sticking, and Pollizani, handed a five-minute major, were both sent out of the game when they refused to play anymore.

Ed. MacQueen and Blake Ball of Flyers and John Peacott and Les Duff of St. Michael's also were charged with majors for fighting.

Bill Colvin paced the Majors Canucks meet Flyers at Barrie.

with three goals. Dick Duff scored two and Tom Anderson, Les Duff and Ken Gribbons added singles. Ray Macfarlane, Howie Glover, Bob Barlow and Jack Kane netted for Barrie.

The game at Guelph was ragged and often listless.

Terry Sullivan scored twice for Hamilton. Other marksmen were Bill Hinkle and Bob Robinson. Bob Forhan and Ron McMillan scored for Guelph.

The St. Catharines game saw more fights. Pete Pilote of Galt battled with Mitch Pleta of Teepees in the first period, both drawing majors. Plata came back in the second period to play with an eye-patch.

At the 14:00 mark of the third period another fight broke out. Hec Lalande of Galt and Bob Huggard of TeePees were handed misconducts for starting a fight.

Bob Chiota scored twice for St. Catharines. The other goal-getters were Pat Kelly, Elmer Vasko, Cec Henry, Barry Pullen and Eddie Hockstra. Bob Beckett, Hec Lalande and Gus Robinson tallied for Galt.

Tonight Kitchener — Waterloo at Cornwall Canucks meet Flyers at Barrie.

Chicago Sells Ralph Kiner To Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ralph Kiner, one of the National League's greatest home run hitters and one of its highest paid players, joined Cleveland Indians Tuesday and for him Chicago Cubs got an unnamed player and an undisclosed amount of cash.

Kiner's salary — reported $65,000 at Chicago and $75,000 in mid-1953 when Pittsburgh Pirates traded him to the Cubs—was one reason for other National League clubs waiving on the big outfielder. Kiner, 32, announced when his age was 32 last month—and his performance in 1954, an off-year for him, although he batted .285 and hit 32 homers.

What the Indians will pay Kiner is still to be negotiated.

"I think I ought to be tough to do," said Tribe general manager Hank Greenberg. Greenberg telephoned Kiner at the latter's Palm Springs, Calif., home just after announcing it at a press conference.

KINER PLEASED

Surprised he was traded out of the National League, Kiner also was pleased. He said he was "looking forward to being with Cleveland where some of my best friends play."

Greenberg, manager Al Lopez and coach Billy Westlake of the Indians all played with Kiner at Pittsburgh.

Greenberg said Kiner would "add power to our outfield and be an asset to our pitching staff."

In his first seven seasons in the National League with Pittsburgh Kiner led the National League in homers or tied for the lead. His best was 54 in 1949 when he hit 54 homers, batted in 127 runs and averaged .310.

Sportscaster Gets Punch in Puss From 'Indian Jack'

WINNIPEG (CP) — Sportscaster Jack Wells, whose swollen lips testified mutely that he had exchanged punches with football player Indian Jack Jacobs, said Tuesday he and Jake had a "little misunderstanding" but remain the best of friends.

He was commenting on a Winnipeg Tribune story which says the blows were exchanged following Saturday's Western Interprovincial Football Union final at Edmonton, won by Edmonton.

"It was strictly an affair of honor," the Tribune says.

Wells, Winnipeg sports announcer does play-by-play broadcasts of WIFU games, Jacobs is Winnipeg Blue Bombers' star quarterback.

Jacobs couldn't be reached for comment.

Dutchies Take Off for West, Fans Hope for Big Upset

KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen were to leave for the West today with Bob Celeri's sensational passing arm, plenty of hope and the prayers of potentially football fans.

The records indicate they'll be clobbered by Edmonton Eskimos before they come home.

Dutchmen, regarded in the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union as the best championship team in 15 years, meet Eskimos in Edmonton Saturday in a sudden-death game for the right to move into the Grey Cup classic at Toronto Nov. 27.

They must be rated as darkhorses, like most other ORFU clubs that have gone against either a Big Four union champion or the winner of the Western Interprovincial Football Union. Not since 1934, excepting a defaulted game and war years, has an ORFU club won the Grey Cup.

Sarnia Imperials did it in '34. The Big Four didn't operate during the war.

Thousands of fans around Kitchener, however, figure this may be the year for a big upset. Dutchmen, who edged Sarnia in the league finals against Imperials in two games, are in top shape.

They have Celeri, 27-year-old quarterback who was voted the league's most valuable player this year. Celeri, out loose by the Big Four, Hamilton Tiger-Cats last season, has an impressive record.

He led Dutchmen to nine wins and a tie in 12 league games. He also headed the league in passing, with a 53-per-cent pass-completion average. His tosses went for an average of 16.4 yards and 12 touchdowns. On 23 punts he averaged 38.8 yards.

His long aby of pass receivers, either. He has such boys as end Gerry MacTaggart and halves Paul Amodio, big Jim Ainsworth and Gregg McFadden. MacTaggart caught 25 of 43 passes Celeri aimed his way. Amodio grabbed 21 of 27.

One of the better two-way backfielders is Bobby Kuntz of Kitchener. He averaged eight yards a carry and is a fine tackler and pass defender.

Defensively, Dutchmen came on strongly at the finish of the schedule. Their line runs around 200 pounds a man. Linebacker and line coach Jay Fry, from Hamilton, Ohio, is the heart of the defence.

Coach Harvey Johnson won't make any predictions. He just says Dutchmen need the breaks. The hopeful fans think so, too.

PLANTE QUITS HOSPITAL

MONTREAL (CP) — Goalie Jacques Plante of Montreal Canadiens, who suffered a fractured cheek-bone during a pre-game warm-up Nov. 11, was able to leave hospital Tuesday. The club said the medical report indicates Plante may be back in uniform in two weeks.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Calgary Stampeders downed New Westminster, Royals 8-1 Tuesday night to take over first place in the Western Hockey League standings. The loss dropped the Royals from first place for the first time this season.

Jim Madden and Steve Witiuk fired two goals each for the Stamps. Pat Lundy, Jerry Couture, Art Michaluk and Archie Scott added singles. Gord Fashoway was the Royals' goal-getter.

New Woodbine Track Costing $10,000,000 to Open in 1956

By JIM BASTARDLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—A racetrack with a barber shop and a bank; motel-like apartments for stable boys and fireproof stalls of concrete block for the horses.

These classy innovations are included in plans for the new $10,000,000 Woodbine track now under construction. It will be the richest race course in Canada.

A far cry from the leaky-roof days along Queen's Plate Drive, Jockey Club track is scheduled to open for business in the spring of 1956.

NO CAMPGOUND

There has been nothing like it in this country. Stable boys, accustomed to sleeping on old campcots beside horses and in leaky, two-bale-bunk apartments with tiled bathrooms. And thermostats—not who long rattled wooden stalls with kicking feet, will be housed in up-to-date quarters built of cement block.

Everything possible is being done to accommodate the bettors. Automatic betting machines and totalizer boards will be within easy reach. An adjoining lot will look after parking for 2,000 cars and there is space for expansion to handle 35,000 vehicles.

A Canadian National Railways line runs along the southern limits of the track and the C.N.R. plans to put in a spur line running directly into the track enclosure for Toronto's Union station.

The grandstand will seat 5,000 persons in the rain. It may be expanded to 15,000.

Clubhouse patrons will have automatic credit machines in their box seats. They establish this credit before the racing and select horses until the money runs out. The clubhouse will accommodate 2,500 persons and may be extended to take care of 5,000.

COVERED WALKWAYS

The new layout is on an 800-acre property about five miles northwest of Toronto on-the-skirts. It will replace Woodbine track, a showplace for more than 70 years in east-end Toronto.

Work on the new course, slated to be called Woodbine, started this summer.

Nothing about it will resemble old Woodbine, in an industrial-residential section of Toronto near the Lake Ontario shore. Old Woodbine, site of the $25,000-added Queen's Plate each year, is in 75 acres and is surrounded by a high wooden fence. It will be used for trotters when the new track opens. Eventually it may be sold for a housing or industrial development.

FOUR RUNNING TRACKS

There will be four tracks on the Malton property. Just outside the main racing strip will be a 1¼-mile turf track. A one-mile dirt training track and four training tracks are planned for the southern portion of the area.

Twelve-hundred stables will house 1,344 horses, nearly 500 more than the normal 850 at Woodbine. The Ontario circuit each year. Alongside the stables will be quarters for 768 track workers.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The talk of expanding the American League into a 10-club organization is so unrealistic at this particular time that one wonders how Hank Greenberg, general manager of Cleveland Indians, could possibly be serious about the move he proposed to sponsor at the next meeting of his clubowners.

What is Hank going to suggest they use for ball players on the two additional teams he promises will be means to forst on the good citizens of Los Angeles and San Francisco if the former home run king was too busy winning a pennant the last season to realize that his league had an awful time suiting up even eight sets of big league players, he reserved to be tipped off.

It is doubtful that, among them, Philadelphia Athletics, Baltimore Orioles and Washington Senators could have put together a squad of better than fourth-place calibre. That means, Hank, that the talent was getting mighty thin down around the bottom. It means that your league has become dangerously overbalanced without adding two more weak units to its weary understructure.

NOT SO GULLIBLE

We do not expect to see either league soil its future prospects on the west coast by rushing into anything as obviously suicidal as a 10-team circuit. We doubt seriously that either Los Angeles or San Francisco is prepared to spend its bond money to build a baseball park to house a collection of big league has beens and callow rookies, the only material which would be available to them.

We have seen big league officials practically drool as they spoke of the huge crowds drawn by pro football out there. This is in fact, one of the reasons that each league is so desperately anxious to beat the other to the supposed bonanza. What they are overlooking is the fact that both San Francisco and Los Angeles were blessed from the start with high - ranking football clubs which deserved support. The coast fans will back a winner, but they are not bandwagon.

Windsor Meets Winnipeg Rods In Junior Final

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Rods, Manitoba's first western junior football champions since 1930, leave tonight for Windsor, Ont., and their Canadian final against Windsor AKOs.

Coaches George Capres and Harry Chalmers will take 30 players on the trip for the sudden-death final. Rods will be trying to retain for the West the title won last year by Edmonton Hilltops.

Missing the eastern jaunt will be star halfback Ted Wargo, who scored Rods' only touchdown as they downed Calgary Bronks 10-3 in the western final here last Saturday. Wargo will be getting married about the same time his mates battle the eastern champions.

Degrees said, however, Eugene Wlasiuk, Manitoba - Saskatchewan League all-star halfback, will be back in action after missing the western final due to injuries.

Rods, who got underway its first western title since Winnipeg Native Sons turned the trick 36 years ago, have hopes to get much of their scoring punch from scatback Don Latourelle and end Mickey Gerry Vincent, both of whom Bombarded Winnipeg during Rods' spring training camp this year. Vincent, a long-ball kicker, booted five singles in Rods' win over Calgary.

Boxing Brass Bans Clause For Return Bout

LONDON (AP) — The infant world boxing championship committee Tuesday banned the controversial "return bout" clause in title fights and said the group will not recognize a bout if the "return" is included in a contract.

The committee of four men representing New York, the National Boxing Association of the United States, Britain and France, also announced that no champion could defend his world title without the committee's consent and no fight could be billed as a world title bout without the committee's approval, and that if a promoter did so, the fight would not be recognized in the U.S., Britain or the British Commonwealth.

The decision promptly drew the transatlantic fire of Charley Johnston, manager of two world champions—featherweight Sandy Saddler of New York and light heavyweight Archie Moore of St. Louis.

Johnston, also president of the influential International Boxing Guild of Managers, said in New York that neither Saddler nor Moore would defend his title without benefit of the return bout clause.

The world committee meeting was attended by Robert K. Christenberry, chairman of the New York state athletic commission; Livingston Gleeson, chairman of the Illinois state athletic commission who represented the American National Boxing Association; J. Onslow Fane, chairman of the British Boxing Board of Control, and J. Edouard Rabret of France, representative of the European Boxing Union.

Should Raise Junior Age Limit Says Coach

QUEBEC (CP) — Phil Watson, coach of Quebec Aces, said today he thinks the age limit for junior A players should be raised from 20 to 21 in junior hockey, particularly in Quebec province, to help survive.

The Quebec Junior Hockey League is down to three teams from last year's five. Joncquiere Marquis withdrew during the weekend after losing 13 of 14 games and last season's poor attendance forced Montreal Royals to disband before this season started. Frontenacs, Trois-Rivieres Flambeaux and Montreal Canadiens remain.

"If the age limit were higher perhaps there'd be more players and more interest around the league and drop out," Watson said in an interview. "I'd like to see a Montreal team, Trois - Rivieres lost nine and Canadiens eight."

Harry Hopman Given Charge Aussie Cuppers

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Australian Davis Cup selectors, deeply worried by the defeat of Lewis Hoad, their young cup ace, plan to give immediate control of the Aussie squad to the shrewd nonplaying captain, Harry Hopman.

Three of the four selectors were among the spectators Tuesday as old-timer John Bromwich gave Hoad 8-6, 6-3, 7-5 tennis lesson in the quarter-finals of the New South Wales tournament. All three agreed afterward that the only thing to do was to put the entire squad under Hopman's iron hand.

The rest of the Australian Davis Cup team, which will defend the trophy against either the United States or Sweden here Dec. 26-28, is comprised of Ken Rosewall, Mervyn Rose and Ken Hartwig.

Rose made it an all-Australian semi-final in the New South Wales title play-offs by defeating Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., 6-4, 6-4, 7-5. Hoad and Hartwig had gained the semi-finals Monday.

But despite the Aussie sweep in the tournament, which served as a tune-up for the U.S. cup team which meets Sweden early next month to determine the cup challenger, the selectors couldn't forget Hoad's poor showing.

"Hoad's condition has to be identified, said he "rarely had seen him below par appeared more disinterested in the result of a match."

The Australians generally are favored to retain the cup in the Sydney challenge. But the choice is based on two singles victories by Hoad.

Said Hoad of the match he lost: "I guess I just folded up."

TiCats Have 'Secret Weapon' Tis Rumored

HAMILTON (CP)—Fns around here are talking in whispered tones about a play Hamilton Tiger-Cats have cooked up to curb the great Sam Etcheverry's passing.

The secret weapon, spoken of quietly at the Hamilton training camp, is said to be a much better-than-even chance of defeating Montreal Alouettes here today in the first game of their two-game, total-point Big Four Football Union play-offs.

"You have no idea of what Etcheverry means to the Montreal team until you have seen the Alouettes play without him," a Hamilton backfield coach Carl Wise. He watched Ale lose 16-12 to Ottawa Rough Riders last Saturday. Etcheverry went into the quarterback group in the first quarter.

Naturally, coach Carl Voyles won't disclose his plan.

Petes Entrain For Winnipeg

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Peterborough Orfuns, 35 strong, pulled out by train Monday for Winnipeg and the Intermediate Canadian football final.

The Saturday game with Winnipeg Rams is a sudden-death affair between the eastern and western champions.

The Rams dumped Fort William for the western title, while Orfuns defeated Montreal Flyers, last year's Canadian champions, for the right to represent the East.

Orfun mainstay of the season, quarterback-coach Pete Petrow, will use himself sparingly, if at all, in the final. Petrow injured his right knee in the league playoffs with Hamilton Panthers.

Orfuns are much improved over the team that lost to Montreal last year. They feature a strong ground attack built around a heavy line. Kicking chores are handled by Gerry Bark.

Fullback Bill Huntley, voted the league's most valuable player for the second straight year, is expected to fill the quarterback slot.

Lineman Floyd Christie is the only sure casualty on the team. He has a shoulder separation.

Western Mustangs, Varsity Dominate Intercollegiate All-Star Selection

By JIM BASTARDLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Western Ontario Mustangs and University of Toronto Blues, who didn't get into the college playoffs until the final game of a thrill-packed schedule, dominate the Intercollegiate Football Union's senior all-star team this year.

The 1954 dream squad selected by The Canadian Press by coaches sports writers and sports broadcasters in the four intercollegiate cities, lists five Mustangs and four Blues in the 12 positions.

Queen's Golden Gaels, making a strong bid for their first senior crown in 17 years, took two spots, McGill Redmen of Montreal, who failed to win in the regular six-game schedule, placed one man on the mythical team.

Three of the halves were voted to the squad last year. They are Ron Stewart of Queen's, one of the hottest college prospects in years, big Gino Fracas of Western and triple-threat Steve Oneschut of Varsity.

The only McGill player chosen was tackle Clyde Whitman, a six-foot-two, 230-pound student of dentistry. He was outstanding on the cellarwise weak Montreal line.

The team: Flying wing — Bob Finlayson, Varsity; halves — Ron Stewart, Queen's, Gino Fracas, Western, Steve Oneschuk, Varsity; quarter—Don Getty, Western; centre—Don McGee, Western; guards Sherman Plaxton, Queen's, Bob Waugh, Varsity; tackles—Ted Roman, Western, Clyde Whitman, McGill; ends—Ron Turner, Western, Fred Smale, Varsity.

The rotes were weighted to give equal balloting strength to each city in the union.

Stewart, Varsity Varsity coach Bob Masterson says is the best "running back-fielder I've seen in Canadian college football, was given the most votes He polled 48 of a possible 60, 12 more than Fracas and 15 more than Oneschuk. The 20-year-old physical education student also made the 1953 squad easily.

Stewart, only five-foot-six but a fast, deceptive runner, has been the key man in the Queen's backfield this year. He finished in a second-place tie with Oneschuk in the scoring race. They each ended up with 60 points, 18 behind Fracas, the champion.

This is the third straight year that Fracas, a 200-pounder in his senior year, made the all-stars.

The 23-year-old Oneschuk, on the draft list of the Big Four Hamilton Tiger-Cats, was a cinch for a half spot.

Getty, who passed the defending-champion Mustangs to three victories and two ties in six games, is a shoo-in for quarterback. Getty polled 31 votes; teammate Johnny Girvin 14.

Winnipeg Rams Face Jinx With Petes

WINNIPEG (CP)—When Winnipeg Rams face Peterborough Orfuns in the Canadian intermediate football final here Saturday they'll be up against a player who's been their jinx for several seasons.

Leading the Orfuns as playing-coach will be Pete Petrow, former quarterback of the Norwood-St. Boniface Lacrosse Canucks, champion of the Manitoba Intermediate League from 1951 to 1953. Petrow has finally broke the string this year by beating the Legionnaires in the Manitoba final, but Petrow had left the club and had joined the Orfuns.

Lew Miles, coach of the Rams, says his team cah win "if they're up for the game."

Miles had scouted the eastern final in which the Orfuns defeated last year's Canadian champions, Montreal Lakeshore.

He said he felt his Rams could win "if they play the ball they're capable of playing." If not, we could be beaten badly. The Orfuns have a good club."

In Saturday's contest (2:00 p.m. CST), Miles will be relying on five former Winnipeg Blue Bombers to help carry much of the load in the battle for the Percy Robinson Memorial Trophy. They are centre Al Fasman, and Ray Charambura and halves Ernie Pasco, Gerry Dugard and Harold Neufeld. Miles himself played halfback for Bombers from 1944 to 1948.

Jimmy Carter Favored Over Paddy DeMarco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Memories of Jimmy Carter's win over the ring tonight favored to regain the world lightweight championship from Brooklyn's Paddy DeMarco, the young man who relieved him of the title last March.

The setting for the 15-round encounter between the top two 135-pounders is the Civic Auditorium in the spacious Cow Palace in south San Francisco.

The contest, a re-play of an upset registered by the 26-year-old Carter in New York last March 5, will be televised coast to coast by the Columbia Broadcasting System. The main event goes on at 10 p.m. EST.

Carter, a veteran of 30 years, remained a 2-1 betting favorite today to whip his unorthodox fellow New Yorker. The workmanlike fighter from Harlem already has the precise distinction of having lost and then regained the same lightweight title.

He will be the first in ring history to go the division to pull such a stunt for the second time if he wins tonight.

For the record, DeMarco has never been officially knocked out, nor has Carter. Paddy lost in the ninth round on a cut eye to the present featherweight champion, Sandy Saddler, in 1940. He later whipped Saddler.

What's This? 'Bums' Go To Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Reports of a "hush-hush" baseball meeting to consider transferring Brooklyn Dodgers from Flatbush to Los Angeles brought immediate denials Tuesday.

Baseball writer John B. Old of the Herald-Express wrote that transfer plans were to be aired at a meeting in New York Monday.

Warren C. Giles, president of the National League, when told of the story said: "It never has been suggested to me that the Brooklyn club be moved to Los Angeles."

Mercurys Scalp Stratford Indians, Move Into Top Tie With Dutchies

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Owen Sound Mercurys moved into a first-place tie with the idle Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen when they defeated Stratford Indians 8-3 Tuesday night in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A game.

The win was the fourth straight for the Mercs. Indians have only a tie to show for their last five games.

In another game Chatham Maroons defeated the Cataracts 7-5 at Niagara Falls. In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association senior A southern group, Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds and the Timmins Rinks battled to a 2-2 overtime tie at Pembroke.

Referees Lou Maschio and Larry Lewin handed out two game misconducts, two 10-minute misconducts, two majors and 19 minor penalties at Owen Sound. Jack Taylor of the Mercs and Stratford's Lou Bendo drew the majors for a third period fight. They were handed the game misconducts when they continued scrapping in the penalty box.

Jack Taylor, Jerry Reid and Doug Gillespie scored two goals apiece for Owen Sound. Ralph Hocking and Vern Gardiner netted the others. Harry Paulin tallied twice for Indians and Bill Flick scored the third.

Cataracts suffered their ninth defeat in 11 games. They were trailing 6-5 late in the game when goalie Yank Pasco was lifted in favor of a sixth forward. Paul Culver promptly scored his third goal of the night in an open net.

Other Chatham goals were scored by Ken Schultz, Jim Connolly, George Edwards and Jim Campbell. Ed Plata, Lorne Pirie, Jim Robertson, Sandy Air and Ed Mattigan scored for Cataracts.

At the end of the game, Chatham goalie Al Bennett jumped to tangle with some spectators. He was rushed to the dressing room by teammates.

The Lumber Kings, down 3-0 in the third period, scored twice, one of them disputed, to tie the game. A 10-minute overtime period failed to break the deadlock.

Pentti Lund scored both Sault Ste. Marie goals and Lucien Gilbert scored twice for Pembroke.

Greyhound coach John O'Flaherty said he would protest the game on the basis of the tying goal.

Tonight Kitchener-Waterloo meet Stratford at Stratford in the OHA. In the NOHA Sault Ste. Marie (Mich.) Indians play the Wolves at Sudbury.

Sara Shane Advises Hopefuls To Learn How to Act First

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—If she had it to do over, Sara Shane would learn how to act first, then become a publicity "star."

Sara became a Hollywood figure overnight. Maybe I should say half a figure. Anyway, one morning a movie trade paper featured a pin-up pose of her from the waist up. An ad in the other trade paper showed her assets from the waist down. Put them both together and you have a lovely girl.

It caused something of a sensation. The stunt was hailed as the greatest screen-test ploy since Orson Wells sawed Rita Hayworth in half during his magic show. Sara had offers from several studios and signed with Universal-International because it offers the best training for young hopefuls.

"Now I realize my mistake," she says. "I did the whole thing backwards. I should have gotten a firm foundation as an actress, and then gone after the publicity bulldup. The stunt developed my name to the point where I should have been doing star roles. But I wasn't ready for them."

She has taken steps to remedy that situation. She has been having dramatic lessons. Now she is up for good roles, and she feels she is ready for them.

If she does make the grade, it will be a tribute to her own remarkable determination. She says she has resorted to act since she saw her first movie.

"A honey blonde with a cover-girl face and, wow, blue eyes, she started modeling as a school girl in her native town, Sorry, St. Louis, young women of Sweden. She went to New York and became a Powers girl. But the heat of summer was too much for her, and she decided to try her luck in California.

Her luck was good. On her first night here, she had a blind date with Bill Hollingsworth, wealthy real estate man. She also landed an MGM contract under her real name, Elaine Sterling. She was more interested in Hollingsworth and was dropped by the studio after six months. She married him and became perhaps the first Hollywood starlet who lived like a star.

I saw her in their impressive Hidden valley home, which has tennis court, huge swimming pool and a long view of the Santa Monica mountains. I asked her why on earth she would want to leave all that to slave over a hot movie set.

"A lot of people ask me that," she said. "I don't know what to say, except that maybe I'm a little crazy.

The first year we were married, we travelled a great deal. Then I became pregnant (her son is 3 now). Afterwards I didn't feel like just sitting around the house; I wanted my life to have some purpose. So I started doing some TV roles."

She was up for a part in a Walter Wanger picture when the producer advised her to hire the press agent, Russell Birdwell, to build a name for herself.

Birdwell built up a name, but it wasn't hers. "Shane" was a big hit at the box office then, and he tagged her with it. How does she like being Sara Shane?

"Me mucho gusto," she says, "I mean, I'm very happy."

Queen Mother, Audience Laugh At Falling Makeup

OTTAWA (CP)—A falling piece of makeup brought laughs Tuesday night from Queen Mother Elizabeth and the Repertory Theatre Company.

The incident occurred while the cast was being presented to Her Majesty after a command performance of Shaw's Pygmalion by Canadian author Mazo de la Roche.

As the Queen Mother was chatting with 35-year-old Margaret Braidwood, who played the role of 60-year-old Adeline Wilbrook, the actress suddenly grabbed at her right cheek to rescue a piece of loose makeup.

The plastic makeup had been put on 15 hours before the performance, to give it time to set.

The audience saw it and did-join in the laughter because the cast was presented on stage after the royal party left.

The Queen Mother wore a gown of white slipper satin with a white maple leaf design, a diamond tiara, white fox stole and three diamond necklaces and long white kid gloves.

The Queen Mother apparently enjoyed the play, taken from Miles de la Roche's famous Jalna novels. She said she was very complimentary.

Miss de la Roche, wearing a dress of Stewart tartan and black lace, was presented to the Queen Mother at the end of the first act.

Three Hunters Said Missing

SMITHS FALLS (CP) — Three Smiths Falls hunters are reported missing on the Rideau lakes south of here. They have not been heard from since Saturday night.

Missing are Stanley Hignett, 39, John Jordon, 37, and Cy Dawson.

They left Poonamalie lock two miles west of this town 20 miles southwest of Ottawa late Saturday. They were last observed heading for Hignett's cottage on an island two miles down the lake.

Friends went to the island Tuesday night and found the cottage locked with no sign that it had been used during the weekend.

Bomb Scare False

NEW YORK (AP)—An anonymous caller told police Tuesday night "a bomb is about to go off" in Radio City Music Hall.

More than 20 detectives searched with flash lights under orchestra seats for more than an hour, while the movie show continued. The caller had said to "clear out the front 31 rows of the orchestra."

No bomb was found.

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma was thinking to herself thoughtful, and she said to pop, William, did you take the pencil from the little telefone table?

Not gilty, pop said, and ma said, Then how did it dissapear?

If it was lost, maybe it led itself astray, pop said, and ma said, William, this is serious. A pencil called you up and left his name, and I reetched for the pencil and it was gone, and it mistake itself, so was the name. Do you think it was important, William? she said.

Most likely, pop said. If it wasn't important it probably remember it, he said, and ma said, Oh the brave little pencil out on your first mission of mercy. Be sure and try to think. I'm sure the name had something to do with a name of flour.

Well, I know a man named Robinson that I've been impatiently waiting to hear from, pop said, and ma said, Then perhaps that's who it was.

Not very likely, pop said, and ma said, Why not?

He owes me money, pop said. I know a man names Brownback, and a man named Mayo that was the one.

That's impossible, Brownback is in Europe, pop said, and ma said, William, that's it.

Hey? pop said, and ma said, Europe makes me think of the ocean, and that's water. The man was Mr. Waters, she said.

For Pete sake what has Waters got to do with color? pop said, and ma said, Didn't you ever hear of water colors?

Ye gods, pop said, and ma said, Was it anybody important, William?

On the contrary, pop said, Being the end of the subject.

SORRY NOW!

POWASSAN (CP)—Two hunters, in too much of a hurry to get their deer, didn't put out their breakfast fire when they left camp here Labda and forestry officers of the Parry Sound district said the fire spread and it was burning down the camp slight and burned the hunters' car. The fire petered out before it got into the surrounding bush.

Former King Wins Libel Case

PARIS (AP)—A French appellate court Tuesday confirmed a libel judgment won earlier this year by former Premier Peter of Yugoslavia, and increased the penalties to be paid by the offending publication.

The ex-monarch sued the illustrated weekly Paris-Match for an article which accused Peter dealing with pro-Nazi forces in Yugoslavia during the war.

The lower court ruled in Peter's favor and ordered the magazine 500,000 francs ($1,428). Marcel Laforeau, editor, and Georges Mayer, author, were both fined 50,000 francs.

The appellate court doubled the fine against the publication.

Montgomery Offers Apology To Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, Diamond Jubilee City, a civic reception in his honor, unfailingly apologized for his remark last year, "Where's Buffalo?" calling it the "slur of a stupid ignorant soldier."

"I did insult your city and I have come to make a public apology," the wartime commander of the British Eighth Army said at a luncheon sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and the Buffalo Advertising Club. "And now that I have seen your city and your magnificent city hall, there is no doubt about it that the city is indeed the cat's whiskers."

Montgomery's remark about Buffalo was made last year in Canada during a discussion with reporters about possible A-bomb targets in North America.

In his talk Tuesday, Montgomery said he was then a guest, as deputy commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces, about the possibility of a third world war.

"In 1947 or '48," he said, "it was a possibility, but today that is no longer the case—due to NATO . . . The danger of a global hot war has been put back, for the time being at least.

"We must make clear, however, that our aim is peace—peace through strength and unity."

Says Scanty Applause Is Worse Than None

GUELPH (CP) — Children contestants at a Kiwanis music festival here Tuesday night were termed excellent, but the audience got a bit of a panning from Dr. Frank Wharton, adjudicating some of the contestants at the ninth annual festival criticized the audience for its lack of applause.

"Children appreciate applause, he said. "A hearty applause does a lot of good, but as far as a spirited applause is concerned, it would be better not to give any and to keep the occasion solemn."

DISTRICT BOOMING

HAMILTON (CP)—New industrial companies have been established in Hamilton and district at an average of two a month since the beginning of the year, K. S. Ford, Hamilton district industrial commissioner, announced Tuesday.

Ayrshire Sale Held at Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Sixteen Ayrshire bought 36,720, an average of $431, at a Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Society auction Tuesday night. One bull brought $310 and the 15 females averaged $428.

Top price of $900 was paid by Donald Rose of Mountain for the reserve grand champion female, Le-Moloes Point Susie, consigned by Stansell Brothers of Aylmer, Ont.

The Ayrshire Breeders' Society got $1,335 towards furnishing its offices in Ottawa from a special auction of a 14-week-old calf.

Donated by Eric Craddock, Aurora, the calf finally ended in the hands of Albert Lamb of Brantford.

Churchill Looks Forward To New Talks With Soviet

Tells House Ratification Of Treaties Must Be First

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today he looks forward to new discussions with the Soviet government after ratification of the Paris treaties bringing West Germany into the Western defence structure.

He said that after ratification, "and on that basis, we shall look forward to further developments and understanding with the Soviet government."

Churchill was asked by John Strachey, former Labor party cabinet member, whether he did not think it would be well to test the Soviet Union's intentions on Germany before the irrevocable step is taken of creating "the divided and armed Germany?"

"I take exactly the opposite view," Churchill replied. "I cannot think of anything worse than to hamper the ratification of the London and Paris agreements that by mixing them up with other discussions."

"I cannot think of anything that would give a worse chance to discussions with the Soviet government, to which I look forward than to mix them up with all the discussions and arguments that are going about the process of ratification. Let us take one step at a time."

Shot Moose To Protect His Own Pet

SUDBURY - (CP) — Alphonse Beaulieu claimed he was only defending his pet when he shot a bull moose out of season, but he was fined anyway in court here Wednesday.

A resident of nearby Rayside township, Beaulieu was assessed $100 and costs or 30 days. He said he shot the animal because it was bothering his own tame bull moose, which he valued at $375.

Told he should have reported the shooting to conservation officers, Beaulieu said "when I shot it, I knew somebody would report me, so I had a good feed first."

Attlee Takes Action to Avoid Split Over Pacts

LONDON (Reuters)—Leaders of the Labor party took strong action today to avoid an embarrassing three-day party split in the important House of Commons debate on the rearmament of West Germany.

Deputy official Labor party approval of the recent Paris pacts, opposition leader Clement Attlee and his frontbench ordered all party members to abstain from any vote on the pacts at the end of the two-day debate tonight. The order follows a threat by pacifists in the party's left force a vote in order to register their disapproval of German rearmament.

The Laborites are officially pledged to support the Conservative government's policy on Germany. Deputy leader Herbert Morrison said in a strong speech in the Commons Wednesday that the opposition would support the Paris agreements without a vote.

The agreements provide for West German sovereignty and rearmament within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. British Britain is committed to keeping troops on the Continent.

EXPULSION POSSIBLE

Even after Morrison's speech Labor pacifists hinted that, contrary to the declared party policy, they would force a vote on the issue.

The strong section in the party which opposes German rearmament, led by left-winger Aneurin Bevan, had previously bowed to the pressure brought by the party leadership and declared it would not vote against the agreements. With the split at the point of being admitted to vote in favor, many Bevanites likely to abstain, and the pacifists threatening an opposing vote, the possibility of a three-way split loomed large.

The new instructions issued by the party leaders warn against how any member who press a vote will be guilty of a serious breach of party discipline. —

How strongly Attlee and his colleagues feel about the matter was indicated Wednesday night when left-winger Richard Crossman said the opponents of German rearmament would refrain from voting "no" only because they "do not wish to be expelled from the party."

Visit Wonderful, Queen Mother Sorry to Leave

OTTAWA (CP)—"It has been wonderful."

With these words, Queen Mother Elizabeth took leave of Canada Wednesday, after a five-day visit.

Before she walked up the ramp of the RCAF C-5 plane for the flight to Paris and exile, she shook hands warmly with Governor-General Massey and said:

"Thank you, Mr. Massey. Thank you for everything."

Wearing an all-blue ensemble with matching plumed hat and purse, she turned at the top of the ramp to wave as the crowd at Uplands airport bellowed a "three cheers."

Except for the leave-taking, the Queen Mother attended only one other function Wednesday. An informal luncheon get-together with some 300 newspaper men and their wives at Government House.

"I am glad to be having Canada," she told one reporter, adding that she hopes to return at some future time.

Another referred to suggestions in the British press that the Queen Mother might become governor-general of Canada. She merely laughed and did not make any comment.

DOCTOR AIDS OWN KIN

FREIGHTER STORK ENDS BATTLE WITH STORM

Suffers Severe Beating In 60-Hour Tussle

CORNER BROOK, Nfld. (CP)— The 7,111-ton freighter Stork rode quietly at anchor here today after a 60-hour battle to reach port following a severe beating by a Gulf of St. Lawrence gale Monday.

The Panamanian merchantman limped into this west coast port Wednesday and her tired and relieved Greek skipper said he would not hesitate to put to sea again because he feared a 14-foot crack in her deck would snap or split the ship in two.

Earlier in her battle toward port the former United States Liberty ship sent out an SOS for a rescue craft and the skipper reported he was ordering his men to abandon ship.

But he changed his mind later as heavy seas and a whipping wind abated and called instead for an escort tug.

The Stork carried 25 men, most of the Greek but a few from Quebec province.

Loaded with bauxite, the Stork was en route from Dutch Guiana to Port Alfred, Que., when the first storm roared down the gulf.

On Tuesday the battered Stork had edged to within 85 miles of Corner Brook when the weather worsened the skipper sent out his distress call.

TUG MEETS STORK

The tug Claire Simard, under Capt. Rene Tremblay of Sorel, Que., raced to her side and with struggling freighter 30 miles off the mouth of the Bay of Islands.

The Stork's skipper, however, said he had decided to stick with the ship and has been working the pumps.

Sleepy and beaten from their battle, the captain and his men fell asleep shortly after the Stork docked.

Meanwhile, the nine-man crew of the grounded Canadian steamer Arctic Ranger were picked up on Anticosti island by a Quebec fisheries department launch and taken to Riviere-Aux-Renards on Gaspe peninsula.

Caution Urged In Gas Contracts

SUDBURY—North Bay and Sturgeon Falls have tentatively agreed not to sign any contracts regarding distribution rights of natural gas until after joint discussions.

Drew Improving

OTTAWA (CP) — Hon. George Drew had a restful night and his condition was improved this morning, Civic Hospital informed national headquarters of the Progressive Conservative party today.

The 60-year-old PC leader ran into trouble last week ago with a serious case of meningitis.

Dr. Hiram E. Mc Cann, Mr. Drew's physician, reported Wednesday the opposition leader's condition no longer caused concern but he likely would be in hospital another two weeks.

Chain Scars on Wrists and Ankles Reveal Treatment Given R.C. Priest

HONG KONG (AP)—Rev. Albert Nolin, 39-year-old Roman Catholic missionary who emerged from Red China this week, said today Communists tortured 58 of his death published by a church society in Belgium. Two years ago was only half that. He was only half dead.

Father Soblet, who spent three years and four months in a Communist jail in Peiping, was reported to have died a month and arrived here by ship. He said from the hospital bed today he did not know why the Communists arrested him, nor why they released him.

The priest is still weak from his treatment in jail. He is having a skin back from a dislocated vertebra which was not attended to. He has chain scars on his wrists and ankles, and slash scars on his hips and back.

Father Soblet said he was tortured mostly by his Chinese cellmates, egged on by Communist guards. He wore ankle chains at night and that leg are still partially paralyzed, but the 39-year-old priest is improving slowly. The back injury may never be entirely corrected, doctors say, but eventually should not bother him.

He was arrested in one of the last roundups of foreigners, Rev. Harold Rigney of Chicago, rector of Peiping Fujen University, was arrested about the same time in the same roundup. Father Sobier said he saw Father Rigney in jail recently, and the American was thin and ailing "but could still walk."

Father Sobier was reported dead in 1952 and a pamphlet on his death and burial was published in Belgium at the time. He said he was last dead at the time—from chains, beating, back injuries, coldness questioning and sleeplessness.

CURTSEY EARNS ROYAL APPROVAL

Queen Mother Elizabeth had a smile for everyone during her five-day visit to Ottawa. Here she receives a bouquet of roses from five-day-old Susan Proulx, who made a valiant attempt to curtsey, as she presented a bouquet of flowers to her majesty. (Central Press Canadian.)

Anti-Combines Body Rules RCA Innocent of Price-Setting

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament's anti-combines body ruled in a report made public today that the RCA Victor Company has not breached Canada's price-setting laws on the sale of television sets.

The charge was placed before the three-man restrictive trade practices commission by combines investigation director D. D. Mac-Donald, following complaints by Lawson Appliances, a Toronto retail store.

Lawson Appliances alleged the RCA Victor Company terminated its television dealer's franchise and refused to supply the store with sets because the store had sold RCA sets at a price below the minimum suggested by the company.

This practice of a manufacturer or distributor forcing a retailer to abide by a predetermined retail price on the manufacturer's merchandise by threatening to cut off supplies was outlawed by Parliament in 1951. The practice is known as resale price maintenance.

The anti-combines body, in a 56-page report placed before Justice Minister Garson, said it examined the evidence and concluded that RCA Victor has taken no steps to coerce or require its dealers to abide by suggested sales prices. The commission believed that the company was genuinely anxious to observe the law in respect of resale price maintenance and made it a matter of company policy to instruct all company personnel that the law was to be observed carefully.

The Toronto case developed when Lawson Appliances advertised RCA sets last March at reduced prices. The store said L. W. Boothe, RCA distribution manager at Toronto, cut off supplies.

Mr. Boothe testified that he cut off supplies because of the alleged misleading and unethical nature of the advertising and for other reasons.

Future of Saar Stiff Problem For Mendes-France to Face

WASHINGTON (AP) — Visiting Premier Pierre Mendes-France had a list of 20 world-girdling problems—and his reputation as a tough bargainer—for his opening discussions with President Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles today.

When he flew into Washington from Ottawa Wednesday evening, the stocky, energetic French leader said he came "in a spirit of optimism." He was confident that "France, in concert with the free, great country and the other allies, can assure the safety and development of our common civilization."

The future of the Saar, rich industrial border land between France and Germany, may pose Mendes-France's toughest problem. It ties to the stiffest test of all the 20 questions he plans to discuss here.

The French premier, it is reported, wants the United States to support at any future German peace conference the compromise arrangement made in Paris last month. Under those the Saar would be "Europeanized" but still under membership to France. West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is having no part of this, insisting on outright sovereignty.

Drew Returning to Hospital

OTTAWA (CP) — Hon. George Drew, Progressive Conservative party leader, will return to hospital today for a check-up, it was announced by his doctor.

Dr. Hiram E. McCann said Mr. Drew's condition is satisfactory but he will be kept under observation for a few days.

Mr. Drew was released from hospital Nov. 6 after a two-week stay for treatment of meningitis.

Knowland Again Calls for Break With Russians

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator William F. Knowland (Rep. Calif.) has renewed his call for an American diplomatic break with Russia, saying the action would "avert general sanction" against any further expansion of Communist influence.

Knowland spoke out in an interview after a three-day conference of congressional leaders with President Eisenhower Wednesday. Republican congressional policy views between the president and his own party's Senate leader appeared to be somewhat at variance.

Eisenhower rejected a previous proposal by Knowland for a break in diplomatic relations with Moscow, declaring that a way of living together in peace with the Russians must be found.

Knowland said he believes there are several ways short of war in which the Soviet Union could be put on the defensive. A break in diplomatic relations, he said, would provide a "moral sanction" which would make the rest of the world sit up and take notice.

WON ALL HEARTS, QUEEN MOTHER SAILS FOR HOME

Wishes Canada and U.S. Prosperity and Peace

By LLOYD McDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP) — Queen Mother Elizabeth waved, farewell from the bridge of the liner Queen Mary as she sailed for home on the stroke of noon today after her three-week visit to the United States and Canada.

A handful of spe tators stood at the dockside in chi.l, cloudy, misty weather as the Queen Mother—who won the hearts of all Americans"—began the homeward voyage.

She left with a prayerful hope for stronger ties and deeper understanding between the U.S. and Britain—and for Canada "happiness, prosperity and peace."

DEEPLY TOUCHED

"I pray that our countries may go forward with deepening understanding, and with more faith in our common burdens and a firm resolve to uphold the ideals we hold so dear," she said in a goodbye speech at a shipboard reception for newsmen and a half hour before sailing time.

"I would like to say how deeply touched I have been by the warm and spontaneous welcome I have received during my visit to the United States.

"I am glad and sad that my visit has come to an end, but I assure you I shall take with me many happy memories of your hospitable land and of the many new friends I have met."

The original text of the Queen Mother's speech said she hoped "it will not be too long before I can visit you once more." But she did not refer to a return visit when the speech was delivered.

Looking as fresh and youthful as the day she started the hectic tour—and not a day older than when she visited Canada in 1939—the Queen Mother wore her favorite shade during this visit of blue-grey in a gleaming satin dress. Her hat was a mass of small flowers in a lighter shade of blue, and she carried a matching clutch purse.

Sir Roger Makins, British ambassador to Washington, stood beside the Queen Mother as John F. Simmons, chief of protocol who accompanied her to Ottawa, Commander Richard C. Patterson, representing Mayor Robert Wagner of New York, and Commonwealth diplomats including Ray Lawson, Canadian representative in New York were presented in the farewell reception.

SEOUL (AP) — Twenty thousand Korean civilians jeered into stadium today and demonstrated against a British-Canadian election plan for unifying Korea.

The demonstrators demanded United Nations withdrawal of troops in North Korea alone, as provided under the Korean constitution.

One hundred seats in the Republic of South Korea National Assembly were set aside for North Korean representatives in the event they consented to admit UN election officials at that time to supervise the balloting.

Britain and Canada have proposed a modified compromise formula in the UN General Assembly. It would involve a mixed supervisory commission of UN and neutral countries, for elections throughout Korea.

Chinese Reds Resume Raids On Tachen Group

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Chinese Communist bombers reopened the Tachen campaign today with a raid on Pei Yu island north of the Tachen group, the Nationalists' defence ministry announced.

The ministry said four bombers escorted by six fighter planes, dropped more than 20 bombs on the Red-held island and strafed it.

The communique said Nationalist anti-aircraft batteries drove off the Reds with intense fire.

Vishinsky-Lodge Three-Day Talks Bring New Plan

Western Nations Revamp Atoms-for-Peace Proposal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

The Western atomic partners today sought Soviet approval for a revamped proposal designed to get President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace program rolling.

The seven sponsoring powers planned to present their revised resolution to the United Nations assembly's main political committee this morning. Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. chief delegate, described the new draft as a "solid resolution" taking into account changes suggested by Russia, India and other powers.

After a conference with the six co-sponsors Wednesday night, Lodge predicted that the new resolution to set up an international atomic agency will win unanimous support of the 60 United Nations members, including Russia.

MEET FOR THREE DAYS

The Western resolution was revived after three days of closed-door talks between Lodge and Russia's Andrei Vishinsky. A U.S. source said Vishinsky was informed Wednesday night of the changes made in the resolution and was given the chance to suggest any further amendments. However, informed sources said the seven Western powers were determined to push ahead with the resolution with or without Russian agreement.

The general feeling is that despite their apparent inflexibility on certain points the Russians will agree to the resolution and might even consent to join the U.S., Britain, Canada, Australia, Australia, Belgium and South Africa in sponsoring it.

Vishinsky appeared moving toward agreement Wednesday when he told the committee that the Russians "adhered to the framework of the draft resolution which ... contains a number of positively acceptable provisions."

Western delegates were heartened also by Russia's acceptance of Canadian proposals for an advisory committee to arrange an international scientific conference on the peaceful use of atomic energy.

Bear Is Winner In Bump Battle With Auto

SALMON ARM, B. C. (CP)—An automobile and a bear collided near here Wednesday night. The car came off second best.

Although bowled over by the impact, the bear hastily lumbered away, apparently unharmed.

But the car's radiator was pushed back to the fan, the grill torn off and a headlight smashed. The driver, William Peckys, of Deep Creek, had to walk three miles to his home.

Govt. Grants $57,000 For TB Research

OTTAWA (CP)—The health department is granting a total of $57,000 to Ontario for tuberculosis research, hospital construction and a pilot study of health services in Ottawa.

The department said the Hospital for Sick Children and the Toronto Hospital for Consumptives will receive $10,000 for research on one of the major problems confronting doctors interested in tuberculosis—whether tubercle bacilli are killed by modern drugs or only rendered dormant.

The South Waterloo memorial hospital in Galt will receive $32,800 toward the cost of building a community health centre and the Louise Marshall Hospital at Mount Forest has been awarded $13,000 for a diagnostic centre.

Both hospitals have already received federal construction grants under the national health program.

The department said the federal government has also joined with the Ontario and Ottawa governments in a pilot study of health services for the sick, aging and aged in the area. The federal government will grant $1,500 toward the project.

'Worst Pain in World' Being Stopped by Curious New Drug

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—The "worst pain in the world" is being stopped by a curious new drug being brought to the American College of Surgeons.

The pain is called tic douloureux, a nerve ailment in the face—tic douloureux—which is fairly common after 40. Attacks can last intermittently for to three weeks. Victims can't eat, talk, shave or even comfortably decide from the agony. Many doctors agree with victims that it's the worst pain in the world.

Surgery cutting the face nerve has been the best remedy, but that causes loss of all sensation in one side of the face and sometimes to leads to eye complications.

A fairly new drug, stilbamidine, seems to work in somehow strike at the face nerve which causes all the pain. And it apparonly acts only on that nerve.

The clue that stilbamidine might be good came after it had been used by people suffering from internal fungus diseases. These patients felt numb. Then their tic douloureux felt numb.

That gave Dr. George W. Smith, neurosurgeon of Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, and Dr. Joseph H. Hiller, of Walter Reed Army Institution Hospital, Fort Howard, Md., the idea of trying it against the tic douloureux.

The drug banished pain in 15 of the first 18 patients treated, Smith said. The first patient so far has been free of pain for 18 months. One of the 18 has had 80 per cent relief of pain, but he may have some other condition besides the nerve trouble.

How permanent the pain-killing is remains to be seen.

Cheesemakers Being Offered Biggest Prize List in History

The biggest prize list in the history of the exhibition is being offered cheesemakers at the British Empire Dairy Show being held in the city hall market building here on November 30th and December 1st.

Secretary Mrs. Lillian Matthews states that in addition to the regular prize list there are four additional prizes, one of them a cash prize donated by the Belleville Cheese Exchange. Entries for the cheese are already coming into the secretary's office with early entries indicating a show at least as large as last year. Entries must be in by November 20th.

In conjunction with the cheese show will be held the 27th annual convention of the Central Ontario Cheese Makers' Association. Federal and Provincial dairy officials and others associated with the dairy industry are scheduled to speak to the convention, sessions of which are being held at the Hotel Quinte.

President of the Association this year is Bert Jones of Milford, well known Prince Edward county cheese maker.

The cheese makers' convention will open on the morning of November 30th at the cheese show, with later sessions to be held at the hotel. The public will be welcomed at the cheese show at all times.

Contrary to procedure in former years the cheese makers' banquet will be held this year on the first day of the show. The banquet will be held at the Masonic Temple and presentation of prizes and awards won at the show will be made during the banquet. Guest speaker will be the Rev. Sidney E. Larmay, Holloway Street United Church.

Magician's Show Is Presented By Police Group

How many men can boast of having seen through a woman?

Well at a rough estimate there are about 00 of them today in Belleville, q alified to make the statement. Those were part of the audience who attended the Belleville collegiate last night when the Belleville Police Association presente dthe magician Ray-Mond and his Atomic Mystery Revue.

The illusion of locking a lady in a cabinet and re-opening it to show only her legs and head, with nothing in between was all part of a two-hour show of magic and mystery.

The magician pulled fat rabbits out of thin air, then shot them back into it again, produced an endless supply of blossoms and turned burning paper into dollar bills.

High laughter mark of the evening arrived when Ray-Mond hypnotized five volunteers from the audience, had one thinking his body was stiff as steel and held him on a rigid slant, and another believing "where's the fire" when he mentioned the red exit lamp in the auditorium.

Cows Chased Deer Over Fence In Sidney Twp.

Local hunters travelling 100 miles or so into the northern woods to find deer are wasting their time as far as Cecil Sine, 8th Concession, Sidney township is concerned. Mr. Sine says deer can be seen right on your own farm and he has his own experience to prove it.

Tuesday the Sidney township farmer was plowing with his tractor when he was suspected in an adjoining field and chased a deer over the fence only a few feet from him.

"I don't know whether the deer or I was the most frightened," he said.

Mrs. W. H. Finkle Again President Of Concert Group

At a recent meeting of the Belleville Community Concert Association Mrs. W. H. Finkle was unanimously elected to the office of president for a second term. To assist her the following executive was chosen: first vice-president, Don Latrence; second vice-president, Judge J. C. Anderson; third vice-president, Clifford Templer, and treasurer, A. Lennox. The position of secretary will be filled at the next meeting of the new executive to date. Named as directors were: Ron Moorman, J. Dennis, Mrs. H. R. Gibson and M. Theobald.

In her report Mrs. Finkle expressed the deep gratitude of the association to four retiring executive members: W. L. Morrison, A. Locke, H. Moorman Sr., and G. E. Currie. The contribution they did also to the establishment and growth of Community Concerts in Belleville has been continuous and extensive.

The several committee chairmen presented their reports briefly but enthusiastically, since every phase of concert activities last year was highly successful. Fact of the matter is, it was said, that the association budget allowed too narrow a margin to cover unexpected expenditures. From this report arose a motion to budget next year for a surplus of at least $150.

The social convener reported plans underway for a reception to be held after the concert on February 9 when Miss Lois Marshall will be the guest artist.

IAP Association Holds Meeting In Napanee

The importance of using all accident prevention equipment available was stressed in a talk given to the Belleville section of the Central Ontario Industrial Accident Prevention Association at a dinner meeting held in Napanee Tuesday night. Over seventy representatives of the district were in attendance.

F. W. Crawford, manager of engineering of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company's Bowmanville branch, was the guest speaker.

Mr. Crawford in his address urged all industrial residents and foremen to instruct all employees properly in the use of accident prevention equipment.

Mr. Crawford was introduced by George Stalker, of the Belleville Adamson Company, Belleville with the meeting's appreciation voiced by W. Preston of the Bata Shoe Company. Walter Lloyd, also of the Stephenson Adamson Company acted as chairman.

Mr. R. Schiek, of Dupont, Canada, Kingston, spoke briefly. He welcomed the Napanee branch to the newly-organized Ottawa-St. Lawrence section of the association.

Toronto Youth Given Term On Multiple Charges

A sentence of two years less a day in the Ontario reformatory was handed out today by Magistrate T. Y. Wills to Robt. William Hutton, 18, of Toronto, following pleas of guilty to leaving the scene of an accident, to seven charges of forgery and one charge of theft.

One additional charge of driving while his licence was suspended was withdrawn by the Crown.

Hutton was given two years less a day definite and one year indeterminate on the forgery count involving a cheque passed for $115, and similar concurrent sentences on the other forgery charges. On the theft count he received six months' concurrent and for leaving the scene of an accident, three months concurrent.

The accused was arrested in Toronto by Provincial Police Cpl. Harry Barker and Provincial Constable Al. Cockburn following a two weeks' investigation into a hit-and-run accident on No. 2 highway near Bayside in which Douglas Macnutty, 44, was struck while riding his bicycle.

Police traced the license for the car to a Syracuse, N.Y., car rental agency where it was learned the vehicle had been rented by a man who showed an Ontario operator's permit. The permit was later found to have been stolen. The New York car was found abandoned in the Toronto area.

Hutton was arrested late last week when he returned a rented car to a car rental agency in Toronto and was booked in Belleville for trial. The forgery offences were all committed within the past month or five weeks.

Cigaret Stub Cause of Minor Blaze at Hotel

A cigaret stub tossed into a waste paper basket is believed responsible for a minor blaze which sent firemen to the Canadian Hotel on Dundas Street shortly before eight o'clock Wednesday evening.

Firemen found rubbish and paper in the basket in the men's beverage room blazing high. Two linoleum squares were badly charred and had to be removed by fire fighters. Only a small quantity of water was necessary to put out the blaze.

A small barn on Cannifton Road owned by John Bradden was damaged by fire Wednesday noon. Only minor damage was caused to the barn in which lumber was stored.

Cause of the blaze was not determined.

The only other run for firemen was to No. 1 Catherine Street, where they were called for a smoke investigation.

Hospital Auxiliary Report Shows Fine Achievements

The latest innovation of the Opportunity Shop was reported as being most successful, at the recent meeting of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary.

This is "Open Shop" on Friday evenings, when many people availed themselves of the opportunity to shop.

Mrs. J. H. Forrester, the president, welcomed the members to the meeting and Mrs. L. B. Fonger introduced Mrs. H. Clifford Argue as the newly appointed treasurer of the Opportunity Shop.

New articles are wanted for the Christmas gift table, and a used vacuum cleaner would be appreciated to keep the shop free of dust.

In these busy days a larger staff is needed. Volunteers are asked to call Mrs. Gilbert Scott, Phone 2451.

COFFEE SNACK REPORT

Mrs. E. H. Hall gave a satisfactory report on the "Coffee Snack" and spoke of an interview that Mrs. Lennox Smith and Mrs. Hall are planning for Friday at 10.05 a.m., with Harriet Stevens over CJBQ. Many workers are needed at the hospital "Coffee-Snack". Anyone interested call Mrs. E. H. Hall at 4094M. All helpers are asked to register their names and address in a notebook at shop when they are there next, so the records may be brought up to date.

It was decided to hold the December meeting on the second Tuesday of the month.

Three student nurses are receiving bursaries from the auxiliary, it was announced.

Plans were discussed for Christmas gifts for hospital patients.

The president expressed pride in Mrs. W. C. Mikel's part in the sod turning ceremony of the new hospital wing, and the members were much interested in viewing the silver engraved spade presented to Mrs. Mikel on that occasion.

Thanks were also extended to Mrs. Jack Marshall, who convened the tea at the nurses' residence that afternoon.

PARTNERS IN SERVICE

Mrs. W. H. Finkle, who gave the delegates' report on the Ontario convention of hospital auxiliaries, recounted some thoughtprovoking messages. The Ontario Hospital Association and the hospital auxiliaries hope to be partners in hospital service. A hospital should take the community into the confidence at all times and just when money is to be raised. The purpose of the national federation of women's hospital auxiliaries is to unify the work of all auxiliaries across Canada. No community is sound unless it has a hospital.

AUXILIARIES' WORK

Mrs. J. R. Buchan, who was the dinner speaker at the convention of women's hospital auxiliaries of Ontario, gave a most informative summarization of the work accomplished by these auxiliaries. Ninety per cent of the 120 affiliated auxiliaries, consisting of 30,354 members replied to a questionnaire to which Mrs. Buchan had sent out. The total amount raised by these women last year was $250,732.26, "which is a sum," Mrs. Buchan said, "which should impress us with its magnitude."

Successful money making projects which appealed to the local group were: garden tours, June lawn party at which take-home box of supper were sold; May Day festival at which recipes were sold, prepared samples of same were given out; several teas in one day in different parts of the city; sale by taggers of roses at a county fair.

ONGWANADA'S ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Mrs. Buchan made special note of the work being accomplished by the auxiliary of the sanitorium "Ongwanada" in Kingston, where they are sending out Christmas seals, and of the work being done at the Ontario Hospital in the same city.

In every report where a coffee shop or gift shop is listed comes the news that they have outgrown their original accommodation.

The Belleville Opportunity Shop has the distinction of being the most financially successful one in Ontario bringing in a net profit of close to $2,000.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

Mrs. Buchan then spoke on the subject of 'Public Relations' and how the hospital auxiliary can be an educational force in the community through well informed members passing on information to friends and neighbors and through a hospital speakers' panel. Auxiliaries should always consult their hospital administrator, she cited instances where the press and radio had been most co-operative throughout Ontario.

In the various ways auxiliaries are serving in hospitals they are becoming less just an auxiliary and more a partner in hospital service, an organization, Mrs. Buchan concluded.

Mrs. Mikel and Mrs. Forrester also attended the Ontario convention, the latter as a member of the finance committee.

KEMP. — In loving memory of a dear father, Jessie Kemp, who passed away two years ago today, November 18th, 1952.
Sad was the hour and sad the time
We think of her when the sun's last rays
Go down in the far-off west,
And think of her as the time passes on
And the longing of our hearts is still

Her heart has ceased in all the wide world.
Her rest the best to recall
For no one on earth could take her place
Or fill her sacred part at all.

Accountants Hold Meeting

D. Watson, of J. D. Woods and Gordon, was guest speaker at the monthly meeting held on Bay of Quinte Chapter of the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants of Ontario, held at the Queen's way Hotel, Trenton, on Tuesday.

In his address, Mr. Watson outlined reasons for mechanizing office procedure. However, he noted, a machine may not solve all problems and may even add to them. He pointed out in many instances office machines are used in extra jobs for which they were not originally purchased, with the result that they are not always used to the full for which they were intended.

The meeting was chaired by Jack Bennett, who welcomed a new member to the Society, Mrs. C. Bostak, of Stirling.

Y's Men's Club Plans Social Education Club

The Y's Men's Club of Belleville is endeavoring to ignite a So-Ed (Social-Education) club in the city. So-Ed (Social-Education) is a club for young adults who wish to share their interests with others, add to their knowledge and increase their circle of friends. Many cities and towns across Canada have So-Ed Clubs which are most successful.

A group of young people from Belleville recently met by the Y's Men's Club to Central YMCA in Toronto to see a So-Ed meeting in action, with the hope that they would be the nucleus of such a club in this city.

The So-Ed Club at Central YMCA, in Toronto has a membership of 400 (200 men and 200 women) and these people meet once a week for a series of eight weeks each spring and fall. The meeting is divided into three parts, a lecture and a short discussion period; a period for arts and crafts; and the rest of the evening is a social period consisting of entertainment, dancing and refreshments.

A meeting was held at the Belleville YMCA last Wednesday evening where the trip to Toronto was discussed and a So-Ed committee was formed.

The tea room was upstairs, attractively adorned with baskets of white, yellow, and bronze chrysanthemums while a white picket gateway was invitingly open to the numerous guests who came to partake of the cheering cup of tea, and little sandwiches, and one-bite cakes. Mrs. E. Sandercock, Mrs. M. Cherry and Mrs. G. Charlton were tea room receptionists.

Those presiding at the damask covered tea table with its lovely centre of white stock flowers, mingled with red Princess feather, and flanked by silver candelabra with two red candles, were: Mesdames P. Burley, J. Redner, Mitchell, E. Sandercock, Clergy

Police Blotter

Petty thefts continued to occupy the attention of city police officers today with two thefts from cars reported Wednesday night.

Charles Fair, 5th concession Sidney township, reported that a .303 rifle had been stolen from his car while it was parked on Bridge street. Police were of the opinion that youths or children were responsible.

A Corbyville man complained that his auto robe was stolen from his car while it was parked near a local theatre.

DANGEROUS TALK—ABOUT DANGEROUS FACTS

Senator J. William Fulbright, Democrat from Arkansas, maintains that the Republican leader of the Senate, William E. Knowland of California, has engaged in "dangerous talk."

If the talk was dangerous—and we think it was—it was only dangerous because Senator Knowland was giving voice to what many people have thought.

Senator Knowland expressed the fear that "peaceful co-existence" with Russia would eventually result in an "atomic stalemate" and that, when the day arrives that Russia is as powerful in the field of atomic weapons as is the U.S., the Communists will proceed with their expansionist program.

The inference is clear—the only way to stop world domination by Russia is to force a showdown now. That way lies atomic war—and vast destruction.

Senator Fulbright was right—it is dangerous to talk that way, particularly when so many are already thinking that way.

But that is not the whole story.

These dangerous words and dangerous thoughts have their basis in dangerous facts—and those were the facts stated by Senator Knowland. Peaceful co-existence may indeed lead to atomic stalemate and atomic stalemate to new aggression—perhaps by the Communists and those camouflaged to a war fought under much less advantageous conditions, for the western powers, than those which would appertain today.

So, while talk can be dangerous, silence could be dangerous, too, if it were indicative of a lack of realization of these facts.

Senator Fulbright probably recognizes these facts as fully as does Senator Knowland. He believes, however, that plainly stating them may lead to a loss of the "cold war" through the alienation of the support of nations which might be alarmed by such "emphasis on military power."

Senator Fulbright is thus ascribing a pre-eminent peace-loving role to world public opinion. There will be many who will scoff at hopes built on such a slender foundation. Yet, in the final analysis, these are the only hopes we can ever possess. If war can be postponed long enough, world public opinion will change. If it does not, war will come and with it terrific destruction. The day when a preventive war could ever really prevent anything has long since passed, if it ever existed. The contending powers are too well matched for either side to cow the other into submission—or to escape a share of world devastation if any such attempt were made.

It is customary to regard the present restraints against a resort to war as differing widely in the case of the western powers on the one hand and Russia on the other. We say that the West is restrained from war by moral scruples, Russia by the fear of retaliation. The fear of retaliation, however, also restrains the West as well as Russia. Russia, if not curbed by scruples, still has her scruples checked by the necessity of retaining favor among those peoples which she hopes to add to her empire. For, in the final analysis, no dictatorship, no matter how strong, can hope to hold power without some measure of support from the people governed. Hitler was dangerous not because he imposed his will on all the German people, but because a large segment of the German people supported him. So it is with the Kremlin's rule in the lands already under Communist control and not even the Red Army is large enough to hold all Asia subjugate unless a considerable body of Asiatics are Communists. Nothing would turn men like Nehru and his followers into militant anti-Communists more quickly than an atomic war initiated by Russia.

So, in a real sense, world public opinion is already playing a peace-keeping role and men who pin their hopes to it are, perhaps, leaning on a reed which, though slender, may prove tough enough to withstand the storm.

The way to prevent what Senator Knowland has designated as "Operation Nibbling," in which Russia would endeavor to take over peripheral nations bite by bite" after "peaceful co-existence" has produced "atomic stalemate" some time between 1957 and 1960, is to win the minds of men in these nations surrounding Russia in the Iron Belt.

The time is short. So much needs to be done. And so little is being done. Senator Knowland's "dangerous talk" accomplishes nothing. But does Senator Fulbright's denunciation of this talk accomplish much more?

BILLS

Few ever speak a word of praise
About the bills we pay
Man grumbles every time he pays
For shocks and frills.
He frowns to see them pouring in
And starts to rave
Shouting: "It's time they should begin
To be to save."

Those envelopes with windows small
Pull out his knaves
Whenever the time does end all,
For what he craves,

You'd think to hear his woes poured forth
Among life's ills
Which every man must bear, the worst
Are monthly bills.

Yet, all the checks he has to pen,
And send he must,
Are certain proof that other men
In him can trust.
To owe should be a source of pride,
Man's wealth it fills.
If credit were to him denied
He'd get no bills.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Probably this is old stuff to the ladies, but it was new to me. A lady business executive came to me in connection with one of those book clubs which undertake to distribute good books in the choice of the books you read. Since forthwith I am only up to the year 1814 A.D. in my reading, except for a few I have to read because of my business, for my friends, I did not have to detain the pretty young lady long.

The next time I saw her was a day or two later in one of the big restaurants. She had been wearing a demure, scholarly-looking hat the day she called on me. Just a fluffy black casque, as severe as student's mortar board. But in the restaurant, I noticed she had on a rather bizarre hat, with a weird colored patchwork projecting off it. It reminded me a little of those abstract paintings. The man she was lunching with was obviously an intellectual. His wore a colored vest and was using a long cigarette holder. I amused myself wondering if the young lady snatched her hats to her prospective customers. I flattered myself that for me, she had worn that prim little black casque.

Who should I meet on the day Pullman, sitting across from me, but my young friend the book seller, on her way to Calgary. She now was wearing a very attractive hat with rakish slender bird wings of scarlet plastic. I wondered if it were a man or a woman who was her next prospect.

When we got off the train, there were no redcaps at all, and since I had only my light old canvas warbag, I offered to help her with her travelling cases to the

"I have only this one," she said, lifting an averaged-sized bag, "and it's quite light, fortunately. You have a trunk or two I suppose," I remarked, as we walked along the platform.

"No trunk," said she. "Every-thing's in this."

I was astonished.

"How about the hats?" I demanded. And she was very frankly red that an old blister like me, who is only up to 1814 in my reading, had noticed her hats.

So we stopped at the lunch counter and had a pot of tea while she opened her suitcase and showed me.

The basic hat was the little black casque she wore when calling on me. The abstract art creations that I seen were merely clipped on, when needed. The scarlet plastic wings were likewise attached with clips. And she had a small brim that could be fastened on with snaps. She had four hats in one.

Taxi Drivers Are Too Smart

(Ottawa Citizen)

Paris now forbids the use of motor horns both by night and day except in cases of emergency. But it appears that the Paris taxi driver, most resourceful of men, is finding new ways of making noise and so slipping through traffic. One is to race his engine at an alarming speed, thereby frightening pedestrians and drivers of other vehicles out of their wits. Some lawmakers, it seems, will have to try again.

What Clausewitz Said

(Montreal Gazette)

An immense amount of effort is expended by specialists every year to find out whether or not Russia really intends to start a world war.

Some say that she will be, others expect. After all, the question of Russia's intentions is the biggest question in the world. It is only natural that it should preoccupy the mind.

But there is always a danger, and a serious one, that always the calculations arrive at the conclusion that Russia is not really intending to fight. The consideration gives assurances that Russia only intends to continue the Cold War, and cause as much trouble as possible inside other countries as she may be doing now in the British strike of dock workers. But as far as any bigger adventures that might deliberately lead to another world war—that is not on the books.

The trouble with all these estimates of Russia's intentions is that they violate one of the fundamental rules of military science. It is a very old rule, and it never changes.

Clausewitz, the great Prussian strategist, wrote upon it 150 years ago. And he summed it up succinctly to this: "Do not rest your own preparations on what you think is the object of the enemy intends to do: base them upon what the enemy is able to do. That is the only safe course."

Here is the supreme wisdom. Concerning Russia's real intentions today, or six months from now, the best military mind has any real knowledge. An estimate of Russia's intentions is speculation. What the non-Communist world should consider is what Russia can do. And that their only security rests in gathering sufficient strength to prevent Russia from doing it. And even here it is wise to err on the side of Russia's strength, rather than to take an undue comfort in her possible weaknesses.

If anyone wishes to refresh his mind upon the nature of the Russian opinions, he ought to re-read what Clausewitz wrote about the likelihood of war with Germany in the late years of the 1820's. Not many of those professional opinions were inclined to deny the formidable character of the Prussian war machinery; many had seen it on display. But they took refuge in the fact that they were sure that the Nazis intended to do with it.

It is interesting now to note how frequently the word "bluff" occurred in those commentaries. Hitler was bluffing. He had conducted his massive military manoeuvres merely as a way trying to make the flesh of his opponents creep.

And then the observers would go on to give their lists of reasons why Hitler would never really attack other nations. His regime was too new. The elements of unrest in the Nazi world were too great. There was no real strength to Hitler's position. The element of a shaky facade. He might talk like a madman but he was too shrewd to take on the whole world in battle. He would never attack the West for fear of Russia as he would never attack Russia for fear of the West. He had won so much by bluffing, why should he risk a real war? And so forth.

But all these speculations were wrong and delusional. Hitler's intentions were best known to himself. The West would have done well to take him at his own word. They ought to have concentrated not upon what he might be thinking of doing but upon what he could do. They ought to have determined upon the fact that as clearly as they could and adopted a policy upon it. And they ought to have made sure that they had the strength to match him.

If this had been done the war might have been averted entirely. The fact is that Hitler attacked in the confidence that there was little to oppose him. He had no difficulty in over-running Poland, the Netherlands, Belgium, the English Channel. He left the British Army to fight on the beaches and the landing-grounds with staves and iron pipes.

Only a miracle saved the world. But it is not wise to count upon miracles. It is not wise to count upon miracles to have worked out just what Alexander Smith, Virginius Dabney and Pierrepont Noyes are thinking, and just what their intentions are. Their considerations ought to be considered with the scepticism they deserve.

Speculative estimates about the strength of Russia's atomic explosions, or about the effect of Russia's interest in jet planes mean more than somebody's speculative estimate of what Russia intends to do. What Malenkov and his associates can do is far more important as a basis of Western policy than what anyone thinks they may intend to do.

Gooney Birds Prove Problem

(Ottawa Journal.)

Uncle Sam, with a heart as big as a watermelon, has been reduced to feckless sentimentality by the Canadian Legion and Mackenzie, and, these feathered bulks, ugly as sin, live on a federal wildlife refuge and so can't be shot although they are a menace to flocks of airmen using this Pacific airport. They are also destructive of runways and propellers. When jet planes are used more frequently it is considered that the gooney birds will be sucked into the air intakes with fatal consequences.

For all we know, gooneys may be essential to the happiness of Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and Phil Harris, but we are unfeelingly in favor of exterminating the whole Midway landing strip to keep the gooneys away. But we have a far better plan for a neighbor renowned for marksmanship. It is: "Sam, pick up your musket."

B.C. Tourist Bureau Hit

(Winnipeg Free Press)

It has been said with complete truthfulness that nothing advertisements might offer could stop a football game from being played in Canada. Fans and players could be soaked to the skin in a cloudburst and still they would be on cold that the players fumbled the ball every time they touched it. It didn't matter the game still went on.

But rain is constant in this uncertain world. One night in Vancouver the game between the British Columbia Lions and the Saskatchewan Roughriders had to be abandoned because of rain.

It's possible that even this enveloping blanket might not have prevailed had the gridiron been graded for the condition of the field. The Lions and their officials feared some player might be drowned in the sloppy mire of Empire Stadium and so the game would see it happen.

The Lions clearly have acted an entirely new set of hazards to this fall sport. Their chagrin must be shared by the whole B.C. tourist bureau. This is the sort of publicity that sours a generation of good-will-propaganda about the "ever-green playground."

What a Change In Ten Years!

(Edmonton Journal)

The world has seen some curious slights in the last few years, but surely none more curious or more ironic than the scene at Leyte Gulf when the United States American destroyers were handed over to Japanese crews, to form the nucleus of the new Jap navy.

To make the irony more complete, the Japanese commander was most on the tenth anniversary of the battle of Leyte Gulf (October 23-26) when the powerful U.S. Navy finally broke the back of the Japanese fighting fleet. That was the climax of three years of savage fighting at sea; the battle of Leyte Gulf was one of the guns spoke, the two nations had been locked in combat in the Pacific. Japan's naval power, or, indeed, was long regarded as the principal guarantee of security, and great was the rejoicing in the Mikado's realm at the shattered forever. As the wreckage of the great battle settled below the waters, it would seem to been a bold man indeed who would have prophesied that within less than a decade the United States would be helping to rebuild the Japanese navy.

Completely unforeseen in those closing months of the Second World War were the events that have led up to this decision; the rise of Communism in the Asiatic and air power, the transformation of China from a friend into a deadly enemy, the Korean fighting, and the acceptance of Japan as an ally in the struggle against further Communist expansion.

Incidents of this kind are a reminder of the almost incredible reversals which can come about in a short time in international politics—and of the folly of trying to predict what the world will be like ten years from now.

Installment Remorse

(Truth, Magazine)

The chief of the internal revenue department in Washington received an anonymous letter recently from a conscience stricken taxpayer.

He confessed to having cheated on his income tax 10 years ago and said if haven't been able to get a good night's sleep since.

"I am enclosing a check for $5," he said. "I still can't sleep, I'll send the balance."

38,000,000 Refugees

(London News Chronicle)

Nothing very new or startling in the story of the two Poles who huddled in a cabin in Denmark and thus escaped to freedom. It is going on all the time: people slowing away, driving from despair, crawling across frontiers in the darkness.

The fugitives who attract most attention are those from the Communist lands. But it is a mistake to believe that they are the only ones who have fled from what they intensely feared.

King Hussein of Jordan speaking earlier this year for succor for 900,000 Arab refugees who are living miserable lives in camps there, who are wondering far from what they once called home.

It is not an agreeable commentary on our times. And the consciences of the more conscientious the less justification there is for shrugging it off.

Great Minds Misfits Today

(Philadelphia Bulletin.)

Scholastic and collegiate literacy has reached such a low level in the United States, says Professor Douglas Bush of Harvard, that Socrates "would never have a chance at an assistant professorship" if he were there to want darkness.

It has been said before that great men and great minds of the past would be misfits in the modern world. Could Xi Grec get a job as an artist for any advertising agency? Where would Leonardo da Vinci, expert in everything and specialist in nothing, settle down to gainful employment? Could Oliver Goldsmith sell "The Deserted Village" today to any magazine or publisher?

Professor Bush's pessimistic opinion given at the annual meeting of the National Council of Education, was intended as an indictment of an educational system which, says Illiteracy and contentment with illiteracy", shapes a culture in which "the polished mind is suspect." The result, he says, is "unthinkable mediocrity" and "primitive code."

Like Socrates himself, in the gold age of Greece, was put to death for nonconformity, impiety and "corruption of the young."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

BRIEF BOOKS

One of the miracles of immortality is to have written a single book that lives on age by age. Books like that one by Marcus Aurelius, Epictetus, or for the Sayars of Montaigne. These are classics, but they are as much for the common man as for men of years ago. Great books are for all time!

A friend was in my library and we got to talking about books. He took from his pocket a small volume of Hyrgraves' Virgilious Puerisque." Then we got to talking about a brief books, and I mentioned "The Roadmender" by Michael Fairless and George Gissing's "Private Papers of Henry Ryecroft." But a great library could be built from just the single books that have been written, and which are the undying fame of Alexander Smith were "A Life Drama."

A fresh and lusty and brief book is not to be taken lightly. There is an intimancy to brief books that is missing in the many-paged ones. Not too long ago, publishers created what they called "three decker" books, meaning three volumes. When reading a novel in this form, I always got discouraged after the second volume!

I tried better with a small, brief book in my pocket. It helps to dispel loneliness. Even a silent friend, its thoughts keep vibrating. I have several shelves in my library that contain no book thicker than about half an inch! Benjamin Franklin was one of the most useful and inspiring of Americans. His autobiography is well worth reading. Lincoln's speech delivered as one of the great personal stories of all time.

A really great book, read for the first time, is like being introduced to someone you have long admired, but never dreamed of meeting in the flesh. Such a book is real, is flesh and blood, the mind and the heart, are what create great men. The bricker, though, the better!

Ask in Advance

(St. Catherines Standard)

A girl should not only be asked if she can cook, but also if she can wash and iron clothes. Much trouble has suffered by not asking those questions in advance of the ceremony.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

AGE OF HURRY

Sometimes we hear the expression that things done in a hurry are rarely well done.

We are living in an age of hurry. People often remark that the tension of this age is unprecedented. It would be hard to contradict this opinion when we think of the tensions which must have existed in past ages when the population under threats of invasion, massacre, persecution, and plague. The present age differs from the past not that the tension is greater but that the pace is more swiftly. From airplane pilots down to commuters, the spirit of speed seems to have laid hold on us. We must hurry, hurry, hurry.

We should remind ourselves that not everything and everybody in this age respond to hurry. Vast research projects are going on in the great laboratories, and these are likely to require years of patient care in the midst of this present feverish existence. The fact that we have to catch trains, that many of us drive high-powered cars, and that there is so much to be done in a short time, is not the normal heart, but us all in a dither trying to take advantage of our opportunities.

But it is not tension which is increasing our normal break-down to an alarming degree; it is hurry. And of the people who are hurrying, half of them have not the remotest idea what to do with their extra time, once they get it.

A British Labor official who recently made a trip to Moscow had this comment on what he saw on return: "How on earth a classless society can afford four classes of railway travel and three classes of waiting rooms would defy Karl Marx, never mind a simple Methodist like myself."

Will Re-Consider Any Claim Says Fund Secretary

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario hurricane relief fund appraisers will re-consider any claim at any time, fund secretary James Wakelin said Wednesday.

He said he was referring to comments made by reeve Fred Armstrong of Woodbridge, 14 miles northwest of here, that cheques from the fund for flood victims had been ridiculously small.

Mr. Wakelin told a fund conference that officials have received no formal or final criticism of compensation from reeve Armstrong or anyone else. He said the fund could not be used to pay for luxury items or to pay original cost prices of articles.

Tax Load On Industry May Be Reduced

OTTAWA (CP)—The tax load on Canadian industry may be reduced in the next budget if business conditions deteriorate and there are signs industry is in need of urgent help, federal informants said Wednesday.

But they added that while at the moment business is not going at full speed, it is improving its pace. The trend in the next few months will tell what the government's attitude on tax cuts will be, they said.

The tax cuts, if they come, would be in the nature of business shot-in-the-arm, to encourage and stimulate business activity as a means of providing industrial expansion and more jobs and thus eventually to increase the government's potential tax yields.

That kind of encouragement and stimulation, informants feel, can be provided best by a reduction in the 49-per-cent corporation income tax, already described as high by Finance Minister Harris, and by more generous depreciation allowances.

But they doubted that cuts in personal income tax would be of much benefit to industry if it faced economic plight. Thus the possibility of cuts for the individual payer in the next budget seemed remote.

Mr. Harris, who took over the finance portfolio last July, expressed concern over industry's tax payments in a speech in Montreal Tuesday night.

Pest Control Equipment Given To Ceylonese

OTTAWA (CP) — Pest control equipment including 10 Canadian-built half-ton trucks valued at $50,000 was handed over recently in Colombo, Ceylon, by J. R. Jayawardene, Ceylonese agriculture minister, by J. J. Hurley, Canadian high commissioner to the Commonwealth country.

The external affairs department said today the equipment, part of Canada's $25,000,000 Colombo plan aid this year to help and modernize Asia, will be used for an experimental project in pest control to be conducted by Prof. E. A. Hardy of Saskatoon.

The experiment will determine whether additional Canadian assistance will be useful to farm development in Ceylon.

Mr. Jayawardene said:

"We are encouraging is that all the assistance received from Canada is without political strings. The only kind of strings attached to these gifts are invisible strings of friendship and co-operation for the common good of Ceylon."

Ford Offers New Personal Car -- The Thunderbird

Ford's new personal car, the Thunderbird, combines the comfort, convenience and safety features of conventional passenger cars with the performance and glamor of a sports car. It has a removable hardtop or cloth convertible top, roll-up windows and a telescopic steering column. Except for its plastic hardtop, the Thunderbird has all-steel body. The hardtop weighs only 85 pounds, so light that it can be removed easily when the owner wants to enjoy the delightful advantages of a modern convertible. A cloth convertible top which can be purchased instead of the hardtop—or in addition to it at extra cost—can be folded completely out of sight behind the seat. The Thunderbird is powered with a special Ford overhead valve V-8 engine of 292 cubic inch displacement and a horsepower rating of 193. It offers a choice of three transmissions. Standard transmission—with overdrive optional at extra cost—is available with the 193 h.p. engine while Fordomatic fully automatic transmission is available with a special 198 horsepower engine. Both engines have a four-barrel carburetor, automatic choke and dual exhausts.

No-Raid Treaty Signed by Two Labor Groups

OTTAWA (CP)—The two largest labor bodies in Canada today signed an agreement not to raid each other's membership.

The no-raid treaty, an arbitrate between the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and the Canadian Congress of Labor, is regarded as a stepping-stone to the eventual amalgamation of the two central groups that have a membership of almost 1,000,00..

At the start, the agreement is effective as of Jan. 1, 1955, for about 70,000 persons tied directly to the TLC and CCL in unions controlled by the two congresses.

For the bulk of the membership in autonomous (unions affiliated with the congresses, it still has to be ratified. However, most of the big unions with the greater part of the TLC's 580,000 and the CCL's 400,000 are expected to go along.

RESTRICT ORGANIZERS

Main point of the pact—which won't become fully operative until the big unions sign up—is that unions are not to try to organize workers in cases where a union in the other congress has an established bargaining relationship with their employer.

It follows the pattern of an agreement between the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations, the United States counterparts of the TLC and CCL. Most big U.S. unions have gone along with the treaty, but notable exceptions are the CIO's steel workers and the AFL's teamsters, two of the largest.

TORONTO (CP) — A domestic dispute between a husband-and-wife roofing team ended today with Mrs. Alicia Shafer dangling from the roof edge by the "seat of her trousers."

Police said James H. Shafer, 43, was charged with assaulting and causing actual bodily harm to his wife after the two quarrelled on a roof they were repairing.

Shafer was also charged with assaulting helper Clifford Gugins as who tried to protect Mrs. Shafer.

Trent Canal Head Will Supervise Welland Canals

OTTAWA (CP)—Thomas Joseph L. Ryan, 58, superintending engineer of the Trent canal, has been appointed to the same position on the Welland canals, the transport department announced today. He succeeds J. H. Ramsay who has retired.

Charles S. Purser, 53, engineer on the Trent canal staff, is promoted to superintending engineer of that waterway.

Expect Coyne Will Be Named Bank Governor

OTTAWA (CP) — The government today is expected to approve the appointment of James E. Coyne, 44 - year - old Winnipeg Rhodes scholar as governor of the Bank of Canada. The number of deputy governors is expected to be increased to four from two. The governorship carries a salary of $50,000 yearly.

The cabinet, it is understood, will consider the appointments at an afternoon session, and announcements are likely to follow soon afterwards from the bank.

Mr. Coyne, senior deputy governor the last five years, would take over Mr. Coyne's senior deputy post at a salary of $30,000 a year. Mr. Beatie, 44, is a native of Greenwood, B.C. He has been with the bank since it was set up in 1935.

Louis Rasminsky, 46, of Montreal, a graduate of the London School of Economics who has been with the bank for 16 years. He is widely recognized as an international finance authority.

Ralph B. McKibbin, 49, of Toronto, University of Toronto graduate, who joined the bank in 1935 and is currently the central bank's securities adviser.

L. P. Saint-Amour, 52, of St. Polycarpe, Que., will remain as deputy. He was promoted to the bank a year ago.

Licence Plates, Cutting Torch Believed Stolen

Local provincial police must have thought they were seeing double, when they happened to check a parked auto on the 6th concession of Thurlow a few nights ago and found two sets of licence plates with different numbered markers showing front and rear.

A further check of the vehicle revealed an acetylene cutting torch in the trunk compartment and it was then police started to get really suspicious. A check of the licence plates (3 of them) both had been stolen and the cutting torch was also found to have been stolen.

The driver of the car failed to return to his vehicle but addresses found in the car gave police a lead and Cpl. Ray Kowal and Constable J. McBride continued the investigation which led to the arrest of Gordon Stapley, 38 of Toronto.

Stapley was returned to Belleville and charged with the theft of two sets of licence plates, theft of a welding torch and of being in possession of obscene pictures. He will also face a charge of car theft in Toronto.

Stapley appeared today in magistrate's court and had Friday, Nov. 26, set as a special date for his hearing.

One Man Missing As Stream Floods Logging Camp

PORT ALBERNI, B. C. (CP)—Waters of a rampaging stream striking with the suddenness of a bursting dam, swept out an 8-man general canal logging camp Wednesday night. One man is missing and two more are in hospital.

RCMP here said an unnamed creek about eight miles from here, swollen by "terrific" rains, was apparently blocked by debris and backed up into a deep gully until tons of water burst through the obstruction and swept down.

The small floating logging camp of J. W. Arden of Vancouver island was wiped out.

An RCMP officer said there were six persons at the camp, all in one building when the water struck with a "roar."

Then the water hit the building, opening the door. Mr. Arden closed the door and they ran out the other door. But before they could get away the building collapsed."

Canadian Drafts Plan to Prevent Border Incidents

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) —Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, chief of the United Nations' truce committee in Palestine, has proposed a series of measures to curb border incidents along the Israeli-Egyptian frontier.

Burns, in a report sent to Dag Hammarskjold, UN secretary-general, also proposed efforts to get both parties to accept a local commanders' agreement along lines of an Israeli-Jordan agreement of 1953. This provided that military officers of both sides coordinate their efforts to suppress illegal border crossings and combat infiltration, and to allow immediate action of military forces or armed civilians.

Other measures included patrolling of "sensitive" sections of the demarcation line by a joint team composed of Israeli, Egyptian and UN representatives.

Yankees Giving Nine for Two Hurlers, Shortstop

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore Orioles today announced they have traded pitchers Bob Turley, and Don Larsen plus shortstop Billy Hunter for nine New York Yankee players, including veteran outfielder Willie Miranda. Pitchers Jim McDonald and Harry Byrd, catcher-first baseman Gus Triandos from Kansas City and catcher Hal Smith of Columbus.

New York will complete its end of the deal with three more players whose names will be announced "in the future."

Richards said he "regrets" giving up Turley and said he made the swap to "get the hitting and balance necessary to make a first division contender."

The Orioles' field boss described Smith and Triandos as "two of the most promising prospects in baseball."

He also hoped Woodling, whose .250 batting average last year was his lowest mark in nine major league seasons, would revert to form and give the punchless Birds the power they need at the plate. The veteran of six Yankee seasons was hobbled last year with injuries.

The 34-year-old Turley fireballed his way to the league lead in strikeouts last year with a total of 184. He won 16 and lost 15 on an earned-run average of 3.46.

Bridge St. United Church W.A. Holds Attractive Bazaar, Tea

Yesterday afternoon proved ideal with its mellow air and sunny skies for the attractive bazaar and tea sponsored by the W.A. of Bridge Street United Church, for the constant stream of patrons who visited the prettily decorated Sunday School rooms with their fully stocked booths. Every where the eye turned, the Christmas motif was in evidence bringing to mind that the Day of Days is just around the corner.

Receiving at the door were Mrs. E. Fairman, president of the W.A. and Mrs. H. Davis, wife of the pastor.

STATELY TEA ROOM

On entering the tea room, one was caught at its stately appearance; its tall pillars bearing fragrant sprays of balsam; its wide-open white gates with their evergreen adornment; the long line of tables, each a complement of the other with its lace-edged, white linen centre piece, centred by a crystal bowl of beautiful white Shasta chrysanthemums, bachelor's button sprays, and red carnations; and the gleaming silver services. The little guest tables with their white cloths, centred by a single spray of evergreen upon which was superimposed a glistening metallic little bell, were arranged in pleasing contrast.

The tea room hostess was Mrs. F. C. Adsett, and those who presided at the tea table were: Mrs. F. S. Deacon and Mrs. H. Wray; Mrs. R. Latimer and Mrs. A. May; Mrs. Cathers and Miss Dickens and Mrs. McBurney. Those who replenished the plates and tea pots included: Mrs. W. Dallas, Mrs. J. McMillan, Mrs. W. Sherry, Miss Pearl Campbell and Mrs. S. Andrews.

SERVING

The servers were: Mesdames Hurlburt, Buchanan, Dodds, Selden, Wilson, Tugnett, Williams, O'Neil, Gurnett, Douglas, A. Lennox, J. Anderson, F. Franklin, Hyde, Parker, R. O. Dulmage, R. Wotten, G. Anderson and Miss Clarke. Making tea: Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Armond and Mrs. Roluff, while Miss P. Campbell was in charge of the tea plates, assisted by Mrs. W. J. McMillan, Mrs. Dallas and Mrs. Parker.

Those convening the tea room were: Mrs. S. J. Hibbard, Mrs. M. Tugnett, Mrs. F. Adsett and Mrs. H. Parker. Treasurers for the afternoon were Mrs. Robbins and Mrs. Fotheriey.

CGIT

Just outside the tea room fence were the booths of the CGIT in its colors of blue and white, and the Invictae Mission Group booth. On display at the CGIT booth were delightful, little black pussy-cat faces in the shape of coin purses, with pearl button eyes in white and yellow; good, used books, including: "Little Men," by Louisa M. Alcott; "The Boys of King Arthur," and several of the "Little Purdy" books; used games, and rubber toys as Donald Duck, and Peter Rabbit. Mrs. Freeman and Mrs. Burrows, superintendent of the CGIT was in charge, assisted by CGIT girls.

The Invictae Mission booth displayed a lovely quilt, stuffed toys, lace-edged handkerchiefs, pot holders, and other interesting items, all in charge of Miss Carolyn Ormond.

COUNTRY STORE

At the far end of the tea room, upon the raised dais was the "Country Store," replete with its decorations of corn stalks; golden pumpkins; baskets of rosy apples, potatoes, onions. The shelves were rows of mincemeat jars; while at the right side was a rack of knit socks, and on the other, hats and caps. Like most country stores; its counter was "jam-packed" with cheese; comb honey; chili sauce; jams; fresh eggs; canned fruits, peaches, pears; canned beets; bread and butter pickles; salad dressing and gingerbread men with dolorous looking eyes. Even plain bill folds and peanut straw garden hats were in evidence, all being disposed to the throng of eager purchasers by the "gals of long ago" in their sweeping, floor-length dresses; while picture hats, and smiling eyes. The convener was Helen Leavens; the decorators, M. Whitfield; W. Williamson, and the clerks: Mrs. H. Beery, Mrs. J. Barnett, Mrs. O. Sharpe, Mrs. Don Leslie, Mrs. F. Tindale, Mrs. C. Ireland, M. Whitfield, B. Williamson, Mrs. S. Hoard, Mrs. W. J. Lyons, Mrs. R. Chapman, Mrs. G. Greairix, and Mrs. C. James, convener of the cook book.

KIDDIES NURSERY

A nursery was in attendance in the basement where tiny tots might pass the time in play. Presiding this worthwhile project were Mrs. Russell Bateman; Mrs. Bruce Crook, Mrs. D. Lamo, Mrs. J. Minnie and the CGIT girls.

At the candy booth with its delightful assortment of candies, chocolates, maple cream and divinity fudge, as well as several varieties of Turkish delight, which were attractively displayed in pretty little holders and cellophane bags and boxes, the attendants, Mesdames C. Sharpe, A. McMillan, J. Morrison, W. Easton, J. Mann, J. M. Woods, H. Francis, H. Phillips, E. J. Clarke, and the Misses C. Clarke, M. Young, N. Clark, were kept busy.

Y.P.A's Plan Future Activities

The Frankford Young People's Association met at Frankford with Stirling and Glen Miller's Young People in attendance. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mr. Becker, after which fees were collected, for the month, amounting to $10.35. There were 41 present.

Later, a game, brought by Vera Coombes, was enjoyed.

It was decided that on December 13, the YPA would have a skating party and if all not agreeable there would be a party at the hall with Frankford YPA supplying entertainment. Glen Miller YPA bringing sandwiches, and Stirling YPA cookies. It was suggested that a spokesman be appointed for each group to act as a chairman, with the following appointed: Frankford, June Pearson; Glen Miller, Jean Gibson; Stirling, Arnold Woodbeck.

The skating party were decided on and the rink obtained, skating would be the order of the evening, later going to Ruth Mumby's home in Frankford for refreshments.

The meeting was closed by Mr. Becker with prayer, and refreshments were served.

Three Canadian Beauties Happy to Be Home Again

By BILL HARCOURT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

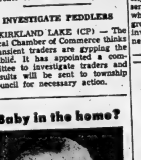
NEW YORK (CP)—Relax Canada, your "three most beautiful girls" are home again.

New York couldn't hold them, even after three days of its frantic magic.

They still prefer Toronto, where a national magazine picked them as Canada's three most beautiful girls, and the model agency they work for took them on the New York town—with photographers, of course.

Joyce Landry, 21, Kathy Diggles, 20, and Joan Hunter, 17, were tired, happy and glad to be going home.

New York may be "fabulous," Fifth avenue "wonderful," Times Square at night "brilliant," and Rockefeller Center "spectacular," but give them Toronto—Sunnyside, Yonge street, Varsity Stadium—anytime.



Of course, they would like to come back, but only for a holiday.

In fact, Sherman Billingsley, owner of the famous Stork Club, wants them to return to appear on his TV show.

HIT TWO TV SHOWS

As it was they turned up on two TV programs—Dave Garroway's in the morning and Steve Allen's in the evening—before Eddie Fisher is published. It has appointed a committee to investigate. Prizes and results will be sent to township council for necessary action.

HIGHLIGHTS OF 1954's CHRISTMAS CARDS

Wonderful news . . the Return-to-Religion, trend which is triumphantly revealed in so many mailways of late today, is also revealed in the Christmas cards of 1954! You will be amazed at the predominance of religious cards this year, . . far more than ever before, more than twice as many as five years ago. There must be a very special significance in this fact this year, . . this year when so many hearts and spirits are reaching for the inspiration and comfort of religion. More and more people are returning to the original idea of Christmas, the Holy Day, rather than the holiday. Many cards carry Biblical quotations, the majestry sincerely printed, and some in the style of old manuscripts. Such many, many cards in the glorious Christmas message to lift up all hearts: "Glory to God in the Highest. And on Earth, Peace, and Good Will toward all." The prayer for Peace, for Good Will, so deeply needed these troubled days. Of many cards too is the front-head-to-heart prayer, "May the Peace and Joy of Christmas abide with you throughout the year."

So many cards shine with the wonder of the Nativity, the Blessed Christ Child, the gentle Madonna, the Holy Family. The Adoring Angels. The Star of Bethlehem with its eternal radiance. A shepherd "watching his flock by night." The three Wise Men with their thoughtful, searching faces. There are many reproductions, too, of famous and beloved paintings of the Madonna. And lovely cards featuring serene church steeples, church bells ringing rejoicingly, worshipers reverently entering a church for the Christmas services, choir boys singing Christmas hymns, carolers with their dedicated faces. And never have I seen so many beautiful, beautiful cards glowing with the "religious light" of stained glass windows, . . many of them reproduced in the original colors of famous windows in famous churches and cathedrals. This year's glorious treasury of cards with religious themes and religious messages . . what a tribute to the blessed spirit of Christmas.

"Greetings" . . that endearing and engaging word. . . is featured charmingly and in an even greater variety of ways this year than ever before. The increasing popularity of this warm-hearted word "Greetings" is natural, for it is a word of real charm, . . has the friendly grace of taking on the personality you yourself give it.

In today's spirit of "Do It yourself," many Christmas cards this year try to lure you to write your own message on the nice, white pages within. Sign it yourself . . and so make your Christmas cards more personal. On the cover of the folded card may be "Greetings" or "Christmas Greetings," or a part from Christmas tree or wreath, or a branch of holly, or a Christmas star, then the wide, open spaces of those pages within are or you to have fun writing (perhaps in Christmas-red or Christmas-green ink) those personto-person messages, which, even though few words, are the welcome "Hi, there!" of friendship.

It's always a Christmas happiness to see the cards with the beloved Santa Claus, with his joyous "come hither" twinkle, . . never was this glamorous fellow so handsome and blithe and charming as on this year's cards. And we have all the traditional Christmas scenes and the symbols of Christmas, . . wreaths, holly, holly, mistle-toe. And there are some cards of "modern" design, . . some abstract, some grotesquely stylized, . . some striving mightily, and too often unsuccessfully, to be "original" or "amusing." I have a feeling that there is-of-key-with Christmas cards won't seem at all "original" or "amusing" when they are opened on Christmas morning. There are many long-

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DON'T BE TOO DRAMATIC, TEENAGERS, OVER BROKEN ROMANCES

While it is perfectly natural, of course, for girls and boys to make in and out of love while they are growing up, and think each romance is the only one they will ever have, it seems too bad that some of them waste quite so much time and emotional energy wallowing in home-brewed tragedy when one of these temporary romances explodes or just burns out of itself. Such indulgence always makes me wonder whether the grief-stricken one is actually suffering, or merely having a good time dramatizing herself. And I say "herself," because the vast majority of these emotionally extravagant young people are girls. As a rule, boys don't take a burned-out romance so hard, or else they don't have the gift for dramatic grief. In fact, they rarely spend more than two or three days, at most, nursing a broken heart. Then they shrug the whole affair off, give up girls in favor of baseball for a week or so, and presently find a new love.

The following letter, from a 15-year-old girl who claims to be madly in love with a boy of 16, is typical of the kind of thing I mean, where the heart-broken-ness is concerned:

"Two months ago, this boy moved away," she writes, "and that nearly set me crazy. I had a slight nervous breakdown, and I am still not well. My parents and friends do not know the reason for this as I haven't told them and don't intend to.

"This boy never came right out and said he loved me, but he hinted several times. He is very shy, and was also very much in awe of my parents, especially my dad. When he left, he said he would write, but he never has yet. I think he is afraid my parents might find the letter.

"I have his picture, and every time I look at it I break down and cry. I love him more than words can express, and I don't want to live without him. I never want another boyfriend.

"I hope you will print this, as it may help some other girl in the same fix."

Well, here I am printing it, and for just the reason that this girl suggests, only I am afraid with a little different purpose.

What she thinks, I take it, is that reading her letter may be helpful to some other girl "in the same fix" because it will show her that others have their sort of trouble, too. My own hope is that other girls "in the same fix" who read this letter will see hopefully it is to get so dramatic, and stop "emoting" over their own shattered romances.

The whole thing seems especially foolish, considering how little encouragement she seems to have had from the boy. I doubt if the reason he hasn't written her is because he is in awe of her father. I am afraid he just doesn't care enough, and I hope she will come to her senses and realize that, and stop wasting emotion over a wholly imaginary love affair.

But, as I suggested in the beginning, I think the chances are that she is more interested in getting the greatest possible emotional enjoyment out of her romantic day-dreams than dealing with realities.

narrow cards this year. And some card king-dired. And many glow-ing with dramatic Christmas colors, . . red and green and the rich blue.

Strike Up the Band. . here comes the Christmas Card - Parade!

Torso Dress

By VERA WINSTON

Sheer, soft wool in a delightful shade of violet makes a charming dress of the long-torso category. The cuffed hipline is lined in taffeta to make it stand away from the silhouette and a bow is posed in back. The full skirt comes from the hip yoke, and is pleated at the top to fall in soft folds. A turtle neckline has a bit of pale pink taffeta trim.

BIG CROPPING SPREE

NEW YORK (AP)—Firemen had to chop through walls of all 22 floors of the Biltmore Hotel Wednesday to make sure a fire in an incinerator flue was out. A fire official said intense heat in the flue, which extends the height of the building, had started the cork insulation smoldering.

HEARTBREAK DEATH?

BALTIMORE (AP)—An investigation has begun to determine the exact cause of the death of Joan Miller, 11, who died Wednesday. Donald Miller, the girl's father, said she had been suffering from colds and pneumonia since leaving Monday of her grandfather's death. The girl was extremely devoted to him, her parents said.

DIRECTIONS FOR THE HOME PEDICURE

With today's party slippers consisting merely of a sole, a slender heel and a few narrow straps, and stockings a mere nylon film, a woman's feet have come right out in public, one might say. Which is why toenails now require as much tending, grooming and tinting as the fingernails.

The time for the pedicure is directly after a warm bath when the flesh is soft and pliable. Cut the nails straight across. There may be a temptation to cut them down at the sides, but that temptation must be revised. If continued for any length of time, the cuticle at the sides will become heavy and an in-growing nail may result.

After shaping, smooth the edge of the nails with an emery board. (If there is any roughness, they tugs will be easily snagged.) Next, pass the orangewood stick under the nails.

On each nail put a little dab of cuticle cream. Friction it into the nails and the surrounding flesh. Moving the orangewood stick in little circles, detach the cuticle from the nail fabric. If you flush up any little shreds, clip them with curved, manicure scissors, points downward, so as not to cause wounds which are susceptible to infection. An infected nail is no minor affliction.

Be careful when using the stick not to press against the base of the nail where new overlapping cells are developing, or a deformed nail with unsightly corrugated ridges may result.

Calloused spots can be smoothed away by using a toilet pumice stone. If corns are present, don't try surgery but get proper shoes, as they are caused by pressure or friction.

Remove the cuticle cream with soapy water, rinse and dry. Then you are ready to apply the polish. Let the liquid drain from the brush, so you will have only a light coating. When that is dry, put on another one.

Lesson From a Butter Tart Expert

by Grace Rosse as told to Mary Moore

My eye teeth are still intact and I have the recipe for the Butter Tarts—simply for the asking.

Do you remember me mentioning the delicious tarts that were served by the Mission Circle sifter my cousin's funeral? I wrote to her daughter Daisy and she told me the name of the member who made them,—Grace Rosse. Mrs. Rosse graciously reply to my letter follows:

"Dear Mary Moore: I am rather stunned to think you asked me for the tart recipe as I have never really thought of them as anything extra. "I have given this recipe to several of my friends. They say 'Ours just aren't like yours.' They are very simple and easy to make."

GRACE ROSSE'S BUTTER TARTS

Pastry: 2 cups all-purpose flour, 1 cup shortening, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon butter. Cut with dough blender until shortening and flour are like beans about the size of a grain of rice, then add about 3 or 4 tablespoons water. Mix with a fork until flour and water combines. Empty from bowl onto a large piece of wax paper and blend with your hands until dough is well mixed and soft. Sprinkle cooking board with flour and roll dough out on this until about thickness of knife blade, making sure it is same thickness all over.

Grease tart tins well.

Filling: 1-3 cup butter (or margarine) 1 cup brown sugar (packed), 3 tablespoons milk, 3-4 cup raisins, 1 large egg, 1-2 cup chopped walnut meats, 1-2 cup fine cocoanut, 1 teaspoon vanilla, optional, 1 teaspoon jam. First put a 1-4 teaspoon of jam in the bottom of each tart. Beat egg well with a beater, add sugar and milk and continue beating until well mixed. Then add softened (not melted) butter, and mix well with a spoon. Add raisins (which by the way should have been soaked in hot water for about 2 minutes, and well drained), walnut meats, and cocoanut, and vanilla. Put a little of the tart shells on top of jam until shell is about half full, but no more or they will boil over. Have oven heated previously to 400 deg. Fahr. Put tarts in and watch when they start to boil. If it is not as if they will boil over, turn heat down to about 350, and continue to bake which usually takes about 20 minutes, or until tarts look a delicate brown on top.

I hope I have made this clear enough so you can understand it. . . Grace Rosse."

Thank you Grace Rosse. You did wonderfully. I made the tarts, but must confess I would like to have had you hovering over me as I did it. When I make pastry, I use 3 cups flour to each 1 cup shortening. I wondered if yours would be hard to handle, but she "blending with your hands until dough is mixed and soft" on floured board made it it hold together so it could be rolled thin."

The greasing of the tart tins I had never heard of before and accounts for your tarts being so smooth on the bottom. The jam under the filling and the cocoanut in the filling account for the delicious combination of flavors which I could not analyze.

Thank you for going to such pains and for your generosity. I will let you know what our readers have to say about them.

Wife Preservers

A floury cover on the pastry of a meat pie will soften and toughen it. To prevent this, make a slice large enough for the escape of steam, or any moisture.

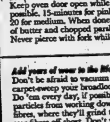
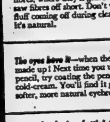
Worth Remembering

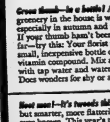
by Phyllis Campbell





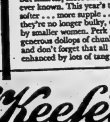
If you can cook a steak properly, you'll get every vote in the house! Buy the thickest steak you're budget will allow. Rub with black pepper (no salt—spoils flavor) and a garlic bud if you like. Broil on rack, about 2" from element.

Knock oven door open while broiling if possible, 15-minutes for pink-turn—20 for medium. When done, salt, add dab of butter and chopped parsley.



Never pierce with fork while cooking.

Add years of wear to the life of your rugs! Don't be afraid to vacuum and carpet-sweep your broadloom often. Do "em every day, if possible, to keep grit particles from working down to base of fibres, where they'll grind together and wear them off short. Don't worry about fluff coming off during cleaning—it's natural.



The eyes have it—when they're cleverly made up! Next time you use eyebrow pencil, treating the pencil-tip with cold-cream. You'll find it gives you a softer, more natural eyebrow line.

Grass stands—in a bottle! A touch of greenery in the house is wonderful, especially in autumn and winter.

If your fresh hasn't been a green so far—try this: Your florist will sell you a small, inexpensive bottle of concentrated vitamin compound. Mix a few drops with tap water and water plants as usual. Does wonders for shy or ailing greens!

Heat sense!—It's tweeds this season—but smarter, more flattering than you've ever known. This year's tweeds are softer . . more supple . . . and because they're no longer bulky, can be worn by smaller women. Perk them up with generous dollops of chunky jewellery—and don't forget that all tweeds are enhanced by ton of tangy-fresh scent.

Woman Senator Wants Women To Take Part in Political Life

By STEPHEN SCOTT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VICTORIA (CP)—Senator Nancy Hodges wants to see more women in Canadian political life.

And from those who don't make a career of it, she wants more active interest—that goes for both sexes.

Mrs. Hodges, who moved step by step from a chinwoman and spokesman for women's rights to become a member of the British Columbia legislature and finally to the Canadian Senate, has fixed ideas on the subject.

"So many women think politics are extraneous," she says.

WOMAN SENATOR

Senator Nancy Hodges, 66, who advanced from a stih woman and spokesman for women's rights th the Canadian Senate, says she wants to see more women in Canadian public life. Mrs. Hodges became a newspaper woman in 1917. She was elected to the British Columbia legislature, in 1941, and served as the first woman speaker of any B.C. assembly from 1949 until 1952. She was appointed to the Senate in 1953. (CP Photo.)

POOR PERCENTAGE

"But when we have only 35 and 40 pe: cent of the electorate voting, it shows that not enough is taking an interest in politics either."

Mrs. Hodges' public life started in 1917 when, as the wife of a Victoria Times reporter, she was asked to take temporary charge of the women's section of the newspaper.

Harry Hodges went on to become editor-in-chief before his retirement. Mrs. Hodges' "temporary" job lasted until her retirement in 1943. She wrote her 2,500th—and final—column for the paper in 1953.

She was born in England, 68 years ago of staunch Liberal stock. In 1912 she and her husband moved to Kamloops, B.C., where they operated a newspaper until moved here in 1916.

Mrs. Hodges was appointed to the Senate in 1953 to become one of five women senators. She ran unsuccessfully for office in 1937 when the Victoria Liberal Association put up her name for the legislature.

ELECTED IN 1941

In 1941 she was elected to the legislature and re-elected in 1945, 1949 and 1952. In 1953 she was defeated by Mrs. Lydia Arsens of the Social Credit party when it made its B.C. debut.

Mrs. Hodges is past president of the National Federation of Liberal Women of Canada, the Victoria Women's Canadian Club and the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club which she helped form in 1921.

She holds an honorary law degree from the University of British Columbia.

Of her 12 years in P.C. politics she says:

"If wouldn't have foregoon a day of it. If I had my life to live over again, I would do it again."

While not regretting her move to the more "deliberate" pace of the Senate, Mrs. Hodges admits she misses the "rough and tumble" of debate in the provincial House.

Highlight of her political career came when she was named first woman Speaker of the B.C. legislature. She served in that post from 1949 until 1952.

French-Canadian Children to Get Own I.Q. Tests

MONTREAL (CP)—The first intelligence tests especially for French - Canadian children are being prepared at the University of Montreal.

The tests are being drawn up in the psychology department by Monique Laurendeau, in charge of the project; Christine Germain and Antonin Boisvert.

Translations of United States and French tests, used until now, generally have been found unsatisfactory, said Miss Laurendeau.

The Meyer-old researcher said tests for children are difficult to prepare because "it's not too easy to put yourself in the mental category of a child." The group has prepared 200 different problems.

The tests will help with the study of the fundamentals of a child's thinking, and his concept of time, movement, speed, volume, quantity and space will be examined.

Queen Mother Hopes She May Return

OTTAWA (CP) — Queen Mother Elizabeth said yesterday she is leaving Canada and hopes she will be able to return.

She made the remark as she shook hands and chatted with newspaper men and their wives at Government House reception prior to her departure after a five-day visit here.

One reporter raised the hope that the Queen Mother might become governor-general of Canada, but she merely laughed and did not reply.

Some 300 persons gathered at the reception, held just before her private luncheon with Governor-General Massey.

Soap Operas Are Disliked By Farm Women

TORONTO (CP) — Ninety-five per cent of Ontario's farm women don't like soap operas.

This was disclosed Tuesday in a radio and television survey conducted by the Women's Institutes of Ontario, and reported to a provincial board meeting by Mrs. D. S. MacNaughton of Bluevale.

Soap operas were labelled too "sobby" and drawn out and emphasized features "directly opposed to what we expect in good homes and living."

Eighty-five institute branches across Ontario were questioned in the survey, representing a cross-section of rural opinion.

Television is still eyed with distrust by rural women and dismissed as "a wonderful invention for the old and shut-ins." Main criticism was that it discourages sociability and features far too much wrestling, boxing and hockey.

Pet radio hates included Sunday advertising which they want abolished. Other dislikes included give-away programs, blatant music, singing commercials, alcohol advertising and horror and crime programs.

The report approved education programs, classical and semi-classical music, plays with a moral and comedy for relaxation.

Mothers are becoming increasingly aware that children's programs on both radio and TV need closer supervision, the report said. Plays of crime, passion and murder were attacked.

Queen Mother's Visit Stirs Up London Press

LONDON, (CP) — The Queen Mother's visit to Canada and the United States is still causing editorial repercussions in Britain.

One newspaper, The Daily Mail, says: Commonwealth governments are considering a plan whereby governors-general would be "divided" among the Dominions. This follows a proposal, given much publicity here, that the Queen Mother should be appointed governor-general of Canada.

Two other papers, meanwhile, are exchanging discourteies. The left-wing Daily Mirror, welcoming the suggestion of a Canadian appointment for the Queen Mother, Tuesday said the Royal Family should make more tours instead of "twiddling their thumbs" at home.

The right-wing Daily Telegraph, shocked, replies that this is a "stupid slander of some of the hardest-working people" in the world.

DUKE'S REJOINDER

BIRMINGHAM, England, (CP) —The Duke of Edinburgh yesterday took note of a newspaper squabble over the duties of the Royal Family.

Speaking at a luncheon after a three-hour tour of a rubber factory here, he said:

"It is always a pleasure to go round a happy works, which of have found this morning . . . Of course, ladies and gentlemen, you know what I am doing—I am twiddling my thumbs."

The luncheon guests laughed and applauded what was an obvious rejoinder to an editorial Tuesday in the London Daily Mirror which said members of the Royal Family do a fine job of work when they go abroad, but asked:

"What can they do here: another? Do the dreary social Twiddle their thumbs? Visit one round?"

Priest Blames 'Group' For Burning Cross

FINCH, Ont. (CP) — Rev. M. J. O'Brien, Roman Catholic parish priest in this eastern Ontario village, yesterday blamed a group of people who "now and then get a religious urge" for placing a burning cross in front of his home.

They do those things in a certain religious group," he said, in describing the incident which occurred at midnight Monday in front of the St. Bernard's church rectory.

The cross-burning was the fourth in recent years in this district, 32 miles southeast of Ottawa.

Father O'Brien said the group he suspects has no name. It was not an organized group, Roman Catholics in the area were a minority but relations with Protestant churches were good.

We bring you—
THE 1955 BUICK
New thriller in Style-Power-Performance

A General Motors Value

A BRIGHT NEW FRESHNESS greets your eyes and tells you: Buick's done it again.

You see it in the bold distinction of that gleaming Wide-Screen Grille. You see it in the rakish sweep of the rear-end contours. You see it in the whole fore-and-aft newness of fleet-lined grace that marks Buick the beauty thrill of 1955.

New horsepower—up to 236

You learn more when you get the power story. Up to new peaks go the horsepowers of every Buick V8 engine—a walloping 188 h.p. in the low-price SPECIAL—a mighty 236 h.p. in the CENTURY, SUPER and ROADMASTER.

And it's new, more responsive, far abler power you can literally feel as you go.

But even bigger Buick news for 1955 is something more than style and power. It's what the "variable pitch propeller" now has done for Dynaflow Drive.*

Up goes performance—and gas mileage too

When you find it necessary to push the pedal to the floor board, you do more than call on the greatest high-compression V8 power in Buick history.

You do what a pilot does when he heads his plane down a runway.

You do in oil what he does in air—you cut down take-off time by using "variable pitch propellers."

In this case, the propeller blades are inside the Dynaflow unit. But they're engineered to swivel or change their "pitch" just like plane propellers—and with the same result: one pitch for getaway, another pitch for gas-saving fuel efficiency.

And what you get in the way of instantaneous safety-surge with absolute smoothness, you can only believe when you feel it.

This you have to try

Of course, we want you to come and see the trend-setting new Buicks—look into the betterments in gasoline mileage that add new thrift to these spectacular cars.

But this year, "seeing" is only the beginning. So—join the crowds viewing the new Buicks, and make a date to get behind the wheel as soon as we can have a demonstrator available. We promise you the thrill of the year.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Laurier Monument To Be Unveiled Sunday

QUEBEC (CP) — A monument to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, erected last month at a cost of $35,000, will be unveiled Sunday by Prime Minister St. Laurent, it was announced Wednesday.

The monument stands in lower-town Quebec near Quebec east riding which Laurier represented for more than 40 years in the House of Commons, 15 of them as prime minister.

The nine-foot tall bronze statue mounted on granite stone is the result of a subscription campaign earlier this year by a group of Quebec businessmen headed by Lt.-Col. Oscar Gilbert, publisher of the Quebec dailies, L'Evenement-Journal and Le Soleil.

Forestry Pilots Enjoy Respite As Winter Freeze-up Starts

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. — "Planes" are the division of air service are now returning to their winter base here."

Behind this laconic announcement of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests lies a story. Thousands of people in southern Ontario have never seen one of the department's fleet of —only 50 modern aircraft. But in the north the "Beaver" and "Otter," bright yellow aircraft, are as common as the animals after which they are named.

The air service has written a sterling chapter in the history of aviation not only in Canada but throughout the world. For this unique forest fire fighting force which began back in 1921 is one of the oldest of its kind. At that time, a trip to Moosonee, end of steel now, was for the history books. Today, a Lands and Forests pilot makes a routine trip to Moosonee or, with special approval, flies from Toronto to Kenora in a day.

There is no formal welcome at the Sault when the ships come in for winter from their summer bases ranging from within a few miles of the Arctic Circle to the southern borders of the province.

TAKEN FOR GRANTED

This northern city takes the service for granted; it grew up with Sault Ste. Marie. Many pilots and their wives and children are residents here or they know everyone including the storekeepers who are used to the hurry of shopping when the air service men come to town.

Many of the pilots and their families haven't been here since spring. They've been stationed at bases like Fort Lake or Remi at South Porcupine ,Tenagami, Otta Lake, Orient Bay, Pays Plat and a score of others. Some of the summer bases are at cities like Port Arthur-Fort William, or towns such as Cosgama or Biscotasing, where there are all modern conveniences. But the homeworkers of the air service are as much at home with the wood-burning stove as with the electric range—and some of them even prefer wood.

Air bases are no summer resorts. Breakfast usually is served at daylight — and daylight in the north may mean 4 a.m. Then the pilot and engineer turn over the plane's propeller a few times to loosen it up, the engine is started and generally the aircraft taxis up the lake to local headquarters. If there are no forest fires burning, the plane takes off anyway for reconnaissance or to deliver food to some of the 300-odd fire towers which cover the province. It may be an emergency flight—a so-called mercy flight—to one of the nearest hospitals, perhaps 300 miles away. Or there may be departmental officials to carry on survey flights, on fish or game patrols. There may even be a load of speckled trout to be delivered to an isolated lake for restocking purposes.

IRREGULAR HOURS

Not too frequently, the wife who stays-at-home may check with headquarters by telephone to see whether hubby will be home for dinner. Most of them know that it's more likely that he will see the buzzing cable, will nearly dark—and dark in the north is closer to 10 p.m. than to the city dinner hour of 6 or 7 p.m.

There has been quite a change, officials agree, in the type of pilot in the division of air service. There was a time when young fliers and pilots and families will take a brief holiday. Then they'll move into the apartments or houses which they own or rent here. The kids will go back to school and the parents will take up the daily routine.

Daddy will report to the hangar every day where his ship will be overhauled and he'll be on hand to help and watch. An aircraft today is expensive—the Division's machines cost anywhere from $50,000 to twice that amount. It's cheaper and safer, too, to keep them in top operating order. Hence the overhaul job is extensive. Some machines are 10 years old and as good as they day they were bought. They've flown 100,000 miles and are actually safer than the average car which is turned in at 20,000.

Not all the air service's machines will be hangared for the winter, because the Department operates a number of winter bases from which the planes are kept busy with fish and game patrols, survey work, carrying in tons of steel and other materials for new fire towers and other construction and generally serving efficiently as "workhorses of the air."

Gets Prison Term For Ancient Fraud

WINNIPEG. (CP) — Fred Hossell, who hitched the atom to an ancient fraud, was sentenced Wednesday to three years in the penitentiary and reminded that he could have been given a prison term 15 times as long.

Hossell pleaded guilty last week in provincial police court to 15 charges of false pret...es involving $11,900, fleecing his victims through machines which he said produced gold.

Magistrate D. G. Potter told him he could have been sentenced to three years consecutively on each of the charges, for a total of 45 years. However, he said he was taking into consideration Hossell's 65 years—"the retirement age."

exuberant pilots were known to take frozen lake trout for taxi rides. But the service today—and is the case with all major air services—is a sober, scientific, industrious and careful organization. The machines are in constant touch with their bases or headquarters by radio; some are equipped with loud-speakers over which voices can be heard for miles. The aircraft are the most modern in the world. Navigation is a quick, correct. Time was when pilots flew "by the seat of their pants." Such days aren't many of the old-timers left.

PLANES CHECK IN

Within the next two weeks all, or most of the planes will have checked in at the big hangar on the banks of the St. Mary's river and pilots and families will more into the apartments or here. The kids will go back to

Bishop Says Christianity Must Build Spiritual Strength to Combat Redism

By STEWART ANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — An episcopal bishop says Christianity must build spiritual strength to combat a deadly adversary, the religion of communism.

Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, bishop of New York, said in an address Wednesday night to members of the Church of England in Canada at a mass service of witness that the way to fight back is not by atomic bombs and armed force.

"There is only one way to fight a false religion and that is with a true one," said Bishop Donegan. "But it cannot be with the safe, complacent thing we have called Christianity for so long a time."

The service was held in connection with the 29th annual meeting of the executive council of the church's general synod. A congregation of more than 2,000, a choir of 200 and 250 lay and clerical leaders of the church took part in the impressive service in St. Paul's church, largest Anglican church in Canada.

Bishop Donegan said communism was a new kind of religion, out to create a different kind of world. It was not merely Russian nationalism on the warpath.

"It is the most powerful, most jealous, most fanatic religion in the world today. It knows no bounds of race of class or nationality."

He said building spiritual strength was acting positively against communism.

Among the clergy present were members of the house of bishops and Rt. Rev. W. F. Barfoot, archbishop of Rupert's Land and primate of All Canada.

A meeting of the house of bishops followed by a joint meeting of the executive council and the council for social service were scheduled for today.

Sessions Wednesday were devoted to religious education, the executive council meeting with the board of religious education.

A large part of discussion was centred on comic books. Censorship was not condemned. Laity and clergy called for healthy, clean and intelligent literature as effective as to replace crime and sex comics.

Rt. Rev. Kenneth Evans of Kingston, bishop of Ontario, said 90 per cent of the comic book publishers were willing to accept censorship if their own trade publication would have to be aroused to deal with the remainder.

The report of a survey made last summer on religious attitudes and habits of 200 Protestant army cadets from Prairie command at Dundurn camp in Saskatchewan, 40 miles west of Saskatoon, showed only 25 per cent were regular church attendants.

ONLY TARGET PRACTICE

TOKYO (Reuters)—United States Air Force headquarters today denied Japanese reports that airmen guarding the wreck of the B-29 shot down by Russian fighters last week fired warning shots at Japanese civilians who attempted to approach it. A spokesman said that guards fired about 50 shots at bottles and tin cans when no spectators were in the area.

Editors Divide Sharply On Three Questions

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Newspaper editors divided sharply Wednesday on the question of how much leeway should be given in interpreting news events and in using information from sources who refuse to be named.

The proposition at the first workshop of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association provoked lively discussion, with three general viewpoints being expressed.

Briefly are:

1. That good interpretative writing is nothing more than good reporting: that the newspaper owes it to readers to give them explanatory facts.

2. That The AP must be the reporter, not the source of news, and any lowering of the bars on straight reporting and interpretation would be dangerous with The AP's being open to challenge from both sides on an issue.

3. That a middle-of-the-road approach should be spurned, with each story coming from a source who declined to be named being weighed on its news merits, carefully checked and handled.

GO BEYOND FACTS

Michael J. Ogden, managing editor of the Providence Bulletin and Journal, said he took the position that reporter must go beyond the cold facts of a story, and provide the reader a descriptive setting for the news event as The AP did in coverage of the McCarthy-Army hearings.

But Richard Pourade, managing editor of the San Diego Union, said the reputation The AP has built over the years for objectivity might be reduced if it attempts to become the source of news and to interpret or slant news through interpretive writing.

Pourade said he felt the news report was straying from its old course of "honest factual presentation."

Alan J. Gould, executive editor of the Associated Press, said that in addition to its responsibility to report the news accurately and fairly, The AP felt an obligation to explain what the news meant in understandable terms.

"The days are past when superficial facts themselves can tell the news," Gould said. "We must also have the background and analysis and as much understanding of the news as can possibly be done."

OUTWITS ROBBER

TORONTO (CP)—A quick-witted girl cashier Wednesday foiled a bank robbery by putting in time until the would-be thief lost his nerve and fled. Miss Hegarty said a middle-aged man who had been drinking handed her a note demanding money. She tripped an alarm buzzer and pretended to try to make out the note. Finally the man dashed from the bank, a Royal Bank of Canada branch at the corner of Yonge and Richmond streets.

Veteran Coroner, Noted Lawyer Renew Battle

By RALEIGH ALLSBROOK

CLEVELAND (AP)—A veteran coroner and a noted lawyer, both regarded as vigorous courtroom fighters, today renewed their battle of wits at the Sheppard murder trial.

White-maned William J. Corbett, 75, chief defence counsel for Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, raked coroner Samuel R. Gerber with almost a full day of cross-examination Wednesday.

The 60-year-old coroner has been the state's most important witness to date. He delivered the surprise testimony that he had found the impression of a surgical instrument on the bloody pillow found on slain Marilyn Sheppard's bed.

Gerber has given testimony to support the state's contention that police authorities had to wait until after the July 4 slaying to get a full statement from Dr. Samuel Sheppard.

SEE BATTLE TODAY

There was every indication that Corbett would attempt to knock down both prosecution contentions during today's questioning of Gerber.

After Gerber, the state says it will put detective Robert Schottke on the stand. The Cleveland detective was one of the first police officers on the scene, and has done nothing but work on the case ever since.

The 30-year-old defendant is accused of killing his wife, Marilyn, with 7 or more blows on the head in the bedroom of the suburban home. The murder weapon has not been found.

15-Week Strike Ends

REGINA (CP) — The longest strike in the history of Saskatchewan labor, a 15-week walkout at Sicks' Regina Brewery Ltd., ended Wednesday.

Labor Minister Williams announced the settlement in a dispute between the brewery and its 130 workers, members of the Brewery and Soft Drink Workers' Union (CIO-CCL). A new contract provides a general wage increase of 10 cents an hour, effective now, and another five cents effective July 1, 1955.

MAYOR BACK IN OFFICE

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Mayor John Bell was re-elected by acclamation Wednesday to his second term. Twelve names were given at a nomination meeting for the nine seats of the aldermanic board.

Reeve Armstrong Not Satisfied With Payments

WOODBRIDGE (CP) — Reeve Fred Armstrong says the Ontario Hurricane Relief Fund is a "hoax" and that flood victims are not being compensated for one-quarter of their loss.

"Fund officials should quit the back-patting and start kicking out with some of the $5,500,000 held for weeks," he said Wednesday night. "I'm sure they (the contributors) don't want the money stuck in a vault. . . ."

Cheques to residents of this community 15 miles west of Toronto, where five persons died in the Oct. 18 floods, were getting "smaller every day," he said.

"If these ridiculous amounts continue to be offered, some people will have to sell part of what is left of their property to buy a new shirt."

Fund officials said Wednesday night donations now total $4,037,000.

James Wakelin, fund secretary, said no formal or informal criticism of compensation has been received from reeve Armstrong or anyone else.

READY TO RECONSIDER

However, the fund appraisers were willing to reconsider any claim at any time.

The fund could not be used to pay for luxury items, he said, or pay the original price of articles lost or destroyed.

Many homeless claimants could have sought more than they did, Mr. Wakelin said, but some others had asked too much.

Experienced claims adjusters had been borrowed from companies in various parts of Canada to study damages. They used the system of insurance companies and damages were paid on the basis of original cost less depreciation over a period of time.

As a result, many claims were not paid in full.

HUNTER SAFE

GRAVENHURST (CP) — A 70-year-old hunter walked out of the bush near here Wednesday after reportedly suffering no ill effects from being lost 24 hours. William Peck, who lives on his farm 20 miles north of Orillia, said he lit a fire and spent a comfortable night.

Duplessis Govt. Is Hopeful Decade of Wrangling Over

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec's Union Nationale government expressed cautious hope Wednesday that 10 years of wrangling with federal authorities over taxation rights may be nearing an end.

The new conciliatory attitude came in the speech from the throne read by Lieutenant-Governor Gaspard Fauteux to open the third session of the 24th legislature. But the speech said Quebec will insist on protecting "its rights, prerogatives and liberties" in any agreement with Ottawa.

"My government hopes that the negotiations actually in progress between the provincial authorities of Quebec and the federal authorities will be crowned with a complete success . . ." the speech said.

"My government recognizes the rights and the obligations of the federal authority; it reiterates once more that the province asks for no favors but only for the full respect of its rights, prerogatives and liberties."

Premier Duplessis' government has repeatedly refused to join in a Dominion - provincial taxation agreement entered into by all provinces.

Agreed Charge Contracts Could Destroy Industry

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Trucking Association said Wednesday extension of the agreed charge method of setting railway freight rates could destroy Canada's motor transport industry.

The statement was made by G. M. Parke, past president of the association, to a royal commission investigating agreed charge contracts between the railways and shippers. Agreed charges are special low contract rates given by the railways in return for a guaranteed percentage of a shipper's business.

Mr. Parke said destruction of the motor transport industry would not be in the best interests of the country. Truck transportation was vital in event of a railway strike and for national defence.

"The existence of adequate vehicles with trained operators and maintenance facilities will be guaranteed in Canada's national defence picture so long as the trucking industry is not threatened by the agreed charge device," he said.

The railways are asking the commission to recommend that they be given greater freedom to make agreed charge contracts to help them meet increasing truck competition. However, the trucking association wants the y repeal of legislation granting the railways the right to make such contracts with shippers.

Mr. Parke said the association opposes agreed charges because they provide that a shipper must move a substantial portion of his entire traffic by rail. This prevented trucks and other types of transportation from obtaining a share of that shipper's business.

THIEVES ACTIVE

TORONTO (CP) — The police department warned delivery companies and individuals Wednesday to be on the lookout for parcel snatchers and pickpockets in the Christmas season. They said thousands of dollars worth of merchandise is stolen each year by thieves from unattended trucks and cars.

$70,000,000 Aid Program Signed

SEOUL (AP)—The United States and South Korea Wednesday signed an agreement for a $70,000,000 aid program, ending months of bitter exchanges between the two Korean war allies.

Little South Korea bowed to U.S. demands that it try to stem inflation, balance its budget and adjust the foreign exchange rate.

In the fiscal year 1953, South Korea will get $450,000,000 in military aid and $250,000,000 in economic assistance.

Defence Treaty Signed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A mutual defence treaty linking the United States and South Korea entered into force Wednesday when Secretary Dulles and Korean Ambassador You Chan Yang exchanged documents.

The treaty is a defence pact dedicated to peace. The state department said.

Dutch Veteran No Longer Faces Prospect of Life in Wheelchair

By RAE CORELLI
Canadian Press Staff Writer

FREDERICTON (CP) — A 27-year-old Dutch army veteran no longer faces the prospect of life in a wheelchair because a 20-cent vitamin and the fact that folks figured his dream was worth salvaging.

Peter Pelkman isn't out of the woods yet. But doctors believe he may fully recover within four or five months from the crippling effects of multiple neuritis.

The disease struck swiftly last summer and Pelkman landed in a wheelchair with paralyzed arms and legs. It was a jarring twist to the plans Peter and blonde wife Bonny, 23, had dreamed in Holland three years before.

Pelkman spent 10 days in hospital and was sent home, bitter and brooding, to the faded-yellow homestead on the St. John river at Maugerville, 10 miles from here.

The house was far from paid for but it was part of the dream. So was son Rene, a two-year-old when his dad became the victim of a machinist's job in Fredericton that Pelkman had obtained when he and his wife arrived in Canada a year previously.

Shortly after came the news that Peter could not collect unemployment insurance.

Then things began to happen. The "massive doses" of vitamin B-12 that Dr. John A. Williamson and his colleagues were shooting into Pelkman began to take hold and, ever so slightly, the paralysis began to relax.

The odd neighbor offered baskets of eggs or jugs of cream. The word spread of Pelkman's predicament and Fredericton daily newspaper, the Gleaner, stepped forward to organize the "Peter Pelkman Fund."

That triggered a flow of money that ballooned to $1,463 before the embarrassed Dutchman's appeals to desist brought a halt only a month later.

Contributions flowed in from veterans' associations, -service and tea clubs, Dutch settlers, school kids, churches, the Oddfellows.

St. Paul's United church in Fredericton offered to pay for the costly medicines that Peter was taking.

Mid-September brought one of the biggest boons—the unemployment insurance commission cleared the first of Peter's benefit cheques.

The Gleaner opened savings account No. 6497 at the Royal Bank of Canada for the donations. A contribution of $15 arrived from Betty Maclaggan of Maryville, Tenn., who had read of the fund.

Wrote Pelkman toward the end: "It's getting too much. My wife and I are completely overwhelmed with the great kindness we have found in your town. . . ."

Peter is free of his wheelchair and hopes he may be able to return to his work in the spring.

100 Employees Enjoy Holiday On The Boss

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A Richmond pharmaceutical plant closed down Wednesday night as 100 employees walked off the job for an all-expense paid four-day Florida vacation. The walkout was led by E. Claiborne Robins—the boss.

It was the third such work stoppage in as many years at the Robins plant where workers have become happily accustomed to the boss's sudden urges to get away from it all.

Twice previously Robins, 44, has taken his employees to New York on expense-paid trips. A few weeks ago three coaches on a railroad streamliner were chartered and rooms reserved at a swank Miami Beach hotel.

Each of the 100 employees, both men and women, was given $100 for spending money shortly before boarding the train Wednesday night. Robins himself is footing the train and hotel bills.

Robins has a simple explanation for the junkets. "I think everybody ought to take time off and have a little fun now and then."

WORKERS SHOWN CRASHES

LONDON (Reuters)—Workers at a nearby factory which makes Comet jet airliners are shown pictures of planes crashing to emphasize the "terrible consequences" of not reporting faults found in aircraft. Harold Povey, a director of de Havilland's, makers of the Comet, told this Wednesday to the resumed court of inquiry investigating two Comet crashes earlier this year.

INDUSTRIAL ESTATE

This is an aerial view of Annacis Island, 1,260 acres of mud, meadow and woods, which lies in the middle of British Columbia's Fraser river and which is the site of a proposed $225,000,000 industrial development. The island is being developed by Grosvenor Estates of England. New Westminster, an industrial and fishing city of 30,000 lies in the background. (CP Photo).

Annacis Island Becoming First 'Industrial Estate'

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. (CP)—An island where Indian war canoes lay in ambush 150 years ago is becoming North America's first "industrial estate," with rail lines and docks to serve the trading routes of the world.

Annacis Island, 1,260 acres of sand, meadow and woods, is in the Fraser river which flows 1,000 feet wide on either side.

Grosvenor Estates of England, representing one of the world's largest fortunes, plans to spend $225,000,000 on factories to be leased to manufacturers in secondary industry.

PIONEER FUR TRADER

The island, lying 12 miles south of Vancouver, was named for a Hudson's Bay Company clerk, Francois Noel Annance. A Quebec school teacher of French and Iroquois parents, he joined the fur trade and came west with the James McMillan expedition in 1824.

Annance's island has since been streamlined to Annacis.

The low-lying island, to be connected by bridge to the mainland, is the same size as downtown Vancouver. About 12,000,000 cubic yards of silt will be pumped from the Fraser to raise the land level an average of seven feet.

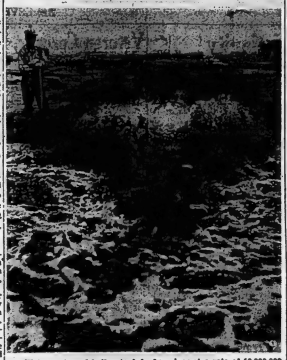
The project is being handled by John Laing and Son Ltd., British engineering firm which helped build the floating harbor used in the Normandy landings. Workmen now are building roads, tapping electricity from high-tension lines which cross the island on the way to Vancouver, and piping in fresh water.

A pilot project of 90 acres will be developed first, with standard factories and deep-sea docks, to show prospective tenants what the estate has to offer. Then a start will be made on another 96 acres.

RAIL CONNECTIONS

Five railroads will serve the island—Canadian Pacific, Canadian National, Great Northern, Southern Pacific, and Chicago, St. Paul, Milwaukee and Pacific.

Annacis island was chosen for the development after a study by advisers to the late Arthur Hugh Grosvenor, Duke of Westminster. They were impressed by the location in heavily populated southwest British Columbia and by the ice-free, fresh water harbor and easy access to United States markets.



When the duke died in 1953, his heirs decided to proceed with the project. A $225,000,000 master plan is being carried out.

Teller Refuses Money

MONTREAL (CP) — A would-be bank robber turned and fled Wednesday after a teller told him he didn't have the $4,000 to $5,000 demanded in a note.

Police said the man, about 45, well-dressed and carrying a gun in his sleeve, walked into a northend branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia and handed a note to teller Regent Mainville.

BUILDING UP ISLAND

Water and sand boil out of dredge pipes at a rate of 10,000,000 gallons a day to build up Annacis island, in the Fraser River, where a $225,000,000 "industrial estate" is to be built. The 1,260-acre island is being raised an average of seven feet. Sand is dredged from the river bottom where locks for deep-sea vessels will line the island shore. (CP Photo).

Constituents Tell Senators How to Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—By letter, telegram and postcard, United States senators are being advised how to vote on the bitterly contested issue of whether to censure Senator Joseph McCarthy.

A check with a number of senators on both sides of the controversy, as well as with others who have not announced a stand, brought reports that their mail has been running heavily against censure. There were some exceptions, however.

Some senators reported an unusuay heavy volume of mail, but others said they have been getting far less than they expected.

In the absence of McCarthy, who went to hospital Wednesday with an injured elbow, his secretary said she was not authorized to report on his mail.

RATIO DROPS

An aide of Senator Arthur Watkins (Rep. Utah), chairman of the special bipartisan committee that recommended that the Wisconsin Republican be censured, said Watkins has been receiving as many as 700 to 1,000 letters and telegrams a day since the debate began last week.

In the first week, he said, this mail was about 8 to 1 for McCarthy, but that at the start of this week the pro-McCarthy ratio had dropped to 5 to 1.

Survey Made After Newspaper Sold Reveals Many Interesting Facts

BY STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON, (AP) — When the Washington Post bought and absorbed the Washington Times Herald, 34 per cent of the capital's newspaper readers disapproved but only 1-3 of one per cent did anything about it—like writing a letter or refusing to buy.

And although 54 per cent of The Times Herald's readers mourned its passing, a public opinion survey indicates, almost the same percentage thought the combined paper, the present Washington Post and Times Herald, "better than" or "as good as" the defunct paper.

The survey of the impact on Washington of the loss of one of its four dailies—perhaps the first study of its kind—was made by the bureau of social science research of American University here.

COMICS BEST

The researchers found that what those polled liked best about The Times Herald was its comic section, and what former readers of that newspaper missed most was an advice-to-the-lovelorn column.

But the analysis will be continued for some months to see whether it is possible to measure the loss in terms of a deterioration in the "competition of ideas" or other socially significant effects.

The Post last March 17 bought The Times Herald, its frequent editorial antagonist, from Col. Robert R. McCormick, of Chicago. The survey was made in June and July; the same readers will be questioned again this winter to see how far their views have shifted, if at all.

Besides the 31 per cent who liked The Times Herald and said they would miss it, there were 11 per cent who disliked it and were "glad it is gone," 12 per cent who disliked it but regretted its death, and 46 per cent who hadn't thought about the matter or had no answer.

Among those who approved the purchase, the principal reason given was that they now get "more for the money." The second more frequent reason was the bigger comic section.

SORRY FOR STAFF

Among the reasons given for disapproving the merger was the loss of "a good paper," the built of the combined paper, and the loss of "a point or view."

A good many also disapproved because Times Herald staff members "lost their jobs." The Post, which hired 45 per cent of The Times Herald's employees and set up a placement bureau to help the rest find work, has announced that 279 of the 1,138 Times Herald workers have found new employment or were not looking for new jobs.

Anglicans Deny Discrimination Against Indians

TORONTO (CP) — It was charged Tuesday—and emphatically denied—that the Church of England in Canada discriminates against native clergy.

During a day devoted to consideration of missionary work, the meeting of the executive council of the church heard Rt. Rev. N. R. Clarke, bishop-elect of Moosonee, say the church had a great many Indian clergy of which it did not make sufficient use.

"We will save their souls but we will not live with them," he said. "It is disgraceful that this attitude exists—and it does exist."

Several bishops denied the charge. "We do live with Indians and Eskimos," said Rt. Rev. Horace Watts, bishop of Caledonia. "I have Indians on my executive council. . . . Natives are playing an important role in the mission field. We do not segregate them."

Govt. Considering OPP Pay Hike

TORONTO (CP)—Proposed pay increases being considered by the Ontario government would raise first-class constables' wages on the Ontario provincial police close to $4,000 a year, it was reported Wednesday.

Under a plan submitted by commissioner K. V. McNeil, a considerable increase would be granted first-class constables who now receive $3,300 plus a $120 cost-of-living bonus.

Exact amounts of increases were not available but the plan was reported under consideration by the attorney-general's and civil service departments.

Probationary constables now receive $2,340 plus the bonus and permanent constables $2,740. They reach the maximum of $3,300 in three years.

Faulty Cable Blamed for Death of Men

SUDBURY (CP)—A faulty cable was blamed at an inquest Tuesday for collapse of a scaffold which sent three workmen plunging to their deaths Sept. 10.

The accident happened inside the new 615-foot chimney at the International Nickel Company plant, five miles west of here.

A coroner's jury recommended that firms renting scaffold cables and jacks keep a proper record of date of purchase and age of the cable. All possible tests should be made before the equipment is rented, it said.

Little Benny's Notebook

I was starting to do my homework after dinner, and ma said, By the way, Benny, Puds called you up. He wants you to call him back, she said.

O, when did he call me? I said, and ma said, Oh, before dinner. At least it was before your dinner, because your father and I were already eating, she said.

Being a hint I was late again, and I said, We, aw heck, ma, G, why didn't you tell me?

It seems to me I just told you, ma said, and I said, But jimminy roosalem, ma it might be too late now. It might of been something important, and now it's libel to be all over, Gosh, good night ma, that's a heck-of a note, I said.

You make me feel just terrible, ma said, and pop said, I wouldn't take it too hard, my dear. The best of us are libel to lapses of memory. I remember vividly a certain occasion when a young man of our acquaintance kept an important telegram in his pocket a whole day before it occured to him to hand it over to me. In fact the incident occurred just the day before yesterday, he said.

Well yes, that reminds me, ma said. Only this morning I gave a certain young man strict instructions to mail a letter the moment he left the house on his way to school, and this afternoon low and behold, it was still in his pocket. I wouldn't be surprized if it was the same pocket and the same young man. It seems we all have our weak moments, so I suppose I'm only human after all. Thank goodness that's a relief, she said, and I said, Aw heck, I better call Puds up right away.

Which I did, but he didn't remember what he wanted, so I'll probably never find out if it was important or not.

TOUGH ONE!

We are not in favor of illegal play at any time but couldn't someone have poked a stick between the legs of flying Stu Galpin as he reared down the ice with the clock ticking off the final seconds last night up Whitby way?

And we echo a query of some of the fans, "Are we in for another season of heartbreaking one-goal defeats?"

The Memos deserved a better fate. They played brilliant hockey. Any team that roars from behind a three-goal deficit to tie the score with a few seconds remaining (thank you, Mr. Dugan) is playing a brand of hockey that is not exactly shinny.

However, you can't rob the Whitbians of the glory. Marie Gagnon, a canny pocketer, to say the least, took full advantage of the opportunity as he dipsy-doodled down ice to score with 25 seconds left in a thrilling overtime period as 500 fans, the largest of the season so far as Whitby is concerned, nearly ripped the rafters down.

Last night's game was the third defeat in a row for the Memos, all of them by one-goal margins. Tomorrow night they tangle with the Clinton Comets here and the American squad is not a pushover by any stretch of the imagination. They are big and rugged and a much-improved squad over that which the Memos defeated 4-1 earlier in the season.

Last night's result leaves three teams tied for third spot. They are the Cross, Whitby and Clinton; Friday's tilt here will break that deadlock, leaving one team or the other in sole possession of third place. Meanwhile the Kingston Good-years and the Cornwall Colts go to the mat tonight in what should be a thriller. The Colts lead the loop and at the moment are two points in front of the Goodies.

RANGER CUT-UP

Professional hockey is a serious business, but occasionally there pops us from nowhere a "comedian" who gets the boys in stitches and not unfrequently himself in trouble.

Take Eddie Dorohoy, who attended the New York Rangers training camp this autumn and who was promptly labbed "The Great Gabbo" by his mates because of his funny "cracks" and ability to talk in a manner that would do credit to the greatest "filibusterer" who ever lived.

The Rangers called Ed "The Pistol", too, because he had been at hot scorer while playing for Dallas when the Texas metropolis had a team in the United States Hockey League, and because he could rattle off funny lines so fast everybody thought he was a pistol.

Dew (Scotz) Raleigh, who is no blushing violet when it comes to puking with the pens, was green with envy, the story goes. "He sounds funnier to you fellows," he told his mates, "because you've already heard most of my gags."

Dorohoy, who is Canadiens property, came to the Rangers at the invitation of Frank Boucher, who thought a deal might be arranged for "Ed Gabbo," with approximation of the copyright owners. He had played for Victoria for four straight years and in that time he was never worse than third in the league scoring race.

The first day in the Ranger camp, Dorohoy put on a brilliant stick-handling exhibition and when the workout was over he peeled off his shirt and threw it to trainer Frank Paice.

"Here, Paicer," he cracked, "You can put this in the Hall of Fame."

When he was only 19, he jumped right out of junior hockey with the Lethbridge (Alberta) Native Sons to the Canadiens. He was just a mere squirt of 150 pounds but Coach Dick Irvin liked his style and put him on the first line with Maurice Richard and Elmer Lach.

This was a year in which the Canadiens got off on the wrong foot and Dorohoy felt they were making a goat out of him. Eddie was told he was too light to be set out to put on some weight. He brought himself up to 162 and still wasn't scoring, so Irvin said he was getting fat and soft. Dorohoy insisted the only thing soft was Irvin's head, so that got him a nice comfortable place on the end of the bench.

The Canadiens still couldn't win and finally Irvin turned on Dorohoy and blamed him for a particular night's debacle.

"What can't you put that puck in the net!" Irvin exclaimed.

Dorohoy was dumbfounded, but only for a second. "From the angle of the bench I'm sitting on," he said, "I'm lucky to touch the puck."

Two seasons ago, at the age of 22, Patrick appointed Dorohoy as coach of the club. This seemed an ill-advised move because Eddie is going to coach a team whether its official or not. Anyway, the hockey writers in the West started comparing him with some of baseball's boy managers, such as Bucky Harris and Lou Boudreau. But the comparisons ended there. For while Harris and Boudreau met with success, Dorohoy could not lift the Victoria lads out of the cellar.

"Just a bad club," Eddie said. "Only thing that improved was my misconduct record. I got a million of 'em."

Dorohoy made a battle of it this fall, trying to win a place on the Rangers, but he didn't restrict his battling to earnest bustle. He used his fists too. When the Blues played an exhibition in Victoria, Eddie was still in a Ranger uniform and just in case there were any doubts in Coach Muzz Patrick's mind that this gabby fellow couldn't fight as well as he talked Dorohoy engaged in a vicious brawl with an ex-team mate, Colin Kilburn, who outweighed him by 29 pounds. Eddie got in the first punches, knocked Kilburn down and continued to throw punches from a kneeling position.

"I just wanted to be spry," Dorohoy said. "Muzz wasn't understating me."

Etcheverry Pulls Payoff Punch In Dying Minutes of Game; Teen-Age Howell Star of Cats

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HAMILTON (CP)—The eastern Grey Cup finalist probably will be held together with adhesive tape and splints if the Big Four final series continues its rack-'em-up pattern.

A sample was given 15,000 fans at Civic Stadium Wednesday when the 9-5 favorite Montreal Alouettes went through a give-and-take bruiser with Hamilton Tiger-Cats to squeak out a 14-9 decision in the opener of their home-and-home total-point finals. It was a punishing performance by two evenly matched clubs that refused to yield under terrific wing line hammering.

The return game is scheduled for Molson Stadium at Montreal Saturday and if they play up to their Wednesday showing the winner will probably stagger into the Nov. 27 cup classic against either Edmonton Eskimos or Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, their farm club.

The old, bone-crushing two-bucks-and-a-kick was the pattern of play for three quarters of Wednesday's game and the thud of bodies smacked down on the turf probably could have been heard in Edmonton. It was clean and hard with little fancy stuff.

PAYOFF PITCH

Tiger-Cats took the lead twice but the first quarter scoring of Montreal quarterback Sam Etcheverry produced the pay-off punch in the dying minutes of the game. He pitched a 49-yarder to Chuck Hunsinger who went 10 yards for a touchdown.

Just four minutes earlier the hero's role belonged to rookie Ron Howell, 19-year-old Tiger back who put Hamilton in front 9-7 by taking a 16-yard pass from quarter Ed Songin on the Montreal 19 and dodging past Hunsinger to get over for a major.

All other points were scored by kicking as the teams put the foot into the game. Ray Poole, veteran end from New York Giants, kicked two field goals and a convert and Ted Tew Coulter booted two singles for the Als.

Merle Hapes got away a 71-yard quick kick on second down to give Hamilton a 1-0 lead in the first quarter. Gene Fraser added two singles and Tip Logan made the convert on Howell's touchdown.

It was a 7-3 game and Als in front going into the final 15 minutes and then neither club showed signs of folding. Each winglike had an electrifying moment to plunge and he had developed into a kicking duel between Coulter and Fraser, proponent AT ONE

Songin opened up first. Tiezts marched 48 yards to the Montreal four, mainly on passing, but they could get only to the one when the Hamilton quarter switched to a ground attack.

Montreal was forced to kick and again Tiezts moved downfield. Bob Flippin ran back Coulter's kick 15 yards to the Als 35. End Ray Ramsey took a 24-yard pass from Songin to put the ball on the 26 and Howell went over for his run for to put Tiezts ahead 9-7.

Time was running out when Joey Pal ran a Fraser kick to the Montreal 31. On first down, Hunsinger got behind Custis at the Hamilton 10, took Etcheverry's and was home free.

Half Dick Brown was rouged on Coulter's kick to end the scoring.

Only 193 yards were made on the ground—82 for Montreal and 99 for the defending Grey Cup champions. Montreal made 21 first downs against 18 for Tiger-Cats and Etcheverry passing picked up 214 yards on 19 completions in 40 attempts against 277 on 18 of 29 completions for songin.

Yanks, Orioles Swap Players In Big Deal

By ED WILKS

NEW YORK (AP)—In a move to revamp their pitching staff in one sweeping deal, New York Yankees picked up Bullet Bob Turley and Don Larsen, a pair of young righthanders, from Baltimore Orioles in a trade that may involve as many as 12 players, The Associated Press learned from an authoritative source.

In addition to Turley and Larsen, perhaps the most promising of the young pitchers sprinkled among the also-ran teams of the American League, the Yanks also are reported to have received shortstop Billy Hunter.

In return, the Yankees, who had made repeated inquiries about all three Orioles in the past, gave up veteran outfielder Gene Woodling and a disappointing righthanded pitcher in Harry Byrd as well as first baseman Eddie Robinson, utility infielder Willie Miranda and Jim McDonald, a 4-1 right-hander. Several minor league players also are said to be involved.

The deal—one of baseball's biggest in recent years—was expected to be confirmed today in press conferences called by the Yankees and Orioles.

Neither Turley nor Larsen had impressive seasons with Baltimore in the seventh-place Orioles. But Turley, 24, powered his fire ball for a league-leading strikeout total of 181 and had an earned-run average of 3.46 while winning 14 and losing 15.

SHUT OUT YANKS

Larsen, 26, had a miserable record, winning only three of 24 decisions, but he showed a lot of high regard by the league. One of his victories was a shutout against the second place Yanks.

The Yanks lost little in giving up Woodling, who batted with a solid .307 record that fell far below the Yanks' expectations when they picked up the 30-year-old hurler along with Robinson in an 11-player deal with Philadelphia Athletics last winter.

Woodling, a Yankee for the last six years, was hobbled by injuries last season and batted only .259—his lowest mark in nine major league seasons.

Leafs Wallop Canadiens 5-2, Nudge Habs for Top Position; Rangers, Bruins Battle to Tie

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal coach Dick Irvin fired up the wrong team.

He shouldn't have said Toronto Maple Leafs would be lucky to bring National Hockey League fans "up their hands once all night" because they don't play a wide-open game. The Leafs apparently didn't like the crack and reacted by walloping Irvin's tough Canadiens 5-2 Wednesday night.

It was the highest score against the Montrealer's this season. Irvin had before the game:

"Leafs will be happy to know their defensive hockey set a record on their last visit to Montreal. For the first time in 15 years I saw the fans walking out 10 minutes before the game was over."

There were 13,863 fans crammed in Maple Leaf Gardens Wednesday night and nobody got noticeably tired of the proceedings. The victory ran Toronto's undefeated streak to nine games and moved them to within one point of the leading Candiens.

In another game, Boston Bruins, tied for fifth place, battled to a 2-2 tie against the fourth-placed Rangers in New York.

Five players split the Toronto scoring as they took advantage of shaky goaltending by Claude Evans called up recently from Montreal Royals of the Quebec League to fill in for the injured Jacques Plante in the Montreal net.

Defencemen Tim Horton and Hugh Bolton and forwards Ted Sloan, Parker MacDonald and Rex Sheppard were the Leaf scorers. Defenceman Dollard St. Laurent and centre Kenny Mosdell netted the Montreal goals.

Canadiens were robbed on several shots by star netminder Harry Lumley.

SCHMIDT SAVES DAY

At New York, veteran Milt Schmidt scored with 50 seconds left in the game to give Bruins the tie. It also marked the big-league debut of 21-year-old Johnny Henderson of Toronto to the Boston cage.

Schmidt beat New York goaltender Gump Worsley with a short drive when the Bruins appeared headed for their ninth loss of the year. Warren Godfrey scored the other Boston goal. Danny Lewicki and Rookie Larry Popein tallied for the Rangers.

Henderson was brought up from the Bruins' Hershey farm club in the American Hockey League to replace veteran Sugar Jim Henry, who was losing some of his effectiveness because he was trying too much.

Leafs and Canadiens play a return match in Montreal tonight. In another engagement, the Bruins are at Chicago.

Whitby Edges Memos 8-7; Last-Second Goal Breaks Overtime Stalemate

Bus Gagnon Hero of Thriller After Score Tied Three Times; Three Teams Tied for Third

BY GARRY ALEXANDER

Big Bus Gagnon waltzed in on Tony Parisi's doorstep in the last minute of the overtime period last night and sent the Belleville Memos down to their third straight defeat, this one by an 8-7 score in a thrilling OHA Senior "B" encounter played in Whitby. The win lifted Whitby lifted them into a third place tie with the Memos and the Clinton Comets, each with eight points.

The ten-minute overtime session followed a hectic third period that saw no less than ten goals scored, split down the middle, Belleville was leading 4-3 at the seven minute mark in the final period of the closely fought fixture when the league's top marksman proved why he is just that. Bobby Atterly took matters in his own hands at this point and promptly set the Memos right on their heels with three goals in the same number of minutes. Bob Oapley made it four just seconds after Atterly had completed his feat and things looked hopeless for the Quinte crew.

The local's defence took on the job of getting Belleville back in the game at 17.53 with Whitby two men short when Ed Mackey scored his first goal of the year and John Walsh followed suit just a few seconds later to cut the deficit to one goal. Then at 19.39, Gagnon, who had already rammed Parisi from the nets in favor of his three goals and nine seconds later it paid off with Arnie Dugan blasting home the rebound as Mike Cates failed to clear the uphill battle.

Belleville were out front no less than four times during the game but each Memo marker was matched in the scores by periods read 1-1, 3-3 and 7-7.

Gagnon's second night of finesse in netting the winning marker as he picked up a loose puck in his own end and worked his way through the complete Belleville team, gently dyked Parisi out of his skates and flipped the "Tobber over the glass sumdrum. Whitby's biggest crowd of the season, about 500 persons showed their appreciation for tearing the arena down with cheers.

Pete Jones opened the scoring in the initial period at 15.46 to put the Memos out front but Appleby made sure the count before the period closed. Doug Day and Fred Fisher matched goals in the middle sanza while both goaltenders came up with excellent jobs in preventing the twine. A fight between Gagnon and Pete Jones stole the show between periods as Jones with Jones repairing to the dressing room for repairs but returning later. They each received a minor and a major for their battle, compliments of the officials.

Ed Duncan put Belleville ahead at 1.18 of the third period on a clean breakaway but Bicher evened the count shortly after with Erwin Duncan made it 4-3 at 6.29, thus setting the stage for Atterly.

Nineteen penalties were handed out by referees Smith and Lapp, including four majors, with Whitby drawing eleven of them. Atterly was by far the best Whitby man on the ice collecting his trio of goals and being robbed by Parisi on numerous other occasions. He also scored a goal in overtime but it was disallowed because he was in the goaltender's crease. Gagnon and Appleby picked up two goals each while Gagnon got the other and assists went to Sinden, Gagnon, Thaler and O'Connor.

The Three D line of Duncan, Day and Duncan was tops for Belleville, collecting eight points between them. Erwin Duncan had a goal and three helpers, brother Edwin one goal and two assists while Day netted a goal, fab Mackey denied the twine once and added two assists while Dugan and Wade claime one and one pair and Wade claimed one and one. Pete Jones also scored while DeGray went good both ways and netted a pair of assists.

The teams:

Belleville: goal: Parisi; defence, Macey, Goyer, Wade, Mockler; forwards, MacDonald D., Jones, DeGray, Er. Duncan, Ed. Duncan, Bethel, Day, Dugan, Hall, F. Jones.

Big Four Final Could Wind Up In Stalemate

OTTAWA (CP)—If the Big Four football final should wind up in a tie Saturday at Montreal, it could go on and on and on. Or another game could be played.

Montreal Alouettes beat the Ti-cats 14-9 Wednesday to open the two-game total-point series.

Asked what would happen in case of a tie after the second game in Montreal this weekend, Big Four secretary Wes Cutler, pulling out his rule book, explained it this way:

"If in the referee's opinion it is practicable to do so," he can order the teams to play 10 overtime minutes each way—that is, a 30-minute period with an end-change halfway through.

Should the overtime fail to decide the series, the league executive would have to decide what to do. And, Brown added:

"There would be a terrific scramble trying to decide where to play the third game."

Dutchies Whip Indians 5-2; Take Over Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen defeated Stratford Indians 5-2 Wednesday night to break their deadlock for first place with Owen Sound Mercurys in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A group.

Two screened shots by Bud Kemp, while "More" Morris and John Ashley were serving minor penalties, broke up the hard-fought game at Stratford, only one of the night in the circuit.

George Aitken of Stratford and Billy Hammond of Kitchener split a pair of goals in the first period. Hammond tallying while Ken Ingram of the Indians was penalized. Bill Flick put Stratford ahead in the Second before Kemp registered his pair.

Gerry Theberge and Jack McKenzie counted the final Dutchmen goals in the last period.

Jack Rose, a Stratford boy, making his second start in the net for the Indians, turned back 31 shots by the Dutchmen, several of them toughies.

Sault Ste. Marie Indians rallied for a 4-3 victory over Sudbury Wolves in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association senior southern group game at Sudbury, Art Shmunis, John Bailey, Pete Backus and Ken Mackenzie connected for the Indians, Andy Milne, Armand Lemieux and Nick Tomiuk tallied for Sudbury.

Friday night Owen Sound is at Chatham and Stratford meets Niagara Falls in the OHA. In the NOHA North Bay Trappers play Sudbury.

Lou Boudreau Will Manage Kansas City A's

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Lou Boudreau was signed Wednesday to a two-year contract as manager of Kansas City Athletics, marking his third stint as an American League skipper.

Boudreau was recently fired as manager of Boston Red Sox, a post he had held since 1952. He was playing manager of Cleveland Indians from 1942 through 1950.

Arnold Johnson, Chicago business man who acquired the Philadelphia Athletics last week, did not disclose Boudreau's salary, but said "Lou has always been a top-notch field manager and you can be sure he's happy with this one."

Boudreau's salary at Boston last year was $45,000 with another season to go. It's understood he'll collect approximately the same figure here.

At the same time Johnson announced that Eddie Joost, manager of Philadelphia A's last year, had been given his unconditional release.

Jimmy Carter Regains Title, KO's DeMarco in 15th Round

By BOB MYERS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The world lightweight boxing championship is back in familiar surroundings in the possession of Jimmy Carter of New York.

The 30-year-old Kingpin from Harlem regained the title Wednesday night when he battered Brooklyn's Paddy DeMarco into a mess and submission in the 15th and final round of a brutally savaged, fought battle in the vast Cow Palace.

Referee Ray Flores halted the massacre after 14 seconds had elapsed in the final round.

Paddy, 28, making the first defence of the championship he captured later last May in New York March 5, was out on his feet, his left eye swollen and all but shut and his cheek assuming a deep blue shade.

Carter is the only lightweight king to win the crown three times. He won it originally from Bob Williams in 1951, lost it to Lauro Salas in 1952, regained it six months later and then surrendered the honor to DeMarco.

DOWNS HOLDER TWICE

Twice Carter had his man on the deck—from a splitting right hook to the chin in the ninth for a four-count, and with a barrage of punches as the bell ended the 14th.

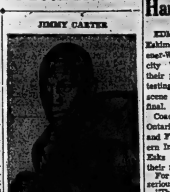
The knockdown in the ninth, the second in Paddy's career of some 85 fights, signalled the outcome. The battering in the 14th spelled out the finish and actually the technical knockout in the 15th was anti-climactic.

The fight was televised across the country and attracted an estimated 11,000 in person spectators and gate receipts of $48,674.

Carter was delighted in regaining the title. He called it the biggest thrill since he started boxing in 1946.

His manager, Willie Ketchum, said he has no immediate plans for Jimmy but he is definitely interested in a title match with California's Cisco Andrade.

BLASTS REFEREE



Bitter criticism of referee Ray Flores came from the DeMarco camp. Paddy accused Flores of "pushing" him. "He had me off balance all night," Paddy charged, referring to Flores' efforts to separate the men in the clinches.

"The referee wouldn't let me fight inside," Paddy continued. "He'll fight Carter anytime. I know I can beat him any time."

This was Paddy's first fight since Jimmy Carter said he said the layoff hurt him. He also said he favored his left shoe. In this shoe quirk which led Paddy to postpone the original date last June for the go.

Stamps Finish 'In The Black'

CALGARY (CP)—Although they claimed the highest player payroll in Canadian football and some of the smallest gate receipts, Calgary Stampeders finished the 1954 Western Interprovincial Football Union campaign in the black.

A financial statement issued at the club's annual meeting Wednesday night revealed an operating profit of $1,186.11.

The bonded indebtedness of the Stampeder club now is approximately $73,000. Against this, the trust company has on hand more than $19,000 paid to it this year to redeem part of the bonded indebtedness.

Largest item in the profit column was gate receipts which returned $280,634. Topse in expenses was $262,021 for salaries to coaches and players, travelling and subsistence.

EDGE HUNGARIANS

LONDON (AP)—Partizan, Yugoslav first-division soccer team, defeated Hounved, a highly-rated Hungarian squad, 3-2 on a rain-soaked pitch in Belgrade Wednesday, Yugoslavia's radio reported.

Eskys, Dutchies Go Through Hard Workouts

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos' farmhands from Kitchener-Waterloo moved into the big city Wednesday night even as their parent club went through a testing workout at Clarke Stadium scene of Saturday's Grey Cup semifinal.

Coaches Warvey Johnson of the Ontario Rugby Football Union club and Frank (Pop) Ivy of the Western Interprovincial Football Union Esks both had injury worries on their minds.

For Johnson, it was nothing serious.

"The only player we're worried about is Bobby Kuntz, one of our best young backs," he said in an interview after his squad's arrival here by air. "Bobby's had a little leg trouble."

"Bobby is a real good boy," Johnson added. "He's only 22 and if the Eskimos can't use him next year I'll be disappointed."

Ivy knows of Kuntz although Edmonton hasn't accorded the Dutchman. "I hear he's a very fine young halfback," the coach said.

"The Dutchmen are a much better club than when we beat them in an exhibition game at the start of the season," said Ivy. He'd also heard he'll have to keep an eye on Bob Calori. Kitchener's triple-threat quarterback.

Ivy's injury headache took on a new peak when touchdown terror Jackie Parker complained of a sore foot.

"Jackie's a bit doubtful for Saturday," said the Edmonton coach.

With halfback Ray Willsey likely back in action, only fullback Hal Patterson and Frank Anderson besides Parker are doubtful. Pantages has been hampered by leg muscle trouble all season while Anderson, one of the stars in Esks' western final triumph over Winnipeg Blue Bombers, fractured his thumb again in that game and still has a bad charley horse.

Neither team will watch the other in practice.

"Protocol," says Ivy.

Canucks Trounce Barrie Flyers After Strong Rally

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kitchener Canucks made strides towards moving out of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A cellar Wednesday night when they overcame a three-goal deficit for a 6-4 win over Barrie Flyers. The win marked Kitchener's second of the season and moved them to within one full game of the seventh-place Flyers.

Playing their second game in as many nights, the Flyers built an early 4-1 lead in the first period at Barrie, taking advantage of Canuck penalties, but wilted in the second and third when the visitors fired five unanswered goals.

Glen Cressman paced the Canucks with two goals while singles went to Jake Smoke, Stan Balinik, Pat O'Reilly, and Kelly, George Rassell, John Macdonald, Howie Glover and Bob Barlow scored for the Flyers.

It was the only game played Wednesday night in the circuit. Friday night Galt plays at Guelph, St. Catharines at Kitchener and Barrie at St. Michael's.

start at once. The $452,000 contract for the job, which will provide 2,600 more seats, was awarded to Newman Brothers Ltd., of St. Catharines.

AT THE CAPITOL — Marjorie ("Ma" Kettle) Main and Percy ("Pa" Kettle) Kilbride return to the ramshackle homestead for the newest adventures in the life of their fabulously funny family, Universal-International's production of "Ma & Pa Kettle at Home," opening tonight at the Capitol Theatre for a three-day engagement. Alice Kelley, Brett Halsey and Alan Mowbray head the feature cast. On the same program, color by Technicolor, "Great Sioux Uprising," starring Jeff Chandler.

Lionel Barrymore's Growl Used to Hide Tender Heart

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The death of rough old Lionel Barrymore has robbed Hollywood of one of its most colorful and sentimental characters.

How he would have snorted if he had been called sentimental in his lifetime! He liked to growl and grumble like the world's greatest grouch. It became an act with him.

But that exterior toughness was only to hide a soft-hearted gentleman who was sincerely interested in people. He would appear to be unconcerned with others, but occasionally he would expose his sympathetic nature. When a prominent Los Angeles boxer got in trouble on a dope rap, Lionel arranged to have a heart-to-heart talk with the lad to straighten him out.

ADDED YOUNG TALENT

During his 28 years at MGM, Barrymore was greatly interested in the younger talent on the lot and tried to help newcomers along with gruff words of advice.

Lionel seldom saw his nephew, John Barrymore Jr., during the latter's boyhood—perhaps he feared exposing his sentimentality by being around children. But he took pride in the budding career of the boy who, he noted, was born while Lionel was making "Rasputin" with his brother and sister.

Lionel's feelings went further than humans. Once he lamented to me the felling of some giant eucalyptus trees in front of Republic studios, which he said were the oldest trees in the San Fernando valley.

Lionel always fended off interviewers who questioned him about his own feelings. He tried to picture himself as a doddering relic. But he was sharp as a tack. The last time I saw him was when he was waiting for Joe DiMaggio to appear for a guest spot on Barry-

AT THE McCARTHY — Gregory Peck Portrays the dashing young Texan, Lewt McCanles, in the epic Technicolor film "Duel in the Sun", produced by David O. Selznick, and released by United International Picture, and can be seen now at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre.

"The Student Prince," as the Egyptian.

"The Egyptian," a picturization of Mika Waltari's world-famous best-selling novel, required more than two years of preparation before Zanuck was ready to undertake the colossal task of putting the story on film. Since no picture had ever before been made of the era, the documentation for the creation of the settings and 5,000,000 objects had to be researched from scratch for the 42 studio departments involved in bringing this spectacular story to the screen. Literally thousands of household utensils used by Egyptians 33 centuries ago had to be made, costumes were designed for everyone of the more than 9,000 members of one man Sinuhe, the Egyptian, whose search for truth enmeshed him in war, love affairs, world travel, murder, and eventually spiritual peace. In relating this one career, "The Egyptian" tells of Sinuhe (Edmund Purdom) and his three lovers: his wicked infatuation with Nefer, the Babylonian temptress, played by Bella Darvi; his sharp and bitter love for the Princess Baketamon, portrayed by Gene Tierney, who turns to Horemheb, Victor Mature, in revenge, and his full, rounded love with Michael Merit, played by Jean Simmons.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Proof of each bridge rule is what I propose to give you in my future series. Meantime you are reading here a comparison of what different teachers say. As when opener makes his second bid.

Culbertson predicates his second round bid on the type of hand help by opener. The nature of the second bid (he says) depends upon the bidding zone in which opener's hand may be classified.

He divides the hands of opener into four zones: (1) minimum or part score; (2) intermediate; (3) game; (4) slam. Depending on the type of response, opener shows encouragement according to zone.

Goren says practically the same thing in other ways. He puts the hand of opener into four ranges: (1) minimum; (2) good hand; (3) very good hand; 4) rock crusher.

Accordin' to Gordon the second bid by opener is predicated on the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. The opener simply tells his partner what he has in a natural manner.

He follows the order of choice in T-A-N; takeout, assist, and pounce. He raises only if he has another trick. He jumps if he has enough tricks to promise a game with what partner has shown.

To save space for the moment, assume that all methods will get to the same final contract. If so, it is only a matter of deciding which method is best for you to adopt.

South opens with a heart when he holds the hand shown here:

♠K 8 4 3
♥A Q 7 4 2

If north responds with a takeout to one spade, south's second bid is three spades; a jump that promises enough for game in spades. Culbertson would do the same thing. So would Goren.

Culbertson rules decide this by the distributional count: Goren by the point count; yours truly by the additional playing tricks. It is simply a matter of taste. Some like it sweet. Some like it sour.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart. You hold: ♠K 8 4 3 ♥A Q 7 4 2 ♦A K 4 ♣5. What do you bid?

Answer tomorrow.

NO MEMOIRS PLANNED

PARIS (Reuters)—Nurse Geneviève de Galard, the "Angel of Dien Bien Phu," left for Saigon Wednesday night to resume duties connected with repatriating soldiers wounded in the Indochina war. She said that she definitely will not write any memoirs about the fall of the French fortress where she was the only white woman, or bar later circulate in the hands of the Vietminh Communists.

PROF BIFFS PARKER

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—An airline "gag-ticker" at Wright-Patterson air force base here was clipped on the chin by a propeller Wednesday night—and lived to tell about it. Mrs. Elizabeth Fennell, 29-year-old flight line worker, lost a tooth and had 13 stitches taken in the lower part of her face. She had guided a light engineering aircraft parking position and was placing blocks in front of the wheels when she was struck.

Talks on Trade With France Are Arranged

OTTAWA (CP)—Premier Pierre Mendes-France left Ottawa Wednesday after making overtures for increased trade between France and Canada.

A joint communique on his talks with Canadian cabinet ministers, issued after his departure for Washington, said:

"In the field of Franco-Canadian trade relations the exchange of views and discussions would take place at an early date between officials of the two countries."

While Mr. Mendes-France and Prime Minister St. Laurent agreed on new trade talks, they also found they were in close harmony on international problems.

The communique said:

"They are in full agreement on the importance of NATO for the strengthening of the bonds between members of the community, and of the Western European Union as a contribution to this end."

24 ABOARD LOST PLANE

LIMA, Peru (Reuters)—A military plane with 24 persons on board has reported lost Wednesday on a flight to Lima over the Andes mountains. The plane took off from Iquitos, in Peru's Amazon wilderness region.

BUILDING STARTED

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—The first sod was turned Wednesday for a new office and laboratories of H. G. Acres and Co. Ltd., a mile west of the city. The building will cost more than $200,000.

Most popular of the new Buicks in the Century Series is the stylish Riviera, unmatched in its field for advanced design, power and performance. The Century styling for 1955 features a completely new front end with a wide-screen grille, visored headlights and a roll-edge bumper with strikingly different dual wing guards. It has four ventiports instead of three on in the past. Buick's panoramic windshield, and lower rear fenders with a swept-back tail light design. The Century, which last year was the lightest powered car for its price in the auto industry, has increased its engine output to 236 horsepower for 1955. The distinctive wheel covers and Buick's sensational new variable pitch Dynaflow transmission are optional accessories at extra cost.

PAIR ARRESTED WITHIN MINUTES AFTER ROBBERY

MARK EGENOLF

GUENTHER SCHNEID

CONSTABLE SNARR

Twenty minutes after $2,661 was stolen at gun point from a bank at Clarkson, Ont., two men were in custody of police, the money recovered and a sawed-off 30-30 rifle held as evidence. Arrested were two German immigrants, Mark Egenolf and Guenther Schneid, who were stopped in an old model car by Constable W. A. Snarr who ordered them out of the car and on to the roadway. They offered no resistance. — Central Press Canadian.

KILLED BY AUTO

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Frank Johnston, 52, of Peterborough was killed Wednesday night when struck by a car 17 miles west of here. Police said Johnston walked into the path of the car in an attempt to flag it down for a push to his own vehicle which had stalled.

TO UNDERGO TREATMENT

EDMONTON (CP)—The wife of an RCAF sergeant, Mrs. Edgar Stannard, was remanded for psychiatric treatment at Oliver mental institute when she appeared in court Wednesday, charged with the murder of her three children. The children, Eugene Wayne, 11, Ethel Leanne, 9, and Kent Douglas, 4, were found dead Monday in their father, Sgt. Edgar Stannard.

Load of Crown Exhibits Bogs Down Trial

PERTH (CP)—The trial of Toronto bond dealer W. L. McKinnon on fraud and theft charges bogged down briefly Wednesday under the load of crown exhibits.

R. S. McCurrie of Toronto, Ontario securities commission inspector, was giving technical evidence of the investigation he conducted of W. L. McKinnon and Company after the firm went into bankruptcy in 1953 when court officials got behind.

Lanark county judge F. W. Wilson, hearing the action since Mr. Kinnon elected trial by judge instead of jury, became aware that certain exhibit numbers did not jibe. He ordered a cessation while the exhibits were put in order. The trial resumed 10 minutes later.

The crown, with A. D. Klein of Toronto acting as special prosecutor, has introduced more than 50 exhibits, including several dozen letters and cheques, most of the McKinnon firm's record books, ledgers and receipt books, since the trial opened Tuesday.

Nasser Assumes Naguib's Duties

CAIRO (Reuters) — Lt.-Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser ruled Egypt today with increased power and a heavier load of responsibilities after a cabinet decision Wednesday night that he should assume all functions stripped from ex-president Mohammed Naguib last Sunday.

The premier is expected to make the enactment of Egypt's agreement with Britain on the Suez base one of his first tasks as chief of state.

Heavy Fog Blankets South England, Wales

LONDON (AP) — A heavy fog blanketed the southern half of the British Isles today, but authorities said the vapor has not yet reached the lethal mixture of the 1952 killer smog, which doctors claimed contributed to the deaths of thousands of persons.

The fog belt extended roughly north and east of a line running from the Yorkshire resort of Scarborough to Swansea in Wales. Road and rail traffic were slowed. Airplane flights in and out of the capital were cut completely. In some places, the fog reduced visibility to only five yards.

Nervous, Rundown; Food Caused Gas, Indigestion

Had Poor Appetite, Always Tired. Limbs, Back Sore, Painful. Tells How She Got First Relief by Taking Syntone.

"After the good results I got by taking Syntona Herbal Compound I will recommend this medicine to anyone suffering as I did," states Mrs. Rita Lucas, 1169 York St., London, Ontario, in a recent report.

"I felt terribly rundown and had lost considerable weight. I had a poor appetite and what food I did eat caused awful gassy pains, heartburn and indigestion. I would get weak, faint feelings and belch up hot, sour liquids. Nothing would seem to relieve the bad, heavy, bloated feeling. Constipation was a real worry to me and I often suffered from sore, painful back and limbs. I would get bad headaches all the time, frequently barvous and tired all the time.

"A friend advised me to try Syntona and since I've been taking the medicine I can say I have not felt so good in years. The stomach distress and aches and pains are cleared up. I am free of constipation, have a good appetite and enjoy my meals once again.

MRS. RITA LUCAS

Also I am free of headaches and sleep better at night, so my nerves are calmed down, so now I can do my work without getting so awfully tired as I did before."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville by Dolan The Druggist.

Battle Island Moose Retreats To Mainland

FORT WILLIAM, (CP) — The Battle Island moose has ended his reign of a lighthouse-keeper and retreated to Wilson Island, about two miles away.

The 3-year-old animal, which turned on his master and hence factor, George Brady, was herded into the lake Tuesday. It swam along in Lake Superior to a new home where it will have plenty of other moose for company.

Born on Battle Island, 10 miles off Rossport, the moose had been the pet of Mr. and Mrs. Brady and Brady's assistant, Robert Burns, since infancy. Last week the formerly docile animal went berserk and kept the three occupants of the island indoors until Brady radioed to the Ontario department of lands and forests for help.

Conservation officer James Scott went to the island Saturday and with a shot chased the moose into the thick bush.

Mr. Scott and a party returned by boat to the island Tuesday and finally caught up with the animal. They chased it into the lake and it took off for its new home on Wilson Island.

Princess Hints She Would Like To Visit Canada

LONDON (CP)—Princess Margaret dropped a hint Wednesday night that she has her eye on Canada.

The pretty princess told school teacher Mary O'Neill, 24, of Hamilton that "I seem to be the only member of my family who hasn't yet seen Canada."

She was at an informal get-together at Victoria House of Commonwealth young persons. She also told Douglas Shaw of Walkerton, how much the Queen Mother had been enjoying her Canadian stay.

Princess Margaret leaves on a tour of the West Indies Jan. 31.

Judge Suggests Size of Juries Be Reduced

LONDON (AP)—Lord Goddard, lord chief justice of England, suggests the size of juries be reduced from 12 to 7 in all court actions except murder trials. And he says verdicts should not be unanimous but by majority vote.

Lord Goddard says retrials have become more frequent recently because one "unreasonable or prejudiced juror" can cause a mistrial. Smaller juries sat in courts during the war and served without risk of real injustices, he contends.

The question of a majority vote by reduced juries also has been advanced by Sir Gerald Dodson, senior judge of Old Bailey. He told a jury which could not reach a verdict because one of its members differed from the rest:

"Perhaps one day our legislatures may see fit to decide that a majority verdict of say 10-12ths may be valid."

Many lawyers opposed the idea of majority verdicts, in murder trials.

"British justice has been built up on the belief that an accused man is always entitled to the benefit of any doubt in the minds of his fellow men," said one.

Mislaid Attire After Sun Bath On Mountainside

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) A Redondo Beach, Calif., man went for a walk in the mountains, Friday, said Riley Jason Strain, 67, told them this happened:

The warm sun on the deserted mountainside suggested a sun bath. He accordingly divested himself of his clothing. An interesting rock formation led him to walk an apparently short distance away.

Then he couldn't find the spot where he had left his attire. He searched vainly until the sun went down. The air became chilly.

Giving up the search, he walked down the mountains, approached a house and shouted for help. His wife brought police—with blankets.

Strain slept in the police station. Then he put out in borrowed clothes to look again for his clothing.

Crown Witness, Woman Beaten At Peterborough

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — A woman who said earlier she had been threatened with reprisals for testifying at a coroner's inquest in a mail theft case, was beaten Thursday night by a man and left unconscious at the back door of her home here.

Mrs. Elsie Howe, beaten by a male she described as "Mutt and Jeff characters", was admitted to hospital for severe head and body bruises.

Earlier Thursday she had given evidence in the crown's case against James Hutchison, 27, of Oshawa. During the trial before Judge John de N. Kennedy she said she had received the threat in a telephone call Tuesday.

Police Thursday started halfhour telephone checks with her home and investigated when she failed to answer one of the calls. They found her, lying in the backyard where she said she was attacked as she opened the door to let her cat in.

Mrs. Howe gave police a good description of the shorter of the pair. She said she had seen him previously, apparently following her.

Some Day Most Heart Defects Will Be Repaired Say Surgeons

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Faulty human hearts are being repaired in such amazing new ways that there is optimism that some day most heart defects can be repaired.

This was one opinion expressed today as leading surgeons summed up new and health-saving measures described in a week-long clinical session of the American College of Chest Physicians.

New techniques made it possible to fix numerous kinds of defects in hearts of babies and adults, said Dr. Harris B. Schumacker of Indianapolis.

One killer is sudden blowouts of arteries. Artery walls swell and burst like inner tubes. These are being fixed more and more, and there is no limit to the artery coming from the heart.

Pieces of arteries taken from dead persons are substituting for the diseased sections of living arteries, tubes made of rolled-up sections of nylon, dacron or other fabrics, coated with plastic chemicals, are taking the place of veins and arteries or veins.

Hearts of children born with heart defects are being opened up and laid bare—free of pulsing blood—so surgeons can see while they repair the troubles.

Three methods are being used to do this, Schumacker said.

One is by putting humans under deep chilling to reduce the heart temperature and reduce the need for oxygen-carrying blood flow to the body's tissues, including the heart. Another is use of mechanical hearts and lungs. A third is hooking the child to the veins and arteries of a parent or other volunteer, "so that his blood stream can put the child's heart on a temporary holiday for as long as one or more while the trouble is remedied."

Many still are drawbacks or defects to each method—none is yet perfected, the surgeon said, but each offers some advantages.

FIRE DESTROYS OLD LANDMARK AT JESUIT SCHOOL

85 Priests, Students Driven from Tables

GUELPH (CP)—The main building of the St. Stanislaus Jesuit Novitiate, one of this district's historic landmarks, was destroyed Thursday night in a super-hour fire which drove its students and priests from and three-story addition.

None was injured in the fire, believed started by faulty wiring in a carpenter shop in the basement of the building, but damage was estimated by school staff members in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The three-storey stone and stucco building, housing the school chapel on the second floor, a dining-hall and dorms, dormitories for priests and students), was opened in 1913 for novice training of Jesuit priests.

The novitiate, a mile north of the city limits, was started here in 1913 in what was a grand old limestone farmhouse. As space was needed, brick and three-storey additions were made until the L-shaped structure was 200 feet long in one wing and 150 feet long in the other.

The building completed in the postwar period, was not damaged in the fire, and priests and students moved into the theology classes at the school, which trains students from across Canada, are to continue on schedule.

ART WORKS LOST

Deputy fire chief William Heller of the Guelph fire department, which sent equipment to the scene, said the priests, brothers and students had saved close to 30 per cent of the furniture and clothing of the altar vessels and other sacred objects from the chapel.

But school officials counted high the loss of irreplaceable art works and stained glass windows which were brought from Germany 25 years ago for the chapel.

Fire - fighting equipment was rushed to the school, but the old building was ablaze before pumping machines could bring sufficient water from a nearby pond to control the fire.

"The community was at dinner when the fire was discovered, and all were able to escape safely since the dining area was not in the immediate vicinity of the fire's origin."

QUEMOY AGAIN SHELLED

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Chinese Communist guns again shelled Nationalist-held Quemoy island, off the China coast today, according to Nationalist military sources. Communist planes patrolled overhead along the mainland Fukien coast.

RUSSIAN SOLDIER DESERTS

BONN (Reuters)—A Soviet soldier has asked for asylum in West Germany, a West German defence spokesman announced Thursday night. The soldier, now in British hands, has been taken to Berlin for questioning.

The spokesman said the soldier arrived in the British sector of Berlin with a false pass.

Political Committee to Vote On Compromise Atoms Motion

By WILLIAM MARCOURT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The United Nations political committee was expected to vote today on a compromise resolution endorsing and advancing President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace plan.

Sponsored by seven Western powers, the revised resolution came out of attempts by the sponsors to meet amendments proposed by Russia.

As it stands now, the resolution—which would set up an international atomic energy agency and call a world conference of atomic scientists, represents virtual agreement between the West and Russia.

Only one point of difference remains.

The sponsoring powers refuse to compromise on their contention that only members of the UN and its specialized agencies be invited to the scientific conference.

Russia disagrees, and has submitted an amendment to the revised resolution that would have the UN invite also "all other states which express their desire . . . to participate in the conference."

While Russian support of the resolution—with that one exception—represents a most important forward step, many delegates are disappointed that Russia didn't cosponsor the resolution.

A compromise was reached on the other major obstacle—the relationship between the UN and the proposed international agency.

Originally Russia insisted that the agency be directly linked to the UN security council.

The sponsoring powers, wishing to avoid the risk of having the council's veto hamstring the agency, agreed that it be set up similar to the UN's specialized agencies, which are autonomous bodies.

The compromise would have the agency "enter into relationship" with the United Nations.

Duke of Edinburgh Blames Smog on Poor Use of Fuel

LONDON (AP) — The Duke of Edinburgh declared Thursday night that it's high time Britain did something about its dangerous winter smogs.

Queen Elizabeth's husband spoke at a dinner meeting of the Institute of Fuel as southern England shook off another of the unusually pressive night by the first big fog and smog pall of the autumn season.

"Inefficient use of fuel," said the duke, "causes a cause of seven of the muck which passes for fresh air in some of our cities."

"So far as I can make out in this country, it is apparently necessary if you want to draw attention to any given problem to start a row or controversy about it.

"I do not want to start a row and I do not want to get involved in an argument, but the institute might possibly take a hint."

There has been some apprehension that the current fog might develop into something like the famous London "pea-soupers" of December, 1952, blamed for thousands of deaths among sufferers from heart and respiratory ailments.

The dense fog banks that moved in from the North Sea early on Wednesday night settled low over London and other cities again Thursday.

Japan Big Plum Sought by Reds Say Writers Back from Russia

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Associated Press writers back from Russia and Japan warned today that the Kremlin is directing a propaganda campaign everywhere in the Free World designed to create turmoil and poison minds against America.

They told newspaper editors attending The Associated Press Managing Editors Association meeting here that the Soviet Union must maintain eternal vigilance to keep these campaigns from succeeding.

Robert Eunson, AP's chief reporter for Japan and Korea, said the big plum sought by the Soviet Union in the Far East is Japan and its industries, but that the Communist efforts there must maintain secrecy.

COULD TIP SCALES

Eunson said loss of Japan to the communists would be an "unparalleled tragedy" and could tip the scales of world power against us for all time.

William L. Ryan, AP's foreign news analyst who spent some time in Moscow, said the Reds try to match manoeuvrability of the Russians, but they have to be careful by exposing them to as much glare as we can bring to bear upon them.

Eunson and Ryan spoke during a foreign news session with Kent Cooper, AP executive director and commentator, appeal for more contributions by women reporters in reporting assignments.

Miss McBride, who writes a daily column for the AP, said she had been reporting since she was 17 years old, and that the active reporting career had tired of always being given the job of doing "the woman's angle."

OFTEN BETTER

"Women reporters are just as competent as men to do most stories and sometimes they can do a better job," she said.

Miss McBride also said she disliked having newspapers setting up special court cliché lists if women were something curious."

"Women these days are interested in all kinds of news. I don't think they should be separated."

SPIED FOR WEST

BERLIN (AP) — Communist courts in East Germany Thursday sentenced five alleged spies to life in prison and four others to long terms. The Communists charged they had "helped to prepare a new war" by spying on the East zone state as well as on Soviet occupation troops.

Queen's Medical Faculty Corpse Is Hung on Tree

KINGSTON (CP)—One of the corpses used for research work by the medical faculty was stolen from its usual place at Queen's University Thursday night and left hanging on a tree in the rear of a girls' residence building.

David Coulson, president of the Alma Mater Association of the society said today he is sure it was not done by a medical student. "I believe that Gen. J. Lewis Collins' remarks about plans for American training of free Indonesian officers may have led to the suggestion that French co-operation in this work was needed."

Informants said Mendes-France would be asked not to raise French objections to the American military aid equipment against native Indonesian nationalists, especially in Tunisia.

Mendes-France could be faced Thursday by an initial talk with President Eisenhower and also in the informal session with Senate leaders.

Chief Justice Of Manitoba Dies in Kenora

KENORA (CP)—E. A. McPherson, who was a clothing store clerk to chief justice of Manitoba, died in Kenora Thursday night. Kenora for a family celebration. He was 78.

Mr. McPherson's health declined in April when he suffered a stroke.

Early in his career Mr. McPherson was in law partnership with the late Premier Meighen, later prime minister of Canada, for a few years before his appointment.

In the general election of 1926 Mr. McPherson defeated his former law partner in Portage La Prairie, but that year Mr. Meighen was prime minister.

Mr. McPherson was named chief justice of the then Court of King's Bench in 1927 and was appointed appeal court chief justice in 1941. The appointment was the culmination of a long and distinguished career in law and politics.

SYNDICATE WRITER DEAD

NORWALK, Conn. (AP)—Erich Brandeis, a King Features Syndicate writer, died Thursday. The author of the syndicated column "Looking at Russia" was 58. He suffered a stroke. He wrote several books, including "Franklin D. Roosevelt, Man," which was published in 1936; short plays, and magazine pieces.

CHURCHILL GOVT. IS STRENGTHENED BY BY-ELECTION

Wins in Liverpool's West Derby District

LIVERPOOL, England (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill's Conservative party is more firmly in the governmental saddle after winning Thursday's sharply contested House of Commons by-election in Liverpool's West Derby district.

Conservative J. V. Woollam regained the seat for the Tories by defeating Labor candidate C. H. Fenton 21,158 to 18,650 in voting held in the industrial area which Sir David Maxwell Fyfe's elevation to the peerage, Churchill said, had been widely interpreted as a test of government popularity.

Labor put up a strong challenge. Sir David carried the district 27,441 to 25,734—a margin of 1,707—in the 1951 general election. The Tory margin Thursday was 2,508, although the total vote was 12,891 less.

The Conservatives thus kept intact their record of holding all seats in voting conducted to fill vacancies left by general elections.

Woollam told a big crowd of cheering supporters the result was a "sure answer" to a recent Labor claim that if the opposition could not win West Derby it could not win a general election.

Woollam, speaking with tears in his eyes, told the crowd: "It was a wonderful victory for the government and will raise our political prestige in the estimation of the country and indeed of watching nations."

Mendes-France, And Dulles Talk About Indochina

WASHINGTON (AP) — French Premier Mendes-France and State Secretary Dulles planned to talk again today the problems of divided and Communist - menaced Indochina.

The visiting premier, at the middle of a 24-hour visit to Washington, also was to make a speech to the National Press Club at 1 p.m. (1800 GMT) today. It was expected to be the Paris pact leader's chief pronouncement on his trip.

Diplomatic informants said that at a 2½-hour luncheon session which lasted most of Thursday the two statesmen failed to work out successfully to get a quick estimate of the amount of American military aid France can expect next year for its forces in the non-Communist Indochina states.

He was reported also to have told Dulles that Gen. J. Lawton Collins' remarks about plans for American training of free Indochinese soldiers appeared to imply that French co-operation in this work was needed.

Informants said Mendes-France would be asked not to raise French objections to the American military aid equipment against native Indochinese nationalists, especially in Tunisia.

Mendes-France could be faced Thursday by an initial talk with President Eisenhower and also in the informal session with Senate leaders.

Sen. McCarthy's Sore Elbow Causes Eleven-Day Recess in Censure Debate

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators marking time in an 11-day recess while Senator Joseph McCarthy is treated for an elbow injury can't help but sharply today on whether they ever will reach a showdown on censuring him.

The Senate voted 76 to 2 Thursday—with Senators Jenner (R-Ind.) and Herbert Lehman (Dem.-Lib. N.Y.) shouting "no"—to recess until Dec. 6. They had heard advice of doctors that the 45-year-old senator has a "traumatic bursitis" and to have developed in the Wisconsin senator's right elbow.

Lehman's effort to substitute Dec. 1 for Dec. 6 was beaten by the same margin.

The adjournment brought to an abrupt halt debate on a resolution to censure McCarthy for alleged contemptuous treatment of a Senate elections sub-committee and "repeated abuse" of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, a witness before McCarthy's Senate investigations sub-committee.

Senator William E. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, said after the recess he hopes and thinks the issue will be resolved" by a vote on the censure resolution before a Dec. 15 recess tournament deadline previously fixed by Congress.

But Fulbright, one of three Senators who joined in bringing the censure charges, is out of step against McCarthy, disagreed in a statement today.

"I doubt very seriously that we will ever be able to get the censure resolution to a vote," he said. "We certainly will not be able to do it before the fall congressional race. The Republican leadership is arranging the clock sessions and recesses."

Chairman Arthur Watkins (Rep., Utah) of the six-member committee which presented the censure resolution against McCarthy said he doesn't believe the recess will prevent a vote.

Edward Bennett Williams, McCarthy's counsel, reported that Knowland word that McCarthy himself wanted the debate to continue in his absence.

British Commons, German Cabinet Approve Accord

East German Premier Says Paris Pacts Will Lead to War

BONN (AP) — The West German cabinet today approved ratification of the Paris accords letting West Germany into NATO.

The cabinet's approval included the proposed Saar agreement, indicating that the strife in the Adenauer four-party coalition on this point was ended.

The cabinet's action cleared the way for ratification laws to be sent to Parliament early next month.

FORECASTS WAR

BERLIN (Reuters) — Premier Otto Grotewohl of Communist East Germany predicted today that increased tension in East London and Paris agreements to rearm a sovereign West Germany ultimately will lead to war.

He condemned the treaties in a police statement which he delivered in East Berlin when he presented his new parliamentary cabinet to the Volkskammer, lower house of the East German Parliament.

He also claimed the agreements will make the reunion of East and West Germans impossible. He will result in the creation of hostile blocs throughout Europe, "and, indubitably, war."

Grotewohl described the Saar agreement initialed in Paris last month by French Premier Pierre Mendes-France and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, as "nothing but a horse-trader's bargain between French and German chauvinists."

He said the Saar belongs to Germany, although France has "rightful economic interests" there.

Human Skeleton Is Discovered Near Sherbrooke

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP) — A human skeleton with the head about 200 feet from the torso, was found Thursday night along with bits of clothes and a bracelets behind a dance hall off a highway here police said today.

Provincial police said the grisly find was made by two brothers in the process of burning the farm of their father, Joseph Pruneau, about two miles from the Drummond highway.

Police roped off the area and late Thursday night the remains had not been removed. It could not be determined whether the bones were those of a man or a woman. The find of the skull had been moved by animals, police said.

The discovery gave rise to speculation the remains may be those of Mrs. Alexina Prunette who disappeared from her nearby Sawyerville home last July with her three-year-old son.

FET CROW CAUSES POLICE INVESTIGATION

While Peter the crow plays with his master, Stanley Womiss of Ajax, Ont., his fate lies in the hands of police officials of the town. The charge: he pecked the eyeball of six-month-old Mary Ellen McIlveen, while she lay sleeping in her carriage on the verandah of her home. Rose from Mary Ellen attracted her mother's attention, running to front door, saw crow perched on the baby's face. Although blood poured from the child's injured eyelid, doctors found the injury to be minor. Mr. Womiss who found Peter last spring in a wood near the factory where he works, said that Peter's first difficulty with the human race was result of children throwing stones at the bird a month ago. Up until that time he had played happily with them, eating food from their hands. (Central Press Canadian).

Aviation Museum to House Mementos of Development Of Air Age in This Country

OTTAWA (CP)—A museum to mark milestones in the development of Canadian aviation from its beginnings in 1909 at Baddeck, N.S. will be established at Uplands airport here.

It will be part of a new passenger terminal for transcontinental flights, an international terminal alternative to Montreal which will be completed some time next year.

Passengers waiting for flights will be able to see the engine of the Silver Dart, built by Alexander Graham Bell and flown by J. D. McCurdy of Ottawa at Baddeck.

Many of the museum exhibits already have been gathered by Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, who set up an aviation museum committee in 1936 when he was president of the National Research Council.

The Silver Dart had been dismantled years before and Gen. Naughton began collecting the personal papers and impressions of the telephone's inventor. He learned that the plane's engine had been built into a powerboat which sank in the Bras d'Or lakes of Cape Breton.

He sent a navy diver down to bring it up, and now a full-scale replica of the Silver Dart is being built around the original engine.

The aviation museum is a joint undertaking of the National Research Council and the transport department air services division. It will be in charge of a special NRC committee.

Another of its exhibits is the first working model of the variable pitch propeller, one of Canada's major contributions to aviation science.

Among the other historic items available:

The open cockpit plane in which famed bush pilot W. R. (Wop) May carried serum from Edmonton to fight an epidemic at Fort Vermilion in the Peace River district, in the dead of winter in 1928.

The fuselage of the Sopwith Dawn by First World War ace Maj. W. G. Barker when he won the Victoria Cross in combat against a squadron of German Baron Richthofen's planes.

One of the most unusual mementos is the propeller which the crashed bush pilot carved from birch, stuck together with glue brewed from animal hooves, and used to fly back to civilization.

Bank Governor Urges Canadians Finance Growth

By HAROLD MORRISON

OTTAWA (CP) — Jim Coyne would like to see Canadians undertake more and more of the work of developing their country, rather than to have it done by those of other lands.

The new governor of the Bank of Canada, in an interview, says he is a nationalist at heart, believing that, in the economic sphere, Canadians should be concerned with building a "strong Canada first."

The top banker, whose appointment along with those of three new deputy governors was announced Thursday, believes there is room for "tremendous expansion in Canadian economic life" and he would like to see more Canadians share in it.

Of such things as the merits of deficit financing and other fiscalish subjects, he had an "open mind," but the 44-year-old governor, who succeeds Graham Towers, Jr., observed that business at the moment is not going at a high speed.

SOME VARIATIONS

There are bound to be variations in economic tempo from time to time, he said, and usually these are not large enough to make a big government deficit or surplus a necessity from an economic point of view.

"But there are times, too, when we may have a very large inflationary tendency in our system or a large deflationary tendency, in such times a large surplus or deficit may be found to be a good thing."

Disappearance Of Another Field Was Just Trick

VIENNA (AP)—Dr. Elsie Field, American physician who appeared to have "vanished" in flight Thursday night, was revealed today to have remained in Zurich after tricking the press at the Swiss airport.

Crew members of a British European Airways plane, which flew from Zurich to Vienna at midnight, admitted they were parties to the deception which they said was carried out at Dr. Fields' request.

Dr. Field, sister of the two brothers, Herman and Noel Field, who had been freed from Communist jails after five years' detention, got on a BEA flight at Zurich Thursday night and flew to Zurich in company with Mrs. Katia Field, wife of Herman.

At Zurich, Dr. Field was seen by reporters to board the plane, but the door was closed as the steps pulled away. But when the plane got to Vienna she was not aboard.

NEVER LEFT

After reporters rushed away the staircase was brought back, and Dr. Field got out and climbed into a waiting BEA truck, which carried her off to an unknown destination.

In Hungary, meanwhile, reporters seeking to make contact with Noel Field and his wife, Herta, got no help from either the United States legation in Budapest or the Hungarian government.

Legation officials who saw the former U.S. state department employee and his wife at their secret hideaway in Budapest Wednesday said the couple "asked us not to give out their address." The Hungarian government said it was up to the legation to unveil the couple.

Govt. Will Take Question Directly To Supreme Court

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says a constitutional issue arising from attempts by New York Lewis' United Mine Workers Union to organize longshoremen on the Toronto waterfront will be taken directly to the Supreme Court of Canada by the federal government.

The paper says the decision was made Thursday in Ottawa by the federal cabinet.

The Globe and Mail says the federal justice department will ask the Supreme Court of Canada to decide whether the labor relations of longshoremen come under federal or provincial jurisdiction.

An action launched by the AFL Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks in the Supreme Court of Ontario is expected to be held in abeyance while the senior court rules on which government has jurisdiction under the British North America Act.

The AFL brotherhood, which has a record of more than 20 years of longshoremen employed by eastern Canada stevedoring took the case to court when the Ontario labor relations board ordered a vote among employees to decide whether they wanted to remain in the international union or switch to the UMW.

The UMW claimed it had signed up 80 of the 160 longshoremen. The AFL brotherhood claimed that the ruling, claiming the labor board had exceeded its jurisdiction by taking the case.

Bruises Covered Third of Body Of Slain Girl

CALGARY (CP)—A pathologist told the Donald Winslow Henderson murder trial Thursday that one-third of Yvonne Levesque's body was covered with bruises.

Dr. R. C. Riley, a pathologist, said shock from the bruises, a broken nose and a black eye were responsible for the girl's death. Henderson, 37-year-old native of Moose Jaw, is charged with murdering the former Edmonton girl he married.

William Lee Wallace, a Vancouver realestate salesman, is charged with the Aug. 11, 1949 murder, was expected to be called as a crown witness today, fifth day of the trial.

The charge against Wallace was dropped Dec. 8, 1949, when it was stated his confession did not stand up to investigation. Wallace now claimed the confession was forced from him by police in Detroit.

Early this morning patrol officers found the office door at Dussek Bros. on Station Street forced and the office ransacked. It was not immediately determined if anything was missing.

Safecrackers Surprised at Brighton, $10,000 in Cash, Stamps Saved

BRIGHTON (Special) — A caretaker and a thief counter surprised safecrackers here on Wednesday night just as they were about to bolt with a mail bag containing more than $10,000 in cash, postal note blanks and postage stamps.

At Cobourg today two men from Quebec, Gaston Boudbier, 26, of Rawdon, Quebec, and Maurice Gosselin, 28, of Bureau Annuna, Montreal, stand trial for burglary in connection with the sensational robbery attempt.

As caretaker Arthur Clarke and courier Goldie Langdon entered the side door of the building they saw two men running toward the rear exit. They gave chase and later Langdon said he hit one of the fleeing burglars a glancing blow with his fist. Langdon also said he saw the men split up and dash off in different directions.

WAS WORKING LATE

Postmaster Joseph Dixon left the building at 10:00 p.m. after working late. He figures his movements were being watched. The thieves first broke their way into the building as soon as word of night work and the first heard of the break-in from Langdon at 10.35 p.m.

Provincial Constable A. Hardy, off duty at the time, caught a glimpse of the first two suspects on the licence plate of a car that nearly crashed broadside into a car driven by Clarke. Constable Gagnone Clarke markers roared out of a side street and raced west along Highway No. 2, disappearing in the darkness. When he contacted headquarters by radio he was ahead and have the car stopped he learned of the break-in.

RELAYED TO PATROL

Constable Hardy's information was relayed to police patrol cars west of Colborne. The officer in the cruiser stopped a car bearing the licence plates and the two men in it were placed under arrest.

Back at the post office, police and Postmaster Dixon itemized the missing contents from the safe. The safe had been smashed and with bridge hammer. All of the cash, postal note blanks and stamps had been removed. Two suspects had been picked up. But searchers had no idea where the third member of the gang had fled. Mr. Dixon was unusually disturbed by the affair. He said he could how he sweated all night until one of the suspects, in the room-mate search from the crowd. Never a wrong move, a mistaken gesture—never a slip more than perfection from the Queen Mother."

And The Evening Standard, over the byline of Evelyn Irons, suggests that the success of the visit indicates it's about time Britain relaxed her "strait - laced, starchy ways" with royalty.

Instead of worrying about "awkward archaic rules," says Miss Irons, "Canadians and Americans ignored protocol and opened up for themselves. . . .

"The Queen Mother has done a wonderful public relations job . . . perhaps she can do one on the other side of the Atlantic, too."

The article lays bare a contrast increasingly noted here, between the gay, almost carefree comportment of some members of the Royal Family overseas and their rather more formal approach to public functions in Britain. No body wants to see centuries-old traditions lost in a frenzy of admiration for the North American way, but there is nevertheless a tendency to question whether the trappings are always necessary.

Queen Mother's Visit to Canada, U.S. Smash Hit

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — The Queen Mother's visit to Canada and the United States was a "socko" triumph, a smash hit—that's the view of the Beaverbrook newspapers in London.

Writes Eve Perrick in The Daily Express: "Never a complaint, never a blow comment, never a snide remark from the crowd. Never a wrong move, a mistaken gesture—never a slip more than perfection from the Queen Mother."

And The Evening Standard, over the byline of Evelyn Irons, suggests that the success of the visit indicates it's about time Britain relaxed her "strait - laced, starchy ways" with royalty.

Form Committee To Oppose Liquor Store

BANCROFT — The Bancroft Citizens' Committee, formed 4o rally opposition to the establishment of a liquor store in the village, held a first meeting on Tuesday night in St. Paul's United Church. A vote on the liquor store is to be held on Dec. 15.

Opening the meeting, high school principal Gordon Wragg said he found it inconceivable that anyone should want a liquor store in Bancroft. He had not had the opportunity of talking to any of the so-called "wets", but wondered what arguments they could put forward in his capacity he was particularly concerned as to what happened to our "teen-agers".

The speaker considered the problem more acute in a small town than in a city. In a large community a diversity of interests made it possible for a parent to direct his family into the right channels. In a small place fewer opportunities for healthy entertainment and recreation were available. Before coming to Bancroft Mr. Wragg had inquired whether there was a liquor outlet in the village because he didn't care to live in that kind of town. He warned his listeners against being misled by them that the campaign would require a lot of enthusiasm.

Mr. Wragg thinking thought that, in a question-of this kind, an ounce of prevention was worth a pound or cure, and advanced the view that alcohol was a factor in 85 per cent of auto accidents. He said that the supporters of a liquor store would not forward the argument that bootleggers would be put out of business and that business would be attracted to the town. If the "wets" did not like bootleggers why did they not run a campaign against them. Refuting the argument that business would be improved, Mr. Jenkins said that a large percentage of the $18,000 necessary to sustain an annual wage bill of $18,000, would assuredly be diverted from the merchants of the town.

Publicity chairman Ward Ayers announced that assistance in the preparation and distribution of literature to voters at the polls would be required.

Two films, issued by temperance organizations, were shown, almost clean. We brought out the twelve-point head."

The following day, Mr. Rawson said, his party came across the second of these forest tragedies. The doe, too, had fought a terrific fight against what must have been a large pack of the grey killers.

He was present, too, when the hound, owned by Mr. Dick Shutt of Durham, emerged from the marsh with the kitten on its back. "After that," he said, "we placed a mixture of gunpowder and red on the dogs' backs. This keeps the wolves away. They cannot stand the scent of gunpowder."

BLOOD CURDLING HOWLS

The night previous to the discovery of the remains of the buck, the forest rang with the howls of the wolf pack. Mr. Rawson adds: "It was uncanny, serie. We thought something had happened but was about to happen. It was a sort of blood-curdling howl that sent chills down your spine."

Mr. Rawson's party of twelve accounted for only three deer during the hunting session. He shot a two-year-old doe while two others of the party bagged bucks brought down bucks.

Raids of the wolf pack were responsible for the scarcity of deer, Mr. Rawson were: Mr. Shutz, Mr. Rawson continued, in the lake and this gave rise to the belief that the deer were keeping close to water in case of sudden attacks by the wolves.

Mr. Rawson and his party besides Mr. Rawson were: Mr. Schultz, Mr. Bill Rawson, Ottawa; "Pat" Clapper, famous hockey personality of Peterborough; Mr. Bazaley, Mr. Jenkins, Strathroy; Bud Davidson, hunt captain of the Wellford; George Richchins, Toronto, Cliff Broad, Bancroft and Bill Broad of Belleville.

Killer Wolves Devour Deer In Bloody Forest Battles

In a blood-soaked forest amphitheatre near the shores of Wesleinkoon Lake ravenous wolves and deer waged a terrible battle to the death.

The picked bones of a once-noble, 250-pound twelve-point buck offer startling evidence of the terrific struggle for life waged by the deer before it was overcome.

In another part of the woods, this tragedy of nature was enacted the following day. Again the bones and little else were all that remained of a handsome doe which fell prey to these killers of the woods.

Further evidence of the hunger and ferocity of these grey murderers was brought to light when hunters heard the frantic cry of a hound in distress which shrilled from a nearby marshy swamp land.

Even as the hunters watched, a small female hound, terror adding speed to its flying legs, emerged from the swamp. Twenty feet behind the dog and gaining ground with every leap, surged a huge timber wolf.

Fortunately for the hound, its master was in the vicinity and a few shots from his rifle sent the killer scampering back to the safety of the marsh.

TERRIBLE STRUGGLE

Fred Rawson of this city, was a member of a large hunting party which sought deer in the Ashby township area near Wesleinkoon Lake.

Mr. Rawson was one of a party which discovered the bloody evidence of the forest "murders". "The buck," he said, "must have waged a terrific battle for its life. An area of over fifty yards was trampled down. Blood reddened the undergrowth in the vicinity and the deer's futile struggle. The bones were picked

P. M. May Call Conference After Meeting Duplessis

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said Thursday night he has in mind calling a federal-provincial fiscal conference after he has a new meeting with Quebec Premier Maurice Duplessis on taxation arrangements.

But he told reporters after a cabinet session that he does not know when a general conference might be held and that it could not be done in time yet before he and Mr. Duplessis repeat their historic peace-making meeting of Oct. 5 at Montreal.

"We are not going to let haste take priority over the considerations that have been before us," he said as he came out of the cabinet sitting. He had no announcement to make of action in the three-hour meeting of ministers.

While generally non-committal, the prime minister expressed hope that "something worthwhile" will emerge from discussions with Quebec on the question of how there can be a permanent income tax can be related to the taxpayer's liability to the federal government.

It amounts to about 15 per cent of the federal tax, and Quebec has been hoping to have it made fully dedutible from the federal levies. The deductible limit now is five per cent. Quebec and Ottawa have been trying to find a way to work out a compromise, terms of which would be acceptable to the other provinces, which have tax-rental agreements with the central administration.

SCHOOL IS HARD WORK

High school students toting home armsful of texts and worrying, out loud, about the results of Christmas examinations personify the intellectual challenge that is always with us.

These junior-aged and junior-sized citizens are coping with senior-sized problems which senior-aged citizens fail always with us.

with senior-sized problems which senior-aged citizens fail to appreciate properly. A merciful forgetfulness soon blots from the memory of graduates the sinking sensation in-one's stomach that precedes examinations and the cold sweat that dampens the hand that reaches for a pen to start answering question one.

Going to school is hard work. For five and one-half hours a day, five days a week, students are confronted with the task of learning something new—something they know the task of learning something new—something they know nothing about. In this, their school work is their job, the nothing about. In this, their school work is their job, the same as farming is the job of another segment of the population is asked to work as hard. The grocer, the butcher, the asked to work as hard. The grocer, the butcher, the baker, the milkman and the entertainer all spend baker, the milkman and the entertainer all spend hardershes, the athlete and the entertainer all spend hardershes, the athlete and the entertainer all spend hour another subject, about which he knows little, is pre-hour another subject, about which he knows little, is presented. New information is imparted and new demands sented. New information is imparted and new demands are made on the student's ability to learn and on his are made on the student's ability to learn and on his capacity to add to his new knowledge.

The student, if properly instructed, never has an opportunity to rest on his knowledge of a subject nor to enjoy the comfortable feeling that comes from having achieved a certain state of intellectual eminence.

After years of this appalling never-ending toil a true student comes to realize how little he knows about all that is worth knowing and the humility which this realization engenders prevents him from pleading for the sympathetic understanding he really needs and deserves as his efforts increase.

A physiologist has stated that four hours of concentrated mental effort is more exhausting than eight hours of shovelling sand. Going to school is a form of work that is one of the finest forms of work. Hard work is good for people and likely one of the reasons one's school days are regarded as "the happiest days of my life" is because going to school is one of the few times in the life of the average individual ever feels that his total abilities have been tested and that by hard work he was able to pass his test.

The next time you see a student with an arm load of books you can be fairly certain, if he is working at all, that he is one of the hardest working people in the community.

PULP AND PAPER AND THE ARTIST

The Canadian Pulp and Paper Association has just published a booklet, "With Palette and Brush," which, in the words of an accompanying press release, "employs a selected cross-section of Canada's fine art to illustrate a compact story of the intimacy of pulp and paper operations and the health of the economy."

Any person interested in Canadian art will find the booklet intensely interesting. It contains no chosen examples of the work of a score of Canadian artists.

Some of the paintings, such as Henri Masson's "Logs on the Gatineau," E. J. Hughes' "Logs, Ladysmith Harbor," from Thompson's Lake Dam," Frederick Varley's "March in the Birch Woods," and F. S. Coburn's "Winter Morning in Melbourne, P.Q." are quite obviously concerned with various phases of lumbering operations.

We doubt, however, if Winston Watson would ever have expected his peaceful "Evening After Rain" to be used to illustrate a booklet on "the intimacy of pulp and paper operations and the health of the economy." Nor Lord Knight's study of "The Valley of the Devil River" by Maurice Cullen, of "Afternoon Sun, Lake Superior" by Lawren Stewart Harris, of Frederick H. Varley's "Stormy Weather, Georgian Bay" and Arthur Lismer's "September Gale." Yet, looking at the paintings, one is not left wondering why they were used. Their connection with the subject matter of the booklet is undeniable upon examination and that they can be used in this connection is perhaps one of the booklet's most convincing proofs of the manner in which our forests are part and parcel of so much that we take for granted in the Canadian scene.

THAR SHE BLOWS!

Aristotle Socrates Onnassis, the shipping magnate, has run into trouble.

His whaling fleet has been surrounded by the Peruvian navy.

Peruvian whaling interests charge that Onassis has violated international accords which permit whaling only between January 2 and May 7.

That sounds like ground for action.

But the Peruvian boot let well enough alone.

They added that the flagship of the Onassis fleet has already caught 12,000 tons of whales, "while Peruvian whalers have bagged only 121 tons."

In other words, the Peruvians argue that it is all right to fish out of season, providing you do not catch many fish.

Boy Scout Medal of Merit presented. Ten years of outstanding service to the boyhood of Belleville received unusual recognition on Friday evening at a meeting which was held in St. Thomas' Church House, by the presentation of the coveted "Medal of Merit" of the Boy Scout Association to Mr. James Varley, Bleecker Avenue. Scoutmaster of the 3rd Belleville Troop of St. George's Mission. The presentation was made by Provincial Commissioner Frank C. Irwin and Toronto, on behalf of Lord Bessborough, Chief Scout for Canada, Scoutmaster Robert Brown of the 5th Belleville Troop presided. Following the presentation, which came as a complete surprise to Mr. Varley, brief congratulatory addresses were made by Scoutmaster Brown, Group Committeeman W. S. T. Weeks of the 3rd Troop, Assistant Scoutmaster Fred Churchill of the 3rd Troop and the Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne. As a boy Mr. Varley was connected with the Scouts in England. When he came to Belleville he associated himself as Assistant Scoutmaster with the Rev. C. E. Clarke, who was then Scoutmaster of the Christ Church Troop. Later he formed the 3rd Belleville Troop at St. George's Mission (a part of Christ Church Troop) on Dundas Street, and he is still in charge of this troop. All other local Scout Troops have benefitted from his ever willing service and gladly acknowledge his leadership.

In attendance at the meeting, which took the form of a Court of Honor, were Scouts, Scouters and Committeemen of all the city Scout Troops.

Tuning Fork Storm

(By Earl Udell, senior editor, New York Herald-Tribune)

At 7.30 a.m. June 24, it didn't look as though Edward Gabriel, a roofer, would take his wife to Montreux for the day. He had no fishing as they planned. A severe summer squall whipped down from the northwest across Chicago and Lake Michigan at that time. But by 8.30 the weather cleared and the Gabriels set out.

At 9.30 a.m. the Gabriels were fishing off the Montreux breakwater, perhaps thrilling at one another of their elevent children. A few moments later an unbidden foot wall of water rose up before them and swept them into Lake Michigan. The Gabriels and the others along the lake shore were drowned.

Last week three Columbia University geologists, who had previously explained the world-wide tidal waves caused by the blowout of the volcano Krakatoa in 1883, came up with the reasons for the freak wave called by some scientists a tsunami, a word of Japanese etymology originating in the lake region of French Switzerland.

The word catches the tongue, applied to familiar freak waves which have caused havoc on the Georgian Bay, Yellowstone Lake, the Bruce Peninsula.

The principle of the tuning fork seemed to be involved. If what they suggest is "Science", Joseph Somerville, executive director Association for the Advancement of Science, is confirmed, then it will be possible to give several hours advance warning of such freak waves in the Great Lakes and also explain the coastal freak waves known as tidal bores in rivers like what happened in Lake Michigan that fateful morning: The summer sun had been unseasonally accross to the southeast of the lake at sunrise on June 24. Accompanying the squall was a band of increased air pressure—a so-called "high" behind the storm had great energy.

The energy factor of the air is not communicated to water because of the great difference in the weight of the two materials: water weighing almost 1,000 times as much as air.

This is where the tuning fork principle comes in. Take a tuning fork near a piece, certain of the vibrations of the fork, at a rate, principally those of the same musical pitch as the fork's sound set its harmonics in motion the fork can transfer its sound energy to those strings exactly as the fork strings are able to vibrate at the same frequency. The strings are said to be responsive to the fork. In a body of water waves may be generated by the air's disturbation by piling the water up, but the waves may not be of the same length as the air's speed that depends mathematically on the depth of the water. Where it is approximately 240 feet depth of lake, the wave waves will beat toward at 90 miles an hour.

If a sixty-mile-an-hour storm comes from the northwest to 240 depth, the water, like the strings in the piano, becomes responsive to the air's tuning fork), and there is a transfer of tremendous energy.

They say that the squall crossed an area about twenty miles wide and fifty miles long, twenty-five miles northeast of Chicago. That was enough fetch to get the seiche going fast in the direction of Michigan. The wave hit the eastern shore of Lake Michigan at Michigan City, Ind., and then bounced back forty miles to Chicago on the western shore. By the time it arrived, the squall had already left Chicago two hours ago. The wave, which was 20 feet high, speed, say forty miles an hour, then began to break, striking with an area of water depth capable of generating waves of forty miles an hour. But the storm was not long been enough area — or fetch — to keep the wave building. By the time the wind velocity were seventy miles an hour, again the area of water was 200 feet deep, would be insufficient to generate a big wave.

The Columbia scientists have studied this whole water-quake to be add to the energy transfer and have come up with many other instances in their discoveries. For example they have found a tuning fork effect in the thickness of an ice sheet from an airplane. This, too is achieved by matching sound waves against ice.

If a bomb is exploded in the air, the ice sheet will pick up only those sound frequencies to which it responds. Then by dropping listening instruments to the ice and recording the sound signals bearing the resonant frequency sent out by the tuning fork, they can tell what ice can tell what the ice thickness is.

When Krakatoa in the Dutch East Indies Sunda Strait exploded and the volcano blew to Norwegian bombs, an air wave was sent around the world. It was transformed into energy to waters in many ports causing the water to rise 30 feet, and 200 feet ashore that went around the globe. It was also a water-quake that caused the tidal waves.

The Columbia people were not the first to apply the theory of air-to-water coupling. Two Englishmen, Lamb and Sharpless, had high tides in the River Thames and a coastal surge of Delaware Bay. Later the Columbia group simply carried it further.

N.Y. Subway Middle Aged

(New York Herald Tribune)

Most New Yorkers will not be surprised to learn that the city subway system will mark its fiftieth birthday next March. Some are cynical among them may go so far as to assert that the very fact that they riding on are at least fifty years old; indeed, some may even profess to see a relationship between the many indications and the strange car in which Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, together with sundry bearded gentlemen, made the first run forty years ago on the 27th.

Actually, of course, not all the subway is fifty years old—it only seems that way at times. New features, new cars, even new lines have been added from time to time and have failed to alter some of the subway's original characteristics, such as speed, economy and hours. No New Yorker will admit it, of course, but many people actually look upon the subway with a certain degree of affection —as with affection, at least, as the Connecticut commuter beprows upon his train or the Jersey commuter his bus.

The subway is ever faithful, for it always shows up sometime and it takes the traveller where he wants to go; it brings him into close proximity with his fellowmen although sometimes this becomes too much of a good thing. It is a most democratic institutions, for it always has room for one more. And as it marks its fiftieth year of hauling New Yorkers to and fro by the millions, one may well reflect that such popularity must be deserved,

U.S. Business Takes to Air

(Los Angeles Times)

American business has taken to the air in unexpected volume. According to the Aircraft Industries Association, the private airfleet of business aircraft is the real of domestic air line passenger and freight carrying airplanes.

Last year, it is estimated, business planes spent a 450,000 hours in the air, and covered approximately 903,000,000 miles.

The regular air lines flew about 525,000,000 miles. Of course, the latter carried many more passengers, however, the average business plane would probably not carry more than four passengers.

Newspapers Still Lead

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

The Archbishop of York, Dr. Cyril Garbutt, believes that newspapers have a great future in creating and influencing public opinion. The press, he says, leaves a deeper impression than either radio or television.

After listening to the radio can you give an accurate and intelligible account of what you have heard only two hours previously? No, you cannot; only a few who have trained listeners can do so.

Dr. Garbutt, second ranking Anglican churchman, told the Royal Empire Society in the Press in London that: "I sometimes hear that the press no longer has the influence it once possessed. I am doubtful about that. The written word which can be read and re-read at leisure helps to form the opinion of the more intelligent citizens who will become leaders in their locality or in the nation."

And, he added: "I am afraid that only two hours' listening will leave only superficial and fleeting impressions."

Disciplinary Problem

New Gadgets For Kitchen

(Wall Street Journal)

What would you say, Mrs. Housewife, to a cleaning machine which washs, waxes and dries floor in one operation as it moves along?

Or perhaps you'd prefer an electric incinerator built into the sink, where you could dispose of paper, cans, bottles or bones without running outside to the trash can?

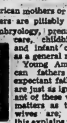
How about a heating unit built into the dining table so foods could be kept warm throughout the entire meal?

Finally, to keep track of all the extra leisure time you'll have, would you care for a complete electric clock?

Pipe dreams, you say? Nothing of the sort. Every one of the above is asserted in the cards for the foreseeable future. And these are just a few of the wondrous things the country's industrial designers are scheming.

Beyond the Limit

(Brantford Expositor)



What's the end of the limit? In between a couple of our favorite radio programs comes this gem: "Whither than whilst Cleaner than clean!" Maybe this is a study in relativity, or perhaps it's just that we don't know our philosophy or can't understand the dictionary.

Personal Health Talks

WHERE'LL YOU HAVE YOUR BABY?

Young American mothers or expectant mothers are pitiably ignorant of embryology, prenatal care, childbirth and infant care as a general rule. Young American fathers or expectant fathers are just as ignorant of these vital matters as their wives are, and this explains why they readily submit to whatever indignities the "officials" in the hospital impose upon them. Their ignorance explains also, I think, why many a young man, spared from his wife at the supreme moment of their married life, sends out a telegram announcing the birth of a child.

I tell you, folks, the notion that a young expectant mother must have an obstetrician and not just a ordinary family physician attend her is absurd. It is in line with the belief of a lot of people that seeks that they get better advice or treatment from a specialist than one can get from a general doctor who practises under his own name.

Mind, now, I'm speaking here of trick obstetricians, the kind that merely put up an imposing front in order to compete with the general practitioner for the $500 trade. There's a plenty of those in business today. Of real obstetricians, the kind to whom physicians refer patients, there are relatively few.

I advise every young man who is expecting to study with his wife everything she studies in preparation for the blessed event; to accompany her whenever she goes to know will about their visit or advice; and to remain at hand at the supreme moment. If hospital "rules" do not permit this, don't patronize the hospital. Anyway, the best and safest place to have a baby is at home, if the home is fit to live in. I doubt that any physician, specialist, nurse, or other person who purports to know will deny this over his or her signature. The newborn infant at home is in much less danger than the unhygienic little tyke who is filed away with a lot of others behind plate glass, like prize puppies less danger of being exposed to or by epidemic diarrhea.

A little book by Dr. Carl-H. Davis and Donita Ferguson answers many questions prospective parents ask. It is called "Childbirth," published by Harper, available in any bookstore.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

POWERS OF ENJOYMENT

What a great number of people have the power for enjoyment within them—but don't know it! Some one would perform a service by writing of it, and suggesting how to arouse it. There are people who wouldn't have anything to talk about if they did not tell of their troubles! How few of us have learned the road to happiness through the seeking out of new ways to personal enjoyment. How contagious happy people are, anyway. The moment you meet them you like them. In the office, or in their home, it's the same—they give you a lift. They light up even the darkest day. You can even pick them out of a crowd. You note them as they pass you upon the street and you wish you could walk beside them, just to get the spirit of inward joy!

It isn't difficult to understand how and why these people are able to get great enjoyment out of a rough cabin or tent, located in some beautiful spot, far from noises and crowds, and there to spend a few days of work of meditation and genuine fun, tramping, fishing, and just loafing!

We have no idea of the extent of our powers of enjoyment until we put them to the test. I'm still working for a most unusual man, in my early 70's. One day, he called me to his office and told me he was promoting me to the management of a certain department. He noticed that I showed little enthusiasm for more work on the job, and I never could know too much about what he had planned for me. I do soon begin on the work, and the knowledge gained has been an asset all through my business career.

People who invest themselves to the limit of power, never taking a vacation, or learning enjoyment through some form of sport or recreation, other than business, only live a fractional life, devoid of thrills and new discoveries!

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

If you listen about you, in buses and street cars, restaurants and waiting rooms and in all places where people engage in conversation, you will hear you cannot help but overhear it is bound to strike you that one of the commonest subjects of human speech is self-justification. It may only be one woman explaining just why she bought a certain article, or it may be a man rehearsing why he resigned at the office today. But self-defence, self-vindication, self-acquittal appears to be high on the list of topics of our verbal program.

If this is so among free men and women, who probably have little reason to feel guilty, what must conversation consist of in prisons and reformatories?

A man who was lately released from a penitentiary after serving a severe sentence for a rather cold-blooded embezzlement, was just visited me to discuss a book he plans to write on his prison experience.

"I haven't the faintest wish," he says, "to excuse myself for my act of crime. It was a deliberate and carefully planned act. But I do not think I was really a criminal, in the proper sense of the word. I just thought I was smarter than the men that were guarding me. I am today profoundly stupped criminal if I desire to live by crime. In prison, there is little to talk about, among your fellow inmates, except your crime theirs. The desire to justify yourself is very natural and the easiest form that justification takes is in explaining where and how you slipped when you were caught. And as the months go by, and as you compare notes with experiences and justifications written or thirty or fifty different cells, you learn more than a conginal soul, you learn there is to be learned about crime, from how to open a window, how to slip a lock, how to dow, how to slip a lock, how to commit fifty forms of fraud, how to hit a man most effectively, how to break and rob a bank. When I went to prison, I didn't know even one way to make a dishonest living. The one I tried, failed. But now I am secure of success of breaking the law, with all the hazards most carefully detailed by those who have learned the hazards.

"I can think of no alternative to prisons. But I know there are graduate schools of crime.

Churchill First British P. M. To Remain in Office When 80

By FRASER WIGHTON

LONDON (Reuters)—When Sir Winston Churchill celebrates his 80th birthday Nov. 30, he will be the first British prime minister of the 20th century to reach octogenarian status still in office.

The last man to do so was William Ewart Gladstone, the liberal statesman, who was 84 when he finally resigned the post in 1894.

Although Churchill evidently intends to continue at the head of affairs for the time being, few of his friends think he aims at beating Gladstone's achievement.

With the unpredictable Churchill, however, no one can be sure.

He has lost little of the implishness and sparkle which have all along kept him in tune with the moods and movement of a constantly changing world.

REVELS IN CHALLENGES

He still reacts to great situations with all the eagerness of a veteran warhorse sniffing battle. Responsibility, power, the challenges alike of big problems or his political adversaries—all appear to be meat and drink to him.

He revels in the pageantry and panopoly of state occasions, in the reassuring atmosphere of the House of Commons. And it is certain that he feels, despite his age, that he is still helping to shape the course of history.

Health considerations, or possibly political events, may force him to retire soon. But no one who has studied him at close quarters can believe that he wants to quit the public scene.

The thing which sometimes strikes the onlooker in parliament is how absurdly little Churchill has changed in essentials since the days before the First World War when he was a member of Parliament for this correspondent's home town of Dundee, and was already a successful minister.

Time has dealt gently with the cherubic countenance, the dimples and the baby-pink complexion, as well as with the quick wit which is his former Scottish constituents remember so well.

The Scots will never forget his rueful comment when, in 1922, he lost the Dundee seat, not to a Conservative or a Socialist, but to a thorough-going prohibitionist.

Churchill had had an operation just before the election campaign.

He lamented: "I am without an office, without a seat, without a party and without an appendix."

GIVES PUBLIC A SHOW

The eternal boy in Churchill long has found one of its expressions in a passion for funny hats. He has quickened down on hats nowadays, although he is prone from time to time to emerge in an ugly type of headgear which is a cross between a derby and a top hat, and makes him look like the stern father in a Victorian play.

His current preoccupation is bearing aids. He caused a stir when he first entered the House of Commons with a battery-operated aid with a tiny ear attachment and a cord.

Soon he switched over to a particularly up-to-date type of self-contained ear-trumpet, glistening with chromium, which he seemed to treat more as a conductor's baton than as a deafness aid. Often, he would toy with it while listening to questions, and clap it firmly to his head while delivering the answers.

Four Children Burned to Death Near Sorel, Que.

SOREL, Que. (CP)—Four children perished in their cribs Thursday when a 30-minute fire levelled a one-storey, wooden house in the slum section of the St. Lawrence river shipbuilding centre.

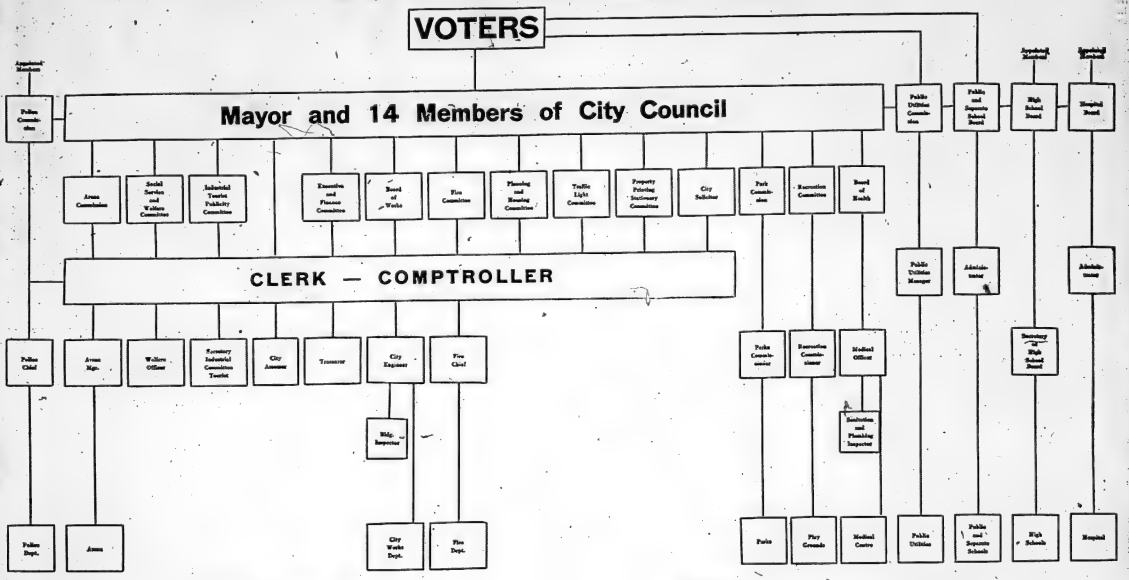
The children were identified as Pierre Larocc, 4, his sister, Suzanne, 2, and brothers, Gerard, 2, and Alain, 1.

Police said the tots were alone when the blaze broke out just before noon, apparently the result of an overheated stove. The house went up like a match and flames hampered rescue attempts, police added.

The father, truck driver Leo Larocc, was at work at the time while the mother was shopping. A fifth child, Alcide, 6, was at school.

The mother, who rushed to the scene when she learned what happened, tried vainly to enter the house as police restrained her. She collapsed a short time later.

SIRENS FOR HURRICANES



PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Civil defence organizations in Rhode Island cities and towns have received permission to use air raid sirens for hurricane warnings. The recommended signal will be the white, or "all clear" signal, which is set up for use after an enemy attack. It consists of three one-minute blasts on sirens or air horns, each blast separated by two minutes of silence.

Weddings

BOTH—LLOYD

White chrysanthemums adorned the altar, and tall standards of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums, mingled with bronze and yellow baby 'mums lined the chancel rail of St. Bartholomew's Anglican Church, Bannockburn, Ontario, on Saturday, November 6, at 2.30 p.m. when the Reverend W. Glover, pastor of the church, united in marriage Gwendolyn Mary Lloyd, of Bannockburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Lloyd, to George Watson Both, of Northbrook, son of Mrs. S. Both, and the late Mr. Both.

Mrs. Harold Lloyd, church organist, provided the wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Raymond Smith, who sang before the ceremony, "Because" and during the signing of the register, "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her bridal gown of white net over taffeta, fashioned with molded bodice of French lace, with matching jacket, having sheath-like sleeves. The full floor-length skirt was accented by lace inserts. Her finger-tip veil of tulle illusion was attached to a matching lace cap and she carried a bouquet of Calla lilies.

Mrs. Gordon Lloyd, of Bannockburn, as matron of honor, was gowned in gold net over taffeta, with matching net stole, gloves, and pleated cap. Miss Thomas Rose, of Madoc, attired in full-length moss green taffeta, with matching taffeta gloves, net stole and pleated cap, and Mrs. Lorne Lloyd, of Northbrook, in bronze taffeta with matching gloves, stole and pleated cap, were bridesmaids. All carried similar bouquets of bronze and yellow 'mums.

Mr. Lorne Lloyd, of Northbrook, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Gordon Lloyd and Mr. Kenneth Jackson were ushers.

The reception was held at the bride's home, which was appropriately decorated with autumn-toned chrysanthemums for the occasion. The bride's mother received, wearing purple velvet with taupe accessories, and corsage of matching roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was attired in blue crepe and lace with matching accessories, and corsage of white 'mums.

For travelling by motor to the New England States, and Quebec, the bride chose a tan suit with green accessories and corsage of orchids. Mr. and Mrs. Both are residing in Northbrook.

Guests were present from Toronto; Kingston; Harborough; Frankford; Northbrook; London; Napanee; Marmora, and Madoc.

The evening was spent in contests, games and a social get-together, after which a buffet luncheon was served consisting of tea, sandwiches, cookies, ice cream and a tasty birthday cake made especially for the event.

Many were the good wishes voiced for Miss Bell's health and happiness in the years ahead and the many more birthdays to come.

'Leadership Training' Topic at BPW Meeting

The regular dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club met Monday evening at the YMCA. President Dorothy Brown, welcomed representatives from the Napanee, Tweed and Picton Clubs as well as several local guests.

A spirit of good fellowship prevailed throughout the evening and all were unanimous that the stimulus of area group meetings were important and should be held more often.

Mrs. Helen Buchanan gave a brief resume of a committee's recent attendance at council and urged all members to become "civic-minded", particularly with elections to be held so soon in the city.

Miss Helen Cook, accompanied by Mrs. J. G. Demorse, sang two solos, her lovely voice doing full justice to her well chosen selections.

A vote of thanks was extended on behalf of her appreciative audience.

GUEST SPEAKER

Following the dinner, president Dorothy Brown called upon Mrs. Eva Doolittle to introduce the guest speaker, Miss Joyce McFarland, of Napanee. As recently appointed Regional Advisor of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs for District No. 2, Miss McFarland brings a wealth of executive knowledge to her new position. Her subject was "Leadership Training", a fascinating topic to all her listeners, as it touched on each avenue of Club work. She stressed that of-

Packages Are 'Silent Salesmen' Of Many New Kitchen Products

By PAULINE KENNEDY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—A packaging company executive from London, Ont., says labor-saving ideas in various kitchen products have become big business. His company produces packages for everything from "egg to cake-mixes."

"These days women just don't want to be bothered mixing up a cake or a batch of cookies, so prepared mixes are a great seller which makes us very happy," he said at the annual packaging exposition here.

The executive also revealed some secrets of package advertising, now the "silent salesman" of the industry.

SERVES TWO PURPOSES

One trick is to design packages or containers for two-fold use. Thus jam jars become measuring cups, drinking glasses or cookie jars.

Another important part of selling strategy he said is to illustrate, or reduce to the most simple terms, directions on a can or carton. Illustrations like those down the side of new spout-type milk carton appeal more to housewives because they show by picture series how the carton opens.

Women have more outside interests and just don't have the time for homemaking the way grandma knew it, the executive said.

METAL VS PLASTIC

Another interesting sidelight at the packaging show was the public war waged between metal container manufacturers and makers of plastic containers.

More and more, women's cosmetics, glue, shoe cream, shaving cream and food products are being put up in plastic containers, which are easily squeezed and dirt proof.

Metal container men said plastics wouldn't interfere with their field and would develop an entirely new packaging area of their own. The plastics men had a "wait and see" attitude.

Holy Rosary Sub Division Plans Activities

The November meeting of Holy Rosary sub division was held on Tuesday evening with 16 members present. Father Michael opened the meeting.

The various conveners gave their monthly reports which proved satisfactory.

Mrs. Brown was appointed radio film and television convener for the sub division.

A motion was made by Mrs. Haley and seconded by Mrs. Smith that a donation be sent to Our Ladys Misstions.

No card parties will be held until after the Christmas season.

Plans were also made for lunch to be given Catholic patients in the hospital during the Christmas season, and Christmas baskets will be packed for needy families.

Final preparations for the Christmas Festival and bazaar to be held next week were made and each member was given a job.

The league this year is in charge of the subscriptions to the "Catholic Register" and the councillors are in charge of this project.

Mrs. Brown won the raffle. Father Michael closed the meeting. Refreshments were served by Mesdames Thompson, Huffman and Bradden.

'Mental Health' Topic At Chatterton W. I.

The November meeting of Chatterton W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. H. Bleecker, with Mrs. Ben Bleecker as convener. Subject chosen was "Mental Health."

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Floyd MacInnis, in the usual manner.

As the W.I. had lost one of its older members in the person of Mrs. Cecil Rose, who was a valued secretary treasurer for a number of years, tributs was paid her by three minutes' silence and a poem was read by the president, "She is Just Away."

Mrs. Lorne Reid was appointed to look after replenishing of First Aid kit for the school. A flood relief donation of $5 was received.

Mrs. Douglas Frost rendered a selection on the guitar and Mrs. Leonard Frost gave "Current Events."

The Institute was delighted to have Mrs. Garbutt and Mrs. Montgomery, of Quinte Branch, to entertain with their humorous skits. Ceylon was the country for November and Mrs. Bleecker gave a two minute talk on it.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. Chester Sills from West Huntingdon, was guest speaker, and her subject was "Mental Health." Her paper was most interesting as well as instructive.

Mrs. Bleecker gave a short reading on "Peace."

Armistice Day was also remembered by Mrs. Mills. "In Flander's Field" was given. Mrs. Sills told about the wounded soldier-author who composed it as he was being carried off the field on a stretcher.

The collection was "special" for the "Mentally Ill." After the meeting closed refreshments were served.

New Pledges Are Welcomed By Sorority

On Monday evening members of Alpha Lambda Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held their initiation dinner at the Royal Hotel in Picton in honor of five new pledges who were welcomed into Sorority.

President Joyce Bedgley presided throughout the evening and proposed the toast to the Queen. Following the Sorority grace by Sophie Davidson, everyone enjoyed a bounteous smorgasbord dinner.

After a few brief remarks by the president, Gwyneth Hiscott proposed a toast to the director, Kaye McCutcheon, and to the sponsor, Ann Ryan, which was replied to by Kaye McCutcheon. Eileen Smith proposed a toast to the pledges, which was responded to by Gerry Read.

Jean Kuntze introduced the guest speaker for the evening, Mrs. W. H. Pickle, who spoke on the work of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary and the new building program of the Belleville General Hospital.

Helen Joslin tendered appreciation to Mrs. Finkle for her most interesting and informative address.

An impressive ritual followed in which pledges Gerry Read, Sophie Davidson, Sharon Cook, Gracie Hanley were inducted into Beta Sigma Phi. Pledge Jean Smith was unable to be present. President Joyce Bedgley was assisted in this part of the program by Joanne Wood and Marian Wilson.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECHMAN

WHO IS INCLUDED IN "AND FAMILY"?

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

We have just received an invitation to a church wedding and reception. It is addressed to "Mr. Mrs. John Smith and Family," and we are not at all sure just who is supposed to be included in this invitation. Living at home are Jack, a two unmarried children, both in their early twenties, and I think this invitation includes only them. But my husband maintains that it also includes our two married children who live in the same town and quite near us. Which of us is right about this? — Mother

That so-often-problematic phrase "And Family" is supposed to include every member of the family living under the same roof, and is not supposed to include those member of the family living at another address. (Actually a wedding invitation should never be addressed with the taboo phrase "And Family" . . . because, as in your case, there is always the problem of who is included) If your two married children have not received their own invitation, you they should find out from the bride-to-be or her mother who is included in the invitation you received.

MAY NEW HOUSE OWNERS GIVE THE HOUSEWARMING?

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

My question is now about housewarming parties.

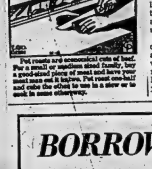
(1) When is the proper time to give a housewarming party?

(2) By whom should it be given? Is it ever proper for the owners of the house to give their own housewarming?

(3) What type of affair does this occasion call for? — O.B.

(1) When the house (or apartment) is in readiness, or as much in readiness as possible . . . when closeth in such perfect order that they may be given to lookers by the guests . . . it's a delightful time to welcome relatives and friends to the new home.

(2) Not only is it proper, but it is necessary, for the hostess and host of the new home to give the housewarming. This is the sensible and practical procedure, too, for the hosts know when they would prefer to give the party, how they want to plan party, and whom they wish to invite.



(3) The usual type of housewarming, generally considered the most convenient, and certainly with the minimum cost for the maximum number of guests, is the afternoon party, with the simplest of refreshments appropriate. The hours usually named are 4-6, or just as correct, 3-to-6, or 4-to-6, or 5-to-7. Or it may be a buffet supper, or even, as is occasionally done, a Sunday buffet late-breakfast, say beginning at 11:30.

THE 5-YEAR-OLD TO WEAR SAILOR SUIT?

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

Our little son, age 5, recently received a very good-looking wool sailor suit, as a present for his birthday. My sister is to be married in January, and I think this would be quite attire for such a youngster of his age to wear to the morning dress and to the late-afternoon dinner. On the other hand, my husband feels that he should wear a suit, a dark suit, and so forth. Do you think this expense is really necessary. — M.D.

I think the bride would agree that your little 5-year-old son would be appropriately dressed in his good-looking sailor suit for her morning wedding and late-afternoon dinner. And since apparently the expenses of buying him another suit might be a problem to you, I suggest that before you decide to do this, you ask your sister, the bride-to-be, for her advice about this.

Readers' Friday Column

By Mary Moore

QUESTION:

. . . I have been a constant reader since your excellent column first appeared . . . this new fangled mixmaster cherry cake was passed on to me by a friend and here has always cracked open and bumped up and fruit falls to bottom as does mine . . . I have added more flour and cut cherries in pieces and accomplished nothing . . . could you advise me how to overcome this? . . . do you have a recipe for Shoofly Pie? . . . my children are intrigued with the name.—Anne T. C.

ANSWER:

A batter calling for 1 cup of liquid and only 2 eggs would never be firm enough to support fruit. The batters for cherry cakes have to be firm like Christmas cake batters to hold the fruit up when cakes are baked. Here's the recipe for

CHERRY CAKE

Four large eggs, 3-4 cup shortening (or 1-3 shortening and 1-2 butter), 1 1-3 cups white sugar, 3 cups sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 3-4 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 teaspoon almond flavouring, 1-3 to 1-2 cup drained and dried maraschino or glace cherries cut in halves. Cut cherries and dredge with flour and shake off excess flour; this flour to be measure and sift it with the baking powder and salt. Separate whites from yolks of eggs and beat yolks until they are very light. When the beating until it is very light then gradually beat the sugar into it. Fold yolks into creamed mixture. Add the sifted dry ingredients alternately with the shortening mixture with the milk and flavorings, using folding motion. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites alternately with the floured cherries. Bake in greased loaf pan at 350 deg. Fahr. for 60 to 90 minutes. A small wax tirpan in the oven directly under the cake is a good idea.

SHOOFLY PIE

Bottom Part: 3-4 cup molasses, preferably dark, 3-4 cup boiling water, 1-3 teaspoon soda. Top Part—1 1-2 cups flour, 1-4 cup shortening, 1-2 cup brown sugar, pastry for 1 9-inch crust. Dissolve soda in hot water and add molasses. Combine sugar and flour and rub in shortening to make crumbs. Pour one-third of the liquid into unbaking crust and add one-third of the crumb mixture. Continue alternate layers, finishing with crumbs. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 35 minutes.

If the recipe for Cherry Cake does not suit you perfectly let me know.

QUESTION:

I have strawberries and raspberries in the locker that were put in two years ago. . . . will they be all right to use? My family complain of my husband and myself, and it is quite a problem to keep the food bill down when there are only two of us . . . when there are leftovers I put them in a small jar and freeze them to be used later. This is where my problem is. Can you safely freeze salmon? Or a mixture with egg or milk? I have had creamed salmon or leftover several times and was in doubt about freezing what was left over so threw it out. . . . If you have booklets on meals for two I would appreciate it.—Jean N.

ANSWER:

I have eaten plenty of fruit that has been frozen for two years, and if the temperature has been constantly below freezing it is safe to eat. Freezer manufacturers recommend shorter freezer-life for fruits to retain optimum flavor. Yes you can freeze creamed salmon. The reason you may be doubtful is because your mayonnaise should not be frozen. While other products containing eggs may separate a little, most creamed mixtures it is not a major objection.

I am mailing you a column I wrote on marketing and cooking for two.

Secret Flame of Million Males Returns to TV As a Mother

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—Dorothy Collins, secret flame of millions of males from 6 to 60, will be back on TV screens Nov. 20.

The Canadian girl has been taking time out to become a mother. She and Raymond Scott, musical director of "Your Hit Parade" in which she stars, are parents of their first child—a daughter, Deborah.

Dorothy, whose fresh, unsophisticated beauty has caused heart flutters from coast to coast along the NBC-TV network, has been off the air since June 12 when Hit Parade began its summer vacation. Polly Bergen has been taking her place since but now it's rumored for the new season Sept. 11.

While entertaining the home TV viewing population, she has done so as the old fashioned girl a man wouldn't dare whistle at, but who stirs visions of a vine-covered cottage and kids around the door.

That's exactly the kind of girl Dorothy is off camera, say those who know her best. She always has insisted the most important thing in her life was home and family and that a career came second.

She and Scott shun cafe society and Dorothy still hasn't been inside many of New York's famous night spots.

Since their quiet wedding in July, 1951, she and Scott have lived in a comfortable, large home overlooking the water at Babylon on Long Island. However, when they learned a baby was on the way they decided the place wasn't suitable for children and put the house up for sale.

The marriage was not the result of a whirlwind courtship. Dorothy, a native of Windsor, Ont., was visiting Chicago in 1943 when Raymond heard her sing. He advised her to study a year and when a year was up engaged her as featured vocalist on his radio show.

She later left the Scott organization to join the "Her Fabulous Time" radio show but when the series ended went on tour with the Raymond Scott Quintet." A few months later he disbanded his group to become director of the Hit Parade orchestra and had Dorothy sing some of the jingles he had written for the sponsor. The sponsor was so impressed Dorothy was signed to make her TV debut doing the singing commercials and soon was made featured vocalist as well.

REWARD CHIANG DESERTER

LONDON (Reuters)—An airman who flew a plane from Formosa, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist base, to Communist China, has been given a 10,000,000 yuan (approximately $400) reward, the Communist New China news agency reported today.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SHE "DOESN'T LOOK HER AGE"; DOESN'T ACT IT, EITHER

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 31, and my husband, who is in the army, is 34.

I love my husband, but just a few weeks ago, I found out that a friend of ours who is in love with me. How can I tell him he's making a mistake and ruining his friendship? I am sure he's only infatuated with me because I am older and more experienced in life than he is, but I'm small and don't look my age.

Please give me your advice. I don't want to make an enemy of this fellow or anyone else. — Kitty

Dear Kitty:

You say you don't look your age, and I say that you don't think or act it, either. I agree that 21 is not very old, but at the same time a young woman of that age should be mature enough not to take seriously the romantic ideas of an infatuated 19-year-old. The fact that you apparently do take this teenager seriously, shows that you are even a little flattered by his attitude toward you, and this is pretty immature, too. Also, I suspect your husband's absence has something to do with all this. Better be careful.

The mature young woman of 21, particularly if she is married, should have the insight and understanding to take an 18-year-old infatuation for just what it is, and to deal with it accordingly. That is, she should be understanding enough not to humiliate the boy by laughing at him, but explain to him gently that romantic ideas on the part of a teenage boy toward a young woman who is married are entirely inappropriate, and to suggest that friendships with girls of his own age are more suitable.

If you handle this in the right way, you will not "make an enemy" of the boy. Instead, he will look upon you as a friend with whom he can take things over, and upon he can depend for understanding and good advice.

And to make the grade as this kind of friend, try to grow up a little yourself.

DON'T TRY TO RUSH THINGS, HONEY!

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 12 years old, and I would like to know if I'm too big to play school and stuff like that, or if I'm too little to wear lipstick and act like a girl of 13 or 14. — G.V.

Dear G.V.:

I would say No to the first question and Yes to the second.

In other words, you're certainly not too old to "play school" or any other "make-believe" game you like, but a 13-year-old is definitely too young to be trying to imitate girls of 18 or 19. Leave lipstick and other make-up till you're in high school, and then learn to put it on in a manner appropriate to a young girl.

In the meantime, do the things the friends of your own age do, and you won't be making any mistake. You would be making one, if you tried to rush things.

PERFUME COMPLEMENTS GLAMOUR

Attendants at perfume counters report that it is often difficult for the customer to make a selection because there are so many irresistible blends or bouquets with wonderful appeal.

If you are among those buyers who fall into a state of confusion when shopping for a fragrance, just remember that there is but one good rule to buy what excites you, what thrills you, what makes you feel fantastic. You've got to live with your purchase and if it strikes a wrong note you will probably cease using it.

Salesgirls also report that a common question is, "Will it last?" A high grade product will not do a quick fadeaway if a little is applied every day and if no other perfume is used. It is also wise to acquire other toiletries—powder, dusting powder and soap—that carry the same sweet fragrance. You will find any number of cosmetics packaged together that have the same sweet scent. And, of course, your perfume should have its little pal, the bottle of toilet water, that you can use lavishly without feeling that you are being extravagant.

Perfume should not be used on fine lingerie articles only. Continued daily use will cause your entire wardrobe to become impregnated with it. Then it is really a part of You.

Don't overlook sachets. They are wonderful little accessories. Place them between your lingerie and gloves. Sprinkle some of the grained sachets under the papers in your drawers. Remember, you will find perfumed pads that fit closely over dress hangers. Then, when clothes closet will smell like an old fashioned garden on a dewy morning.

Sunday School Lesson:

Heresy of Worry

By ROY L. SMITH

Strange as it may seem, nothing is harder to keep than a holiday. We have so far introduced liquor into our Christmas observance that we are dangerously near to actual blasphemy—celebrating the Savior's birth with an office party that sends the fathers home half-drunk to their little ones. We have so far commercialized Mother's Day that mother is getting just a little self-conscious and is really a little glad when it is all over. We have so far debauched Thanksgiving with feasting and excesses that we have almost completely neglected to go to our houses of worship to even return a hurried thanks.

ANTIDOTE FOR SECULARISM

The threat of Communism can be very serious, and the prospects of living in a world dominated by Marxianism is more than a little terrifying to the solid American. But even greater than these twin threats is the danger that we shall become so engrossed in things that we lose our lives in our possessions.

The basic fallacy of Marxian socialism is the theory that life can be made out of bread. This insulting proposition of Communism is that everything, including the glory of a human personality, must be sacrificed to economic considerations.

It was to war against this horror that Jesus appeared among men, and the very first proposition Jesus ever enunciated (in response to Satan's first temptation that He make bread out of stones) was a complete refutation of the bread philosophy. "Man shall not live by bread alone" (Matt. 4: 4-RSV), he said.

The tragic fact is, however, that even among those who are loudest in their advocacy of the "free enterprise system," we are apt to find those who have made "musts" out of profits and the "eternals" out of thrills and appetites. The despairing hatred this modern day is an antidote for the secularism which is gnawing away at our vitals.

ATTITUDE OF GRATITUDE

Late for many a modern could be redeemed. If it could somehow develop the attitude of gratitude. He has become so accustomed to thinking that the world owes him a living, that his life consists of a conglomeration of rights, that the government is designed to relieve him of all responsibility, and that progress and prosperity are inevitable.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for November 21: "God's Abundance for Man's Need," Psalms 104.

Thanksgiving ought always to be a sobering experience for the nation, rather than a time of hilarity. We are not nearly so badly in need of relief as we are in need of an awareness of the thin thread by which our civilization hangs. We have so long accepted our good things without thanks that we have well nigh forgotten what they cost our fathers in blood, sweat and tears.

Gratitude does not consist of a day off from work, a family reunion, a football game, and a hang-over. It ought to be a sobering experience that issues in joy because we have taken sufficient time to get a realistic perspective on our lives and our civilization.

WORRY IS ATHEISM

Worry is a mild form of atheism. We announce our belief in God, and then live as though He did not exist, worry as though He were not interested, scramble for things as though they were more important than He is, and fight wars for the very things He says will not satisfy.

Mixed into all gratitude that is truly grateful is a considerable quantity of faith which transforms every day's labors into an investment of confidence and trust.

Anglican Council Faces Heavy Day Of New Business

By STEWART ANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—A weary group of more than 150 leaders of the Church of England in Canada, lay and clergy members of the general synod's executive council, today could see bottom of the church's sea of annual business.

Major decisions have been made during the first four days of the council's annual meeting and sessions with departments, but there was still much to be done.

Of primary concern was the report of Rev. Dr. J. H. Craig of Toronto, a member of the committee of Protestant-Roman Catholic relations, which told delegates official relationships between the two churches "simply are not countenanced by the Roman Catholic church."

Nevertheless, the committee with an inter-church committee of the same name, stood ready to do "all in their power to express goodwill and friendship to Roman Catholic brethren," Dr. Craig said.

However, the report concluded with a note of warning. "If we fail to give leadership to our own people and neglect to co-operate with other non-Roman Catholic bodies we may discover some day that we have surrendered by default much of that religious heritage which is ours."

TO DISCUSS FINANCES

Today, concluding day of the five-day annual meeting of the executive committee, topics for discussion included financial needs of the church, ecumenical affairs, evangelism and basic stipend for the clergy.

It was apparent the church would have to obtain additional thousands of dollars. Throughout the week, although notes of pessimism were interjected here and there, there were indications of expansion.

Thursday, the executive council set up a public relations department with an annual budget of $20,000. Earlier in the week it sanctioned a raise in the basic stipend for clergy in missionary dioceses. It will mean an additional $50,000 the first year.

The council for social service, which met earlier with council, spent most of the day working through a 48-page report. It asked prohibition of all weapons of mass destruction such as the atom and hydrogen bombs and drastic reduction of all other armaments.

Mayor Whitton Threatens To Pass Up Election

OTTAWA (CP) — Mayor Charlotte Whitton is heartbroken and if things go on the way they are, she's not going to run in the Dec. 5 municipal elections.

She charged in an interview Thursday that federal and provincial Liberal and Progressive Conservative groups have ganged up in a "few Whitton" alliance to oust her from the post she won in 1953 with more votes than any candidate ever had polled in Ottawa before.

"I am withdrawing unless this present situation changes," she said.

"I am prepared to take on all comers in a clean, straight fight," Miss Whitton said, but "I am not able in the days left to me to fight that sort of a combination."

At the prospect of giving up her work in the "midst of great developments," she said, "I am heartbroken."

DIRECT CHARGE

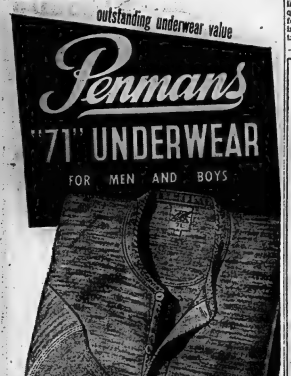
George McIlraith, Liberal member of Parliament for Ottawa West, and mayoralty candidate David L. Burgess, who lists Mr. McIlraith and PC O. P. Hows, defeated last year by Mr. McIlraith, as his supporters, both denied Miss Whitton's charge. Mr. Burgess said no Liberal-Conservative alliance exists.

Mr. Howe was out of town and other Progressive Conservatives had no comment.

Actually, Miss Whitton, a PC, was threatening to withdraw from an election race she never officially had entered. Now she has summoned the Charlotte Whitton committee that runs her campaign to a Saturday meeting at which, she said, the situation will be clarified.

Miss Whitton first entered capital politics in 1950. That time she was the board of control and won with the most votes ever polled for any board controller. In 1951 she took over as mayor on the death of Mayor Grenville Goodwin.

Blonde of 17 Wins 'Guineas' For Best Steer



By BOB SMYLIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—A tall starry-eyed blonde walked into the brilliantly lit show ring at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair Thursday night, shook hands with Governor-General Massey and showed him the steer that she had groomed and fed for more than a year.

While 7,000 cheering spectators looked on Katherine Merry, 17-year-old 4-H Club member from Oakville, accepted the Queen's fifty guinea award from his excellency, then turned and accepted the T.I. Kennedy Trophy from the donor.

She won the prizes for exhibiting the grand champion baby beef steer at this year's Royal. Her shorthorn steer, Catrossie Armada, or "Louie" as she calls it, was judged the best of 208 steers shown by 4-H Club members.

Niagara Peninsula's Crop Of Grapes Worth 4 Millions

By ART BRYDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP)—A 45-mile stretch of the fertile Niagara peninsula this year produced a grape crop worth an estimated $4,000,000.

The peninsula's more than 30,000 acres of vineyards are scattered through an area from Stoney Creek, near Hamilton on the east, to Niagara-on-the-Lake, at the mouth of the Niagara river on the west.

Last year, the area produced 76,-256 tons of blue, white and red grapes. Officials estimate the 1954 crop will be up 10 to 12 per cent. Department of agriculture figures show Ontario's total grape crop last year was 98,118 tons.

OLD RELIABLES

Grapevines are the hardy, old soldiers of the fruit industry. Their life span will extend 100 years, barring disease, frost or marauding humans. They reach full production after five years.

About half the grape crop is processed in Canada for wine, jam, juice or jelly. About one sixth goes to the basket trade as fresh fruit and the rest to United States processors. Export sale is vital as it often provides the margin of profit.

Growers this year received about 45 cents a basket. Processors for export paid $70 a ton and domestic processors $52.50.

T. D. Jeffries, secretary-manager of Canadian Vineyards Limited, a marketing organization, said the yield of Canadian vineyards is poor compared to those in United States, where growers use more efficient methods. Their vineyards give between four and five tons to the acre, compared to an average two tons in Canada.

MARKET TRENDS VARY

Grape growers can be seriously affected by sudden marketing trends. A few years ago, light wines were popular and wineries paid a bonus for white grapes. Growers planted them.

Now whites are forced almost out of competition by the blue concord variety.

Mr. Jeffries said on the average Canadian domestic wines are the finest in the world.

Newest grape product is frozen concentrate soon to be marketed in Canada in six-ounce tins.

GRAPEVINE FRIENDS

Grapevines are harvested during a two-week period between Oct. 1 and early November. Processors operate at full blast with seasonal labor and store juice in giant tanks under refrigeration until market conditions call for bottling.

George E. Record of St. Catharines, typical of growers in the area has 90 acres of mixed fruit, 36 of them in grapes.

The 60-year-old farmer is the sixth generation on his land and traces his family tenure back to crown deeds presented about 1800. He is a direct descendant of Laura Secord, heroine of the War of 1812.

Mr. Record thinks grape crops have deteriorated since 1926, when most of his were planted.

"It's all that mechanical equipment," he said. "It packs the ground and makes it hard for plants to grow. Grapes are like babies, they take a lot of understanding."

Tweed

TWEED — The local Knights of Columbus will have a fine headquarters for meetings and other activities when the work is completed on the old council chambers. A new wash-room and clock-room have been added at the side, which has been connected with a new sidewalk to the street. Most of the work is being done by the members themselves in their spare time. A further extension to the premises is planned for the near future.

Mrs. Martha McEvoy, Tweed, attended the golden wedding anniversary of her brother, Mr. Lindsay Mumby and Mrs. Mumby, of Bowden, township, over the week-end.

Mr. A. H. Monck visited in Toronto and Peterborough for a few days over the week-end.

Mrs. Allen McLaughlin and David have returned to their home in Toronto after visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Gordon and other relatives and friends in town.

Mrs. John Garrison returned home on Monday after spending the past two weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Elmer Johnston, Mr. Johnston and the children at Stouffville.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sager visited in Peterborough over the week-end with their daughter, Mrs. James Goldie, Mr. Goldie and the children.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Moon were in Kingston, on Wednesday.

Mrs. W. S. Moon is still a patient in Toronto General Hospital, where she is undergoing treatment.

A large crowd attended the bazaar and tea on Wednesday afternoon in the Oddfellows' hall, under the auspices of Tweed Rebekah lodge. A number from Madoc and vicinity were in attendance.

Canadiens Clip Toronto's Win String At Ten Games With 5-4 Defeat

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

CLINTON TONIGHT!

Call these Clinton Comets the Marco Polos of hockey, if you will, and you won't be too far off the beaten track. From the Kawartha Lakes they travel to the eastern seaboard, "near the rockbound coast of Maine," in search of hockey glory.

Before the grass grows green again the Comets will have flitted across Eastern Ontario and Northern New York some thirty-five times. They play a 65-game schedule in the senior "ZH" group and just to keep from going stale they operate in a United States Eastern League which calls for another 24 tilts. In the American loop are Worcester, New Haven, Baltimore and Washington.

They play all their home games with the exception of six, on Saturdays and Sundays. The half-dozen are played on Tuesdays. The Comets are rated as one of the stronger teams in the league with a record at the moment of four wins and two losers. They are a rugged, fast-skating coterie of pucks chasers and fans should not miss their clash with the Memos.

Incidentally the Memos are not feeling too happy over those three reverses, which they suffered by the slim margin of a goal, and they will be out tonight determined to get back into the win column.

COULD BE WORSE, MIKE!

Our erudite contemporary down east 'a here, me Mr. chanel 2. Reddgo, takes time out from his arduous football tasks to exhibit a somewhat gloomy picture of the senior "B" hockey situation.

Says Mr. Bodden:

"Quinsess news comes out of Peterborough to the effect that the Petes are 'starving' through lack of support with 'crowds' ranging around the 500 mark. Having last seven consecutive games, the Peterborough franchise listed city has—like Orangeville management seeks help and aims to present a strengthened squad against Goodyears in the Community Memorial Centre next Saturday night.

"The Peterborough situation aligned with that in Whitby and Clinton's participation in two leagues are matters not conducive to the success of this international venture. Senior 'B' rating allotted unto or usurped by some of those experienced Cornwall players could ignite a fuse attached to a powder keg.

"In dire emergency Belleville, Brockville, Cornwall and Kingston could carry on successfully and provide the kind of competition that the fans crave—with the proviso made and the rule enforced that only players of true 'B' status be eligible to participate. Whitbyites would also be a strong adjunct to the series if they could convince the paying public to support them in home games.

"Goodyears, strongest link in the group chain, will continue to supply high class entertainment. They are singularly favorable in that they are loyally supported and operate in one of the finest arenas in the country but they are keenly aware that strong opposition in a top selling-point in this business of hockey."

As far as players of senior "A" calibre are concerned the Cornwall management makes no bones about the fact that the majority of the Colts' players are senior "A" type. It was this department's apparently mistaken impression before the season started that the Cornwall entry would be the second team wearing that city's colors with the present entry operating in the Quebec League. As far as doing anything about players of alleged senior "A" quality, we doubt if it is possible.

TOUGH GRIND!

Kingston Goodyears' vaunted power proved to be avail last night in Cornwall where the powerful Colts handed them a 6-2 shellacking. Could it be the Goodies were over their heads when they nudged the Memos 2-1 here the other night? The Colts pulled out in front of the pack with 14 points, four ahead of the Goodyears and six in front of the Memos, Clinton and Whitby. A win for the Memos tonight will put them on even terms with the Goodies in second place.

The Memos should be in some kind of hockey shape by the time the end of the month rolls around. The schedule-makers were not kind to them for after tonight's game they play six tilts in eight days.

On Sunday they go to Cornwall and Tuesday they entertain Brockville. Wednesday night they are the guests of the Petes and on Friday they play hosts to the Cornwall Colts. They're back in Cornwall the following Sunday and on Monday meet the Goodyears in Kingston.

Tis a rough, tough schedule and Frank Boucher's men will welcome the respite from November 29 to December 3 when they again entertain the Clinton Comets.

Jean Beliveau Scores Winner In Dying Seconds of Game; Boston Bruins Whip Hawks 5-1

By The Canadian Press

Big Jean Beliveau, the Quebec hockey hero who didn't live up to his press clippings in his first full National Hockey League season, became the big payoff man for Montreal Canadiens Thursday night.

The 24-year-old centre, who scored just 13 goals in 44 NHL games last season, fired his sixth of the current campaign with 14 seconds left in the game Thursday night to give Canadiens a 3-2 win over the high-flying Toronto Maple Leafs and send a Montreal crowd of 14,082 away happy.

In contrast a Chicago crowd of 4,354 had little to cheer about as Boston Bruins whipped the Black Hawks 5-1 to climb out of the league basement and dump Hawks back in the bottom spot.

CAME FROM BEHIND

Beliveau's late goal at Montreal broke a 4-4 deadlock after Leafs had come from behind twice in an effort to repeat their 5-2 victory in Toronto Wednesday night and take over first place. The result left Canadiens three points ahead of second-place Toronto while up to last night had an undefeated string of nine—eight wins and a tie.

The [illegible] silvered without injured regular Jacques Plante in [illegible] goalies when trailing 2-1 after the first period and went on to victory.

Maple Leafs had counted on two comparatively easy marks on goalie Claude Evans, substituting for Plante. Starting the second period, Montreal trotted out Charlie Hodge, recalled from Providence of the American Hockey League. Hodge held his own.

26TH GOAL

Besides Beliveau, Montreal goals were scored by Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, who counted his 26th goal of the season, Maurice Richard, Eddie Mazzenger and Jim MacPherson.

Jim Thomson, Parker MacDonald, Joe Klukay and Ron Stewart were the Leaf marksmen.

A four-goal second period set Boston up at Chicago, after Hawks had taken a 1-0 lead on Jack McIntyre's first-period goal.

Doug Mohns scored twice and Leo Labine and Milt Schmidt added singles in the second period, and Real Chevrefils wound it up late in the final period.

Boston's triumph was its third in 15 games and put them two points ahead of Hawks, who have 11 losses in 16 contests.

Patterson 7-5 Choice Over Jimmy Slade

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson, the precocious, 19-year-old light heavyweight contender, is a 7-5 choice to beat ringwise Jimmy Slade in an important eight-rounder at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The winner of this short test might wind up as the next title opponent for 175-pound champion Archie Moore, if you want to call that a reward.

Patterson, winner of 17 of 18 pro bouts since he won the Olympic middleweight crown, is facing a tough along the lines of Joey Maxim, the ex-light heavy king who outpointed him in June. Like Maxim, Slade relies on his safety style and cleverness.

Dutchies Say Game Will 'Be Close'

EDMONTON (CP)—Although the Dutchmen are outweighed along the line of scrimmage and are on the short end of 10-1 odds, the president of the Kitchener-Waterloo club says Saturday's Grey Cup semi-final against Edmonton Eskimos will be close.

Optimistic Spike Kearns, based his prediction today on Bob Celeri, triple-threat quarterback voted the outstanding player this year in the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

Kearns said Celeri is a "terrific ball player. He can run, pass and kick. Looking at the rest of the team which beat Sarnia Imperials for the Ontario title, Kearns added:

"All our backs can run in an open field. Any back within 2 steps of the ball can catch it and if the Dutchmen break loose, Edmonton might not catch them.

"We're going to make it close," the veteran coach added, but said his WIFU champions will utilize every play in the split-T.

That's what they did here last Saturday in defeating Winnipeg Blue Bombers 26-0. The Western Interprovincial Football Union final series was tied 1-1 and the game was a do-or-die effort.

The theme is similar for the sudden-death game against the Dutchmen. Fry said: "At this stage when we have to win to stay in, we got to go with everything in our offense."

Kearns said that because the ORFU champions are Edmonton's farm team is no reason the Dutchmen will roll over and play dead.

His counterpart in the Eskimo camp doesn't anticipate a push over. Fry knows the Dutchies, rated one of the best ORFU teams in 15 years, will be going all out to win.

Vince Martinez Offered $20,000 To Throw Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Vince Martinez, a handsome, 23-year-old welterweight contender, Thursday disclosed he was offered $20,000 to throw an Oct. 29 fight with Carmine Flore in Madison Square Garden.

The curly-haired, Paterson, N.J., boxer said the bribe attempt was made by two men outside his home Wednesday, Oct. 27, just two days before the bout. He reported the incident to the New York state athletic commission and the New York district attorney's office on Thursday and on Friday proceeded to better out a seventh-round technical knockout over Flore.

District attorney Frank Hogan confirmed Martinez' story and said "an investigation is continuing."

Crowe Resigns As Ottawa Coach, Riders' Brass Has 13 Applicants

OTTAWA (CP)—The executive of the Ottawa Rough Riders accepted the resignation of coach Clem Crowe Thursday night, but the move was no surprise to at least 13 persons.

Club president Dave Gill, issuing a statement following the executive meeting, said there have been 12 applicants for the job Crowe held four years.

Their qualifications were under consideration.

The statement said Crowe, who coached the Riders to a Grey Cup in 1950 and has been runner-up close to the top for the next two but seemed to lose his touch this season when Riders won only two of its 14 games, had telephoned the executive during the meeting from his farm home near Buffalo, N.Y.

"After due consideration," the executive had unanimously accepted Crowe's decision.

The statement added:

"The executive goes on record as appreciating his fine services, his loyalty and in general his many fine qualities. No doubt, having regard, to all the facts, the decision was in Crowe's own interests.

"The club proposes now to start the arduous process of rebuilding the team from the ground up. In this respect the club promises a thorough job. There will be many changes and many new faces next year."

Among those considered here as possible successors to Crowe is Gregory Neale, former coach of Philadelphia Eagles of the United States National Football League.

Toronto Argonauts line coach Chuck Klein and Gene (Choo Choo) Roberts, Riders' fullback star the last three seasons, are among the applicants for the vacant coaching job.

Flyers Whip Stamps 4-1

SASKATOON (CP) — Edmonton Flyers moved into a first-place tie with Calgary Stampeders in the Western Hockey League standings Thursday night with a 4-1 victory over the cellar-dwelling Saskatoon Quakers before 2,500 fans.

The loss was Quakers' fourth straight and the 11th in their last 13 games. They are eight points behind the fifth-place Victoria Cougars.

Johnny Bucyk, Eddie Stankiewicz, Ray Hannigan and Don Poile were the Edmonton marksmen with the league's leading point maker, Bronco Horvath, and Hugh Collin each getting two assists.

Max Bentley scored the lone Saskatoon goal on a play with Lloyd Bentley and Eddie Kobussen.

Alouettes, Western Mustangs Favored Over TiCats, Gaels

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Queen's University Golden Gaels face the unpredictable in the way of weather in the biggest football Saturday of the season.

Tiger-Cats, big, rough and eager, invade Molson Stadium Saturday for the Interprovincial final of the Four Football Union final. And to succeed in the game of football so Big Four team has done all year—beat the Alouettes in Montreal.

Golden Gaels, nursing so many bruises "we don't even shake hands," run up against the powerful University of Western Ontario Mustangs in Toronto and the defending collegiate champion Mustangs are heavily favored.

On the outcome of the two games hinges the eastern Grey Cup representative and the Intercollegiate Football Union finalists, ranking both games of the most important of the year for all four clubs.

The odds are against Ticats at Montreal in the second game of the two-game, home-and-away series, particularly since the defending Grey Cup champions carry a five-point deficit with them.

Alouettes barged into the semi-final Wednesday night with a 16 to 7 victory in a bruising line-play game in Hamilton that saw two players in the action banding along the ice ground.

The winner will meet Edmonton Eskimos or Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, Eskies' farm team, in the Grey Cup playoffs. Both Montrimes and Dutchmen clash Saturday night at Kitchener in the rubber-dandash cup semi-final.

Bruises will play a big part in the collegiate affair at Varsity Stadium according to reports coming from the camps of Mustangs and Gaels. Gaels are expected to be a little on the decrepid side while Mustangs will be disgustingly healthy.

"We're so banged up that we don't even shake hands," said coach Frank Tindall of Queen's. "And our more serious injuries are Al Koeman and Floyd Sajatt. It's hard to say if they'll play or not. But, the word is, they're pretty near have to play all available players."

Johnny Metras, Western mentor, who admits he has more reserves strength than Gaels, said he had no manpower worries.

"We've had a scrimmage Wednesday," he said. "It was the best one we had since the Varsity game. We've had no injuries to day and the Toronto people will see as good a ball game as they have all season."

The winner of Saturday's game will meet Varsity Nov. 27 here for the collegiate championship.

Ohio State Meets Michigan In Big Game

NEW YORK (AP)—The collegiate football spotlight swings through the United States Saturday in an attempt to illuminate the hazy bowl picture as the season heads into its windup stage.

Several crucial tests, with possible rose, orange and cotton bowl bids hinging on their outcomes, and a batch of traditional-rivalry games are on Saturday's card.

The big 10 representative to the rose bowl will be determined when undefeated Ohio State, the nation's top-ranked team, clashes with Michigan at Columbus.

An Ohio State victory would give the Buckeyes the big 10 crown and the trip to Pasadena, Calif., on wins, the two teams end up with identical 6-1 league records and a vote would have to be taken to decide the rose bowl entry.

In the far west, UCLA, also undefeated and No. 2 in the rankings, faces Southern California. UCLA competed in the rose bowl last season and isn't eligible to return this Jan. 1. Regardless of the outcome of Saturday's game, USC gets the nod as the Pacific coast entrant in the rose bowl.

Other top-flight games will have a direct bearing on Jan. 1 pairings include Baylor and Southern Methodist at Dallas, Nebraska and Oklahoma at Norman, Okla., Kansas State and Colorado at Boulder, Colo., South Carolina and Duke at Durham, N.C., and Georgia Tech and Virginia Military at College Park, Md.

The Atlantic coast conference representative for the orange bowl will be determined by a league championship after Maryland meets Missouri and Duke plays North Carolina state, and the Georgia teams are selected last year.

Sixth-ranked Mississippi, heading for the southeastern title and a sugar bowl date at New Orleans, is idle this Saturday, but suggest arch-rival Mississippi State next week.

Harvard entertains Yale in the 71st renewal of these Ivy League foes, the east's top game of the day. A Yale victory will give the Bulldogs their first league title since 1946.

Chip Off The Old Block

TORONTO (CP) — The "Big Train" would be proud of Lionel Conacher Jr.

The six-foot-two-inch, 190-pound student is doing all right for an 18-year-old athlete who knows he must be the best.

Young Lionel joins his cousin Peter, a professional hockey player with Chicago Black Hawks, as a star member of Canada's most famous sports family. Lionel senior, a Toronto member of Parliament before his death this year, was voted Canada's greatest athlete of the half-century.

With another year of high school to go at Upper Canada College, Lionel appears to have only scratched the surface of his athletic capabilities.

He was key defenceman on the UCC hockey team, school cross-country champion and a one-man track and field team, tops in the 100, 220, and shot-put events and the broad and high jumps.

BOXING TOO

He was also school boxing champion in his weight class for two years.

Last summer he took up water skiing to strengthen a gimpy knee and wound up winning the Canadian junior jumping championship at the Canadian National Exhibition.

As for the question, what is his favorite sport, the answer comes without hesitation: football.

After missing last season with a knee injury, he led his school to the Little Big Four championship this year as fullback and centre linebacker. He scored 13 touchdowns.

"I like football because it's a real team sport, more so than any other," said Lionel.

Orioles Now In Business, Says Richards

BALTIMORE (AP)—"I think we can now be automatically considered first-division challengers."

That's confident Paul Richards' appraisal of the million dollar baseball team he rules as president, three for who trade he pulled with the New York Yankees Thursday.

"As far as I'm concerned, this puts us in business," the Orioles manager-general manager said before he left for Chicago where he hopes to do some more swapping.

The big deal which startled the American League, brought veteran outfielder Gene Woodling, shortstop Willie Miranda and catcher Hal Smith to Baltimore along with pitchers Harry Byrd and Jim McDonald, first baseman-catcher Gus Triandos and three others to be named later.

For these nine Yankees, Richards had to pay dearly—some fans think too dearly—by passing to New York young Bob Turley, fireballing strikeout king of the American League, hardluck-pitcher Don Larsen and colorful Billy Hunter, who made the great unassisted plays at shortstop but missed the easy ones.

But Richards, who admitted it was "tough . . . to trade off a guy like Turley, who could be a great pitcher," said there was no way of improving the Orioles without putting the 34-year-old speedball pitcher in the deal.

"Frankly, you're not going to win the pennant with one ball player like Turley."

'King Maple' Runs at Pimlico

BALTIMORE (AP)—King Maple Canada's representative in Saturday's Pimlico Special, is living proof that the best way for Canadian horses to get in the big money is to win races in the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McKinley of Toronto have collected more than any of the five American three-year-olds entered in the race, but smaller Canadian purses have added up to only $60,004 in winnings to date.

A victory Saturday will be worth more than half of King Maple's total, $35,000.

Two of the other entries, C. V. Whitney's Fisherman and Hasty House Farm's Hasty Road, have won 11 times. They helped Hasty House collect $436,537 and Whitney $325,800.

Mainline Chance Farm's Jet Action has been in the winner's circle only five times and second once, total, $35,000.

Walmac Farm's Hasseyampa has been first half as many times as King-Maple and earned $20,320 more. William G. Helis Jr.'s Hellopot got $18,025 out of nine starts and three seconds.

King Maple has been worse than third only twice in 25 races. He was "horse of the year" in Canada as a two-year-old.

Fatally Injured

LINDSAY (CP)—Seven-year-old Ronald Thibadeau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Thibadeau of Lindsay, truck opposite his home and ran was fatally injured Thursday when he struck by a car on highway 36, a three miles east of here.

Ontario provincial police said the boy had been driven home from school in a truck by a neighboring farmer, Lloyd Magahey, along with several other children. They said young Ronald jumped off the truck opposite his home and ran across the road into the path of a car driven by Russell Patterson of Little Britain, Ont.

The man has a roomful of money, and he stuffs it in the mattress too. He decided one day that the payments were too hard for walking, and started shopping for a car. He shopped and shopped all the next day and finally paid cash for this one. He now finds that it consumes gas, tires and runs poorly. He has belatedly realized that, "You only get what you pay for."

Insurance is like that, too.

You can buy it cheaper but it is not always worth it.

General Accident believes in your local community agent. He is an independent businessman who gives personal insurance service because that is his business.

Insurance is only valuable when there is a claim. But your agent's value starts long before that. It is his specialized knowledge that selects the exact kind of benefits you need. He will save you premiums when he can, but he is more important that he may properly prevent. Your personal insurance counsellor, he advises on all your insurance, not just some.

You can only expect what you pay for but your local agent can be in that you do get what you pay for.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

A comparison of different bridge systems is enlightening. It reveals the fact that most of them agree in principle. They differ only in manner of presentation or degree of complication.

Culbertson says the second bid by opener depends on the zone in which his hand may be classified: minimum, intermediate, game, or slam. Using other words, Goren says virtually the same.

If opener is in minimum zone and responder simply passes, opener passes. Goren agrees, commenting that if opener does not have the urge to bid again he should not do so unless forced.

My rules tell opener to follow the order of choice in T-A-N; take-out, assist, notrump to raise the partnership number only if he has additional trick. We all agree except in words.

Open with one heart when you have this South hand:

♠ 10 8 4
♥ A K 6 3
♦ A Q J 6
♣ 4 3

If partner responds with a simple assist of two hearts, pass. Even with an unshown bidable diamond suit, pass. It seems a shame not to show the diamond suit to your partner. But you pass.

My rules tell you to pass because you lack another trick with which to increase the last partnership number. Only if partner used a forcing signal would you bid again. A simple assist does not force.

Culbertson rules say your opening hand is in the minimum zone. An opener in the minimum zone, he says, should pass a single raise and usually does, the contract is a safe one.

Goren rules say your opening hand is in the minimum range. An opener in the minimum zone, he says, should pass a single raise aside, even if he has another bidable suit.

not make it right. You will soon bear my detailed reasons. But what if partner's response was a no-trump? For the second bid, some use rules; some second guess.

Moira Shearer, Dancing Star Saddler's Ballet, Ready to Quit

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The ballerina doesn't want to dance.

That's the situation with Moira Shearer, dancing star of the Sadler's Wells Ballet and such films as "Red Shoes," "Tales of Hoffman" and "Story of Three Loves." The red-haired beauty is appearing here in Cecil B. DeMille's massive production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," and she hopes this will be her last dancing role.

Culbertson says the second bid by opener depends on the zone in which his hand may be classified: minimum, intermediate, game, or slam. Using other words, Goren says virtually the same.

"Actually, it's a good vehicle for making the transition," she remarked. "I do a little dancing, but I also do a lot of acting, which is what I want to do from now on."

LATEST FILM HELPS

Her latest film, "The Man Who Loved Redheads," will also help her make the switch. She dances a bit from "The Sleeping Beauty" ballet, but it's almost a straight acting role.

Why does she want to quit dancing?

"Because I've had enough," she reasoned. "I've been dancing since I was 10. I started with the ballet when I was 15. I'm 26 now, and I could dance for a few more years. Some ballet dancers can go until they're 35 or 40. It's according to how they have been developed; if they have been forced to flower early, they can't last as long.

"I live grown weary of the constant training. I didn't dance for about seven months before and after I had my baby, and it was a bit of a strain getting back to it. Now I want to be a mother for life, and I can't face the task of returning to ballet afterwards."

Unlike most ballerinas, Miss Shearer is lucky to have another profession to fall back on. She started acting somewhat unwillingly. British producers sought her to play the heroine in "Red Shoes," and she couldn't make up her mind.

URGED INTO FILMS

At that time she was one of the top stars of the great Sadler's Wells, and ballet was her whole world. She was skeptical about the movie project until she learned that ballet impresario Robert Helpmann and Leonide Massine would be involved. Finally, Sadler's Wells head Nicholas Valois told her that, "For heaven's sake, go ahead and do it. Ten years from now, you may regret it if you passed up the chance."

"Red Shoes" probably did more to promote the ballet than any other thing in the history of the dance. It also made Miss Shearer a star in the movie world. But she still limited her screen work and concentrated on dancing for the Sadler's Wells. She was celebrated during the company's American tours of 1949 and 1950, and she danced at the Edinburgh Festival in her native Scotland and as Carmen in Bizet's "Le Petit Cafe" in Paris.

Having conquered the ballet world, she now seeks to make her mark as an actress. She is well equipped, having an expressive, Dresden doll-like face and an inner warmth most ballerinas don't seem to possess.

Frank Filchock Goes 'Hunting'

REGINA (CP) — Saskatchewan Roughriders coach Frank Filchock was to leave Regina today on a talent-hunting trip.

Filchock is searching for Canadian players to bolster ranks of the Western interprovincial football Union club. He will take in the Canadian intermediate final Saturday in Winnipeg between Brandon Rams and Peterborough Orphans, then will continue to Hamilton to talk to players there before taking in the Grey Cup game.

He will do scouting in the United States later while looking over some of the bowl games.

AT THE McCARTHY

Joe Cotten, a Cowboy in "Duel in Sun," was seen in Fame by Enactment of Varied Exciting Roles.

Joseph Cotten became one of the most popular stars in motion pictures in the few years he was under contract to the Selznick organization. Equally beloved by both stage and screen audiences he has demonstrated his ability to play almost any kind of role. The demands of the part of Jesse McCanles, quiet and idealistic attorney who sought to bring progress, as well as law and order, to the frontier cattle country, was but one of the most skilled and experienced of actors could make the character hold its own in the tapestry of "Duel in the Sun."

A brilliant and versatile actor, he got his Hollywood's most popular leading men. A member of Orson Welles' Mercury Theatre, a stroke in Hollywood from New York in 1939 to appear in the screen version of "Citizen Kane." Since that time he has become one of the most popular and versatile stars on the American screen and has demonstrated time and time again his extraordinary ability to play almost any kind of role.

He will be remembered for his outstanding performance in such great films as "Gaslight" with Ingrid Bergman, "I'll Be Seeing You" with Ginger Rogers, "Portrait of Jenny" with Claudette Colbert, directed Hitchcock's "Shadow of a Doubt" and the memorable "Love Letters" in which he co-starred with Jennifer Jones.

Cotten also co-starred with Jennifer Jones in David O. Selznick's production, "The Portrait of Jennie." "Duel in the Sun," now at the McCarthy Theatre, reunites them in highly dramatic characterizations in the released film.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, for SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1954.

March 21 to April 19 (Aries) — Take ample time to think things over before acting. Don't anticipate what others are going to say; give them the benefit of exercising their individuality even if you're sure, contemplate.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Curb useless spending and do not take on needless obligations. Cozy and thoughts should be such if you would never be ashamed of them. Get some rest.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — You may be obliged to retrench; hold back some enthusiasm for the time being. Business or other surprises could disrupt your setup if you don't remain calm during ordeals.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — It is possible to made advances in personal affairs, matters pertaining to home, family, income and investments now. Semi-favorable conditions prevail after 3 p.m. Get facts first; then act.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Some prospects vague. Success isn't a vending machine that delivers when you drop a coin into it. You must summarize, study, then act considerately and intelligently to win.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Aspects offer little outside encouragement, though there are many benefic avenues to follow. The catch lies in your selection of the right road to take. Fortitude needed.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Problems, obligations may be trying in the early hours. Bet be patient. Do not allow anything to sway your better judgment, natural desire to do right. Success is possible.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — If you are shrewdly alert and careful in expressing opinions you can move forward appreciably. Clean-cut will be action best. Be outspoken for principles but not over-forceful.

November 24 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Make haste slowly, mentally referring to past experiences and the knowledge you gained through them. Be adaptable to quickly changing conditions and you can achieve top results.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Looks like you will have to forage in search of fresh interests, new outlets if you would meet today's keen competition. Don't be stampeded into ill-advised action, however.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — This is a day wherein you could take some chances. Aim high, but sensibly, of course. Nothing ventured, nothing gained; wake up and show your "stuff"! Initiative is a valuable asset.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Home matters, advertising, publicity, trading, banking, building, electronics, research highly favored. Methods of saving time, energy and money should be investigated.

YOU BORN TODAY have tremendous energy, the will to achieve, and determination to carry on to highly successful ends. Just don't burn yourself out on unessentials, personal or any matters. Success urges you on, but try to realize that there are other things in life: Spiritual health, bringing happiness to people, nature, art, etc. You are willing to help those in need, being sympathetic, but you are not, as a rule, foolishly sentimental. You are deliberate, sometimes too abrupt; can absorb knowledge and administer it wisely.

Birthdate: Josiah Royce, educator; Thos. Chatterton, Eng. poet.

Ontario Willing To Pay Half Cost Jail Addition

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario government is prepared to pay half the cost of a $1,200,000 addition to the Jail, Mayor Leslie Saunders said Thursday after conferring with Reforms Minister Foote.

The provincial contribution would be made as compensation for the title to Langstaff and Concord Jail farms, now owned by the city, Mayor Saunders said.

The mayor said he would submit the offer to the next meeting of the board of control. He said he is prepared to recommend the jail farms to the province on this basis.

Langstaff and Concord have been rented to the province for 15 years for $1 a year. The province now uses the farms to house mental patients.

In return, the province has been bearing the cost of housing overflow inmates from Don Jail also, where in the province at a cost of $400,000 annually.

Child Dies in Fire

SMITHS FALLS (CP)—Beth McHardy, eight-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McRae, died Thursday in a fire which destroyed a one-room frame house while her father was helping drag nearby Rideau River for three missing hunters.

Mrs. McHardy, next door visiting neighbors when the fire started, had to be restrained by firemen from entering the burning house. Three other children were at school and two daughters were playing near the house. The body was recovered.

CAMPBELLFORD

Heavy Agenda Of School Board Is Completed

CAMPBELLFORD — The regular meeting of the North-Hastings Continuation School Board was held in Campbellford on Friday. The vice-chairman, Morley E. Smith, presided at the meeting.

It was moved by Arthur K. Loucks that the board agree to have all arrangements regarding transportation for Miss Windover from White's School to Trenton to the chairman of transportation committee, Mr. W. G. Bowen, who will report to the Board.

It was also moved that the Board accept the Liability Insurance policy presented by the Dominion Fire Insurance Co. for medical aid, public liability and property damage at a three-year premium of $468.79, the policy in effect from October 15, 1954, to October 15, 1957.

TUITION MEMO

It was agreed that the secretary, in consultation with the principal, send a registered letter to the parents of Albert Puddephatt, Alnwick, with reference to a previous communication regarding tuition, and informing them of a letter sent to the High School Board of Cobourg township.

The Board agreed to place a minimum size advertisement in the Globe and Mail for one day only for the position of Girls' Physical Training and Home Economics, in the Campbellford High School in compliance with a letter received from the Department of Education.

It was moved by D. H. Meyers that the secretary get in touch with the Chief Grants officer, advising him that during the spring term, January 3 to June 30, 1954, Home Economics and Manual Training were taught to the students from the South-East Northumberland District and pupils in Grades VII and VIII of the Campbellford Public School, and requesting that he please send complete direction and guidance, also necessary forms for the grant application forms filed under Part II Section 39, under regulations of General Legislation Grants, 1954, made under the Department of Education Act. This motion was carried.

It was decided that the Board reply to the Public School Board of Campbellford advising them that they regret that they are not in a position to teach the subject of Home Economics and Manual Training to students in Grades VII and VIII this academic year 1954-55, but will give every consideration to accommodate these students at some future time. This also carried.

Mr. Buckley advised the Board that the commencement exercises will be held in the Warkworth High School on November 25 and 26.

It was decided to purchase a Mean Iron for the Warkworth High School, similarly from a merchant in Warkworth.

It was moved by Viscount Farrell, seconded by W. McComb, that the resolution regarding the transfer of certain properties adjacent to the Campbellford High School and the Campbellford Memorial Hospital be approved. This motion carried.

Accounts amounting to $2,534.51 were approved for payment and the meeting adjourned.

Daley Says Immigrants Create Work

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Immigrants in the two cents a week they cost Ontario in foreign industries. These included 25 from the United Kingdom, three from West Germany and four from other European countries.

"It is not too much to say that without the large scale immigration of the post-war period, Canada's growth and industrial expansion could not have been possible," Mr. Daley said. "Workers were needed to go to remote areas where resources development was taking place, to work in the mines, in the forests and on the power and transportation developments and in many cases, immigrants took jobs which native-born Canadians would not accept.

"There is little doubt that this broad policy of immigration of skilled or semi-skilled unbalanced workers will continue in the future. It is a reflection of Canada's growth as a nation and indication of her emergence into economic maturity."

Farmer Testifies He Trusted Bond Dealer McKinnon

PERTH (CP)—District farmer Norman James testified Thursday that he trusted Toronto bond dealer Walter L. McKinnon "and never paid too close attention to the details."

In the witness box during the trial of McKinnon on 25 charges of fraud and theft, James said he had been "foolish" in his dealings with the former Perth school teacher. James was telling how he had $2,000 in bonds when the McKinnon firm collapsed into bankruptcy in May, 1952.

He said his dealings with the firm were mainly exclusively through James Wright, manager of its Toronto office.

"I thought my bonds were where Mr. Wright told me," Mr. James testified. "I thought they were safe in Toronto."

"What was my arrangement with the firm, I thought. I understood it would continue after the trade."

"What was to be done with the bonds—the ones you previously owned—that you traded in McKinnon and Company?" asked special crown prosecutor A. O. Klein of Toronto.

"Why, that was their business, not mine," replied James. "I have no idea what they did after my trade."

Cancer Clinic Located In London Opened

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Ontario's most modern cancer clinic was officially opened yesterday.

The Ontario Cancer Foundation opened its London clinic at Victoria Hospital in ceremonies which was attended by Premier Frost, provincial Health Minister Phillips and leaders in cancer - fighting teams across Canada.

Premier Frost said the knowledge of cancer and research techniques is limited and that although progress is being made there still are many unknown factors.

One of the main aims of cancer clinics is to train technicians in treatment inventions, he said. With this view in mind the system of clinics across the province is to be headed by a new $8,000,000 institute of radiotherapy already under construction at Toronto.

A TRIBUTE

Arthur R. Ford, editor-in-chief of The London Free Press and a member of the board of directors of the Ontario Cancer Treatment and Research Foundation "has been a lower of strength in laying the foundation across the province for this important work," he said.

The foundation was brought into being by a special provincial statute more than 12 years ago, Mr. Ford was chairman from 1945 to 1953.

The Victoria Hospital clinic was the first in Canada to have a cobalt bomb installed for treatment of cancer patients. It is believed many persons have been treated by the bomb, since its inception there a little more than three years ago, than anywhere else in the world.

Defence Filed as Precaution In Case of Court Fight

OTTAWA (CP) — The government, in a statement of defence in the Exchequer Court, claims it cannot be held responsible for the April 8 air collision over Moose Jaw, Canada's worst aviation disaster.

Federal officials said Thursday the defence was filed as a precaution in case there is a court fight involving 13 claims for damages totalling $3,632,000 by widows, children and estates of some of the victims.

Thirty-seven persons died in the crash of a west-bound Trans-Canada Airlines North Star and a single-engine RCAF Harvard trainer. They were the Harvard pilot, an RAF trainee, the crew of four and 31 passengers in the four-engine TCA plane, and a cleaning woman killed in the wreckage of a house struck by flaming debris.

OUT OF COURT

Officials said it is probable that arrangements can be completed to settle the claims out of court. But the defence was filed to meet court regulations and in the event of a test case is required to establish rates of payment and federal responsibility.

Crux of the government's defence:

1. TCA and its officers are not servants of the crown—in essence servants of the government—and therefore the government cannot be held responsible for its actions.

2. Since an RAF student pilot was at the controls of the Harvard, officers of the RCAF cannot be held responsible for the crash.

3. The government denies that the collision occurred by reason of any negligence of the student pilot.

TECHNICAL QUESTION

The question of whether TCA is a crown organization is purely technical, officials explained. In some statutes, the language of the act clearly sets out that the organization is an agency of the crown or government. Though TCA is publicly-owned and reports to Parliament through Trade Minister Howe, officials said there is no mention in the statute that it is a crown company.

Therefore it would be up to the court to make a ruling on that technicality.

But on that ruling would hinge the strength of claimants' argument. The claims argue that the crown, or government, should be held responsible because of "negligence" of TCA and officers in charge of the plane, officers of the RCAF and the student pilot "all of the said persons being officers and servants of the crown acting within the scope of their duties and employment."

TV NEWS TV

by Gene Hitchon

How many stations come in clearly on your TV set? Coal Threat No? Which has the strongest signal? The closest, probably.

Some days, you'll find, that local station will be sending out beautiful signals — clear as a bell and sharp as a tack. But signals from the station some distance away, which are normally good, will be horribly distorted —like a roaring snowstorm.

Well, don't take the set to your set. Chances are it's in perfect shape. The usual trouble in this case, we've found in the weather.

It may be a calm, cloudless day in your region, so the local reception is fine. But just 50 or 60 miles away, where the out-of-town station is located, an electrical storm can be causing havoc with transmission waves to you. No wonder the signal's not getting through.

If you've got a newspaper around the house, check the weather report. That usually clears up the mystery in a second — and prevents you from kicking a needless hole in the screen.

We've got dozens of helpful suggestions for you and we're never too busy to discuss our favorite subject. Today's factory-tolerated television needs much less tinkering than in the past. But that doesn't mean that when you've got wrong our Service Department is ever at your back and call. The number is 854. We would like to have you call and see the new 1955 Electrovisions — new models will be available after Nov. 15th.

HOW TO SPOT THE JUDO CHOP!

THE JUDO CHOP

Is a short, chopping blow with the side of the open hand, delivered with main-jh power to split a wood-and wooden plank, it is claimed.

Originally a secret weapon of Oriental wrestlers, the swift, paralyzing "Judo Chop" has floored many of the toughest grapplers in the modern game!

Using this hard, numbing blow on any part of an opponent's body, a strong, fast wrestler finds it a handy weapon in breaking holds.

Reason and Understanding Give Canada National Unity

—St. Laurent

OTTAWA (CP)—Reason, understanding and goodwill have accomplished in world English- and French-speaking Canadians into a nation which is slowly developing its own culture, Prime Minister St. Laurent said Friday night.

He described the co-operation and understanding existing among Canadians of different languages, and others who have chosen Canada as their home, as the keystone of national unity.

This keystone had been described as tolerance, a word which in his opinion involved "the genuine recognition and respect for the rights of others different from ourselves, recognition of their inherent dignity and appreciation of the intrinsic value of their own principles and ideals."

Speaking in French and English at the second national conference on the Human Relationships Council of Canada, Mr. St. Laurent said he has no fear for the survival of the descendants of French settlers who chose to remain in Canada instead of returning to France.

"But," he said, "there are still a few among us who question the possibility of two linguistic and cultural groups flourishing side by side within the same political frontiers and who would recall the statement of the old man on the occasion of wedding anniversary: 'Domestic bliss,' he said, 'is a question of couples and mutual concessions. Marriage is a give-and-take affair. When we set up house, my wife drank coffee, and I drank tea. Now I drink coffee.'

Mr. St. Laurent said the fact there is frequent discussion on whether Canada is developing a culture of its own is an indication that it is.

"I am one of those who are convinced that we are not only geographically and legally a nation, but that as a people we have also developed certain values which distinguish us from our neighbors," Mr. St. Laurent said.

As a young country, Canada was fair in the achievements of the old civilizations on the other side of the Atlantic.

"To recognize this great debt does not imply either conformity or inferiority. We are entitled to adapt to our own peculiar conditions what we have learned or inherited and to add contributions of our own . . . .

"In maintain the best of the old world and apply it to the development of the new," he said.

Mr. St. Laurent said he hopes that before long he may be able to make a drafting of a positive nature concerning establishment of a Canada council that will be territorial in character.

"Domestic the country's cultural development.

EAST EUROPEAN SECURITY SYSTEM MOST PROBABLE

Details of New Alliance Being Worked Out

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union has given strong indications recently that it is planning to set up an East European security system in answer to the West's North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

It is believed that Marshals Georgi Zhukov, Vasily Sokolovsky and Soviet war heroes—are working out details of the new alliance. They are expected to have key leading roles in the military organization.

The Soviet Union and its satellites have signed mutual assistance treaties and trade accords. But as far as is known, Red East Europe has no formal interlocking military under a single command.

British officials say Moscow's current propaganda line is practically spelling out the Kremlin's plans, which they believe will unveil tentatively at a coference scheduled for Nov. 29.

TRADE RESTRICTED

In a note to European countries and the United States last week, Russia suggested an international conference on that date to discuss European security.

Most Western powers already have indicated they will not enter the talks unless they are invited until the Paris agreements on the freeing and rearming of West Germany are ratified by the parliaments of the signatory powers.

Soviet satellite states, however, are falling into line. To date, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Bulgaria, Albania, East Germany and Hungary have approved the ides and declared their readiness to participate in a European security system.

Finland also has accepted the Soviet invitation, but only if other invited countries participate.

British sources believe Britain will attend the conference even if the West declines to attend. It will give them a chance formally to set up their own security system.

U.S.-France Plan On Indochina Will Be Live Subject

Claim Communists Assemble Divisions in North Viet Nam

By EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reports that the Communists have assembled three new divisions in North Viet Nam have focussed fresh importance on a communique to be issued late today at the close of top-level French-American talks.

Premier Mendes - France and State Secretary Dulles held a lengthy conference on the matter Friday, authoritative informants said.

The communique also was to have close Mendes - France and Dulles came to agreement during face-to-face talks this week on Indochina, European and North African problems.

A final meeting on "odds and ends" was set for this morning before the French leader's scheduled air departure for New York at 3 p.m.

Mendes-France and Dulles met for 2½ hours Friday, virtually finishing their four-day review of 22 topics ranging around the globe.

VIOLATION DISCUSSED

Among other things, the reported creation of three new Indochina divisions in violation of the armistice of heavy military gear into Red-held northern Viet Nam is thought to have been discussed. The assignment was said to have been discussed by the French and American diplomats. The three new divisions would boost the Vietminh total to 11. Two of the new units were said to be armored.

This new development, it was said, raised the possibility of new offensive intentions by the Reds, either through direct military moves or threatened action aimed at bringing pressure to bear against non-communist south Viet Nam.

Dulles and Mendes-Pranee were understood to have agreed in large part on political and military moves to cope with the situation.

The political steps are reported to have included ways and means of developing an effective anti-Communist government in South VietNam, and agricultural reform. The military measures discussed involve use of available military equipment in the south to train and arm units of a native anti-Communist army.

The French and American leaders were reported to have had a frank discussion about the French troubles with the North African nationalists and French Premier Mendes-France was particularly in relation to the dispute over the coal-rich Saarland.

Army Convicts Korean Combat Veteran of Mistreating His Men

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Lieut. Charles C. Anderson may spend up to a year in the United States army while the courts review his sentence of dismissal for mistreating trainees.

Friday's conviction and sentencing, and the order to forfeit all allowances, subject to automatic review and any disapproval could reverse the 36-year-old Korean combat veteran to duty. Authorities estimate the reviews and possible appeals may take up to a year.

Meanwhile, Anderson will remain at Camp Gordon "on some useful duty" pending the outcome.

MALTREATMENT CHARGED

Anderson was convicted on these charges involving maltreatment of personnel: order Pfc. James A. Wyatt, 18, hung by the ankles from a tree; ordering dirt thrown on the prostrate body of Pfc. Rodney E. Steele, 34, and causing a wooden tree to be placed in the mouth; ordering Steele to take a sand bath; ordering Steele to climb a tree and shout an obscene phrase; forcing Pfc. Paul T. Ferguson, 17, to take a sand bath; ordering Ferguson to climb a tree and shout obscene phrases.

Anderson, who won an officer's commission after returning from Korea, testified he used harsh measures to "shape up" his company, which he described as slovenly.

$5,000,000 Will Meet Needs Of Relief Fund

TORONTO (CP) — Directors of the Ontario Hurricane Relief Fund Friday set a top figure of $5,000,000 for the fund, half the original objective.

A meeting of fund officials decided the reduced sum would meet anticipated needs of 100,000 flood victims around Metropolitan Toronto.

To date, Premier Jack Milne reported the fund had reached $4,329,810. He said a total of $4,500,000 is pledged and drives still going across the country, the fund would shortly reach the new objective.

Mr. Milne said the hurricane damage commission estimated that 2,400 dwellings were affected by the Toronto storm last June 1,300 applications for loss or damage compensation to household contents and clothing have been received and were being processed.

Wife Protests Husband Pays Her Too Much

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Maxine Palenske complained in court Friday that she didn't get all the money her estranged husband had offered for support of their two children.

Whereupon Judge Elmer N. Holmgren refected Roger Palenske's offer of $25 a month and fixed payments at $130, which Mrs. Palenske said would suffice.

319 Acres of Land Taken by Hydro For Townsite

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario hydro Friday expropriated about 319 acres of land on which it will establish the new community of Iroquois, less than 24 hours after official approval of relocation.

The eastern Ontario village of 1,100 persons, one of the largest communities to be affected by the St. Lawrence seaway and power project, will be flooded.

Most of the land expropriated is within the present corporate limits of the village, but is open farm land. It will be flooded. Hydro moved to take the land as soon as the Ontario planning and development department was notified the village council had accepted Hydro's offer Thursday.

Hydro chairman Robert Saunderson said the company will have water and sewer services ready by April for a start on construction of the new Coldwell Linen Mills plant, Iroquois' only industry.

Within a few weeks residents property-owners will be asked by hydro to outline their preferences.

Mr. Saunders will outline his program to the councils of Osnabruck Township, Matilda, Williamsburg and Cornwall Monday and Tuesday.

Census Taker Will Be Around in '56 But Won't Be As Inquisitive As in '51

OTTAWA (CP)—That man with the notebook likely will be coming round to your door again in 1956. But he may not be as inquisitive about you as he was in 1951.

Officials disclose that the government has decided—for a national census every five years instead of 10, to provide a more accurate gauge of shifts and growth of Canada's population.

One of the major reasons for the cut in the years between census taking, they said, is to provide the government with accurate population estimates on which to base payments to provinces.

In the years between the decennial census, statisticians try to estimate inside population growth by means of registrations of births and deaths and the migration and immigration flows.

This method at times has proved fairly accurate; other times it has not. Often the statisticians fall behind in pursuing accurately the shift of population between one province and another.

Federal payments to provinces under the five-year tax agreements are based partly on the population of each province and on an estimate of the value of production on a per capita basis.

The current agreements expire in March, 1957.

The pace of Canada's growth is quickening, and regional shifts quickening, officials said. By 1956, they estimate, Canada's population may total about 16,000,000, compared with 15,200,000 in mid-1954 and 14,009,000 when the last decennial census was taken in 1951.

In the future the 10-year count will still be more important than the national five-year count. Questions will be more detailed and it still will guide redistribution of federal political ridings. Boundary changes still will be considered only once every decade.

INQUEST CONVENES IN MOTHER-CHILD MURDER-SUICIDE

Charred Skeletons Found in Woodlot

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)—Sequel to the grisly find of charred skeletons in a farmer's woodlot, an inquest was scheduled for today into the deaths of Mrs. Adrien Tessier, 34, and her son Richard, 3.

Lieut. Maurice Valiquette of the Quebec provincial police Friday night in Montreal described as murder and suicide the deaths of the woman and child who had been missing from their home here since July 27.

He said the woman—who had suffered fits of depression before her disappearance — apparently killed her son and then set fire to turpentine on the body. Remains of the child were found in the hollow of a stump, saturated with turpentine, 500 feet from a road near his mill home in the eastern townships.

Mrs. Tessier's husband and son-in-law identified articles and remnants of clothing found at the scene as those of the missing woman.

These included a rosary and ring. Some of the woman's clothes were burned, indicating she may not have died in the fire in an attempt to snuff it out after committing the act. A post-mortem showed up there and subsequent searches, involving 500 men, were unsuccessful.

Mayor Burtt Likely to Receive Acclamation for Second Term

TRENTON (Special) — Critics of Trenton's civic council if any of the four candidates nominated will qualify to run against Mayor Burtt, who served Trenton as mayor this year. Nominees have until 3.00 p.m. to withdraw. The election has been set for Monday, December 6.

Election for council seats is a certainty unless something unforeseen happens. Only the candidates nominated for mayor, thanked Ross Burtt for seconding his nomination. Only the latest nominee, Chief Magistrate for Trenton for 1953 withdraw your name and give us a contest," the Senator suggested. This remark from the Senator brought an assurance from Mr. Burtt that he would fight the issue.

Senator Fraser made special note of the large number of women present at the nomination speeches. "One thing that impresses me more than anything else is the increasing role of municipal business," he said. No higher honor can be conferred on a citizen of a community than be elected to the mayor's office, the Senator observed. In congratulating Mr. Burtt the Senator stressed that the job of mayor is the greatest honor that carries with it the greatest responsibility.

FORTIFIED AGAINST A-BOMB

Senator Fraser pointed out that Trenton is an extremely fortunate community, when it is realized that any of the 22 communities he deals with as a Senator from any of the provinces Trenton had made since it was a town with a population of 1,000 people. Since Trenton in 1923, He said Trenton today has a population of 15,000 people and the personnel of the RCAF establishments. He referred to the million dollar airport, the largest from the airbase that flowed into the business phase of the town.

The Senator informed his listeners that the heads of two large industries have frankly told him that if they were to set up new plants in Canada, they are going to locate in Trenton. "I am telling you this only to them," he said. "The progress of Trenton has not been forgotten during the years I have served in the press or hear on the street", the Senator declared.

Progress, he continued depends on how much we are willing to put into Trenton and how much we are willing to give in civic pride. It doesn't cost a lot to boost your town like. It means what you contribute to Trenton. Senator Fraser spoke of personal gain. Senator Fraser called on the people of Trenton to forget hatred and vindictiveness. Turning to Mr. Burtt, the Senator remarked "by giving us a clean campaign and your support I'll be your mayor in 1955."

OBJECTS TO CRITICISM

Mr. Burtt objected to criticism of his administration. He endeavored to explain his policy regarding the Trenton Memorial Hospital, he said, "is a question of dollars and cents. We have got to stop waste and extravagance in order during an exchange between Mr. Burtt and the Senator.

Mayor Mr. Burtt had concluded his remarks Senator Fraser asked Mr. Burtt if he would be prepared to ask the speakers a question. The chairman declined.

"Will he (Mr. Burtt) indeed that he has his sweetest smile," Senator Fraser. Mr. Burtt did not answer the question.

O. A. Hyes nominated as a candidate for mayor reference to the Trenton Memorial Park Board of which he is secretary. He declined. Mayor Burtt and Alcoll for not helping the Parks management during 1954.

Mrs. James nominated for council charged that the $75,000 appropriated for auditorium in the new high school would have been better spent on a community centre proposed to provide both an auditorium and an artificial ice rink.

Mayor Whitton May Run Again

OTTAWA (CP)—Mayor Charlotte Whitton maintained Friday she will not seek re-election in next month's civic voting but vowed she will be in the fight anyway.

The 58-year-old mayor, who said Thursday that Liberal and Progressive Conservative politicians urged her to run, said Whitton' alliance, told reporters she will go to the hustings to tell voters "the facts."

"I don't have to be a candidate to be in the party pest in this city. I'm going to be."

Several city politicians said they thought Miss Whitton will change her mind and run against the three men who already have entered the campaign.

Two Overcome By Coal Gas

The screaming of a four-year-old boy who woke from his sleep when affected by coal gas fumes was responsible for saving a North Sidney Street home early this morning.

Overcome by the fumes were Albert Coles, age 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Coles, and his sister Brenda, age 8. Firemen worked over both with a resuscitator.

Mrs. Coles reported that the lad was first screaming in his bed and when she got up to investigate, she passed out. She revived, then passed out again as his sister was also overcome by the fumes.

Mr. Coles was away at work when the accident occurred and was called home by his wife. Mrs. Coles and Mr. Coles' brother, Mrs. Clifford Coles, later were affected and became sick at the stomach.

Anglicans Urge United Religious Observance of National Occasions

TORONTO (CP)—The Church of England in Canada wants a united religious observance of all national occasions.

The executive council of the church's general synod, at the concluding session of its five-day annual meeting, decided Friday to ask the federal government for united observance "in accordance with the traditions of this democratic tradition of this country."

A resolution asking such action of the federal government followed a sharp debate on a report of the committee on Protestant - Roman Catholic relations.

Rt. Rev. Philip Carrington, archbishop of Quebec, criticized the report as being unfriendly. He made no comment on a statement that official relationships are "simply not countenanced by the Roman Catholic church."

The report said in conclusion: "We must be more faithful to our own people and neglect the opportunity to co - operate with other non-Roman bodies, we may discover some day that we have neglected our own best souls at that rich religious heritage which is ours."

"Don't let them make your flesh creep at that extent," said Archbishop Carrington.

Many actions by Roman Catholics could be regarded as quite unfriendly, Archbishop Carrington said. But to draw attention to them in this way was not helpful to the cause of Christian unity.

"The mere fact that it is impossible for religious denominations to have a united service for such occasions as the Queen's visit or the coronation of the queen or Remembrance Sunday shows that you cannot get action," said Rt. Rev. W. F. Wilkinson, coadjutor bishop of Toronto.

"These problems are very real. They will not be settled by running us of having animus in our blood."

He introduced the resolution which was passed by council after minor changes.

Bricklayer Sends Pay Home By Pigeon Post

LONDON (AP)—Every Friday morning a pigeon flutters through the window of Mrs. Kathleen Burgman's kitchen in suburban Thornton Heath. She catches it and untics from its legs her housekeeping money.

Mrs. Burgman's husband, Bill, a 50-year-old bricklayer, started the pay by pigeon post service 15 years ago. It lets her get the weekend shopping done Friday morning, instead of waiting until Bill comes home with his pay.

The system also gives Bill's pet pigeons an outing. Not once has it failed.

"The only snag," said Mrs. Burgman, "is rain. Then the notes get wet and I have to dry them out with the iron."

MONTREAL (CP)—Two youngsters with a yen to be cowboys were arrested Friday night for allegedly taking horses from the Montreal police compound on St. Helen's island.

Story of Lionism In Canada, U.S. Given to Club

At the regular meeting of the Lions Club Thursday night at Lattimer's Tea Room, Bruce Hall and the cost contractor for the Ontario Hydro spoke on "History of the Lions Club" and supplied many interesting facts and figures.

"The history of Lionism dates back to the year 1916 when Melvin Jones conceived the idea of uniting, on the basis of unselfish service, business men's clubs in the United States which had no other affiliations. This was a distinct departure from the practice of forming business men's clubs primarily for business purposes.

"The International Association of Lions Clubs however was not organized until 1917, when the organization meeting was held in Chicago, Illinois at which approximately 50 independent clubs were represented. It was at this meeting that time for the first annual convention of Lions Clubs and the convention was held in Dallas, Texas in October 1917 at which about 25 clubs were represented.

"The organization at that time was officially known as International Association of Lions Clubs but was changed to the name it has come to be known as "Lions International".

"The Lions Association had more than doubled its membership and had extended into Canada. By 1927 it had become truly international in every sense into Mexico, China and the number of clubs had increased to 1,810 with a membership of 61,000 Lions.

"This expansion and growth has continued steadily until now there are almost 11,000 Lions Clubs with members in all geographical locations on six continents, ventured in more than 486,000 service-minded business and professional men. Truly, the International Association of Lions Clubs is the largest, most active and most influential civic organization in the world.

"In Canada as of May 31st, 1954, there were 342 Clubs with 21,000 members of which District A, comprising two parts of Quebec, has 278 clubs and 13,000 members. District B, organized in 1920 with the chartering of a club of 49 members at Windsor, Ontario, has increased to 69 clubs in its present status of District A1 to which belong approximately 30 regions with 256 clubs and 11,500 members and District A8 in Quebec, comprising two regions (Zones 12 and 19) with 20 clubs and 1,500 members.

"Through the efforts of its members, District A was successful in raising over $1,000,000 in raising over $1,000,000 ($77 per member) and over $900,000 was spent on service work by the various committees. This represents 85 per cent of funds raised being disbursed to service work.

"An analysis of the results of the efforts of the 636 members in the 16 clubs of zone Number 11, in District A3 presents a similar picture. Funds amounting to $31,500 ($50 per member) were raised and $30,900 or 98 per cent spent on service work.

"However, a further analysis of the efforts of the 32 (an average) members of our own club presents a different picture. Funds amounting to only $728 ($24) per member) were raised and $182 or 23 per cent disbursed to service work.

"This comparison has not been made with the idea of criticizing the officers or members of the Club but rather as an incentive to improve on this situation. While it must be considered that last year was our first year and as such the results were commendable, as individuals Club members as ours should not be satisfied with less than a 100 per cent improvement. Indications so far this year are such that this is not too much to expect. Perhaps I should have suggested 200 per cent.

"Regardless of what improvement we make, we should not be satisfied that it is the best, we can always do better with a little more effort.

"In closing, may I suggest that our slogan be:

"We Do Have Done We Can Do Better."

OLD MAN WINTER WITHHOLDS HIS PUNCH

Very little below-normal temperatures are in store for Canada for the next 30 days, according to this chart prepared by the U.S. weather bureau. Only the southwestern part of the country will have much to worry about from Old Man Winter. But this, of course, does not mean it will be balmy and springlike.

In the event of retirement or discharge or death before attaining five years of service, payment for such accumulated sick leave credits shall be at the discretion of the Police Commission.

HEALTH PLAN CHANGED

At present a Blue Cross health plan in effect for policemen of all ranks is paid for by police. The police were asking for a Blue Cross and Physicians Service Incorporated medical plan for themselves and their dependents paid for by the Commission.

The Board ruled that the Commission pay one half the cost of a Blue Cross Hospital and Surgical plan from Nov. 1st of this year.

Service pay for all ranks, retroactive to Jan. 1st of this year, was awarded as follows: after five years service, 10 cents per day; 10 years, 15 cents; 15 years, 20 cents; 20 years, 25 cents.

A request for a 40 hour work week, while recognized by the Board as a trend in both industry and municipal services, was not granted at this time.

The report was signed by all members of the Board.

Trading Is Slow On Local Market

Trading was slower than usual on the Belleville Produce Market this morning. Only about 14 vendors turned out for business under the dark skies. Poor weather probably partly responsible for discouraging this flow of business.

Beets and carrots sold for 50 cents a six-quart basket, with carrots at $2.75 a hamper; parsnips were 75 cents a basket; turnips sold from five to 10 cents; winter radishes 10c berry box; cabbage sold from 5 to 25c; cauliflower was up to 25 cents; cauliflower were up to 30 cents a head; celery heads were 10 cents each, three for 25 cents. Onions were 75 cents a basket for Spanish, 50 for cooking. Broccoli was 15 cents a berry box; Brussel Sprouts 25 cents a box. Squash brought 10-15 cents for peppers, and 15-35 cents for hubbard. Potatoes were $2.25 per 75-lb. bag or 50 cents a basket.

Apples made up the bulk of the fruit offerings with fancy Spies at $3.15 the bushel, 90 cents a basket; second grade Sweets, Spies and McIntosh were 75 cents a basket. Snows and cookers were 75 cents a peck, with few pumpkins sold at 15 cents.

Cider was $1 a gallon; jars of beet relish were 20-25 cents.

'House Planning' Discussed At Film Council

The regular monthly meeting of the Belleville and District Film Council was held in the Library on Tuesday evening with Mr. Charles Hyde, the president, in the chair.

Mr. Ross Bailey, bursar of the Belleville General Hospital, was the speaker of the evening. His subject was: "Co-operative House Planning Study." Mr. Bailey, who is president of the Belleville Co-operative House Planning group, traced the thought back to the Rose Bowers Planning Group in England which was formed over a 100 years ago; then to the Canadian movement started in Antigonish, Quebec, by Father Tompkins of Ottawa.

Due to his efforts St. Patrick's College, Ottawa, published a Guide to Co-operative House Planning. From this beginning groups are working in Ottawa, Peterborough, Lindsay and Belleville.

A group is composed of from 30 to 40 families meeting once a week. This group is broken up into smaller groups for intensive study. Usually it takes from eight to ten months of planning. The Central Mortgage and Housing assist financially.

HIRED CONTRACTOR

A hired contractor – supervised by the Board, then showed a film entitled "Mr. Mayor." This film showed clearly the success of this study in Granby, Quebec. Mr. Ward also showed a color film on farming in New Zealand. This was instructive as the film showed what was being accomplished in applying science to farming.

The meeting closed with members discussing the events of the evening over a cup of tea.

Stories of Famous Hymns

By HORACE B. POWELL

Yield Not To Temptation

Yield not to temptation,
For yielding is sin,
Each victory will help you
Some other to win:
Fight manfully onward,
Dark passions subdue,
Look ever to Jesus,
He'll carry you through.

Shun evil companions,
Bad language disdain,
God's name hold in rev'rence,
Nor take it in vain;
Be thoughtful and earnest,
Kind-hearted and true,
Look ever to Jesus,
He'll carry you through.

To him that o'ercometh,
God giveth a crown,
Through faith we shall conquer,
Though often cast down;

He who is our Savior
Our strength will renew,
Look ever to Jesus,
He'll carry you through.

Ask the Savior to help you,
Comfort, strengthen and keep you
He is willing to aid you,
He will carry you through.

The words of the famous old hymn fairly danced from the pen of Horatio Richmond Palmer as he sat writing in his study, one day in 1868.

He came in a burst of inspiration", the hymnist explained afterward, telling of the incident.

"Mr. Palmer was busy with a piece of heavy literary work when the idea for his hymn flashed upon him. He laid aside the writing with which he was engaged to dash off the hymn verses and then the music, both of which have become so well-known and loved by Christians everywhere.

All of the hymn stanzas were set down within an hour's time and not one of them—except the third which was improved slightly—has ever undergone any change since that writing.

The new song was introduced to the public in the National Sunday School Teachers' Magazine and came into wide use almost immediately. It was one of the brightest hymns—always—in the famous Moody-Sankey evangelistic meetings.

A friend of mine owned a farm in Pennsylvania. One of his employees was a paroled convict who had been sentenced to 20 years to life for murder. He was released in the custody of my friend, after serving 17 years. He had to be home before nightfall. He was not permitted to use a gun during the hunting season—if at any other time—and he was restricted to the use of soft drinks.

Friends of my friend jocularly said, "You'd better nail down the things you don't want to lose."

It was shortly before Thanksgiving. The doomed turkey had been chosen. The larder had been replenished. The ladies were briskly scurrying about lest they forget some trivial item. They had detailed Johnson (not his real name,) the paroled man, to kill the turkey. Johnson said perhaps the Colonel could do a better job. He didn't like killing things.

The day before Thanksgiving a telegram was delivered, addressed to Johnson. It was a communication from the War Department. Johnson asked to be excused and went into the barn. There, on the seat of a tractor, he read the brief message of the death of his son, first lieutenant Johnson, in action. Nearest of kin, his father.

Johnson returned to the house dry-eyed. He thrust the telegram into the hands of one who trusted him. He said, "This was my son. This honored boy left a dishonored father. I was all he had. I was in the 'pen' while he was fighting in Europe."

The boss said, "Well, this will not be a happy Thanksgiving for you, will it?"

The reply was quick. "The happiest Thanksgiving I have ever had, sir. So much to be thankful for. What I didn't do, my son did. Of us ran now the ruins of some hopes, but let us look for the seeds of hope. God has them waiting for us.

for his freedom.

He looks at the church and remembers how it inspired the laws and patterned the institutions by which he lives. He realizes that the church is the mother of our culture, the preserver of beauty, truth and goodness.

SHALLOW LIVING

And when we get down below the surface of shallow living, even the least forward of us can find some cause for giving thanks.

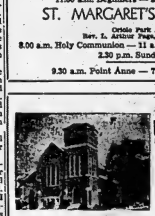
A Lift For Living

Thanks for What?

In the fall on Thanksgiving Day we give thanks for the fruits of our labors. Truly we are grateful for the crops which the good earth has brought forth. We thank our Creator for the breath of life in our bodies and the light of reason in our minds. We shall gather in our homes as families and our hearts will well up with gratitude for the fidelities of love and the joys of friendship.

But during this season of thanksgiving we shall hear some sour notes. Some have lost homes in hurricanes and some have lost crops through drought. They may well ask, "Thanks for what?"

And home are so greedy to get things from life that they do not stop to think of what they have got from it.



I have a little granddaughter just approaching her third birthday. When I go to see her, she greets me with the question, "Any presents, Diz?" (Just why my grandchildren call me "Diz," I don't know, but they do.) But I also have another granddaughter, now six. The other day she called me and said, "Thanks for the present, Diz." She is growing up. She is learning to be grateful. That is a mark of growing up.

UNPAYABLE DEBT

George Bernard Shaw said that "a gentleman is one who puts back into life more than he takes out." True. But also it is true that a gentleman thinks he never will be able to put back as much as he took out. He looks back at his parents and he feels himself under an unpayable debt for the sleepless nights of mother and the sacrificial labor of father.

A gentleman with his fine nature feels grateful beyond words to his country for the protection and privileges he receives. He thinks of the brave lads who now lie beneath the sod because they fought

PIPE DREAM

Legend to the contrary, women are not unreliable. In fact you can depend on them to do almost anything—and they invariably do. However this quality is only 100 per cent evident when a woman sets out to promote (would perpetuate be a better word?) the feminine instincts within her.

As part of the economic machine she may be considered sloppy, inefficient, lacking in ability, but as a woman, pure and simple, moving in her own world, she is a rugged iconoclast, and as such is indispensable. Men may cause wars, famines, raise taxes, evolve laws but only a woman can put them in the shade by the simple process of wearing a hat or leading a dog down the main street.

Granted the hat will probably resemble nothing on earth, while the dog (according to the latest trend) will be a powder-blue or bottle-green poodle. Yet it is the significance behind the display that causes the comment. They are carrying on the oldest tradition in the world, one that began in the Garden of Eden—that of the female right to rebel against convention.

Their latest rebellion however should come in for more than the usual comment. Stand well back men—women may be taking up pipe smoking. In the window of a local tobacconist shop is exhibited the latest stratagem which now may be employed by the gentle sex to further their iconoclasms. Small pipes, in appealing color schemes and with fancy bowls neatly embellished with rhinestones are now on the market for women. The tobacconist reports that the pipes have been in vogue in the U.S. for some time, and results, apparently from the current controversy over the threat of lung cancer. However, he states, only a few of them have been purchased thus far. This is easily understandable since most people probably are going to give their women smoking material. As a rule it is unusual to find a woman enjoying a briar, but there would be nothing precedent-setting about it.

Some frontier women used to puff, puffed a corncob pipe. Even today, in some remote parts of Ireland, you may find an old woman quietly filling a clay pipe. Probably the popularity of the pastime was snuffed out by the advent of the Indian into the social conventions. It is not so very long ago that a woman was considered very bold if she indulged in a cigaret. Time and Emily Pankhurst changed all that.

Since they were freed of many former taboos women, in a brutally efficient manner, have proved themselves a ready match for their male counterparts. They can build cars, design advertising, win lawsuits and elections, drink whiskey, fight wars and swim lakes. On top of that they can carry umbrellas in August, tote green, pink or blue poodles, and wear impossible hats in public. Why then can't they smoke pipes?

It's a woman's world, after all. Why raise smoke about it?

IS YOUR LIFE WORTH $30?

How much does your automobile insurance cost you annually?

Probably considerably more than $30.

Yet for that sum you could reduce the danger of death or injury 80 per cent—not for one year only but for the life of your vehicle.

Experts addressing the American College of Surgeons meeting at Atlantic City, N.J., are authority for that statement.

Seat belts, steering columns which telescope under impact and aluminum foam noses on automobiles are some of the safety devices they discussed.

The modern jet-powered automobiles has as little protection as a tea cup shipped loose in a barrel, said the surgeon-general of the U.S. Air Force.

"One might think that with all like this would hasten changes in automobile design, particularly as the devices do not involve any radical alterations.

It is a good bet, though, that automobile manufacturers will do nothing. They will do nothing because the public will not demand action. Indeed, the motoring public has demonstrated not merely its indifference to but its active dislike for safety devices. Seat belts are already on the market, but few people buy them.

We cannot help wondering, though, if a fortune might not be lying around loose awaiting the first automobile manufacturer who will define public hazard and produce a safe car in spite of the lack of demand for it. Sales might show a rocketing curve after a few practical demonstrations of the car's safety features.

The American College of Surgeons has been told of the case of a young woman who had gland glands from a dead baby successfully transplanted into her body, restoring her health.

Yes sir, she's my baby!

Provincial police at Montreal say that enough timber has been stolen off forest limits of the Consolidated Paper Company to build 850 bungalows. This is one case in which the police cannot complain that their task resembles that of looking for a needle in a haystack.

TULIP BULBS

The tulip bulbs appear to me
As dead as anything can be.
Last year we'd've paid the bills
For hyacinths and daffodils,
But on the day the bulbs arrive
I don't prove they're still alive.

Believing that is what they'll be.

I send to plant them, row by row,
With faith that in the spring
they'll grow
No sign of color is in sight.
I read the labels, red and white—

Each parcel plainly marked for me—

No warmth of life my fingers find.

No movement seen of any kind
I cannot prove what I believe,
But in some way I can't perceive
From bulbs in cold and seeming dead
Will blossom tulips white and red.

Igor Gouzenko Makes Own Way

(Windsor Star)

Word that Igor Gouzenko is working on his second novel is encouraging. It is said the man who exposed the Soviet spy ring in Canada in 1945 has no intention of remaining in this country at the end of the state."

Indeed at the moment, with a Book of the Month Club selection to his credit, and a motion picture based on it pending, he rates as Canada's top novelist.

His first book, which undoubtedly repaid Canada, through income taxes, a substantial part of whatever it has spent in maintaining and guarding him to date. The income taxes on several hundred thousand dollars are no mean sum.

Mr. Gouzenko did Canada a great service, and whatever is spent in his behalf will not be

Stuffed Bird Not Beautiful

(Sault Ste. Marie Star)

Many people were rightly shocked at the recent killing of a beautiful and rare Arctic owl. There seems to be no good reason for the destruction of this bird, other than the desire to have it stuffed, a costly business at best, for the production of an ornament of dubious beauty.

The most beautiful thing about any bird is the way it flies, perched on a branch, with unwinking eyes and head at a slight angle, in house room, however lovely the bird may have been in life.

It seems an act of boorishness to pluck a creature of rare beauty from the air to transform it into a mummified corpse.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

NOT UP TO REQUIREMENTS

When St. Paul stood before King Agrippa and poured out the burden of his Christian message, the king smiled cynically and said, "Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian."

There have been millions of Agrippas in the world ever since and there are millions of them still. They are "almost" Christians. The believe Jesus was a great and wise man. They maintain that the Golden Rule is the greatest combination of w o r d s ever put together. They accept the statement that one must love his neighbor as himself. And on the whole they believe that the Ten Commandments are sound and reasonable, provided one does not become fanatical about them and try to carry them out literally.

Paul's reply to Agrippa was, "I would to God, that not only thou, but also all that hear me this day, were both almost, and altogether such as I am, except these bonds (chains)."

There is a profound difference between the almost Christian and altogether Christian. It can be said with confidence and assurance that God has no use for "almost" Christians any more than He has for Christians. That variety of "Christianity" will give no one peace of the mind and triumph on earth or salvation in heaven. Only the altogether Christian will get any one into heaven.

Sailplanes Are Sporting

(By Peter T. White in the New York Times)

Right now, smack in the age of supersonic jets and rocket planes, and for all we know, atom-powered air-craft may be just below the horizon — the most standout exciting thing in the air is a leisurely 50 miles an hour, without any sort of motor, whatever.

It's done in high-performance gliders, also termed sailplanes, by some 2,000 Americans from 14 states and over 50 years of age who are fiercely proud to call themselves soaring pilots.

Like a sailplane pilot why he prefers one to a power plane and he will answer with the condescension of a windjammer skipper sizing up the Queen Mary. If you must go somewhere in a hurry, he will agree, there is nothing like a high-performance plane. You push a throttle — and one flight is like to be as dull as the next. But soaring presents a sporting challenge every time. You must trust to unpredictable air currents, plus your skill and luck. It's the purest form of flying, most nearly like a bird's.

Soaring is essentially, the art of keeping aloft and moving more or less literally on hot air. How amazingly this can be managed was shown not long ago by Frank Johnson, a college student who fled from Cuba in 1952 and soared across Oklahoma into Kansas, thereby snatching the world distance record and a Russian lady soarer. Another American stayed up for 24 hours.

Light sailplanes, streamlined to the utmost, can take advantage of the slightest rising updrafts provided by rising warm air called thermals. These radiate upward

Schweitzer's Magic Method

(Montreal Gazette)

Dr. Albert Schweitzer has accomplished in one lifetime what other men would need several lifetimes to accomplish. He has won world fame as philosopher, theologian, musician, medical doctor and missionary. He has built, preached and practised what he preached, leaving the highest praise and crown of civilization to set up his hospital among the natives of Labarene in Africa. Every year he goes to Europe to relive his speech of acceptance.

How has he been done, done, within the allotted span of one life? One answer is given by John Gunther in his book on Albert Schweitzer in a recent issue of Reader's Digest. He quotes from the door of the doctor's study at his mission in Africa is a printed notice: "Work as long as it is possible — don't stay longer than your strength. Discover how to work to do."

This notice has its meaning not because Dr. Schweitzer does not like to see people: it has meaning because he is very ill indeed, has been close to dead. Nobody, to him, is unimportant. He says: "I live by communication," he says, "and would not live if I could not."

The very fact that "the Doctor" has been in the habit of leaving come and a plea to show a reasonable attitude towards time itself. Perhaps there is a knock at the door, with that notice upon it, to tell the interviewer's manifold ure of his life and his talents.

As Dr. Schweitzer has said: "I am a doctor, but I am also an organizator." And there is much to learn in this. It is not time — generous but never wasted.

Oil Canada's Top Mineral

(Victoria Colonist)

So rapid has been the industry's expansion that it may not be generally realized that oil has become Canada's leading mineral, outranking nickel, copper and gold. The value of crude oil production last year was under $200,000,000 last year and will be substantially more than twice this year, with production showing a 25 per cent increase in the first six months.

All this has been accomplished through the discoveries and coverage of private enterprise. Even now with numerous oilfields proved and in production, private investment is pouring into them for more than it is taking out in the value of crude oil. Expenditures in the search for oil and development of oil and natural gas in Western Canada alone amounted to $350,000,000 in 1954 and are expected to exceed $350,000,000 next year.

Along with this there are the broad economic effects of this comparatively new industry on employment, income, and population. These are already large and difficult to measure, are of enormous potential importance. Transit and its numerous subsidiary activities are an excellent objective lesson in what capital can accomplish for the nation.

Jail Only Place For Sex Maniac

(Sudbury Daily Star)

The murderers of two women in Toronto by a person whom the police believe now described as a sex maniac places the hand of public authorities on a category that has not yet learned to keep this criminal type under lock and key.

A man who commits a murder under the influence of liquor is held accountable for his crime. No students of human behaviors rush to the defence of this class of criminal illness to say that such men should be in hospitals instead of form-of crime.

Sex crimes have been checked in a lot of nonsense calculated to arouse sympathy for the poor fellow who is the victim of his own emotions. Isn't it true that most crime that is not in uncontrollable emotions.

Take a look at the law books! Note the penalties specified and written into the law for sexual crimes. The Criminal Code made the crime of rape punishable by the death penalty. But what judge will sentence to death penalty for this crime?

Here is the reason why most sex criminals escape with light jail sentences, to be again turned loose to prey on the public in form-of crime.

It is the fault of the judges and magistrates if the law provides for short jail terms then for.

It has been said that sex criminals can be cured by medical treatment. There is no evidence to support such claims. The records of prisons are filled with case histories of "repeaters" who testified that they "didn't know what did it."

The drunken motorist who slays a fellow human being seldom knows why he took too many drinks, although he blows out the robbers plead that they don't know what they did it.

But do you hear a lot of tripe about them being in hospitals instead of jails. Not much.

In connection with the Toronto murders, it is only simple sense to note that the police rounded up and questioned "known sex cases." Why? Simply because crimes point to men and women.

If a government was writing the law to suit his own behavior he could scarcely be more lenient in dealing with sexual offences.

How many women and children must suffer or die at the hand of sex criminals before the hands of the lawmakers are forced by public opinion to write life imprisonment into the law books as the safest insurance against sex crimes?

Let aroused public opinion can force the issue.

Personal Health Talks

YOUR ARTERIES NICE AND SOFT

Dr. Brady

Since Dr. Osler published the first edition of his Practice (sometimes called "the doctors' bible") sixty-Two years ago, medicine, making those years has been somewhat slow as much about, has been marking time in regard to hardening of the arteries. No 20th-century authority has illuminated this question more than Osler did sixty years ago when he described arteriosclerosis as "the natural wear and tear to which the tubes" (arteries) are subjected. Longevity is a vascular question, which has been well-expressed in the axiom that "a man is as old as his arteries".

Yes, if you're a trusting soul, you can take various "shots" and follow freak diets which purport to reduce blood pressure.

Medical authorities from Osler to the present day have censured their ignorance of the nature of arteriosclerosis as skillfully as they have of it. Osler wrote: "A scientific double talk.

A typical authority of Osler's era said that hypertension (high blood pressure) is the primary cause of arteriosclerosis, but he Latin.

cautiously added that "some think the hypertension is secondary, a view substantiated by recent studies in polite language — that is, the difference between systolic and diastolic blood pressure.

A typical authority of the present day clarifies the subject in a few well-chosen words (if any of you kids plan to study medicine, don't take this seriously):

"The term arteriosclerosis has today a stricter connotation than formerly . . . no longer connotes every lesion that causes" (probably the writer meant everything other doctors regard as) "hardening of the arteries. Morphologically and pathogenetically" (remember what I told you, kids) "it is readily distinguishable from such lesions as" (hang onto your hats) "fatty infiltration of the arteries, syphilitic, bacterial and infectious arteritis" (boy, this is getting out of hand — at least I, Brady, don't know the difference, if any, between bacterial and infectious) "endarteritis obliterans, thromboangiitis obliterans (Buerger), Moenckeberg sclerosis and periarteritis nodosa . . ."

With the exception of Buerger's disease, the alleged diseases which arteriosclerosis is "readily distinguishable" are composed of horse feathers and hog Latin.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

GET FUN OUT OF IT

One reason why so many people look upon the work they do from a point of view just something to earn them money is that they get no fun out of it. Never can a worker do his best work if he doesn't look upon it as something important something to add to his growth of mind and character.

In the first place, we must be interested in the work we do. We must like it. That's one of the first rules for success. Then we must have enthusiasm for our work. Take the example of Fabre, the great writer about insects. They tours he would lie upon the ground studying a community of them. Every moment a thrilling one.

And take the example of Audubon, famous throughout the world for his wonderful drawings and paintings of birds. His family wanted him to be anything but an artist, but loving all nature and studying birds was what gave him the greatest happiness. It was that.

It is through example that we are moved and inspired. If we see a worker getting fun out of his work, and doing it well, we feel encouraged by it. We see that we can do something within us that is useful. When we feel that we are accomplishing good things we are inspired by our example.

Every is that one who has found his work, and who gets daily fun out of it. That work could be so important? Many a one has achieved great things because of the pure pleasure of having done something for the fun of it! That's what inspired Admiral Peary to discover the North Pole.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In nature, often the thing that is designed to be the greatest defence turns out to be the greatest weakness. The muskox is the most tragic example. This rugged ox, which has survived from the Pleistocene period, savage climate of the arctic, was given as its chief protection the ability to trick of backing together into a solid circle, whether they herd was five or fifty oxen. And with their massive heads, armed with sharp curved horns, pointing out in all directions, they stood off the mighty arctic wolves and goodness knows what forgotten and long-extinct marauders of the north.

The Indians and Eskimos held the muskox in great respect, and because their steaks are unrivalled, their skins and luxuriant hair, their manure for the fat, their great heavy horns, were the materials of survival in that stern arctic land. But it took a lot of courage and extraordinary equipment to go up against that wall of bearded heads, from which, at the slightest opportunity, it was impossible as a Jersey would leap to attack anyone approaching close enough: and as nimbly would leap back to safety.

But when the Indians and Eskimos got modern rifles, a herd of muskox was completely at their mercy. They did not run, as other animals do when shot. They stood fast and were easily slaughtered, standing.

Thus were not the only destroyers of the muskox. Victor Cahalane, in his "Mammals of North America," reckons that the various Peary expeditions that reached the arctic coast over 600 of these great animals, whose number was then 1,000. The first played by the severity of their habitat.

The museums of Europe and America were offering thousands of dollars for a muskox, and to get them, hunters would travel by rail an entire herd, which they did with the greatest ease, in order to capture a couple of calves.

Today, the muskox, sadly reduced in numbers and vanished from a great many of his former ranges, is rigidly protected by the Canadian government. But it was almost too late, because of the muskox's conviction, supplied him by nature, that he was unassailable.

Community Nursing Registry Performs Important Service

Need a nurse?

Call the Community Nursing Registry.

The Community Nursing Registry is a non-profit, 24-hour-a-day community service organization of registered nurses, administered by a board of governors and a registrar. It acts as nurses' employment agency, professional discipline committee, nurse distribution centre and community nursemaid.

It is a mutual benefit society of nurses that pays big dividends to the community. It serves by efficient utilization of available nursing service.

There are 37 Community Nursing Registries in Ontario. They operate with the blessing of the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario and the Ontario government. All Registries operate under an identical constitution and by-laws, plus regulations established and administered locally to meet the needs of the community.

As a non-profit organization Community Nursing Registry finances its 24-hour services from members' $25 annual dues and service charges on telephone calls for doctors and related nursing services and the Victorian Order of Nurses and the local Health Department.

ELIGIBLE FOR GRANTS

The provincial government has added a permissive clause to the Municipal Act to permit municipal assistance to the Registry if needed. In some other centres the Registry is listed as Community Chest or Red Feather agency and financial assistance from these funds supplements revenues from dues and service charges.

The Registry's job is to meet the community's need for registered nursing care by providing the patient with the care he needs; placing the nurse in work she is best qualified to do; maintaining a high standard of professional and ethical conduct of registrants, and utilizing effectively available nursing service by discovering the community's nursing needs and surveying the economic needs of both nurses and patients.

Community Nursing Registry is a central service for the distribution of nursing service. If your demand for nursing service exceeds the supply of nurses the Registry channels the available supply to the neediest patients.

Nurses listed with the Registry are available for private duty in patient's homes or at the hospital. They can be summoned for emergencies, temporary general duty work, for temporary service with public health agencies, industrial dispensaries, doctors' offices and ambulance service by car, train or plane.

ASSIGNED IN ROTATION

When a nurse's private or temporary case work is over she notifies the Registry that she is again available for duty and is subsequently assigned on a rotation basis. Nurses available through the Registry usually work an eight hour shift at a dollar an hour, the same fee which nurses receive in the Belleville General Hospital.

Fees in Belleville are below the $12 a day minimum in Toronto and the $10 minimum currently in force in most Ontario communities.

Belleville's Community Nursing Registry was founded in 1943. Its membership has varied from 28 to 72 with a present listing of 42 nurses. Increasing employment of nurses on the staff of the Belleville General Hospital has reduced the number of nurses available for private service through the Registry.

MANY BENEFITS

Community benefits arising from the work of the Registry include prompt service of nursing needs through centralized listing of available nurses; 24-hour service; certification of nurses' credential; consultation services on patient complaints and collective maintenance of nursing standards and discipline; assignment of nurses to neediest patients; appraisal of community needs and application of nursing service to these needs.

OFFICERS OF REGISTRY

Officers of the local Registry are: Hon. President, Miss M. L. Peard, director of nursing at the Belleville General Hospital; president, Mrs. Alice Thurston; first vice-president, Mrs. Doris Howie; secretary, Mrs. Jean Prentice; treasurer, Mrs. M. Newman; directors, Dr. C. B. Kennedy and Dr. R. S. Gibson; Dr. A. Buchan, H. P. M. Kane, members of the board of governors; nurse registrar for doctors and related nursing services and the Victorian Order of Nurses and the local Health Department.

ACCLAMATION FOR MAYOR

Aussie Title To Hartwig

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Rex Hartwig won the New South Wales tennis championship today by outbubing Mervyn Rose 6-3, 6-4, 8-6.

But Australian fans, looking ahead to the Davis Cup challenge round late next month, were keenly disappointed.

Hartwig and Rose produced the worst tennis seen in a final round on the White City courts since the end of the Second World War nine years ago.

Hartwig won because he showed flashes of more accurate than his fellow-Australian. Only once did Rose, the Australian champion, rise to the occasion. That was in the third set when, behind at 3-5 and 15-40 he staved off two match points.

FACE EVICTION

TORONTO (CP)—Thousands of roominghouse tenants in residential districts in Toronto face eviction when a provincial wartime regulation expires next Feb. 25. City property department officials said Friday court action to evict tenants will be taken where complaints are lodged against roominghouses. They said there have been many complaints. As a Second World War measure, the federal government permitted operation of roominghouses in any district.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

SHORT DISTANCE TRAVELLERS

We think we know all there is to know about Robins. They're with us months with us, draw our attention by their happy songs, please visual senses by their distinctive markings and red breasts, gather their food from our lawns and bushes, and nest as near our dwellings that we can easily watch their housekeeping. But have we any idea of where they are the other six months of the year?

Carelessly, we divide birds into residents and migrants, finding Robins, except for those of southern Ontario and the occasional lingerer elsewhere, into the second class. There our knowledge comes to an end, and we have even been made mistakes.

Some kinds of birds cover hundreds of miles spring and fall; but although Robins are found in summer as far north as the treeline and as far south from southern Ontario to Guatemala, it is not thought that individuals move many miles. Windsor's summer Robins are not residents, they winter in Kentucky; its winter Robins were born in the north.

FROZEN BY BANDING

This kind of thing has been provided by banding. Also it can be decided fairly accurately where and how far some Robins have flown because there is a difference in the plumage of those bred in the north east, those as far as Washington, D.C., and those of the Pacific coast.

From all this it seems to be pretty conclusive that our particular friends of summer are now enjoying territory left by other Robins, not as hardy as ours, that have gone to a warmer climate.

Flocks of a hundred or more collect in a district in early autumn and wander about together hunting for a desirable feeding ground. If your trees and bushes are able to supply mountain ash berries they may remain around for some days, then they will go on to feast elsewhere.

Gradually they join other flocks of Robins that are moving in a southerly direction, travelling by night. On their wintering grounds in the south they often take over a roost, where many hundreds gather. In the daytime they scatter to forage over a wide range, stripping the bushes of their favourite fruits: sour gum, dogwood, hackberry.

Most Canadians will see few Robins now until the temperature reaches slightly above freezing next spring. Their return might keep pace with the season, so that snow is melting and foliage has not yet appeared when our familiar friends again come to our lawns, looking for worms.

QUELPH HUNTER DIES

PEMBROKE (CP) — Alexander Clafton, 46, of Guelph, shot in a hunting accident a week ago, died in hospital Friday night. Police said Beaton was shot accidentally by his brother-in-law, Jack Fraser of Niagara Falls, Ont. No decision has been reached whether an inquest will be held.

PICTON

Hundred Houses To Be Constructed By McFarland Co.

PICTON — One hundred single family homes are to be built here by the H. J. McFarland Construction Company in connection with the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. The contract was recently let and the houses will be occupied by army service personnel. They will be located on property on Main Street East owned by Mr. McFarland. Contract includes all services, at no cost to the town, which will derive additional revenue in taxes.

Mayor McFarland also announced other developments here. Work will start immediately on the construction of a 40 x 120 foot service building for use by Bethlehem Steel Co. It will incorporate offices for the operating staff and Collector of Customs, maintenance and facilities. Site will be adjacent to the ore shipping dock on the High Shore just east of Picton. Ore mined at Marmora will be brought here for shipment.

Further building here includes telephone exchange at a cost of $150,000 by the Bell Telephone Co.

The mayor said that with much new building it should be possible to reduce taxes in the not too distant future.

Judicial Inquiry May Be Called Into Dismissal

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP)— Mayor L. H. Lewry, acting on a wave of public opinion, proposed a judicial inquiry Friday to settle a controversy over the firing of Moose Jaw's police chief.

Mayor Lewry, 35-year-old former newspaper man, suggested the inquiry on the heels of mounting dissension over the chief's dismissal and ultimatum by one group of police to organize a public meeting next week to air the situation.

The mayor said he was confident city council would endorse his proposal when it meets Monday night. Aldermen queried Friday indicated they would support it.

The row over Lewry is head of the commission which notified chief Bell on Thursday that his resignation was requested or he was dismissed. The chief, a veteran of 28 years on the force, refused to quit. Before handing over his duties to detective Minshall Jackson, sworn in as acting chief, he said he would appeal his dismissal to a judge of the Court of Queen's Bench.

The chief's dismissal climaxed a two-week row with the commission over his firing of patrol sergeant Harold Goodman Nov. 4. Chief Bell said he fired the sergeant after a fight in the police station involving an inspector.

Sentenced to Hang

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP)— Gerard Absi, 18, Friday night was sentenced to be hanged Feb. 11 for the shotgun murder of Fernand Bourassa last March 8.

Absi was sentenced by Mr. Justice Leon Lajoie less than four minutes after the jury, which deliberated for 45 minutes, found him guilty.

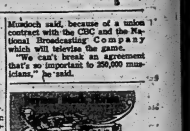
Must Be Members Of Association Says Murdoch



TORONTO (CP)—Walter Murdoch, director of the American Federation of Musicians in Canada, said today that musicians from outside Toronto will be permitted to appear in half-time ceremonies at the Grey Cup game Nov. 27 provided they are members of the federation.

Mr. Murdoch earlier denied union permission for the Preston Scout House band to take part in the half-time show because its union card was not in Canadian lane.

Band director Wilfred Blum said Friday his band, a musical precision drill team, will march in the game parade even if the union bars it from taking part in the half-time show.

Only union musicians can be allowed at the Grey Cup game, Mr. Murdoch said, because of a union contract with the CBC and the National Broadcasting Company which will televise the game.

"We can't break an agreement that's so important to 250,000 musicians," he said.

Weddings

COLBERT — GALLOWAY

A pretty autumn wedding was solemnized on Saturday, October 16th, at 1.00 p.m. by Rev. Ralph and G. J. Minielly, B.A., of King Street United Church, Trenton, when Dora Margaret Galloway, of Trenton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Galloway, became the bride of Albert Donald Colbert, of Dunnouth, N.B., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Colbert. Gladioli and chrysanthemums formed a pretty setting for the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a street-length gown of pale blue lace and net over taffeta, featuring a strapless bodice with halter neckline, matching lace jacket with short sleeves, and taffeta skirt with net overskirt. She wore matching blue net gloves, and shoulder length veil of embroidered net held by a halo of sweet peas and tiny baby flowers, and carried a cascade bouquet of red roses, white mums and clusters of fern with knotted streamers of white satin ribbon cascading to dress length.

Mrs. David Fargey, of West Huntingdon, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a street-length gown of pink satin and net with net overskirt, accented by bands of satin caught by rosettes on either side. The strapless bodice was enhanced by a matching net jacket with elbow length shirred sleeves. She wore a shoulder-length veil of pink embroidered net with matching floral halo, and carried a nosegay of pink, yellow and white mums.

Mr. W. P. O'Connor of Middleton Park, Trenton, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, acted as groomsman.

The reception was held at the Queensway Hotel, where the bride's mother, attired in navy blue crepe with matching accessories, and corsage of pink carnations received the guests. The bridegroom's mother was unable to attend.

For travelling to Toronto and other western points, the bride wore a brown twill suit with red and brown accessories, and corsage of red roses. Mr. and Mrs. Colbert will reside in Trenton.

Guests were present from Hallowray, West Huntingdon, Belleville and Springbrook.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was honored with a kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. Bert Solmes, Springbrook, Ontario.

CROCKER — CASSIBO

Lovely autumn flowers and potted plants adorned the chapel at the RCAF Station, Trenton, on Saturday, November 6, at 2 p.m. when the Reverend R. C. Ross united in marriage Carmelith Marguerita Cassibo, of Roulin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cassibo, to John Mac Crocker, of Newcastle, New Brunswick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Crocker, of Newcastle, N.B.

The chapel organist provided the traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Louis Cassibo, the bride was lovely in a floor-length gown of blue net over satin, with matching headdress and carrying a nosegay of roses.

Mrs. H. Guthrie, as matron of honor, was attired in mauve net over satin with corsage of yellow mums, and Miss Phyllis Harrison, of Belleville, as bridesmaid wore yellow net over satin in floor length, and corsage of mauve mums.

Mr. Len Morris, of RCAF Trenton, was best man.

For Parents Only

Public Speaking

By NANCY CLEAVER

"I've got to give an oral next week on helicopters. Could you give me some help?" How many parent of school age children receive a request like this!"

Sometimes a scholar will say frankly "I would love to be able to make a good speech! but I just don't know how to go about it. I'm be scared to death when I get up on my feet to talk. What if I can't say a word!"

No pupil should take such a pessimistic view of his own ability. There is no magic in making a good speech. Any one who is eager to learn can master the fundamental rules.

A very successful public speaker once gave this advice to would-be orators: "There are five directions to follow in the making of any good speech: have something to say, forget yourself, look at your audience, make your points, and then sit down. That any effective speech by these five rules, and it is altogether likely that the speaker is following them."

MUST INTEREST OTHERS

Perhaps the advice "have something to say" seems a little strange. But a speaker must have something in his speech of vital interest if he is to interest others. He must speak on a subject on which he has made sufficient preparation and done enough thinking that his material will hold the interest of his listeners.

Colorful illustrations which are well chosen and an occasional touch of humor will help to add to a speech. A speaker should choose the most interesting and exact words to express his ideas about a topic, and never attempt to say in the hearing of others that a dictionary should be consulted in case of doubt about the exact meaning or pronunciation of a word.

Poise and self-confidence are two characteristics of a good speaker who is able to forget himself. Good grooming and suitable clothes will give a great asset. An audience, even a school class room, is quick to comment on the way a speaker's appearance and decide whether or not the total effect is pleasing.

FUNDAMENTAL NEEDS

Psychologists state that the desire to be important is one of the fundamental human needs. Perhaps that accounts for the fact that the most winning public speakers are those who are keenly aware of the people who are listening to them. The advice to "look at your audience" is good, not at one person or at one section of the audience but at the audience as a whole.

It is worthwhile to take a minute or two at the first of a speech to make a friendly, happy contact by telling a story. An audience falls in love with a speaker who can poke a little fun at himself because he seems human and approachable.

Once introductory remarks are over, without apology or delay, plunge right into the speech. State clearly and concisely what is to be said, avoiding roundabout expressions like "it seems to me" or annoying hesitating "er-er-er". Do not worry about an occasional "ah". Likely the audience will be glad of the chance to catch up with the thought! Most speakers go much too fast.

RESTFUL REGISTER

Be sure that everyone can hear what is being said. There is a tendency to pitch one's voice too high in the excitement of making a speech. The "middle register" is most restful, with some variety in pitch and in rate of speaking.

The importance of clear enunciation and distinct articulation cannot be over-stressed. Mrs. Macy, the famous teacher of Helen Keller, had much sought-after speaker. She had learned the vital importance of giving each word its full value. If a few natural gestures come easily, use them. But do not use the artificial motion or one gesture over and over.

The final piece of advice to "sit down" once the speech is completed may seem foolish. But countless good speeches have been ruined by speakers who failed to do just that. Even after they have finished their remarks they have gone on and on, past several excellent stopping places, until their audience was weary and bored.

Every speaker should find out the exact length of speech which is wanted by the group to whom he is speaking. Then stick closely to that time limit. It is better to be too brief than to be too long!

tone; attended the bridegroom.

The reception was held at the home of the matron of honor, Mrs. Guthrie, Moira Street, Belleville. Those who assisted in serving included Mrs. Cassibo, Rose Cassibo and Ilene Cassibo, Violet Carter and Connie Guthrie.

Guests were present from Toronto, Brampton and Roulin.

Mr. and Mrs. Crocker are residing at 83 West Moira St., Belleville.

Going Places

Wardrobe Is Good Anywhere

BY SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

One of the standing gags of this travel business is about people, especially women, who can't go anywhere at all without buying a whole new wardrobe.

We're not the sort of these to whom that's up joke, permit us to offer some unsolicited advice that's the way you feel, it's probably only because you need a new wardrobe in general principles, not just to go places.

Unless you're just a show-off, chances are that what you've got in your closet right now will serve you for a trip anywhere in this country and most places outside it, except the Arctic.

Even quantity isn't a major consideration, since wherever you go you should have little trouble getting garments laundered or dry cleaned in the course of their stay for both sexes.

If you try to keep in mind that wherever you're going people live there who aren't different from you and don't dress much differently, you ought to feel a lot calmer about it all.

Try the below as a rough guide for the kind of clothes you'll need under typical circumstances and see if somehow your wardrobe can't be made to fit it:

DECENT CONSERVATIVE

The general tone of dress in most big cities is dressy and conservative; more of the first element for women and more of the second for men.

Days, women usually wear suits or daytime dresses and heels, with hats and gloves optional except in universal as is sometimes supposed. Cocktail time is theoretically late afternoon, the so-called cocktail dresses are pretty generally for evening wear. Hats at night are almost obsolete. Heels are the night attire for men custom. Even a sweater and skirt will pass with them, though not usually for dinner. Jackets aren't thing but blue jeans and flats and you'll never be overdressed.

Since most men are instinctively conservative dressers, and men have little more than the next guy is wearing anyway, visiting men rarely have cause to feel ill-at-ease about their clothes in the big city. Easterners have pretty well come to take for granted the westerners' characteristic Stetson, and westerners no longer look twice at the typical eastern narrow-brimmed stovepipes.

DARK SHOES

Most big city men today prefer dark suits and very quiet ties. While shirts, white most men favor anyway, are always in the best taste and the only kind for evening wear.

The only fairly firm rule about dressing is sport clothes, and very preferably no brown suits or tan shoes. Black shoes with the country blue, gray or black suit are preferred for evening, but at least dark brown shoes don't stand out like tan ones.

In case you're wondering about formal clothes, we can't recall having seen them publicly in regular wear even in Chicago, San Francisco, or New York night clubs, which are about as fussy as you can get in public.

Unless you're going to a convention where there's a formal dinner, plan to attend a dance at your host's club, or attend some other specifically formal affair, you can leave the tux and evening gown in mothballs. For public display, formal clothes are virtually obsolete.

LEOPARD SCHOOL

You'll be tested to the utmost at winter resorts particularly when you see the ladies in leopard skin pants and the men in red slacks and berets, but we still think you can get very very nearly with what you've got.

Since the 'conservative dresser is never out of good taste—while the jaspard lady may be in many ways —you can probably make a very serviceable travel wardrobe out of what you have in the way of summer clothes.

For the ladies, cotton dresses, slacks, blouses, shorts and the other things you ordinarily wear when it's warm cannot possibly be out of style, even if they are less dramatic than some of what you may see around you.

Few men are completely without sport shirts, a sport jacket, a shirt-jacket or two, slacks, and casual shoes. These go most of the way towards making a daytime wardrobe. For evenings, which is your chance to dress up, your lightweight summer suits will serve the purpose as well as anything new you can buy.

PACKING SUGGESTIONS

Both men and women can get as casual as they feel like days, but have some dressing up in color evenings. About the only way you can be out of line is to try to dress like those dress customs, either by wearing a combination of dress and sport when one or the other is called for, by wearing the wrong motif for the wrong time of day, Hirsi, briefly, are a few other typical fall and winter vacations and their dress customs:

Ski trip—The trick is to keep warm. Anything you bring along will be worn by everyone, except a mink coat, should be in style. Be as colorful as you can. Some resorts also dress up evenings.

Touring by car—Anything so long as it's comfortable. Nothing surprises highway restaurateurs and motel operators any more.

Rail, air trips—Passengers bound these is most acceptable because it is the most congenial in close quarters with strangers.

Resort hotel or guest country club—An assortment of casual and dress clothes similar to that you'd wear to other public gatherings. but nothing that looks like what you would wear in the yard.

House guest visits—your hosts may be taking you out so you'll need some dressy, but for the most part take your cue from them and relax in informality.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECHMAN

WHEN TO CROSS OFF LAST NAME ON IMPRINTED CARDS

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

Last summer, deciding I'd be a very "early bird," I chose our Christmas cards and ordered our names imprinted on them. Now that they have been delivered I think I made a "boner mistake," for I ordered our last names imprinted on them; for example, Marie and John Leigh. This is the first time we've ever had our names imprinted on our cards, and now I think of sending these cards to relatives and close friends, they just don't seem right, seem too "formal." Tell me, please: did I make a mistake? And if so, what can I do about these cards? — M.

No, Ma'am ; , no mistake. The name-form you ordered is the form customarily chosen for a general order. Then you send them with the name as-is when it is appropriate to include the last name ; so often necessary as identification to not-close friends, acquaintances, and so forth. (Particularly necessary when the first names, as in the example you gave, are not unusual.)

On the cards to be sent to relatives and intimate friends:

1. Cross off (in ink) your last name.

2. Write above the names "Devotedly" or "Lovingly" or "Affectionately" or whatever is appropriate.

3. And (if you wish, and I hope you do wish) write a personal message below the names.

In other words, one can easily, and gracefully, adapt these cards to all your varied needs.

THE 364 QUESTION ABOUT NAME-FORMS IN THE SAMPLE CARD-BOOKS

Are you about to sally forth to choose your Christmas cards and to order your name imprinted on them? If so, you might choose to be faced with -the, bewildering situation set forth in this letter:

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

Am I confused! I need your help, please. Yesterday I went to order Christmas cards for my husband and me. Therefore we've just the bought some Christmas cards and I signed them. But this year, the first year we've had our own house - and - home after my husband's several years in Army service and of starting a new position, we decided to "go all out" for Christmas cards, and have them so everyone we know, choose nice ones, and have our names imprinted on them. So-oo-oo, I went to my favorite stationery-department-lady, lightedly began to look through the books of sample cards (such beautiful cards this year). Finally I chose two I wanted to order. The message printed on one was, "Greetings for Christmas, Best Wishes for the New Year." The message on the other was: "Best Wishes for a Happy Christmas and a Happy New Year."

Then came the 364 question: What form of name to order imprinted on these cards we planned to send to relatives, intimate friends and casual friends, my husband's co-workers and mine, quite a few of our, neighbors, and even some acquaintances? I began to look more closely at the form of names imprinted on the sample cards. Here's where the confusion set in! Some cards that looked to me very informal, had the formal names. . Mr. and Mrs John Soandso. . imprinted on them. Others, with no difference in kind that I could figure out, were imprinted with the first names, John and Mary Soandso. Still others were imprinted Mary and John Soandso. I asked the salesperson what the rule is, and she assured me that it made no difference which form you use, it was simply a question of preference. This didn't make sense to me, for I should think there would really have to be some rule about this. So I decided not to place my order until I had asked you (who have answered so many other questions for me) if there is a definite name-rule I should follow. — Your Faithful Reader

One can certainly get confused trying to figure out the Why of the name-forms imprinted on the Christmas cards in the sample books on the counter! Moreover, the salesperson hasn't the time (and perhaps hasn't the knowledge) to explain the correct form, and really hasn't the right to attempt this. She's employed to sell cards, not etiquette-information.

So to you and to everyone starting forth to order imprinted Christmas cards: Yes, there is a basic rule concerning the correct form of name to be imprinted on your cards. It is this: Why the name is to be imprinted after the message on the cards. . . as is usual . . . the informal name-form is used. The reason: your name at the end of the message is your signature to the message And your signature is your informal name. Mary. . John. . Mary and John. . . Mary and John Holiday.

Correct:

Greetings for Christmas
Best Wishes for the New Year
Mary and John Holiday

Incorrect:

Greetings for Christmas
Best Wishes for the New Year
Mr. and Mrs. John Holiday

(Note: When the names are imprinted, the wife's name comes first).

HOW TO EAT THE STICKY CAKE

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

When a hostess serves a beverage and cake with a very sticky icing, and with these only a spoon for the beverage and not a fork for the cake, what is one expected to do?

To eat the cake you'll have to use the spoon that is meant for the beverage.

YOUR night-or-so daughter will like to prove her grown-upness by cooking and serving a complete dinner. Plan a simple menu together, and aided by a lady with pot and sharp things. Mince and frozen foods are easy to handle, with directions.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SHE CAN'T KEEP BOYS INTERESTED

Dear Miss Fairfax:

A boy I have known some time seems to be taking a special interest in me all of a sudden. Because we go to different schools, the only time I hear from his is when he calls me on the phone. He did ask me to go to a dance with him one night, but I couldn't go because I had to go out with my parents. He understood that, but I do not want him to lose interest in me. At the same time, I don't want to strike up a real serious interest between us because I like to go out with other boys, too. After all, I am only 17.

I guess what really bothers me is that I always seem to find it hard to keep a boy interested, and I would like to know what to do about this. I have trouble keeping up a conversation, because I always seem to run out of words.— J.D.

Answer: J.D.:

The surest way to keep a boy interested in you is always to be interesting, and you have a lively interest yourself in all the activities boys and girls share together during their school days. If you do this, it won't be hard to find things to talk about. To have a lot of interests, and to show an interest in the things that interest him, is the most excellent insurance against ever "running out of words" with any boy you like.

Perhaps you would like me to send you my suggestions on how to be popular. If you will send me a stamped self-addressed envelope so that I can reach you directly, I will be very glad to forward these to you.

SHE'S SHORT, HE'S TALL, AND IT WORRIES HER

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am nearly 21 years old and planning to get married in a few months. My boy friend and I get along fine, and the only trouble is that he is five feet eleven inches tall and I am just five feet.

This embarrasses me so that it is always on my mind when we go out together. I feel as if people were talking about the difference in our height.

Could you give me some advice on how to overcome such feelings? S.

Dear S.:

What's important about marriage—what people are like inside, or how they look outside? If people really are commenting on the difference in your height when they see you together, they're probably thinking how cute and feminine you look beside such a tall he-man.

If this is all you have to worry about in your relationship together, you're an awfully silly girl to let it bother you for one moment.

QUESTION: After much searching for a recipe for pineapple sauce to served with Baked Ham I have turned to you for help . . this! sauce is served in the best eating places but is never in domestic cookbooks. Mrs. O.B.H.

ANSWER: Am I sort of last desperate resort? Now you will pardon me for getting a chuckle from your letter.

PINEAPPLE (SWEET-SOUR) SAUCE

(For restaurant use you will have to double or triple this recipe, of course). One-half cup vinegar, 1 cup each canned pineapple juice and light brown sugar solidly packed, 2 tablespoons each cornstarch and water, 2 teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon mustard, ½ teaspoon monosodium glutamate (MSG). Combine all ingredient in sauce — mixing dry ones together first, and bring to boiling point t, stirring constantly. Let simmer five minutes, stirring. If sauce is made in advance and becomes too thick thin with a little pineapple juice.

NOTE: If you care to make this sauce extra "attractive add 2 tablespoons canned pineapple—not crushed, but wafer thin slices from pineapple rings.

QUESTION: Here is one of your ardent fans . . . the hours you have to spend at that typewriter must become long indeed . . . everyone likes! Now Ezen's 1950 Christmas Cake so well — like the "Sticky Pickles" — I wish I had made two batches . . . here is my problem. How do you can (pickle) cauliflower without having it turn dark? I've used white vinegar, but the results are far from satisfactory . . . would please send recipe for Unbaked Date Bars — my three-year-old cut (my copy) . . . here is my recipe for easy pastry which I have found a wonderful cut . . . I was reluctant to try this for a long time but now I use it constantly, doubled!

SHORT CUT PASTRY

Three cups flour, ¼ teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup boiling water, 1 cup lard. Add boiling water to the lard, stir well, then add the rest of the ingredients. The dough is put in refrigerator for at least one hour before rolling — Evelyn E. S.

ANSWER: Thank you Evelyn, I have mailed you the recipe for the Unbaked Date Bars. They appeared here August 18, 1954.

PICKLED CAULIFLOWER

Two quarts small cauliflower flowerets, ¼ cup salt, 2 quart water, 4 cups spirit (white) vinegar, 1 teaspoon powdered alum, 2 cups white sugar, 1½ tablespoons whole mixed pickling spices tied in cheesecloth bag. Juice from 1 large lemon. Wash cauliflowers well and break into small flowerets and separate. Cover with a cold brine made from the salt and water and let stand 24 hours and drain. Wash with clear cold water and drain. Heat together the vinegar, alum, sugar and spices in bag and boil 10 minutes. Remove spice bag. Pack cauliflower flowerets in sterile jars, add lemon juice to vinegar mixture, and pour it boiling hot over the cauliflower and seal.

QUESTION: . . . tried the Carnael Popcorn and gave the recipe to my niece and daughter . . . my niece is being married — could you tell me the quantity of fruit you needed for 120 guests. —Pearl L. B.

ANSWER:

FRUIT CUP (for 120 to 125 Guests)

Six and one-half quarts canned peaches, 6 quarts canned crushed pineapple, 4 quarts fresh grapefruit sections, 7½ cups fruit juice (diluted canned frozen or canned if desired). Drain fruit and reserve juice and cut into small bite-size pieces. Add to juice. Chill.

NOTE: If you would like a thicker fruit cup substitute some red and green cherries, and some seedless green grapes for some of the peaches.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

CODDLE YOUR COMPLEXION

Give your complexion a fair deal. Be kind to it and it will be responsive. The skin that is kept scrupulously clean, is lubricated with nourishing creams and exercised with light friction will express its gratitude in the form of fine texture, firm tissues and good coloring.

You cannot expect it to get along the lubraked lines, if it is beset by enemies—atmospheric dust, strong sunlight, harsh winds unfavorable physical conditions. If your complexion does not receive necessary attention it will show resentment by taking on a greyish look; developing coarse pores or premature wrinkles.

Your skin should receive proper care every day. No stop-and-go system works ,but unless you set a regular time for your beauty routine you may never look it.

Don't let these tasks form you. They give you an opportunity to relax and commune with your soul. The "beauty hour" should be a pleasurable one. You are not only working on the good looks of the present, but you are taking out insurance against the future. You must accomplish these results so you won't be beauty-poor later on in life.

Keep two jars of cream at hand—a thin one for cleansing purposes and the removal of make-up, a heavier one for massaging and tissue building.

Start applying the heavy cream at the line of the collar bones, doing the same upward strokes on neck. Sweep along the jaw line from chin tip to ear lobes with gentle upward pressure. Do rotary movements over the cheeks, being careful not to push the flesh up around the eyes.

Let the cream remain on over night. The flesh will lap it up. In the morning cash on cold water and give an appearance of freshness and to speed up circulation.

Lindsay Girl Only Woman Among 100 Men on Job

By BRUCE LEVETT

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. (CP)—Joyce, Nesbitt never leaves work early. Nor does she take time out to run to the corner store for milk-morning coffee.

For Joyce, a 23-year-old, brownеyed blonde, works on an isolated island of sand and gravel, the only girl among 100 men preparing the way for a $225,000,000 industrial development.

Her job is to keep records for the contracting firm building north America's first industrial estate, a network of factories to be leased to secondary industries.

Grosvenor Estates of England, representing one of the world's largest, fortunes, is building the project on Annacis island, a 365-acre alluvial plot in the Fraser river.

FROM LINDSAY, ONT.

The five-foot-two Lindsay, Ont. girl, who left her job as legal secretary to come to the west coast "to see a little more of Canada," goes to work by her launch and brews her coffee on an oil heater—which also heats her office—aboard ship.

She is a secretary whose telephone number is Island 1—it's a name. There is no electricity into the project and all calls are made by radio-telephone.

"I like it out here because there is always something happening," she said.

Outside her window, a new power shovel was scooping up sand.

"That's a one-and-a-quarter-yard grab bucket—that's about," Joyce said. "The things you learn on a job like this."

Despite the fact that she has the field all to herself—no other girls expected to be taken on until early 1955—she doesn't believe in letting her appearance de-

When Joy Nesbitt, 23-year-old blonde, wants to slip out for a drink of water, she has to hike about 10 yards to this outdoor cooler and purifier. Pulp Mills on Four Continents Being Erected Under Direction Of Vancouver Engineering Firm

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Pulp mills in Pakistan, in Scotland, in Australia, Canada, the United States and other widely separated places have one thing in common—Sandwell of Vancouver.

P. R. (Dick) Sandwell, bespectacled, six-foot engineering consultant working out of his Vancouver headquarters, exports Canadian talent to any point in the world where a pulp mill is to be constructed.

Sandwell and Co. Ltd., is currently engaged in projects on three continents, largest of which is the Murupara mill of the Tasman Pulp and Paper Co., Ltd., New Zealand. The construction bill on that one has been estimated at $40,000,000. It was designed on West Georgia street in downtown Vancouver.

PAKISTAN PROJECT

Latest project to be tackled by the youthful Sandwell firm is in Pakistan, where late in August, Sandwell flew its engineering planners already on the spot at the invitation of the Pakistan government.

London-born Sandwell, who graduated from the University of British Columbia in 1933, learned the pulp and paper mill engineering business from the ground up. After graduation until 1940 he was assistant to the chief engineer of Dominion Engineering, Ltd., Montreal. Then he went to Australia Newsprint Mills, Tasmania, as resident engineer.

In 1944 he returned to Canada as assistant chief engineer for Ontario Paper Co., Ltd., Thorold, Ont. In 1947 he returned to the west coast as chief engineer for Powell River Company, famous B.C. newsprint producer.

In 1949 he embarked on his own.

Today "we still do alone or are doing basic research on projects running into millions of dollars, cost of $200,000,000," Sandwell said.

34 EMPLOYEES

The 42-year-old president runs his firm of 80 persons with a team of five top engineers: B. D. Sherry Ford, 40, assistant chief engineer from Yorkton, Sask.; Orvin Sabin, 46, Danish-born development manager; A. E. Frankhuter, resident engineer at Seattle; Peter Vahtera, 34, of Finland, who handles personnel matters, and E. S. Hutton, '33, resident engineer on the Murupara project.

To keep up with their worldwide operations, Sandwell executives fly some 150,000 miles during 1953 alone.

"Most of us manage to take our hobbies with us," Sandwell says. "Mine is sailing. I've sailed on the Salish and the Inside Passage. We are all keen amateur photographers and maintain a central collection of our colored stills which is a veritable travelogue."

He finds the hospitality of people of other countries like Canadians. "Our embassies and trade commissions abroad have done their work well."

BUILDS MILLS

P. R. Sandwell, 43, of Vancouver, heads a firm of engineering consultants specializing in constructing pulp and paper mills from Pakistan to France. In five years, he estimates, his firm has completed engineering on mills, domestic and foreign, totalling $75,000,000. Sandwell and Co., Ltd., now is engaged in projects on three continents, largest of which is the Murupara mill of the Tasman Pulp and Paper Co., in New Zealand. (CP Photo).

Nightmare Trip By Tiny Vessel Is Recalled

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Twenty-five years ago this month the tiny schooner Neptune II slipped out of St. John's on what became into a nightmarish voyage still remembered by Newfoundlanders as an epic of seamanship.

Capt. Job Barbour was in charge of the Neptune's scheduled trip to Newton, 100 miles away, but before he set foot on land again he and the nine others aboard battled daily for their lives and sailed 2,000 miles in the Atlantic.

All reached safely, but for 48 harrowing days they suffered from lack of food and the pounding of storms as they worked to keep the schooner afloat.

Peter Humphries of Newton, a crew member, and his wife, a passenger and the only woman aboard for the voyage, recalled the trip here recently.

It was not long after the Neptune cleared St. John's Nov. 15, 1929, that a heavy storm broke and the vessel's sails were swept away by the wind.

Capt. Barbour was unable to edge the Neptune any closer to land. Slowly, she was blown away from the coast and at last he turned about and headed for England.

The storm continued and water pounded over the decks to ruin the vessel's fresh water supply. At rain-times the men had to be lashed at the wheel to stand their four-hour watch.

Mr. Humphries was injured when a sea swept him against the wheel and his wife was ill throughout the voyage in her berth.

Capt. Barbour, who wrote a book about the voyage, said:

"We had to abandon the decks at times. Below we had to wear oil skins as after some of the big seas swept in, they would act as if condensed air, seeing there was no one on deck."

Mr. and Mrs. Humphries was so ill that the captain and Mr. Humphries planned her burial at sea.

Near the end of the voyage, as the Neptune sailed on through the storm without sighting land or ship food supplies ran low and those aboard lived mainly on fried bread and soup. Only when it rained was there water.

Forty-eight days after sailing from St. John's, the steamer Hesperus bore in sight and was called to the schooner by distress signals.

'Piltdown' Hoax Spurs Discovery Of More Frauds

HASTINGS, England (Reuters)—A whole series of newly-discovered hoaxes were placed today on the man who fooled the world for 40 years with the bogus "Piltdown skull."

Research in the last year revealed that Lewes man Charles Dawson did not add his trumpery with the skull he "discovered" at Piltdown, Sussex, about 1912. Modern bone examination methods have proved the skull, claimed to have been that of a man of 50,000 years ago, was the jawbone of a modern ape.

Now the researchers at Hastings Museum have found that many bronze axes, flint implements and spears from Dawson's collection are also fakes. In addition, they found a "History of Hastings Castle," published under Dawson's name, was written a century earlier by archaeologist William Herbert.

Dawson died in 1916 without anything that his bogus discoveries would be found out. Later his extensive collection of allegedly ancient items housed in his private museum were sold for a good price to Hastings Museum to help support his widow.

Dawson, who practised law in nearby Uckfield, became internationally known when, as an amateur antiquarian, he produced the Piltdown skull. When a monument was unveiled to him at Piltdown in 1938, anthropologist Sir Arthur Keith said men of science "took off their hats" to the successful amateur.

Today, men of science are taking apart every Dawson "discovery" in an attempt to trace its origins. Curator J. Manwaring Baines of Hastings Museum said the results of research into Dawson's work are "alarming."

Some of the abandoned flint implements from Dawson's collection in Hastings Museum are products of a youth he nicknamed "Flint Jack," he said. Others were apparently picked up by Dawson in Denmark and New Zealand and brought back to England where he claimed he found them.

SEES BENEFIT IN HURRICANE HAZEL

Visiting Holland Marsh to investigate flood damage that followed Hurricane Hazel in Southern Ontario, S. L. Mansholt, Netherlands minister of agriculture, finds a friendly audience in children of the Christian Reformed church. Mr. Mansholt said there was some benefit in Hurricane Hazel, as it emphasized the "great feeling of understanding" between Holland and Canada. To date Holland has contributed $50,000 and supplies to Ontario flood victims. (Central Press Canadian).

With Furs, Shoes and Gab Debra Paget Is on Tour

By BOB THOMAS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — How does a glamor girl go out on a personal appearance tour?

With six furs, 24 pairs of shoes and limitless gab, if she's Debra Paget. These are some of the statistics I gleaned from the doll as I observed first-hand what it's like for Hollywoodians to meet the public.

Debra, Sheree North, Jeffrey Hunter, Rita Moreno and Tommy Noonan made up the filmland contingent to the world premiere of Marlon Brando's "Desiree," which was sponsored by the San Francisco - Oakland Newspaper Guild.

I wondered at the equipment a girl must take along when she exposes herself to the public gaze. She was only to be gone a few days here and in Chicago. But she confessed to taking along a full-length mink coat, a pink fox stole, a blue fox stole, a white fox stole, a brown mink stole and a white mink stole.

She and her family bought them all, she explained, her folks having saved $5 bills until they had enough to buy the mink coat. What you hear about starlets and mink coats ain't true. Not in Debra's case, anyway.

"I need all these clothes when I go on tour," she argued. "I usually wear 12 different outfits in one day. I need a new dress for every interview."

Interviews go on all day while she's out touring to help plug her studio's picture. She'll do an average of eight radio interviews, the same number for TV, plus two or three for newspapers.

"When I'm not working, I'm usually on a tour," she said. During her seven years at 20th century-fox, she has seen most of the country on an expense account. Accompanying her is her mother, who is used to the show business grind (she was a strip teaser) a press agent, who hustles her from date to another and sometimes a hair dresser.

As for romance, she gave Howard Hughes his ring back nine months ago.

"I enjoyed his friendship and it was an experience knowing him, but he's a real gentleman, not at all as he has been pictured. But he was too wrapped up in business."

Vaccine Possible To Check Measles

WASHINGTON (AP)—A possible lead towards developing a preventive vaccine against measles—one of mankind's most prevalent diseases and one that can have dangerous complications—has been reported by Dr. John F. Enders of Harvard medical school.

He announced Wednesday night "very suggestive" evidence of the long-sought isolation of the elusive measles virus, and of possible means for its laboratory growth.

The Harvard researcher told an audience of scientists at the National Institutes of Health that he and some co-workers had isolated from throat washings and blood of measles patients "an agent" which has passed certain tests indicating it may be the actual causative organism of measles.

It remains to be proved, he said, that it actually is the measles virus—and such proof must await production of measles in an experimental animal with the new agent.

Ottawa Printer Provides Books For Korean Kids

OTTAWA (CP) — An Ottawa printer has been working at Pusan Korea, for more than a year to provide the children of that republic with better education.

He is Benjamin Rothwell, who has established a printing plant capable of producing about 30,000,000 school books a year.

The project was described here recently in a speech by King Gordon, information director of the United Nations Korean Reconstruction Agency.

Mr. Rothwell, a member of the federal printing bureau's technical research committee, was loaned to the agency more than a year ago. Mr. Gordon said he has supervised installation of one of the most modern technical printing presses in the world at Pusan.

"The intention is that the plant should produce about 30,000,000 books a year.

"It means a better educational opportunity for Korean children than they have ever had," he said.

SENTENCED FOR FRAUD

SUDBURY (CP)—Alfred Cadieux was sentenced to two years in penitentiary Thursday after selling 11 houses on the long - abandoned Moose mountain townsite, 30 miles north of Cadieux that used Judge A. St. Aubin he thought any persons who found abandoned properties could have them. He was charged with fraud after police learned the buildings were being torn down and carted away.

FOUR SEEK ELECTION

AURORA (CP) — Four persons will contest the mayoralty in this town 30 miles north of Toronto in the December civic elections. They are Mrs. Jean Moffat, Dr. E. J. Henderson, Alex Bell and Asa Cook. Present mayor is Dr. Crawford Rose.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was walking past the dog and animal store with pop, and I thought, Heck, I wish pop got me suddenly remember all the dogs that ever bit him whenever I say something about buying a puppy.

And I said, G, pop, weren't those puppies in the window cute?

Yes indeed, pop said. Somebody wrote a song recently about a puppy in the window. I suppose windows are the best place for them, he said, and I said, But Hinmiller, we wouldn't it be nice to have a pet around the house?

Many people seem to think so, pop said. And they may be rite, if the pet is useful. For instance I heard of a woman who kept a pet ostritch in her living room so the feathers in its tale would dust upfurniture as it walked around. Her friends thought it was a very ingenious idea, but I'm rather inclined to believe the woman must of had a fairy streek in her somewhere, he said, and I said, Aw G, pop, nobody would want an ostrich for company, unless maybe another ostritch.

Perhaps this woman was an Austrian and got herself confused with an Ostrian, pop said, and I said, Anyways, pop, I'm thinking of little pets that jump up on you when you come home.

Oh, you mean fleas, pop said, and I said, Aw Jimminy roonalem, pop, I'm thinking of dogs.

Now that doesn't seem to make sense, because how can you think of dogs without thinking of fleas? pop said, and I said, I'd wish him no flea soap.

There, you see, you are thinking of fleas, pop said.

The result being I gave up the subject.

VICTIM DIES

TORONTO (CP)—A man who walked away from an accident Wednesday died from the after-effects Thursday. Police said Orlin Hugh, 75, walked into the path of a car and suffered a bruised hip. A coroner's report Thursday said a piece of fat from the bruise worked into Hug's bloodstream and caused a stoppage at the heart.

CROKES TO DEATH

KITCHENER (CP) — Gerald Schnarr, aged two months, choked to death Thursday at his home at nearby Maryhill. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schnarr.

Bulbs for Indoor Bloom

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

It is often possible to pick up at a bargain price many fine bulbs late in the season. Odd lots of tulip, hyacinth or daffodil bulbs may contain a mixture of unknown color and a variety of types. It is not too late to plant them outdoors in your garden as long as the ground is not frozen.

But, do buy bulbs to pot up for indoor blooms. These should be carefully chosen. Short stemmed tulips are more adaptable to house conditions than the tall ones. Ask about the approximate stem length when buying.

You must keep the potted bulbs in a cool, dark place for some weeks until the roots form. A basement or garage will do if the temperatures can be counted on to go down to 35 to 45 degrees and remain cool. Light can be excluded by covering the pots with damp burlap bags, placing a dark cupboard, or covering the pots with damp leaves, or sphagnum moss.

GROW BETTER

A five inch pot will take five, medium-sized tulip bulbs, or three Roman hyacinth bulbs. Daffodils and paper-white narcissi make a better show if they are set quite close, eight to a pot in eight inch pots.

Place some broken bits of pots on the bottom, and add a mixture of sand and good garden soil. Fill less than half with soil and place one bulb in to test the required depth. The tip should be covered with at least half an inch of soil, or better still one inch.

Water the potted bulbs thoroughly and set away in a cool place until a good number of roots have formed — they should be at least two inches long. Examine the soil for moisture content do not have it soggy wet, but damp and after a few weeks up the pot upside down, holding the fingers spread across the surface, to prevent breaking the soil and root clump. You will see the white roots and if they are sufficiently formed bring the plant to the light. Keep the plants at approximately 60 degrees temperature. Too high temperatures will blast the flower buds. A sunny window is cool enough. It will do, but an electric light bulb placed three or four feet away, and used to supplement the daylight will give better results. Turn on the light at four p.m. and keep it on until ten p.m.

FIVE WEEKS TO BLOOM

It will take about five weeks from the time you bring the bulbs into the light until the flower bloom. When the blooms are almost out they will no longer need the extra heat, but sun and will remain in bloom longer if kept in a darker room.

Hyacinth bulbs should be kept in the cool darkness until the flower buds are four inches long. Grow at 50 degrees unless you wish to delay some of the plants then they should be placed in a cooler place and brought to warmer when ready.

You can pot the bulbs and bury the pots in a shallow trench which should be covered with a mulch of leaves. Begin bringing in the pots one or two at a time around the middle of December. Tulips can be brought into light with them, but Ryacinths must bod in a cool place or the buds will flower down in the stem and will look crippled.

BRING INTO LIGHT

Large hyacinth bulbs should not be brought into the light until the first of January. Grow to maturity at 50 degrees.

Daffodils should be brought into the light in January. King Alfred and Golden harvest are the earliest and they should be brought up around January 5th. Beersheba, that beautiful large white daffodil, will need to stay in the dark until around January the 20th.

Try some of the minor bulbs too. Scillas, white, or blue grape hyacinths or crocuses will make a beautiful spot of color early in January if planted now. They will form good root systems at 35 degrees. When the roots are formed bring them to the light and grow at 45 degrees.

One advantage of using electric light to replace sunlight is that you can keep the growing temperature down whereas sun on glass creates a considerable amount of heat which, added to furnace heat brings the room temperature up too high for ideal bulb growing.

MORE ABOUT VITAMINS

The vitamin questions continue to pile up.

Question: "I want to know about Vitamin A. I am 55 years old and my night-vision seems to be getting rapidly worse. It never was particularly good, though I have always had good eyesight in daylight. My problem is that when I am driving at night and meet an oncoming car, it makes no difference whether he dims his lights or not. I am still blinded and remain so for a few seconds after the other car has gone by. I drive home against heavy traffic every night, and you can imagine how this slows me down. I don't know about pills. What foods should I concentrate on to get more vitamin A?"

Answer: The answer to your specific question is: fish liver oils, liver, green leafy vegetables, yellow vegetables, yellow fruits, tomatoes, egg yolks, butter, cream and natural cheese. You are wise to ask about foods instead of pills. Prepared vitamin compounds are occasionally necessary in certain clear-cut vitamin deficiencies, but in general, the correction of dietary habits is less expensive and more effective.

MEDICAL RARITY

However if you really have a vitamin a deficiency you are a medical rarity. Most individuals people with even a remotely satisfactory diet have an adequate intake of Vitamin A. It is true that some people have difficulty in absorbing vitamin A; people who drink a lot of mineral oil cause the vitamin to be dissolved and excreted before it does any good. Such people are rare, and it might be a good idea for you to check with a specialist before getting too worked up about a vitamin deficiency that may be wholly imaginary. The usual complaint about temporary blindness after passing an oncoming car at night is due a thousand times more often to poor eye habits in driving than to deficiency. Practise watching the right edge of the road instead of the other car lights. Remember too that as people get older their eyes tend to be less efficient. Perhaps a visit to an oculist would be more fruitful and less exasperating than a trial of complicated regimen of vitamin-gobbling.

Question: "Is scurvy common? What is it? What can be done to prevent it? I have been told that my 3-year-old baby may have subclinical scurvy, and I may have to buy some kind of expensive vitamin pills."

Answer: Scurvy results from not getting enough Ascorbic acid (Vitamin C) in the diet. The principal sources of this vitamin are citrus fruits, tomatoes, greens, and certain berries such as currants, raspberries and strawberries. Ascorbic acid creates the "glue" that holds the cells together. Without one "falls apart", in a sense, and is subject to hemorrhages in various parts of the body. This is clinical scurvy. What is called subclinical scurvy means scurvy in so easily a stage that dramatic symptoms have not yet appeared. And diagnosis is difficult and likely to be inaccurate.

Scurvy is extremely rare in adults but is still seen with some frequency in babies between 6 months and 3 years. Breast-fed babies whose mothers eat adequately are practically never have scurvy. Cow's milk, on the other hand, is very poor source of ascorbic acid, and "formula" babies should be fed fruit juice in order to avoid the disease. Heating the fruit juice or adding a pinch of soda is a poor idea as it destroys the ascorbic acid.

You should have to put your child on a regimen of vitamin pills, even if the diagnosis of subclinical scurvy is correct. Fruit juice is cheaper than pills and more nourishing to boot. However if the case is severe, vitamin pills may be necessary. It probably isn't severe if it has been labelled as "sub-clinical."

National Hockey League Substitute Goalies Face Heavy Guns Tonight

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

CLOSE ONE!

The Memoe regained their shooting eyes and some of their former offensive form last night—and they didn't do it a minute too soon. They spotted the Clinton Comets three goals in the second period then roared back with a flashing offensive that netted them four markers and a tied score.

The Comets' cluster-style defence had the Boucher men doing everything but score in the first two heats, and a few solid body checks took some of the steam out of the Memoe' offensive. Tony Parisi had an off night at times, while in reverse Cozan in the Comets' net, came up with an outstanding exhibition.

Young Marse Ted DeGray was the outstanding Memo with a pair of goals and an assist in a brilliant all-round performance. Arnie Dugan, who "was rushed" on two or three occasions, came up with a fine show as did Johnny Muckler, Hub Macy and the consistent Jake Wade. The Memoe were without the services of Keith MacDonald, who will be sidelined for three weeks with a shoulder dislocation suffered in Whitby the other night—and "Red" Doran who has been in Toronto on business for the past week.

However, all's well that ends well. Not as well as it might have been, but a tie-half-lost is better than a two-point nothing. The Memoe were definitely lacking in scoring punch in a somewhat lackadaisical first period, but they proved they have the potential in that flaming third heat.

The result left the Memoe and Comets with nine points each, and tied for third slot behind Kingston's second-placers. Brooks and Cornwall renewed their battle for overall tie in Peterborough last night and the Petes broke an eight-game losing streak. Sunday the Memoe are in Cornwall and they entertain Brockville here Tuesday night to start off a fourth week's schedule.

SHOULD BE GOOD!

Strange as it may seem, weightlifting has undergone and is undergoing a tremendous upsurge in sports popularity in Canada. Possibly the success of Doug Hepburn, of Vancouver, world's champion, had something to do with it, while three gold medals won by Canadian weightlifters at the British Empire Games last summer did not hurt the sport any.

The sport is popular in Belleville, and a grand show is being arranged by the YMCA on November 27. Tommy Fedder, well known Belleville weightlifter, and a champion in his own right, is behind the show and informs us it will be well worth seeing.

"We are holding the Belleville and district championships at the "Y" on November 27 says Tommy, who predicts that most of the old Belleville records will go by the board, and modestly adds: "with the exception of my own bantam records and the light-heavy and heavyweight marks of Jack Cooper."

Added attractions include a judo exhibition by a team from RCAF 6 RD and a display of gymnastics. Tommy is quite enthusiastic about the affair and we heartily recommend the show.

Weightlifting did not originate as sport. The original cave man started it with lifting heavy stones and a lot of men since have been throwing their weight around, or trying to.

Perhaps the greatest collection of weightlifters the world has ever seen was that Egyptian team headed by a bloke named Cheops, who built the pyramids.

The most publicized, if not the greatest of professional weightlifters was the 256-pound French Canadian, Louis St. Cyr, who was credited with lifting 3,641 pounds, standing on a platform in Quebec City back in 1888. A huge table was placer on his chest as one of his stunts. Twenty people would climb aboard, each averaging 150 pounds. Cyr would lift himself, the table and its cargo.

Another feat credited to St. Cyr was lifting 545 pounds with one finger, but no details of this cute trick are available.

Henry Pennock, a strong man of the long, long ago, reputedly lifted a 10-pound dumbbell 8451 times in four hours, 31 minutes, which was, and probably still is, some sort of a record.

The gals, too, got into the sport. "Miss Darnell" of 1896, was known as the "Singing Lady." Her specialty was to flatten out on her back, and a platform placed on her stomach. A piano was placed on the platform and a piano-playing gentleman climbed on a chair, which was placed on the platform in front of the piano.

While on this wise going on, various assistants put weights on the platform to bring the built total to 1500 pounds. The pianist would start playing, the lady would start to sing and while warbling, would lift all the poundage, plus herself, off the floor.

Obscure records reveal that one, H. Luessing of Cincinnati, lifted "3284 pounds with hands alone."

A. Anderson, known as the "Young Apollo" of Australia, was credited with some remarkable feats. He hauled a train of four cars weighing over four tons with his teeth. His best a "strict" position on June 29, 1935, and submitted to the placing of a platform, a full-sized piano, a 168-pound player and a 124-pound tap dancer upon him. While the pianist played and the girl tapped her dance "Apollo" lifted the entire bulk off the floor.

A near-midget almost stole the show at the weightlifting championships held in Detroit in June 1946. Joseph de Pietro, four feet six inches tall, a Hollywood mechanic, defended his 123-pound title by lifting 640 pounds in three tries. In the press he established an American record of 217 pounds. His lifted more in weights than did the champion in the next division.

Bruins' Long John Henderson Meets Leafian Sharpshooters; Habs' Hodge Tests Blues' Fire

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Boston coach Lynn Patrick likes Long John Henderson as a National Hockey League goaltender but won't go overboard for him until the heavy firing starts.

Henderson made his bid for a spot in big-time hockey earlier this week after Patrick benched goalie Sugar Jim Henry because he was starting to crack under pressure. Henderson, a native of Toronto who came up from Hershey Bears of the American League, has looked good as a substitute.

He made 19 saves as the Bruins and New York Rangers tied 2-2 Wednesday and slopped 17 shots Thursday when the Bruins whipped Chicago Black Hawks 5-1.

Henderson may get a taste of the heavy artillery tonight when the Big-Guns Toronto Maple Leafs do the second-place Maple Leafs at Toronto in the only weekend league games. In their last nine games, the Leafs have outscored the opposition 34 goals to 17 but have had plenty of shots.

"Henderson had pretty good protection in both those games," Patrick said when he accompanied the Bruins to Montreal for their game Saturday night, but I'm waiting to see how he does against Leafs."

Patrick said the Boston goaltending job would go to Henderson if he proves he belongs in the NHL.

In other games tonight, the fourth - place Rangers meet the Montreal Canadiens at Montreal and the Hawks take on the third-place Red Wings at Detroit. Canadiens are at Boston, Toronto at New York and Detroit at Chicago in Sunday games.

Canadiens will go with rookie netminder Charlie Hodge, who took over from the jittery Claude Evans after the first period of Thursday's game in Toronto against the Leafs. Evans was substituting for the injured Jacques Plante.

Slade 'Slew' By 'Pat' Punches; Purse Held Up

NEW YORK (AP) —It Jimmy Slade fought as well as the Madison Square Garden choral group sang "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," Floyd Patterson's 10th pro victory wouldn't be a subject for investigation.

After 19-year-old Patterson dropped Slade, the third-ranked light heavyweight, five times in eight rounds en route to a unanimous decision Friday night, Slade's purse was held up by Bob Christenberry, chairman of the New York state athletic commission. Battling Bob called for a hearing Monday to ask Slade to explain his poor performance.

The Garden rhythm group was the hit of the night, bursting out in a harmonious rendition during the sixth round. The gallery mob started it and the whole crowd of 3,225 paying $9,160 took it up. Whether Slade was worn out from his battle with 211-pound Bob Baker two weeks ago in Philadelphia, or whether he simply found Patterson's punching too powerful, only he knows.

Patterson weighed 169½ to Slade's 171.

Slade said he was stunned in the first round.

"I got tagged early," he said. "I never got over it."

"I thought he'd be tougher," said Patterson. "I was surprised I was able to hit him so easy."

"With his Slade's) ability and rating, I was surprised at his performance," said Chairman Christenberry. "He did not fall from a punch the last time down. I don't need anybody to tell me something that didn't happen."

Patterson, 1952 Olympic middleweight champion, was to have met Willie Troy but Slade came in at a rub when Troy reported an injury. Patterson was a 13 to 4 favorite and even higher in some quarters at ringtime but he was only 7 to 5 earlier in the week. Referee Harry Kessler and Judge Harold Barnes had it 8-0, Judge Jack Gordon 7-1 and 1 even with the sixth even. The AP score was 8-0.

"Our next objective is Archie Moore (world lightheavy champ)," said manager Cus D'Amato who drew an indefinite suspension from the commission Friday as collection man for the International Boxing Guild for $100 television "donations" from other managers. "For Moore, we must have experience. We will study him very closely from now on."

Patterson can't fight 10 rounds until he is 20 on Jan. 4. Normally he would have to be 21 before he could go 15 rounds, the title route, but Christenberry could make an exception.

Expect 10,000 At BC-Varsity Football Game

VANCOUVER (CP) — The University of British Columbia Thunderbirds take on the highly rated University of Toronto Blues here today in a college football clash few expect the East to lose.

About 10,000 fans are expected to take in the game, switched to UBC Stadium from Empire Stadium because of field conditions. The UBC turf is in good condition despite five days of rain.

The clash, originally billed as an East-West finale, slid to a cross-country exhibition when the eastern collegiate race ended in a three-way tie for first place.

The Toronto Blues are big and powerful, and boast players like Jake Kerchuk, one of the most sought after of college stars.

The big Blue coach handles punting the place-kicking chores, is a better than average passer, has the best catching record on his club this year, and averaged 4.7 yards a carry.

Against this kind of high-calibre help coach Don Loney will send Jim Boulding, with a five-yard-per-carry average in conference play.

An All-Conference tackle, Kevin O'Connell, will miss the game because of a knee injury. And no matter who they throw against the Blues, the Thunderbirds can't match the season record of the wins in conference or exhibition play.

Eskimos Rated 10-1 Favorites Over Kitchener Dutchmen

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos are quoted 10-1 favorites to beat Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen tonight in the sudden-death Grey Cup semi-final.

Temperature in the mid-30s and the fact it will be the final football game this year at Clarke Stadium were expected to draw a crowd of-more than 10,000 to the contest which decides who will meet the eastern champs in the Grey Cup classic in Toronto Nov. 27.

The Dutchmen, Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union champions, expressed confidence on the eve of battle, despite the odds and the idea they will be up against the Western Interprovincial Football Union titleholders who are also the visitors' parent club.

K-W head coach Harvey Johnson said if the Eskimos can't score any more than three touchdowns it will be quite a ball game. "We're out here to try and win," he added.

Two Eskimo offensive stars and a defensive regular will be among the missing.

PARKER, MORRIS OUT

Halfback Jackie Parker and guard Frank Morris, who is also co-captain, will not see action. Looking ahead to the probability of the Eskimos reaching the Grey Cup final, coach Frank Ivy said the rest will do the pair good. Parker has a foot injury and Morris a leg ailment.

Also missing will be flying wing and defensive back Davie West who is on leave of absence in Toronto because of a death in his family.

Johnson said his only cripple is halfback Bobby Kuntz who has a bad shoulder. But as will probably play, despite the injury.

The non-playing status of Parker, the league's top touchdown scorer, makes room for tackle Jim Weatherall. The Eskimos have 10 imports — no more than the limit allowed for each game.

Fred Frankie Anderson will dress although he has a fractured thumb and Glenn Lippman will take over Parker's first string offensive halfback slot.

Johnson will be expecting plenty of offensive help from six members of his team who were voted to the ORFU all-star squad.

They are flying wing Carl Tokate; back Paul Amodio; fullback Blake Taylor; quarterback Bob Celeri, guard Jay Fry and end Gerry MacTaggart.

The Kitchener-Waterloo offence is built around Celeri.

Memos Stage Brilliant 3rd-Period Rally To Earn 7-7 Tie With Clinton

Delete Comets' 3-Goal Lead With Driving Offensive Play; Both Teams Score in Overtime

By GEORGE H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

A thrilling third-period rally that saw them come from behind a three-goal deficit paved the way for a seven-all overtime tie for the Belleville Memos against the Clinton Comets in a senior "B" battle here last night.

The tie gives the teams nine points in the standing and a split of the third place position behind the Kingston Goodyears and Cornwall Colts.

The Comets scored the only goal of the first period and outscored the Memos 6-3 in the second but when three brilliant breakaways resulted in goals, An inspired Memos squad dominated the play in a thrilling third heat, slamming home four goals to Clinton's one to even the count all six all.

Big Vern Goyer drove a bouncing puck at Coxon in the Comets' net after 39 seconds of play in the overtime. The rubber bounded over the goalie's stick into the net to give the Memos the lead for the first time in the game. With less than two minutes to go Steele drove a screened puck past Parist to again even the count, and that's the way it ended.

The Memos were without the services of Keith MacDonald who will be out for three weeks with an injured shoulder, "Pete" Doran who has been out of the city for a week. Ted DeGray came up with a brilliant all-round performance to score twice and get an assist, while Arnie Hogan also played brilliantly, with Rub Macy and Jake Wade.

GOALIE GOOD

Coxon, Comets' goalie, played superbly, his sensational save of Dugan's shot after being deked by the Memos' forward, drawing the plaudits of the crowd. The Memos couldn't do much with Coxon in the first and second periods and they plainly lacked the scoring punch that marked their third period effort.

Referees Moon Flanagan and Kenny Parist of Kingston handed out 15 penalties, ten going to the Comets, one a misconduct to Andy DeFelice, and one to Belleville Junior "B" star.

Steele lashed out with a fifteen foot shot from a corner-pass after four minutes of play in the third period for the only score of the heat. Then Jamieson went off at 5.11 and war no sooner back than Campagne got the heavo-ho. He was joined a minute later by Steele but the Memos with a two-man advantage failed to beat Coxon. They did everything but put the puck in the net.

Macy got the gate at 15.26 and Jake Wade, Ken Jones, Bob Wilson and Ted DeGray came up with the finest piece of penalty-killing seen in the arena this year. Steele went off again in the dying minute of the period.

Ted DeGray tied the count after three minutes of second period play on his waist-high drive from corner caroming in the net after off a Comets player. Two minutes later Timmons broke into the clear, sailed in on Parist, deked into him cleverly and gave the Comets a 2-1 lead. A minute later Ed Duncan smashed in a rebound to tie the count, with brother Erwin and Doug Day drawing assists.

Gennings and Nunn gave the Comets a 4-2 lead within a minute of each other, both goals being scored on breakways that caught the Memos defence well up front. Jamieson drew a tripping penalty and again the Memos swarmed around Coxon, but that is as far as they got. DeGray and Thompson went off for roughing and 13 seconds later Gennings set up Johnson who scored to give the American team a 5-2 lead at period end.

DUGAN STARTS IT

The Memos roared into offensive action at the start of the third and Arnie Dugan scored a beauty from across the goalmouth with DeGray and Peter Jones in on the play. The crowd roared a minute later as Doug Hall fairly flew across the goal to cut the margin to 5-4.

Shamlock and DeGray went off for high sticking and then Dugan broke into the clear alone, but Coxon made a superb save to thwart the flying Memos forward. Belleville brought the crowd to its feet with the tying goal at 12.32 but Houston reared back to give Clinton the lead on a three-man attack with DeFelice and Shamlock.

Ted DeGray again brought the house down with a fine effort as he blasted the puck home with seven minutes to go to knot the count at six-all. Muckler got the gate with three minutes left but the Memos defence successfully staved off the Comets sustained last-minute drive.

Came Vern Goyer's overtime goal and it looked like a victory for the Memos. Hull went off but no damage was done and on his return Hull carried the battle to the Comets. Then Steele's tying counter and time ran out.

Dutchmen Place Six Players On ORFU All-Stars

By BOB SMYLIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, who meet Edmonton Eskimos in the Grey Cup semi-final today, placed six men on The Canadian Press Ontario Rugby Football Union all-star team. Six Americans, one less than the 1953 team, were chosen.

Toronto Balmy Beach, which had a disastrous season with a 1-11 won-lost record, placed three players on the mythical dream squad and Sarnia Imperials, who have established all-star teams for four placed three. The extra man was added by a tie for the third halfback spot between Nayland Moll of Beaches and Blake Taylor of Imperials.

Four of the 1953 all-stars repeated on this year's team. They are imports Jay Fry, Kitchener, and Harvey Singleton, Toronto, and homebrew Bruce Mattingley and Dutch Davey of the Dons.

The team was chosen by sports writers, sports broadcasters and coaches in the three league cities —Toronto, Sarnia and Kitchener. The selectors, whose votes were weighted to give equal balloting strength to each city, were unanimous only on Mattingley, import quarter Bob Celeri.

The team: Flying wing — Carl Totzke, Kitchener. Halfbacks: Paul Amodio, Kitchener; Jack Hewitt, Sarnia; Nayland Moll, Toronto; Blake Taylor, Kitchener. Quarter: Jimmy Celeri, Kitchener.

Centre: Bruce Mattingley, Sarnia. Guards: Dutch Davey, Sarnia; Jay Fry, Kitchener. Tackle: Keith Carpenter, Toronto; Dan Nykoluk, Toronto. Ends: Harvey Singleton, Toronto; Gerry Macinggart, Kitchener.

Two Drivers Killed In Road Car Race

OAXACA, Mexico (AP) — Two Americans were killed and two others were injured Friday in the Pan-American road race as drivers from many parts of the world hurtled their speeding cars over the mountainous backbone of southern Mexico on the second lap. Jack McAfee, a third American, originally reported by the Mexican radio to have been killed, was found in an official recheck to have been injured.

Ford Robinson of Sherman Oaks, Calif., was killed and McAfee, of Manhattan Beach, Calif., was injured when their red Ferrari shot off the road between Tuxtla Gutierrez and Oaxaca.

Miller Jr. also, the Mexican highway police said David Ramsey of El Paso, Tex., had been killed as he drove a Lancer service car. His companion, Ed Shelton, was injured. The accident happened near Tehuantepec.

No Re-Admission For Jonquiere In Quebec Loop

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec Junior Hockey League has turned down a request from Jonquiere Marquis to rejoin the circuit, league president Lionel Fleury said Friday night.

Fleury did not give the results of the telegraphic vote but said unanimous approval was needed to re-admit Jonquiere. The Marquis pulled out of the league last week-end because of difficulties in obtaining good players.

Fleury said the bid was turned down because of overtures the Marquis made to enter the Ontario league. He said that their players had already been assigned to other clubs in the QHL.

All Peaceful as Majors Whip Flyers, Teepees Wallop Kitchener Canucks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fans who expected to see a repeat performance of Tuesday's tussle between Barrie Flyers and Toronto St. Michael's College Majors were disappointed Friday night.

Only two minor brawls broke out in the game in which Majors defeated Flyers 8-3 handily. In Tuesday's game a 30-minute melee broke out and two game-conductors and five majors were handed out.

The only violence was in the third period when Hugh Ball of Flyers and Dick Duff of St. Michael's tangled and received five-minute major penalties. Majors defence man Noel Price and Jerry Macdonald of Barrie mixed it up later, but escaped without penalties.

In other games St. Catharines Teepees walloped Kitchener-Waterloo Canucks 9-3 at Kitchener and Guelph Biltmores defeated the visiting Galt Black Hawks 4-3.

Brian Anderson scored two third-period goals, including the winner, to pace St. Michael's. Ken Gribbons, Ken Linseman, Bill Colvin and rookie defenceman Viger Gendron netted the others. Bob Haworth, Macdonald and Danny Pollastrini tallied for Barrie.

Majors warmed up with a 3-0 lead in the first period and never looked back.

Ches Warchol and Mitch Plata scored two goals each for St. Catharines. Others were shared by Ab McDonald, Mait Thompson, Bob Butler, Barry Cullen and Wimpy Roberts. Jake Smoka, Glen Crossman and Irv Spencer scored for Canucks.

Biltmores opened strongly and scored two quick goals in the first period, but Black Hawks squared the game early in the second. Guelph's Ken Mariboro was ejected during the third period. Biltmores had 40 shots on goal against 30 for Hawks.

Bill McCreary scored twice for Guelph. John Gillis and Tom McCarthy added one. Duncan Melville scored two Galt goals and the third was fired by Jim Marshall.

Tonight Barrie is at Galt and Marlboros at St. Catharines. Sun-Guelph meet Marlboros and Kitchener play St. Michael's at a doubleheader in Toronto.

Mercurys, Indians Win Senior Tilts, Sounders Share Top With Dutchies

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Owen Sound Mercurys moved into a first-place tie with the idle Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen with a 4-2 victory over Chatham Maroons Friday night in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A game.

Mercurys and Dutchmen have each won nine and drawn one of their games. But the Mercs have lost two, Dutchmen one. Maroons have 19 points, seven up on the second-spot Stratford Indians.

In another game Indians defeated the lowly Niagara Falls Cataracts 4-1. In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association senior eastern group Sudbury Wolves—and North Bay Trappers battled to a 4-4 overtime tie.

Maroons were out of luck on more than one occasion with players missing open corners or being outguessed by Rodger Dalton in the Owen Sound nets.

The score was tied 1-1 at the end of the first period but the Mercs went ahead 3-2 entering the third.

Jack Kirk, Gerry Gardiner and Eddie Busch scored the Owen Sound goals. George Edwards and Harry Kazarian scored for Chatham.

OVERTIME NEEDED

For Stratford it was the first victory in seven starts. They had to go into overtime to do it. Then they went on to win.

Bob Meader, Dick Mickey, Roth and playing coach Moe Morris scored for the Indians. Eddie Mulligan scored the lone Cataracts' goal.

Wolves and Trappers played their second consecutive overtime tie on Sudbury ice.

Rene Pepin scored three of the North Bay goals. George Gosselin added the fourth. Andy Miles, Armand Lemieux, Hub Beaudry and Jack Radon scored the Sudbury goals.

Tonight Niagara Falls is at Stratford, Chatham at Kitchener and Owen Sound at Windsor in OHA games. In the NOHA tonight Sudbury is at North Bay and Pembroke at Sault Ste. Marie. Ont. Sunday Pembroke play Indians at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Larks Win If Score Ends in Tie

OTTAWA (CP)—If the score is tied today at the end of the Big Four playoff series between Montreal Alouettes and Ottawa Rough Cats, Montreal will be declared the winner as a result of finishing atop the league standings in scheduled play.

Wes Brown, secretary of the Big Four Football Union, said Friday night the two-game, total - points series went end today. Alouettes have a five-point edge as a result of a 14-9 win in the first game at Hamilton Wednesday.

Brown said that if the teams are tied in total points at the end of regulation play, they will take a five-minute rest but must not leave the field.

They then will play two 10-minute sets of overtime play. If the score is still tied at the end of the overtime periods, Montreal will be adjudged the winner on the basis of a higher league standing.

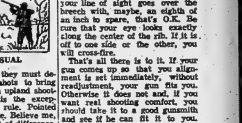
Does Your Shotgun Fit You?

(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Solmar Tables)



By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT

The other day I went with a young man who carried a 20-gauge pump gun. It was a new gun and he was quite proud of it. He confessed, however, that he could not shoot it very well.

I had him mount the gun to his shoulder. No wonder he could not shoot it well. The stock might have fitted a 15-year-old boy, but it certainly was wrong for that young man, who stands 6 feet 2 inches.

Possibly, by padding the comb and adding at least two inches to the length of the stock he could have the gun come somewhere near fitting him. Possibly, but I doubt it. The best thing he can do is to have the gun restocked by a man who knows his business.

All too many men who look forward each year to the hunting season buy any old gun whatever that all-important item—having the stocks of their guns fit their individual physical requirements. They simply buy guns with standard stocks and then, as they say, "learn to shoot" those guns.

The result is that they must depend upon aimed shots by trying, down their guns, to upland shooting, the aimed shot is the exception rather than the rule. Pointed shots are the average. Believe me, there is a great deal of difference.

When an upland bird, such as a grouse or a woodcock, flushes, there is seldom time to aim your gun. In the few seconds allowed you to put your gun on the bird while it still is in effective range, you have time only to point the gun at the bird, swing it to the proper lead, and fire.

If you take time to align your right eye with the center of the rib, aim the front sight at the bird, then swing to the proper lead—as often as not the bird is beyond effective range before you get around to pressing the trigger. And if you don't do these things the chances are that you will miss the bird anyway.

If your shotgun fits you, alignment already is taken care of when you bring the gun to your shoulder. Thus, pointing right.

The usual way to test length is finger. You know that with a fitted gun you bring it up when you place your game directly over the front sight.

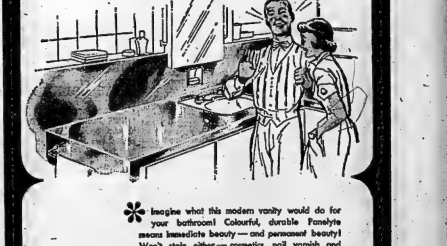
How do you know whether or not your gun fits you? That's easy. You can go into endless detail about length of stock, drop at heel, drop at comb, width at comb and pitch, and, if your gunsmith knows his business, come away with a well-fitted stock.

The easy way is to check it for length, drop and possible cross-fire. First for length—mount the gun to your shoulder; your thumb, as it closes around the grip, should be about an inch and a half in front of your nose.

The usual way to test length is to set the butt plate in the crease of your elbow. Your trigger finger should close comfortably over the trigger. I think the nose-to-thumb measurement is better.

Now for drop and cross-fire—shut your eyes and mount the gun to your shoulder. Rest your cheek snugly against the comb and have the stock set so that all is comfortable—eyes open or shut.

Your right eye should be looking along the center of the rib with the front sight on the center way. If your line of sight goes over the top of the rib maybe an eighth of an inch to spare, that's O.K. Be sure that your eye looks exactly along the center of the rib. If it is off to one side or the other, you have trouble.



That's all there is to it. If your gun comes up so that you align-ment is set immediately, without readjustment, your gun fits you. Otherwise it does not and, if you want real shooting comfort, you should take it to a good gunsmith and see if he can fit it to you. Then you can shoot with assurance, accuracy and, incidentally, a lot more speed than you did formerly.

We are hop to the gabby kid who is known to the gang as Presser. When he comes to his second bid he is only a second guesser.

An opening one bidder frequently has only just enough to make the opening. If so, it is advisable for him not to bid again unless partner forces him to bid again with some signal.

Culbertson says such an opener is in the minimum zone. The way he determines this is by the number of honor tricks. Goren calls it a minimum range hand. He determines this by the number of points.

If partner responds one no-trump, Culbertson says a minimum zone opener should pass if balanced and no six-card suit; with a six-card suit, rebid the suit; with unbalanced hand, bid a second lower-rank suit or rebiddable suit; otherwise, pass.

If response is one no-trump, Goren says a minimum range opener should pass unless his hand is unsuitable for no-trump play; holding a singleton or two doubletons, he has a game to play in suit.

Accordin' to Gordon: If partner responds with one no-trump, the opener with no more to say should pass. It's a farm mouth hint. Period.

You may like the manipulating and manoeuvering that is suggested in Culbertson and Goren rules. My rules are to say nothing but the truth and let nature take its course.

My future series will attempt to prove which of us is correct. Meantime, let me offer this hint: No player of a pair should appoint himself a steering committee without warning.

Your opening is one spade with the south hand as shown here:

♠A K 8 5 3
♣Q 7 4.

If your north partner responds with a bid of one no-trump it is not a signal that forces you to bid again. You should pass. Follow Culbertson or Goren rules and you will come out the same decision. But you may have to wade through a lot of words to realize it.

Little Benny's Notebook

I came home from the market with 20 cents change, and ma said, Well, where's the other ten?

What other 10, ma? I said, and she said, What other 10 do you suppose? I gave you a half a doller, and all you bought was a packidge of Fluffed Oatsies, which costs exactly 20 cents, she said.

Meening there should of been 30 cents change, and I said, Well heck, ma, all she gave me was 2 dimes, I remember them both exactly.

Now that's a foe thing, a full grown cashier taking advantage of a child, ma said, I'll go right straight back with you and talk to her, she said, and I said, Aw G, ma, she was an exter nice lady.

I dont doubt it, she probably had an artificial smile a yard wide all the time she was cheeting you, ma said, and I said, No mam, ma, she really was nice. She asked me if I wanted to try one of the new Handy Dandy Nut Rolls, and I said, Sure, so she gave me one for a sampel. The next dime I get, I'm going to buy one from her, a reward her, I said.

Just wait till I take a look at the cash register receet, ma said.

And she reetched and got it out of the bag saying, Of course, here it is, 20 and 10, 20 for the Fluffed Oatsies and 10 for the candy.

Heck, what do you know about that, she really did take advantage of me, I said, and ma said, Somebody took advantage of something, I know that much.

Meening me, and not being quite the end of the subject.

NEW YORK (AP) — The state athletic commission Friday suspended two officials of the London Sporting Club and four boxing managers as a result of an inquiry into charges of "blacklisting and boycotting."

They will receive a hearing Tuesday.

Why I Made "The Egyptian"
By Darryl F. Zanuck
Producer of "The Egyptian"

There have been plenty of instances where a book had to be revised before it was suitable for Hollywood's film industry, but the making of "The Egyptian" is undoubtedly the first time in Hollywood history that the film industry had to undergo a complete revolution before it was ready to dramatize a book on the screen.

As soon as I read Mika Waltari's best-selling novel, I knew it had to be made into a motion picture, and then for two years after that I puzzled over how to do the book justice. The day I saw the first tests in CinemaScope and color DeLuxe, I knew that I had my answer. The new screen process would provide the depth of feeling and the impact necessary to transmit to audiences the meaning and social significance of Waltari's book. In addition to providing the means of filming the full scope and pageantry of "The Egyptian," CinemaScope revived the interest of the public in motion pictures and so made it possible for Twentieth Century-Fox to invest five million dollars in the production of the film. My decision to make the film my personal production for the year was strengthened by the realization that the book is a great spiritual story. It is in the line of the Pharaoh Akhnaton, who thirteen centuries before Christ was rumbling toward the idea of one living God, who was so advanced in his moral thinking that his religious song is a direct forebear of several of the Psalms and who is even believed by some, including Freud, to be the teacher of Moses. It is the story of the gropings of this greatest of Pharaohs before he first came to say "Love Thine Enemies," can be compared to the search of man today in the discovery of God.

Aside from the fascinating story of Akhnaton himself, people have always had a great interest in the area around the Nile, possibly because it is the cradle of the great cradles of civilization.

So the basic ingredient of this invigorating story, both in the book and on the screen, is the life history of one man, Sinuhe the Egyptian, whose search for truth culminates in the war, love affairs, world travel, murder, and, eventually, spiritual peace. In relating this one career, however, "The Egyptian" is, in reality, five different stories.

Tying together all of these factors into a vivid whole dramatized by an outstanding cast headed by Jean Simmons, Victor Mature, Gene Tierney, Michael Wilding, Bella Darvi, Peter Ustinov and Edmund Purdom as "The Egyptian," direction by Michael Curtiz, "The Egyptian" is continuing at the Belle Theatre.

Galt Rink Wins

GALT (CP) — The Fred Perry rink of Galt registered five shots on the last end to defeat the F. Wilson rink of Wingham 21-20 Friday in first-round play for the G. J. Little Trophy of the Earl Bird bonspiel.

The Perry rink then moved into the third round by defeating A. J. Jourdain's Royal Canadians quartet of Toronto in an extra end, 9-8.

D. W. Currie's Toronto rink knocked out F. Smith's Owen Sound four, 13-7, while T. Gardhouse of Owen Sound rang up a 10-7 victory over W. Smith of Harpeler in other first round games.

Hannigan's hand was broken Wednesday night when he was heavily checked by Jean Beliveau in a game with Montreal.

OUTSTANDING CAST PERFORMS IN DRAMATIC WESTERN LOVE STORY

One of the greatest motion pictures which Hollywood has produced is David O. Selznick's Technicolor production, "Duel in the Sun", closing tonight at the Odeon McCarthy theatre.

Presented for the first time on the wide-vision screen against a background of the Lone Star State of Texas, the screen play was written by David O. Selznick as suggested by Niven Busch's novel. King Vidor, one of the most distinguished motion picture directors, guided "Duel in the Sun". A Texas himself, Vidor was particularly at home with the story. Playing the principal parts in "Duel in the Sun" are Jennifer Jones, as a tempestuous half-breed named Pearl Chavez, Peck as Lewt McCanles, a charming but worthless man, and Joseph Cotten as his brother, Jesse McCanles, an idealistic gentleman.

The important roles in "Duel in the Sun" are portrayed by such gifted players as Lionel Barrymore, Lillian Gish, Herbert Marshall, Walter Huston, Charles Bickford, Otto Kruger, Joan Tetzel, Butterfly McQueen, and Tilly Losch, an internationally famous Viennese dancing artist.

Costing a fortune to produce, and many years in the making, "Duel in the Sun" required the services of 8,000 extras.

More than 1,003 special effects used in the picture, each one of which constituted a technical advance in motion picture making, have been placed at the disposal of the entire motion picture industry.

LANGLOIS SEEKS CROWN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson will defend his title here against Pierre Langlois of France instead of Joe Giardello on Dec. 13, it was announced Friday night. Giardello developed a bad leg and underwent an operation. This will be Olson's third defense of the championship this year. He previously decisioned Rocky Castellani and Kid Gavilan.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, for NOVEMBER 22, 1954.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Elementary matters foremost. Judge carefully what you are about to do. Use thoughtful aim; and don't "fire"-till you are sure of results. Hurl no one needlessly.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Some steps can be made uncomfortably, causing annoyances, even setbacks. So be careful; tread with caution, shrewdness. Alert, unbiased deduction could prevent hazards.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Much of our trouble comes from impulsive action, words. We generally know what is right or amiss, but do we always heed that inner sense of justice? Yet's do so today.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Matters before you will need sound, well analyzed thought if you would overcome possible obstacles. Try not to be impulsive and do not shirk important work.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — The aspects are helpful for occupational and personal duties, but you will have to give your wholehearted cooperation. Surgery, dentistry, handling tools, machine mining, construction work greatly benefitted.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — With wise reservations, let well enough alone. Don't force your viewpoint on others. Better the quality of your work, and devise new methods to prevent errors.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Though mildness dominates, your ruling planet, Venus favors latent talents. Aim for greetings through sincere effort, cooperation when needed.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Don't procrastinate. System and consistency will help in situations where cooperation is lacking. Avoid overcrowding your schedule so as to have time for the unexpected.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — You may have to show extra initiative and keep urging yourself forward on this somewhat negative day. Your sector i slightly inactive now.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Things seem to lag! You may not be as clever as usual, but this is the time to show your inborn spunk, your ingenuity. Pull the hard cots out of the fire through grit, sturdy ambition.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — It is vital to start your day right. Consider your tasks and your abilities. Much good can come just from having the will to win and backing.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Industry, machines, trades, domestic work, confidential matters can reap benefits. Don't let unfavorable influences upset you. The busy beaver will get the dividends.

YOU BORN TODAY are usually farseeing, versatile, sometimes to anticipative, causing needless anxious moments. You have a strong character; are shrewd, with a keen sense of right and wrong. Perhaps that is why much is always expected of you. When living up to your finer self, you are buoyantly happy, can make those around you happy. Do not let skepticism or worry dominate your being. Excellent prospects ahead. You can do most anything when really trying. You would make an outstanding doctor, nurse, musician, writer or business executive.

Judgment Will Not Be Given Until Monday

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government's arbitrator in the railway-union contract dispute that threatened a general rail strike last summer handed down his judgment Friday.

Chief Justice Gordon McGregor of Ontario based his findings "in representatives of the disputants and to the labor department, under an agreement that they are not to be made public before 10 a.m. EST Monday.

All recipients of the 15-page decision received it in a sealed envelope with newspaper men. So did the arbitrator, after issuing copies to the disputants, read a brief summary in the hotel room here where he has been working on it since Nov. 8.

Under a Sept. 18 order-in-council of cabinet, the major railways and unions representing 145,000 non-operating workers must accept the

Oshawa Man Convicted Of Stealing Cheque

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—James Hutchison, 27, of Oshawa Friday was convicted on two counts of stealing four cheques from rural mailboxes during the fall of 1953. A woman crown witness in the case was beaten Thursday night, after testifying, despite a threat.

Between 60 and 70 cheques, amounting to approximately $1,500, were stolen during September and October last year, police said. Carl Mayberry, 25, and Mrs. Delphine Provencher was given a six-month sentence for forgery.

Hutchison was remanded for sentence by Judge John Kennedy. Graham Hutchison, brother of Hutchison, said he will probably appeal on the grounds that the jury was prejudiced.

Following the trial, Mr. Leach said the jury was prejudiced by a morning broadcast which described the beating Thursday night of Mrs. Elva Howe, a crown witness, by two unidentified assailants.

Canada's Cutting Of 25th Brigade Now Completed

OTTAWA (CP)—Operation "Reduce," the cutting of Canada's 25th Infantry Brigade in Korea to one third its strength, is almost complete, the army said Friday.

The move came at 4 p.m. yesterday as roulg home in time for Christmas: the 4th Battalion, Canadian Guards, commanded by Lt.-Col. Val Leduc of Quebec City, and 2 squadron, Royal Canadian Dragoons, commanded by Maj. A. L. Macdonald of Toronto and Ottawa.

The first major unit to be withdrawn, the 2nd Battalion, the Black Watch, arrived at Seattle, Wash., Thursday after a year's garrison duty in Korea.

The army said the remaining formations to be withdrawn or disbanded from the Canadian Army Expected home by Christmas: They are the 3rd Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery; 57th Field Regiment, RCHA signals troop; 2nd Field Squadron, Royal Canadian Engineers; less one troop remaining until the end of December; and the 3rd Troop remaining until the end of next month.

After home leave, the Guards will concentrate at Camp Ipperwash, Ont. The Dragoons will join their regiment at Camp Petawawa, Ont.

Remaining in Korea are the 2nd Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, and one field ambulance, with the necessary administrative troops for their support.

MARMORA

Regan Heads Hockey Club

MARMORA — Marmora senior hockey team has been organized and its officers and board of directors for the following season appointed as follows:

Manager and president, William M. Regan; 1st vice-president, Robert Gray; 2nd vice-president, William Shannon; 3rd vice-president, Albert Mayne; secretary-treasurer, Percy Gray; Sr.; team captain and acting coach, Kenneth Trumble; board of directors, R. G. Walsh, H. Gray, W. Howe, V. Glover, C. Nickle and C. McCoy.

Just what the team will do next season is, is still doubtful. Marmora, Campbellford and some other of the stronger teams whom the Trent Valley League has endeavoured to include in the league, show unwillingness to belong to a league where half of the teams are not of sufficient strength to make real competition. The feeling is that the only way the proposed enlarged league would be a success would be to have two divisions — the stronger teams to be in one and those of lesser strength to be in the other. It is expected that eventually this problem of scarcity of real competition all round will be worked out for the provision of good hockey in the area.

High School Wins Title

MARMORA — The championship of the Centre Hastings High School Rugby League was won by the Marmora team as they defeated Stirling on the latter's ground on Wednesday afternoon by 7-0. The teams were evenly matched and the issue was in doubt until the end. Lorrell kicked for a point in the first quarter and repeated his performance in the second. In the third, Darrah seized an opportunity to advance the score with a touchdown. This was not converted. Marring the game was an accident to Bruce Walker of the visiting team in the closing quarter. He sustained a knee injury which forced his removal. The removal of the casualties from the list for the rest of the year ago his right knee was operated upon for the removal of the cartilage to the knee. After a successful year for sports indulged in by the boys at the high school, the girls recently winning volley ball honors of the district.

Wellington on the Lake

INDIAN SUMMER

The sunlit fields, all brown and bare,
The twinkling waters of the stream,
The purple haze, the amber light
Have come us to the realm of dream,
We have found our hearts a magic spell—
A spell of restful quietude—
The spirit of the summer past
Brooding o'er lake and hill and wood.

So, while life's summer days are past,
And age comes like the withered leaf,
Youth's roses faded, torn and fled,
Life's harvest, like ripe corn in sheaf,
Hearts may retain the light and glow
The spirit of life's summer dead,
As Indian Summer smiles to show
The glory of the days long fled.
—Helen B. Anderson.

WELLINGTON — The beautiful days we have been enjoying proclaim the arrival of Indian Summer. It is interesting to watch the boys and girls of the village school as they play their games on the campus in these beautiful autumn days.

Susanna Moodie, who came from England many years ago to the backwoods of Ontario, Canada, wrote of her beautiful poems, especially the one entitled Indian Summer, which concludes with the lines:

"These restful Indian Summer days
Attune the soul to tender sadness,
We love, but joy not in the rays,
It is not summer's fervid gladness,
But a melancholy glory
Hovering softly round decay,
Like a swan that sings its own dirge
As it dies away."

Ere it floats in death away."

Mrs. Harry Pettengill with Donald and Carolyn accompanied by Mrs. Alice Good Murphy spent a few days last week as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Warden Sanders, and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sanders and enjoyed the Santa Claus parade.

Mrs. Ora Moore is spending some time in Picton with Mrs. Alexander who has been ill in hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Vandewater with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Vanderwater, Belleville, spent a few days in Toronto enjoying the Winter Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Conley entertained at dinner on Sunday Mrs. Blake Conley, Miss Marjorie Blakely and Mrs. H. B. Anderson.

Mr. Blake Conley is building a new home on his farm in Gilead.

Those who enjoyed six o'clock dinner at Grubmaster Monday evening were Mrs. H. B. Anderson, Miss Marjorie Blakely, Miss E. E. Blakely and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Cleave.

THE OLD HOME FARM

Broad fertile fields, with soil well-tilled
Where once the virgin forest grew,
In which the Indian hunter roamed
And skillfully his arrow drew;
A land in which our fathers came—
The Loyalists of long ago—
Well worthy of the fadeless name
As passing years so plainly show.

While looking on the smiling fields
When verdant with the growing crops,
Our thoughts turn to the passing years,
And glimpse the forest once again;
The forest that with iron will
A loyal forefather laid low,
Whereon a home upon the hill—
This Loyalist of long ago.

And now he sleeps where first he fell.
A tree in this far-forest land,
But oft to us he left behind
A legacy so fine and grand;
A legacy of smiling fields,
Of orchard and of gleaming sod,
And oh! a gift more wondrous still,
Truth, loyalty and faith in God.
—Helen B. Anderson.

A Detroit reader in a recent letter writes in appreciation of the news poem as follows:

"While I was visiting in Ontario recently I read your poem, Star from which I clipped your poem, The Old Home Farm. I am always moved by your poetry and especially a woman's appreciation of the farmer's ancestral acres, the love of homestead. Your pointing up to the Willingdon Era a challenge not to fill Canada with the wrong stock of people."

Visiting the old home farm in Gilead on Sunday we found little changed with the passing years, the sole and destruction of the attractive Maple Lawn, and the un-used school house, now closed and belonging to the Wellington-on-the-Lake Orchard Area, being the most noticeable. But, however, the greatest change of all is in the residents—the names of former residents are Armstrong, McMillan and Blakely being no longer found.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The most enchanting reading offered by the sports page in the last 48 hours has come in the form of startled statements by various American League figures in the wake of the big Yankee-Baltimore player deal, which to all intents and purposes brought another series of flags to the stadium in the Bronx.

Probably the plum of the lot was attributed to our old friend Woodie Ruel, general manager of Detroit Tigers, who expressed the opinion that the new setup "makes the Yanks strongthens his league at the top. We submit that Ike Boyington, who has been working like a steel trap. But if he means that the other leagues are weaker at the top we will have to ask him to file a brief and to quote about it.

A FIGHTING THIRD

Our second favorite reaction came from Frank Lane, the master trader of Chicago White Sox, who vowed that the Orioles will cover exactly the kind of deal he would have made if he had been on the job. Lane is about through building up a seventh-place ball club. Well, let's see about that.

Lane became general manager of the Sox in October of 1948, and his club has been over still was passing from having finished fifth to fourth, but since then the Sox have closed a fighting third.

Did Lane accomplish this great resurgence by trading away top hands for flashy pitchers and outfielders and rookies who might, or might not, hit the big time? We can't find it in the record that he did. We do find that he made many smart, smart deals among which he eventually wound up with a fine new roster.

Now let us go through the rosters of the seven other American League clubs and see if we can find a player whom Lane passed along in his myriad trades who has become a star with his present owners.

The final statement we feel moved to quarrel with was made by Paul Richards in explaining to the baseball writers what happened. Paul said that he felt the deal would give the Orioles a long-range boost. He expects to need to build up a farm system. And how right he is.

The two veteran pitchers obtained from the Yanks, Harry Byrd and Don McDonald, are not farm material. Neither is the outfielder, Gene Woodling, nor Willie Miranda, the shortstop. That leaves only two rookie catchers, Gus Triandos and Hal Smith, and three other players of unknown quality whom the Orioles will receive to complete the deal. Not exactly what I'd call an answer to the Orioles' immediate ills, or even to their future ones.

Minor Hockey

The pee-wee section of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association played the first of another season at the Memorial Arena this morning with two games being played, two of them ending in ties. The Canadiens rocked up to a 3-3 deadlock in the morning, a close 3-2 decision over the Rangers, and the Leafs battled to a 2-2 deadlock. The Bruins and the Black Hawks also tied 2-2 with a last minute Hawk goal bringing about the tie.

The Canadiens were led by Durrant with two goals in their win while D. Dafoe also scoring and assists going to Wardle, Rowland and Durrant. Pete Preston and Weston were the Ranger marksmen while Scott and R. Sidwell drew the Bruins.

Zakoe and Outtingdyke sparked the Leafs to victory while scoring one goal each and setting up the other for his marker. Both the Red Wing goals were unassisted with Larry Brown and Jim Mason scoring.

Pointer's goal on a clean breakaway in the last minute of play gave the Black Hawks a tie with the Bruins. Larry Scott was the other Hawk scorer with Muirhead getting one assist. Lesie Moreau and D. Dale with goals for the Bruins with a helper made the scoresheet for the Bruins. Don Dolan and Pete Upper were the referees.

HOLD UP SLADE FURSE

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson, 19-year-old Olympic great, floored third-ranked light heavyweight Bruce Harris in the first while winning a unanimous decision in eight rounds Friday night at Madison Square Garden. Patterson weighed 185½, Slade 175.

Jim Norris, International chairman, announced he was holding up Slade's purse and ordering a hearing Monday at which Slade would be asked to explain his poor performance.

Slade, the man who defiated Harris last April and was floored in April and wasn't dropped in 10 losing decisions by Joe Baker, the No. 2 heavyweight, went down twice in the first and once each in the second, third and eighth.

Two Are Killed, One Injured In Railway Wreck

PORT ALBERNI (CP) — Two men were presumed dead and one was injured here Friday in a railway accident which closed down a logging line and isolated two camps.

The missing men were identified as William Crosby, 51, of Victoria, the engineer, and E. G. Erickson, 34 of Port Alberni, a brakeman. The injured man was Stanley Malcolmson, fireman aboard a MacMillan and Bloedel, Ltd., logging engine which crashed through a trestle near the company's camp A on the Franklin river, 15 miles southeast of here.

Police said the engine apparently jumped the track, tore out 40 feet of the bridge and dropped 10 feet into the flood - swollen Franklin river, carrying the engineer and a brakeman with it.

Malcolmson suffered head and shoulder injuries.

The firm's camps A and B were unable to come and closed down pending repair of the trestle.

The accident occurred as heavy rains swept in over Vancouver Island, closing down another logging operation. Port Alberni area registered 7.5 inches of rain during a three-day period.

Vishinsky Dies After Heart Attack

President Of UN Announces Sudden Death Of Delegate

Had Been Extremely Active In 'Atoms for Peace' Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky died today following a heart attack.

The announcement was made by Dr. Zeleo N. Van Kleffens, president of the U.N. General Assembly.

Word of the Soviet diplomat's death quickly spread through the UN, where President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace proposal was the center of the debate in the 59-nation political committee.

Even before the announcement came, Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold and numerous delegates already had begun expressing their sympathy to Arkady A. Sobolev, deputy of the veteran Soviet diplomat.

Vishinsky's illness was first disclosed when Sobolev took the floor to speak in the atoms-for-peace debate. He said at the time Vishinsky was "indisposed."

Vishinsky previously has had trouble with his heart, but during the last two years seemed in much better health. He had been extremely active in the disarmament and atoms-for-peace discussions in the current session of the General Assembly.

Vishinsky also frequently attended diplomatic receptions and other social affairs.

The one-time Soviet foreign minister has been Russia's chief personnel delegate to the UN since the death of Stalin.

44 Violent Deaths During Week-End In Eastern Canada

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

A rash of highway accidents accounted for more than half of eastern Canada's 44 violent deaths during the weekend.

By midnight Sunday, 21 persons died in traffic mishaps, a Canadian Press survey early today showed. Ten persons were drowned, five died in a plane crash and police reported four dead in two separate murder-suicides in Toronto. Two persons died in falls and two were accidentally shot.

Quebec topped the list with 21 fatalities; Ontario had 20. Nova Scotia, two and New Brunswick one. No violent deaths were reported in Prince Edward Island or Newfoundland.

PLANE CRASHES

Thirteen of Quebec's fatalities happened on the highway. Three were double fatalities.

Jean Boucher, 37, a Montreal taxi driver, and Joanne Chaffee, 19, were killed in an automobile collision near St. Robert, just south of Montreal.

Police said apparently Kersey shot the woman and then committed suicide.

Rev. Salvador Grenon, Roman Catholic priest, died when his automobile overturned on a tree near Hawkesbury in a dense fog. Archie Batherson, 26, of Alvx was killed when his car skidded off the road near Whitby and struck a telephone post. Coroner Orders Burial Services Held Up

KINGSTON (CP) — An autopsy was performed on the body of Mrs. Margaret Thompson, 33, of Calgary Saturday, a few hours after Dr. Smirle Lawson, supervising coroner for Ontario, ordered burial services held up.

Authorities said results of the post-mortem, conducted by provincial pathologist Dr. W. D. Hay, will probably be disclosed today.

Dr. Lawson said Dr. M. M. Cantor, Alberta's chief coroner, said the services had been ordered stopped because Mrs. Thompson's relatives "want to establish the cause of death." He did not elaborate.)

Results of the post-mortem examination will be reported to Calgary authorities.

Mrs. Thompson, mother of five children, was the former Margaret Brown of Kingston. She died in Calgary Nov. 14.

OTTAWA (CP) — A new 600-acre site has been found for the remote Arctic community of Aklavik.

Northern Affairs Minister Lesage announced today that Canada's largest Arctic community will be moved to a new location on the east channel of the Mackenzie river about 33 miles east of the present site.

Planning for the new townsite will start immediately and take into account requirements of a population larger than that of the present 96-acre settlement. The population of Aklavik now fluctuates between 600 in winter and 1,500 in summer. Most of the inhabitants are Eskimos and Indians.

The 42-year-old community, situated on a delta on the west bank of the Mackenzie 70 miles south of the Arctic ocean, must be moved to prevent it from sinking through melting permafrost and being engulfed by the river.

Eight Killed In 3 Separate Plane Crashes

Wealthy Political Figure One Victim

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Eight persons, including six air force personnel and a wealthy Saskatchewan political figure, lost their lives in three separate aircraft accidents in Canada during the weekend.

At St. Andre d'Argenteuil, 45 miles west of Montreal, four airmen and a young RCAF nursing sister died in the wreckage of their twin-engined Beechcraft when it crashed in dense woods while on a routine flight from the airbase at St. Johns, Que., to Cornwall, Ont., Saturday.

In western Canada, Donald Hood, 46, one of six Liberals campaigning for the leadership of the Saskatchewan party, was killed along with his wife in the private plane in a crash near Regina. The wreck of an RCAF T-33 Silver Star jet at Poplar Point, Man., took the life of its pilot.

Victims of St. Andre d'Argenteuil crash are FO. Kenneth B. Kester, 32, of Calgary, pilot of the ill-fated craft—SO. Robert Sinclair, 30, of Medicine Hat, Alta.; Cpl. Joseph Francois Roland Aloise, 34, Montreal; Cpl. Peter Mill, Jr., 24, Truro, N.S., and Leading Aircraftsman Frances Sarah Hogg, 22, Norwood, Ont.

All were stationed at St. Johns. The communications plane had been given clearance for the flight to Villagers said they heard three explosions as the plane passed overhead in bad weather. It dug a hole 30 feet deep as it plowed into the ground. Wreckage and bodies were scattered over a wide area of the rugged terrain.

At Regina, Mr. Hood's death prompted to produce a subdued atmosphere at the Saskatchewan Liberals meet there Friday to choose a new leader. A wealthy businessman and weekly newspaper editor from the northeastern town of Hudson Bay, Mr. Hood bought the single-engine craft two months ago and used it extensively in his campaign.

The plane, with Lloyd Carr of Saskatoon, Sask., at the controls, apparently struck the ground at a steep angle and flipped over several times while attempting a forced landing.

Flight Lt. Ian Pilot of the RCAF jet that crashed at Poplar Point was without pending notification of next-of-kin.

Cook Says Churchill Now Dieting

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill was reported today to be dieting.

The news came out this way: Arthur Lubin, an American movie director, rented an apartment from Air Chief Marshal Sir Ralph Cochrane.

"Lady Cochrane has been wonderful," said Lubin. "She suggested I try Sir Winston Churchill's flat. When the cook came around, I asked her how she could cope with both me and Sir Winston and she said:

"That's easy now. Sir Winston's on a diet."

Reds Will Not Pay High Price To Block Arming of Germany

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet government apparently has concluded a policy reappraisal and decided against playing a high price—if either concessions or threats—to block Western rearming of West Germany.

This is the view of responsible American officials based on the best available information regarding Soviet conduct.

Russia's latest moves to prevent the conversion of West Germany into a member of the anti-Soviet defence alliance are considered here to be moves which Moscow must regard as lacking in boldness and effectiveness.

This is taken to mean that in a sense the Soviet government is resigned to the prospect that Germany will be rearmed. The interpretation is that the Kremlin may have reached this attitude because (1) it was unwilling to let Germany be unified on Western terms and (2) it was unwilling to threaten seriously the use of military forces against the West.

United States Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen is due here from Moscow, probably tomorrow, for talks opening Wednesday with President Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles.

Dulles and French Premier Mendes-France announced Saturday that in their view the Western powers should move through with "early ratification" of the agreements to make West Germany a defence partner. Thus they rejected a public offer by Russia's Foreign Minister Molotov to delay a European security conference he proposed provided the Western powers were willing to delay ratification of the German treaty.

Dulles and Mendes-France, winding up four days of talks here, said that once the treaties are ratified they would be ready to go into "carefully prepared negotiations" with Russia, but "not into improvised debates intended mainly for propaganda."

Montgomery States H-Bomb Will Be Used If War Comes

BY ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plans for the defence of Western Europe now appear to include the use of the hydrogen bomb on the battlefield, to provide a crushing, all-destructive force where tactical nuclear fission bombs or projectiles might be inadequate.

Recent brief generalized references by American military officials to utilization of nuclear weapons and tactics are required to counter aggression have been sharpened by a comment from the deputy supreme commander of allied powers in Europe, British Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of Alamein.

The British strategist says:

"It was in my mind absolutely clear that we at SHAPE (the Paris headquarters of the supreme command) are basing all our operational planning on using atomic and thermonuclear weapons in our defence.

"With us it is no longer 'they may possibly be used.' It is very definitely 'they will be used,' if we are attacked."

Montgomery made the significant statement in a lecture at London last month. A copy of the effect.

lecture became available in Washington today.

Montgomery arrives in Washington this week after a visit to Canada.

Montgomery offered no details in his picture on his inclusion of thermonuclear weapons in the operational plans for defence.

However, these considerations become apparent:

1. The size of the hydrogen weapon is not existing, making delivery by aircraft.

2. Hydrogen weapons are approaching the point where their production in sizable quantities is practical.

3. The area of destruction of a hydrogen weapon is many times that against less-concentrated enemy troop targets than is the case for a standard fission explosion. On the other hand, the distance between the explosion and friendly forces would have to be greater.

Eradication of underground installations, such as command posts or missile-launching sites, would be possible by the impact explosion of a hydrogen bomb, which produces a heavy cratering

Mendes-France Prepared To Organize Parley in May

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) French Premier Pierre Mendes-France expressed confidence today to hold a Big Four meeting in Paris next May—after ratification of the London and Paris agreements.

In an address to the UN General Assembly, the French leader declared that he is opposed to any East-West meeting until after the agreements for bringing West Germany into the Western defence alliance are ratified.

He said, however, that after the agreements are approved France will be ready to help the Kremlin in organizing the Big Four conference, which Russia has been pressing for.

"Let us avoid a war of nerves, let us prepare for the conference now and May, we shall have to do everything to create a climate of confidence."

Mendes-France told the assembly that the proposed meeting of Foreign Minister Molotov for a Big Four meeting are intended to hinder and divide rather than to solve East-West differences.

"The French government hereby affirms that its will to act for peace has not grown weak and does not falter. We hereby nobly proclaim that the door to negotiation is not closed. Quite the contrary."

Mendes-France called for a settlement of the Austrian problem as a preliminary to general European settlement.

"There can be no objective and effective discussion within a four-power conference until the countries of Western Europe which are directly concerned have come to the Paris treaty," he said.

"I do not conceal that it will be a flight into the unknown and would spell certain failure."

Mendes-France said this did not mean that "the task of peace and international search" for solutions abandoned.

He shall not let the idea gain credence that the West rejects peace or that it declines all opportunities of effecting a rapprochement and conciliation, that despairs of ever seeing the establishment of a system of peaceful coexistence capable of restoring confidence. That is why we loudly proclaim that the door to negotiation is not closed."

Mendes-France made a new proposal on the Austrian problem, suggesting that the time for evacuation of all foreign troops from Austria after signing of a state treaty be extended to two years from 90 days. This would be "open to the Soviet position that the current time limit is too short.

Drew 'Doing Fine'

OTTAWA (CP) — Hon. George Drew, stricken two weeks ago with a serious case of meningitis, is "doing fine," his doctor said Sunday night.

The 59-year-old Progressive Conservative leader is expected to remain in hospital 10 days or more. His condition has been reported improving steadily for almost a week now.

Decline in Revenue Blamed On Crow's Nest Pass Rates

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government's arbitrator in the railway-union contract dispute today awarded non-operating employees an estimated $7,000,000 a year in fringe benefits and simultaneously recommended a federal subsidy for the companies.

Chief Justice Gordon Sloan of British Columbia suggested the subsidy to encourage production for the low Crow's Nest Pass rates on grain in Western Canada, which he held partially responsible for the current "serious declines" in rail revenues.

The contract findings are binding on the disputants, but his subsidy reference has no force beyond that of an opinion. His terms of reference did not specify he was to suggest how the cost of fringe benefits be raised.

AWARDS LISTED

Mr. Justice Sloan, appointed by the government to settle contract terms after 145,000 non-operating employees threatened a general strike over their wage-fringe dispute, made these awards:

1. Five statutory holidays with pay each year, at an estimated cost of $4,281,000. The unions had asked for eight.

2. Lengthening of annual paid vacations for long-term employees, to cost an estimated $2,650,000.

He granted no award on employees requests for 20 days' paid sick leave with pay, cumulative from year to year, and for higher overtime pay for Sunday work.

He also denied the unions' request for retroactivity in his findings, declaring them effective from Jan. 1, 1955. The railway-union contracts ran out last Dec. 1.

FRACTION OF DEMANDS

In monetary terms, the arbitrator's award represented but a fraction of the original demands of the non-operating unions. The unions themselves had estimated the full annual cost at $34,000,000, while the railways contended they would run to around $60,000,000.

Largest item was the sick-leave provision — now rejected completely — which the railways had claimed would have cost more than $30,000,000 a year.

Two Occupants Of Truck Trapped As Bridge Falls

TORONTO (CP)—A 50-foot-long bridge collapsed Sunday, taking with it a truck and its two occupants. A bus stopped on the brink moments before it crumpled.

Truck driver Ernest Logan, 21, and passenger Ronald Kennedy, 16, both of Toronto, suffered cuts, bruises and bruises when the 45-year-old Hogg's Hollow bridge, washed away by the 18 inches of rain, collapsed.

The two were trapped in the cab and plunged 20 feet into two feet of water. They smashed a window and scrambled out on the river bank.

The bridge, just north of the city limits on the main Yonge street artery, was under water at the peak of the storm. Authorities closed the bridge after the floods disclosed no major damage.

Two Provincial Officers, Girl Drown in Lake

TIMAGAMI, Ont. (CP) — Provincial police officers and a girl riding with them were drowned Saturday night when their car overturned into Snake lake about 14 miles from here.

Dead are Constables A. R. Hicks of Timagami and W. R. Dure of Brockville and Miss Ann from a visit to a friend's house with Violet Liscombe, 22, of Timagami. Another officer was rescued. They said the rear wheel of the car apparently caught on the side of a narrow causeway across the lake and flipped the car over into the lake. Depth here is 40 feet.

Police said the men were off duty at the time of the accident. Timagami is 69 miles north of North Bay.

Mrs. Liscombe had asked the officers to drive her to the home of a friend.

Ernest Gravelle found the car and called police.

Five Paid Holidays for Railwaymen Estimated to Cost $4,281,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Here are details vision of today's award of Chief Justice Gordon Sloan of British Columbia, federal arbitrator in the union-railway contract dispute:

Statutory holidays: Five paid holidays per year, at an estimated cost of $4,281,000. Hourly-paid employees now get none; the arbitrator found monthly employees have this number incorporated in their pay now. Hourly employees will get double time for holidays worked. Unions had asked eight paid holidays with triple time if worked.

Vacations with pay: A new provision of two weeks after 15 years and four after 25 years. Estimated cost, $2,650,000.

Sick leave: No award. Unions had asked 18 days a year cumulative from year to year.

Higher Sunday overtime pay: No award. Unions asked time-and-a-half for Sunday work when it is a regular working day and double time when it is a rest day.

Effective date: Jan. 1, 1955.

Left for negotiation: The selection of the five statutory holidays. Sloan suggested Dominion Day, Labor Day, Boxing Day, Good Friday and Victoria Day. Unions asked for Civic Holiday, Armistice Day, Easter Monday and Thanksgiving.

Process for clarity.

Thieves Wreck Big Building Take It Away

TOKYO (AP)—Riyoshi Muraski today reported a theft to police—his two-story wooden building.

He said he'd bought the 5,000-square-foot building in August for 1,000,000 yen (about $2,700), intending to turn it into apartments. Murski went out to inspect the property in suburban Shibuja last week and found only an empty lot.

The neighbors told police 20 laborers recently dismantled the structure and carried it off piece by piece in 30 trucks. They said they thought the site was being cleared for new construction.

Officers said "real estate thieves" made off with two other buildings in Tokyo this month.

Lonely Tot, 3, Finds He Has Many Mommies

WOOLWICH, England (Reuters) — Johnnie Masterson, 3, this morning clutched a space gun and a toy panda and asked his nurse: "Will my mommies and daddies come see me again today?"

Sunday, 200 of them came to the Goldie Leigh Hospital here and stood in line in the cold, waiting to see the orphaned boy whose picture appeared in a newspaper Saturday with the caption: "Nobody ever comes to see Johnnie."

For two years Johnnie watched parents visit the 10 other children in the ward. He had been sent to the hospital with a skin disease. His parents abandoned him, and police have been unable to trace them.

5 Bushworkers Drowned, Car Crashes in Lake

DRYDEN, Ont. (CP)—Five bushworkers were drowned Saturday night when their car crashed through a dock railing at the end of Dryden's boat-and-seaplane dock and sank in Wahiggon lake.

The automobile was swallowed up by 30-foot-deep water but the shattered railing and the car tracks extending into the lake from the 300-foot dock pointed out the unwitnessed tragedy.

Provincial police identified the men as Lucien Boulanger, 21, Hanson, Que.; Gaston Bell, 36, Thecle, Que.; Jerry O'Clair, Sudbury, and Valerie Lemieux and Archibeuy Synott, both believed from Quebec province.

All the bodies were recovered. Search for the car began after a citizen saw the hole in the dock railing and called police.

The men had been working at Dryden Pulp Co. timber limits in this northwestern Ontario area 200 miles northwest of Fort William.

Hastings-Frontenac Member Tells of Trip Through Europe To Members of Masonic Order

George White, MP for Hastings-Frontenac, in a speech here Saturday night, said the nation's trade now is going to create a "difficult period" due to stiffer competition from European countries.

He based his opinion on the high standard of European products, and their lower prices in relation to the same goods manufactured by Canada.

Mr. White's remarks were summing up impressions gathered during a tour of Arab and European countries last summer, which he recounted to an assembly of The Belleville Lodge AF and AM, No. 122, at a banquet in the Masonic temple. The banquet was the annual observance of the initiatory degree to a new member in the Lodge. Cedric Smith, by a degree team of Free Masons, stationed with the RCAF in Ottawa.

Unfortunately time ran out on Mr. White's concluding remarks, and he was unable to enlarge fully upon his impressions of how the European people drive investments to fill the balance of Canada's business that is now going kata.

"In Italy", he said, "one could get the great benefits of the Marshall Plan, and the country "appears prosperous". He mentioned the popularity of cheese in Italy, but noted that "butter and milk did not find favor there."

"We are trying to sell them hard cheddar cheese, and they do not like it," he said.

Of Germany, he said "it is incredible the strides they have taken", and mentioned some of the signs of German recovery. He recovery he had observed. He also compared the rapidity of rebuilding of cities in Europe with those in Canada.

SPENT MONTH IN EUROPE

The major part of Mr. White's address was taken up with his descriptions of the various countries of the Arab world. First port of call was Tripoli, capital of the state of the Whites' trip was the seaport of Alexandria, in Egypt. Their first view of the city in daylight took in a scene "of the most contrast confusion one could imagine" he said, describing the bustling embarkgendeents of the port's capital. Here as fishing and peddlers "hustled" to draw attention. Another thing the city were little better from a peaceful viewpoint. Donkeys and camels vied with motor trucks and street cars for the right of way, vehicles passing on the same side with motor horns and irate shouts filled the air.

Next stop was Cairo, where they journeyed aboard one of the most modern trains they had ever seen. "Going from Alexandria to Cairo you go right back to the days of Christ," he said. Farms are still tilled as they were 2,000 years ago, the Whites using open plowshares and water buffalo."

NOT POPULAR

In Cairo, "a busy, bustling place," they found on their arrival that Britishers and Americans were not very popular.

"And we were especially warned not to go out alone."

Next is Lebanon where they found one valley that bore no less than five crops a year. The soil there did not appear fertile yet "the growth was simply remarkable". The grain crop was cut mostly by women using a sickle and every possible thing was done by hand". Evidence of the new west side by side with the old. In the valley where, passing through a village, they saw a shop bearing the name they viewed selling frog's legs.

In the city of Baibee they tourists were raised to gods in ancient times and in them Mr. White noted considerable signs. Their next destination was Damascus, which he described as one of those places which display either all luxury or extreme poverty. Here they viewed an eastern bazaar in full swing.

"It was one of the most interesting things I could imagine," he said.

Then came stand still and watch the passing parade the Whites did for "hours on end before your eyes in five minutes."

All the color of the whole thing that last fascinated me. And the ladies, what fascinated them was the low cost of prices for the things you buy."

VISITED JORDAN

Then came Jordan they went on to Amman, capital of Jordan and then to Jericho and thence to Jerusalem, noted capital of the holy places there, he said it was rather hard to define how they impress one. Most of the shrines are encrusted with gold leaf and every thing that looked last that would remind one of the simplicity of Christ does not exist.

Mentioning the nervous situation existing between the Arab nations and Israel Mr. White said Arabs seem to have a bitterness against the Americans and British and feel they have not been fairly dealt with.

From the city of the Arab states over, Mr. White and his wife returned once more through Europe where they also viewed the excavations of the ruins of the Roman towns of Pompeii and Herculaneum.

At Mr. White was thanked by Wor. Bro. Harold Mott. The banquet was chaired by Wor. Bro. Harry Pigden, Wor. Master of the Belleville Lodge.

Heading up the RCAF degree team for Saturday night's initiation service was F/O Bro. L. E. Falls. Other members of the team were:

Obituary

AUBREY HODGES (CHIEF) HOLWAY

Hospitalized for a number of years, Aubrey Hodges (Chief) Holway died in the Belleville General Hospital late Saturday afternoon. In the death of Mr. Holway, who was chief chef at the Hotel Quinte for over 30 years, a link with the days when this city has been broken.

Born in Belleville 84 years ago, Mr. Holway came to this country as a young boy and practically all his life has been spent in this city with the exception of a few years in Toronto. He was a member of Maple Alley McLaughlin, died in 1917 and he was left with a family of seven children. After his death there did not appear fertile yet "the growth was simply remarkable". Police Blotter

A rash of minor auto accidents was reported by city police over the week-end. Most of the accidents resulted in little more than fender damage, but one two-vehicle collision caused close to $500, while another knocked a car into a hydro pole, when the driver was blinded by approaching headlights.

Mrs. Ethel Hall, 21 Cleveland Ave., cars driven by Ann Petrilli, 24 Alfred Ave., and Gordon C. Mooney, 121 Goldfish Road, collided in the intersection. Mrs. O'Neill car was damaged to the extent of about $300 and the other car $175.

Kelly E. McCoy, of Trenton, lost gallon he was blinded by approaching headlights as he was driving on Dundas St. West, opposite Belleville College. The car swerved into a hydro pole and damaged the side of the car.

A Belleville woman complained that $25 worth of groceries were stolen from her car which had been left unlocked parked near the market arena, while a Picton woman also reported that thieves had entered her car and stolen articles containing two skirts.

Two Prince Edward county youths were arrested by police while fighting outside a theatre Saturday night and were charged with disorderly conduct.

Blonde High School Girl Among Those Learning Judo

Marian Ray is a pretty, blonde 15-year-old Belleville high school student, who has a hobby with a difference. It's called judo or jiu-jitsu, in fact. She's learning judo!

Although she stands only five feet one inch, and weighs about 106 lbs., she can, and has, bested 180-lb. men during her bouts to and demonstrated how she can leave him hors-de-combat with a few deft flicks of her body without having to practically strike a muscle, thanks to judo.

Marian who lives with her family at 198 Victoria, is a member of the Kano judo club organized at a ED depot, out at Trenton air base. The club, which has a membership of 20, mostly air force personnel; meets once a week in the North Hastings air at the depot for instruction in judo from LAC John Mendieu, 18-year-old Montrealer. Besides Marian, there are three other members of the club, all airforce wife, her brother, Barry, Bruce Parsons and James Driscoll, Bonisteel street.

Judo is strictly the art of skillful self-defence, the application to fighting with brute force. The ease with which a 106-lb. girl can lick a 180-lb. opponent rules out any suggestion that it should be used as a means of attack on side of the sport itself. Its bone-breaking throws, nerve pressing holds, body manipulations and chopping blows to vulnerable spots examples make it spectacular, and, if used improperly, deadly art. A judo student learns how to fall in such a way it in an attack outside of the ring mats, can be barred from the sport.

EVOLVED IN JAPAN

Not overly popular with the sporting public in that part of the world, it reigns supreme as a sport in Japan where it was first introduced, and also has gained prominence in France. The system of fighting was first evolved in Japan in 1260 by Doctor Pigeon Gilbert, whose middle name the Trenton airforce club uses on its crest.

Instructor of students of the art is measured by the color of the belts they wear to the floor fighting togs. There are seven of these belts, awarded at various stages of the judo student's career. Starting with the white belt they pass through the yellow, orange, green, blue and brown belts, until they reach the expert's belt. It takes anywhere up to five years for a student to win his black belt. Other that his skill is denoted by thin stripes, called dooans, added to the belt.

Only two black belt dooans to be won by the student of judo.

HAS WHITE BELT

Marian, who has been with the Kano club for about three months now, wears the beginner's white belt. She has gained from Belleville hold yellow belts. Although interested in all sports, basketball and volleyball with her form teams.

She was first introduced to the club by her brother, Barry, who has been in training with it for about the past year, and now holds a yellow belt.

"I met him a bit ever learn to do it," Marian said, describing her first impressions of watching the Kano team in action. However, once taken in hand, the art has about three to four weeks to learn to fall "real good." Now with her black belt under her belt her appetite for further success is sharpened, and she intends to continue studying the art.

Someday, I hope to get the black belt. If they continue the club that long," she says.

In common with most of the sporting public on the continent, Bellevillians have little inkling of what judo is all about. However, a couple of the Belleville branch of the Canadian Legion were lucky enough to witness an exhibition of the art when Mr. Kano club staged a demonstration in the drill hall recently.

The club put on an hour-long show of throwing, tumbling and breaking falls, which thrilled the spectators. The spectators will remember the startling highlight of the exhibition, when the petite Marian together with another girl member of the team staged a little vignette showing how two apparently-innocent young ladies can turn the tables on a couple of marauding wolves at the street. They caught their mock attackers in judo grips, twisted them up in the air, threw them onto the ground in an excruciating grip and administered the coup-de-grace, a chip on the back of the neck.

Naturally the would-be cad Marian caught off-balance in that exhibition was her brother, Barry, who ended up in the region of 150-160 lbs.

Despite the advantages of being trained to such tactics Marian is uncertain whether she would be capable of actually having to use them if such an incident ever arose in her life.

Queried on this she admits: "I don't know what I'd do. I'd probably run or scream or something."

However after as those who witnessed her demonstration at the Legion Hall undoubtedly would like to see Marian or any of the men who attempted to test this statement.

John MacDonald Heads Belleville Badminton Club

The Belleville Garrison Badminton Club, undergoing a period of resurgence, is off to a good start this fall, following the season or so.

Enthusiasm of the sport got together the other night and reorganized the club, installing John MacDonald as president. Other officials are: vice president, Bill Gilbert; treasurer, Mrs. Graham; secretary, Miss Doreen Callaghan; membership and publicity, John Hamilton; equipment, Mrs. Percy Walmsley; ladies team captain, Mrs. Dorothy Hamilton and men's team captain, Bill Bonnell.

The club has arranged for the Bridge Street Armouries courts this year with play dated for Wednesday and Saturday evening nights. The fee is lower than in the past with members paying $2 per season.

In the immediate future the club will entertain the Trenton RCAF main station club, and before the season ends it is hoped to have a match played with Napanee, Kingston, Peterborough and Oshawa clubs.

Six-courts are available and all interested in playing this popular indoor sport will be extended a cordial welcome.

Only Minor Damage

City firemen had but two minor runs over the week-end, one to Dundas street where a chimney fire was extinguished by the use of the stove and the other to a Herchimer Avenue address, where a chesterfield chair was reported ablaze. No damage was reported in either of the aforesaid calls while the chair blaze was put out promptly and only minor damage resulted.

More Hunters Out But Fewer Deer Have Been Taken

Hunting gear went back into mothballs for another year this week-end with the close of deer-hunting season Saturday.

Although the number of hunters scouring the bush this year was the very considerable 1953 season, the increase appears to have declined. The ends of the hunters themselves.

Bob Shepgard, Lands and Forests officer at Tweed, estimated that this year only between 25 and 30 percent of the hunters made a kill compared with a 33-percent average last year.

"A very successful party got their full quota," he said.

"One American told me he counted 18 hunters within a half-mile radius."

In the areas around Highways No. 41 and 62 the results were even worse—Saturday was to be "not so good" as last year, Mr. Shepgard reported.

Poor weather conditions did not appear to have been advantageous to the hunters. Last year the stalkers complained of the ground being too dry to allow tracking. This year they seemed to have gone to the opposite end of the scale—the ground was too soft to take trailmarks.

Number of licences distributed to hunters in Belleville this year is reported by the licensing department to be slightly down, but a slight increase over 1953.

Deer taken in this area aren't "never were so many hunters" the department official at Tweed said. Up to this morning it has not heard of a single hunting accident.

Born in Fifeshire, Scotland, and schooling a new life in Canada, he began his railway service as a brakeman on the Grand Trunk at Belleville in 1912.

Truck Collides With Building

Generally speaking hotels are always ready to accept travellers but the management at the Belvedere Hotel was not quite prepared for the visitor making a rather unpredictable appearance Sunday afternoon.

Harry McConnell had parked his truck on the service station lot across the street from the hotel and had gone to the office to arrange to have his anti-freeze checked.

But while he was in the building his truck rolled out of the service station lot, across the street and collided with the front of the hotel building. The door and window were damaged as a result of the impact of the truck.

2 Murder-Suicides In Toronto Over Week-End

TORONTO (CP) — Four persons died here during the weekend in what police said were two murder-suicides.

Police said a young male nurse hanged his six-months-old daughter from a bedroom closet door Saturday afternoon and then ended his own life the same way in Belleville, later a salesman and his girl friend were found shot to death near their parked car.

Mrs. Jola Buben told police she found her husband, Jan, and her daughter, Jane Anne, hanging by two separate lengths of window sash cord when she returned to her north Toronto home from shopping.

The 32-year-old husband came to Canada from Czechoslovakia three years ago. His wife said he had been a qualified doctor in his home country, but had worked as male nurse at the Toronto General Hospital here. She said he suffered from periodic attacks of melancholia.

Police said Kersey, formerly of St.-Thomas, Ont., had been married 13 years. He had recently been divorced and was believed to be planning marriage with the dead woman, a divorcee with two children.

The couple apparently quarreled and the woman left the car. Police said Kersey must have run around the car, stopped her on the sidewalk and shot her in the back of the head. Then he shot himself.

Ross Burtt Given Acclamation As Trenton Mayor

TRENTON (Special) — Retired railroader Ross Burrt, who was Trenton's Mayor-elect during the First World War, has been elected to serve Trenton as Mayor Magistrate for the second term. He was acclaimed mayor on Tuesday night when four other candidates nominated failed to qualify. Mr. Burtt, 81 at his birthday on Friday night following the nomination speeches, received a telephone call.

Reached by telephone last night Mayor Burtt said it was his intention to run for mayor in the six successful candidates elected to council by the present term in election here on Monday, December 6.

Reg. Armstrong, chairman of the Court of Revision, was the only member of last year's council who failed to qualify.

The council-elect council election finds eight men aspiring for the six seats. In the race are: Claude Graham, James Macdonald, Robert Smithrim, N. J. McNeil, Gerald Weaver (all members of the 1954 council), Jack Goldberg, Joe Gould and Harold Blakely. The last three latter candidates placed their names before the public for the first time.

Mr. Armstrong, the retiring member of last year's administration, served seven terms four former mayors Ken Couch and Roly Willing. He completed seven years' council duties the end of December. He promised to retire after four years in office but changed his mind at election time in 1953.

Two nominees for Public Utilities Commissioner qualified. A. E. (Bert) Hickman seeks re-election to office. He is opposed by Lyle Carr, a downtown merchant, who is president of the Trenton Retail Merchants' Association. Carr, 1953 PUC nominee, failed to qualify.

Four candidates are running for three openings on the Board of Education. They are: Dr. J. E. Richmond, George Young, Dr. J. E. Richmond and Doug Walley.

The big fish, a northern pike, weighed 21 pounds dressed. It was taken from Lake Ontario off Presqu'ile Point. Mr. Offen says he never saw a larger pike in the many years he has been fishing.

AWARD FRINGE

In proposing a subsidy to counteract the sub-normal grain rates, Chief Justice Sloan did not specify any amount.

He said it is his opinion that "some share at least of this (grain rates) burden should be shouldered by the people of Canada from the general treasury."

1897 AGREEMENT

The Crow's Nest rates apply to grain and its products moving for export within western Canada. They get their names from an 1897 agreement between the Dominion government and the CPR by which the company granted the low tolls in return for help in building a line through the Rockies', Crow's Nest Pass. They were embodied in a statute in 1925.

The Canadian Press reported Sept. 22 that federal officials were studying the possibility of a subsidy to the railways to compensate them for the grain rates.

Chief Justice Sloan's study suggestion, Chief Justice Sloan said at least part of this disparity in railway finances could be offset by employees and other types of workers sharing the prosperity that the railways are not now able to meet the cost of remedying the disparity from their own revenue.

"A major factor contributing to the railways' inadequate share of revenue," he said, "is the distortion and imbalance of the freight rate structure as a result of the direct and indirect but consequential effects of the Crow's Nest Pass rates covering grain and grain products.

LOSS IS SHARED

"The proportionate loss of rail revenue due to the Crow's Nest Pass rates is shared by (a) the railways (b) shippers and consumers of highway transport and (c) the railway employees represented by the unions which contributions measured in terms of the prevailing disparity in working conditions."

"The Crow's Nest Pass rates," the justice added, "are the reflection of a compelling policy. The loss of rail revenues consequent upon this policy is being in effect shouldered by the railways.

"The Crow's Nest rates have been the subject of much criticism. A competitive prices and will, no doubt, be in the future required to do so.

"It is my respectful opinion, however, that the effect (under-lined) of these rates both direct and indirect, wherein their application results in the loss of rail revenues, should be shouldered in some fair degree by the national treasury. The rates may continue to be borne by a segment of the transportation industry."

RESULTED IN LOSS

The arbitrator said the railways estimated roughly before him that the Crow's Nest rates resulted in 1953 in a direct loss to their revenues of $16,000,000.

He added:

"The 1953 and 1954 direct and indirect losses attributed to the same cause may far exceed this figure if, as alleged, the indirect consequences such as loss of highrated freight to competitive forms of transportation and the loss of revenue from rates lowered to meet this competition be taken into the scale."

The railways were fulfilling an essential function in the national economy by such functions as moving bulk commodities, products to market and helping in the establishment of secondary industries, Chief Justice Sloan said, but they were also performing a social function in the national economy.

"The railways contribute to the national economy by providing employment for a considerable number of persons and by the payment of wages and salaries to them," he said.

"The railways contribute to the national economy by the purchase of supplies and materials from other industries, including the Canadian Pacific," the chief justice said, "and by the payment of private enterprise in any realistic sense."

UNEQUAL STRUGGLE

While trying to reduce costs and meet competition, they were "engaged in an unequal struggle in which the railways are, by reason of their obligations to the national policy, in much the same position as a man attempting to run a race with powerful antagonists with one hand tied behind his back."

While Parliament's policy undoubtedly strengthens the whole Canadian economy, Chief Justice Sloan said, it now is having "serious repressive repercussions never anticipated, in other vital national areas."

"The field is one of grave complexity and public policy," he added. "I have entered upon it with trepidation. I would have preferred to limit myself to the broader concept of my own duty had I sought to avoid the responsibility by refusing to recognize and record circumstances of grave and public importance and ever-increasing economic consequences."

SHOPS DAMAGED

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP)—A $1,-000,000 fire that funneled through the insides of an old brick building and sent up billowing columns of smoke damaged four stores and for a time threatened an entire block of the main business section Sunday. Some 300 volunteer firemen called from all nearby north central Pennsylvania communities battled more than seven hours before controlling the worst blaze in city history. At least 25 persons were treated at hospital, mostly for smoke inhalation.

Goods Valued At $200 Taken From Tweed Store

TWEED (Special) — Approximately $200 worth of cigarets and other goods was stolen from Jackson's Groceteria at the corner of South Victoria and Jamieson Streets in Tweed some time during Sunday night.

The store shelves were cleaned of cigarets and tobaccos while the store office was also ransacked by the thieves as they apparently looked for cash.

Entrance to the store was gained through a basement window which had not been barred following construction of a new sidewalk. From the basement the thieves forced their way up into the main store and into the office. The break-in was discovered at eight o'clock this morning by the proprietor's son, Bill Bennett, as he arrived to open the store.

R. D. ARNOTT, CROWN ATTORNEY

The appointment of Mr. Richard D. Arnott, Q.C., as Crown Attorney and Clerk of the Peace for Hastings County which was announced last Friday is one which, we are sure, will meet with wide approval. He stands high in his profession, has taken his full share of interest in the affairs of his native city and county. He also has always had a reputation for fair dealings in business and professional circles.

As is generally known, the new appointee was born in Belleville where he received his early education. He later attended Osgoode Hall. He returned here to open his law practice in 1927 in association with the legal firm which became known as Porter, Payne and Arnott.

Mr. Arnott is well qualified for his new responsibilities for besides establishing a very successful law practice he has had considerable municipal and political experience. For two years he served as alderman and in 1937 was elected mayor of Belleville. After serving one year as mayor he entered the provincial election as the Conservative candidate for West Hastings and was elected. He met with success at the polls again in 1943. In 1945 he retired from political life to give full time to his practice.

We would like to pay tribute, too, to Lt.-Col. Bryan C. Donnan who had so capably carried out the duties of crown attorney until ill health forced him to retire about two years ago. During his career, Col. Donnan was widely known for his skill in court and for the thorough preparation of his cases. His courtesy and patience with clients contributed greatly to his success as a crown attorney. Many will recall that at the time of his appointment he was the youngest crown attorney in the province.

Besides his career in civil life, Col. Donnan has had a distinguished military record. In World War I he enlisted with the Second Battalion and went overseas with the First Ammunition Column in 1914. He served in the army for over four years and returned in 1918 at the end of hostilities with the rank of lieutenant. He continued to take a great interest in military affairs and served as commanding officer of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. He also commanded the Argyll Light Infantry with which he was associated for several years.

During Col. Donnan's illness, Mr. S. Gordon Robertson, assistant crown attorney, has capably carried on the duties of the office.

Hastings County has been fortunate in the selection of crown attorneys as can be learned if a review of those holding the office over the years is made. We believe that time will show, too, that the appointment of Mr. Arnott will prove to be a splendid one.

A GOOD ARGUMENT—BUT IS IT GOOD ENOUGH?

Canada's railway systems are seeking to win freedom to set their own freight rates—within certain limits. They want an extension of the agreed charge method.

The Canadian Trucking Association has now presented its case in favor of this argument. Such an extension, a royal commission has been told, could destroy Canada's motor transport industry. Truck transportation facilities would be vital to the nation in the event of a railway strike, or of war.

The truckers, in presenting an argument that their industry is vital to national defence, are copying a plea frequently made on behalf of the railways.

In the case of the railways there is no adequate answer. The truckers' case, though is not quite so good.

If the railways are to function satisfactorily, there could be no quick remedy in the event of war.

On the other hand, even if railway competition reduced the number of trucks, trained operators and mechanics would be below the level required. The most important item in road transportation, highways, would still be available in the event of war. There would still be many trucks which could be pressed into service. There might not be the type of trucks designed to move goods long distances with the maximum speed, at the minimum cost, but they would still move goods.

The importance of road transportation to national defence is a good argument—but is it good enough if highway transportation facilities can only be maintained at a peak at the expense of railroad facilities?

We think not.

TWO SIDES TO THIS STORY?

Canada's two largest labor bodies have signed a "no raiding" pact.

The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and the Canadian Congress of Labor have agreed, subject to ratification by autonomous unions, that in future members organizations will not try to organize workers in cases where a union in the other congress has an established bargaining relationship with the employer. This is regarded as a stepping stone towards eventual amalgamation of the two groups.

This agreement will be received with general approval, not only by organized labor but by management, too.

In the past jurisdictional disputes have been costly.

Yet there may be another side to this question. Recently an acquaintance, an industrial worker with a record of active participation in union activities, remarked to us that amalgamation of rival union bodies would be very bad for the rank and file of the workers. "No competition," he complained.

GOODWILL WORKERS

'Tis not for pity's sake alone
The Goodwill Industries are known.
Their leaders do their best to find
Some useful labor for the blind.

Within the body anguish twists,
They know that courage still exists.
Despite the loss the flesh sustains,
Indeed the spirit still remains.
The fingers who are deftly skilled,

Worn-things with patience they rebuild.
However crippled arm or leg,
Stout hearts would rather work than beg.

Count up the profits. Gain aside,
Are honor, independence, pride.
Thanks heavily done and self-respect.
The Goodwill workers these collect.

Toll Roads Return

(Montreal Gazette)

One of the most famous paintings made in Canada more than a century ago by Cornelius Krieghoff shows a toll-gate. A sleigh, carrying a fur "pung-load," is halted by the toll-gate at a gelop past the toll-gate's gallop, while the toll-gate keeper, a bobbing owl, demanding that the young men stop and pay.

It is a gay and humorous painting. Now, as regarded as a charming example of the customs of long ago. But it may be coming when the toll road may be the answer to the problems of modern highway traffic.

Perhaps it may seem strange that in the enlightened 20th century there should be a turning back to the customs of the mid-years of the 19th century. And yet the toll-roads in the United States are proving to be a staggering success. They are making possible a degree of speed, comfort and safety in highway travel that might well prove impossible to attain by any other method of finance.

In the United States something very like a network of long-distance toll roads is growing up. Now the last portion of the most important—the New York State section of the Pennsylvania Turnway, the greatest highway in the world, will connect Buffalo with Richmond. Soon cars will be on the edge of the New York metropolitan area.

And it is quite a highway. There are four to six lanes of concrete road. There are no intersections at grade. Accelerating and decelerating lanes are provided. Where the motorist may enter or leave the highway. Since there are no intersections at grade, there is, of course, no need for traffic lights. Gone are the delays or pile-ups that traffic lights create. Motorists may travel at the highest speed the car will attain with safety. Gone are the main-line traffic without causing a bottle-neck.

Advantage has been taken of every type of experience in highway building. It has been made aware that if a road is "too good" it tends to encourage speeding—too flat—it can give rise to a curious kind of drivers' fatigue or hypnotism. Highways have been deliberately planned curves, even slight curves, have been otherwise necessary, and have from time to time altered the elevation. This keeps the driver on the alert, his job and keeps him from drifting into the land of monotony.

In the same way, the mail between the two opposite streams of traffic has often been left quite wide. Trees and shrubbery and rocks have been left to form a natural barrier. Not only does this also help prevent monotony—it removes the dazzling glare from oncoming traffic, and, of course reduces or removes the possibility of head-on crashes.

In all road construction in all countries cost has been the haunting and trafficking factor. Always it has been a question of how much can be afforded. The answer, in the final analysis, is always sufficient not only to meet the interest on bonds, but to pay off these bonds themselves, in the course of time.

Most of the money put up for the construction on the Thruway has been borrowed from the public in the form of bonds backed by guarantees provided by the state or by the revenues of the project. The only use of the taxpayers' money will be the sum of $81 million advanced directly by the state, with the special provision that it must be repaid by 1956.

Of course, it might seem better if the road could be built for nothing—if nothing comes free. The prospect of imposing taxes to pay for a highway is not one to be viewed with enough to discourage a government from the start and would greatly delay progress.

Experience has already shown that the motorist will be willing to pay the tolls for the sake of having a good, quick road ahead of the usual traffic congestion, traffic lights, or standstills.

There is no use in the toll road, if he does not wish to do so. The other roads will still be available. But it is believed there will even benefits the drivers that don't use it. They will be relieved of much of the traffic from the other roads.

And not the least of the economic advantages is that the highway runs is booming. Not since the days of the railroads has such an early 1800's to link the Great Lakes with the sea has there been the boom in business in New York.

Sooner or later the successful example of the United States will be followed by Canada. Under the pressure of ever growing demands of modern traffic, the only kind of highways that ought to be of use to these highways that will pay for themselves.

The Province of Ontario is the richest country in the world, with the richest government. But it has reached the conclusion.

This Defence Is Suspect

(Montreal Gazette)

Mr. Graham Sutherland began painting Sir Winston's portrait. Sir Winston has become the subject of many rumors. Not only has it been said that he is a difficult sitter, frequently changing his expressions and even his attitudes. It has been rumored that at night, when Mr. Sutherland has been away, Sir Winston has quietly slipped into the studio and altered the portrait to suit his own ideas and suggestions.

Mr. Sutherland has seen fit to deny these rumors. Sir Winston, he says, is a most delightful sitter indeed. As for tampering with the canvas in the dead of night, there is not a word of truth to it.

Interesting about such rumors still rings true. It may be remembered that when Sir Winston was suffering from pneumonia in Africa during the war he insisted that his doctors should report to him about the different degrees of temperature applied to his chest and back. He then selected the type of treatment he himself decided he most suitable.

Fortunately, the doctors were able to make the necessary arrangements with him, and then to administer the drugs they themselves believed to be best, while the patient never knew the difference.

Mr. Sutherland is not so fortunately placed. Sir Winston may not be a physician but he is an artist. There just seems the very portrait can be painted without his knowing what is being done.

It was rather gallant of Mr. Sutherland to come to Sir Winston's defence and try to silence the rumors. Unfortunately, the rumors are too much in character—even that midnight tampering.

Mail Eaten By Snails

(Edmonton Journal)

"The mail must go through" has been the motto of the British post office for more than a century, and in that spirit it has battled storms, floods, strikes and wars. Now, it seems to be facing a more insidious enemy.

A correspondent in the Manchester Guardian reports the arrival of a letter with a large hole in it. The postal authorities had carefully noted under the aperture: "Eaten by snails."

Nothing of this sort has been reported from Canada so far. However, with the service as it is these days, that may be no more singular than formerly of being overtaken by ravening snails.

Never Can Tell About People

(Sherbrooke Record)

See that old fellow working on the street—over there by the manhole? Been a plodder all his life, they would say. Never dared to see he has but then again he's probably a pretty big part of the seven seas.

Not long ago we were in a Sherbrooke cafe. Two customers from Sherbrooke. The taxi man who drove us to the cafe was one of those guys who say a few hours another day to show us the sights. It was not long before we got around to mention that he had driven in 12 countries within the last two years.

"Countries?" we asked, startled into a sharp attention. "Countries, or do you mean states and provinces?"

The countries was the right word. In the last 24 months he had been commissioned to drive his car-ambulance in Britain, France, Switzerland, Italy and Spain, among the Alps. Then Germany, Holland, France and Spain well. And he had made his visits on leave but for the last 20 years including the usual stint in uniform. An independent, self-employed sort of being, was the answer.

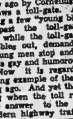
The same evening we chatted with another man. He had an out-of-doors look which led to a successful question. He was a former RCMP man, long the Arctic well, had slept in igloos and hunted caribou for months. He had run a mink ranch for 16 years but had much needless to say, seen the Arctic.

These two talks, eye-openers, we have called "Never can tell," "never can tell" collection. For you never can.

Famous Reply By Queen

(Christian Science Monitor)

Probably one of the most famous statements ever made by any Queen was Her Majesty's reply during the Battle of Britain when she was asked if she was going to send the young princess to Canada.



"The children will not leave unless I do. I shall not leave unless they father does, and the King will not leave the country on any circumstances whatever."

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

SOMETHING YOU ATE, EH?

One dismal fall day when I was serving time in Kentucky—ten years at hard labor—I went out on my rounds at 1 p.m. Wednesday, as I revisited my patient, a child recently from England. I was even more sure and optimistic than usual, for I had given the child's mother orders to be back at the bedside of the child's mother or leave me.

Dr. Brady

From the appearance of the child's lips, gums, nails and eyelid linings it was obvious that she was anemic. Today we'd call it nutritional deficiency anemia or, if the patient happened to be in her thirties or forties, the gray shock.

When I asked how long the child had been sick the answer feigned astonishment and said the child had never been sick.

Then why had I been called . . .

Presently the lady saw the difficulty. We all laughed. The child, I feared, when you're took to bed when it's sick you couldn't get warm. And all the time tension (not pain) in the region of the solar plexus increased and I was moaning and writhing when the doctor arrived.

In the first hour or two the seizure was complicated by a very disturbing thought. I had eaten two bowls of coconut just before I started on my rounds. Maybe this was acute indigestion! That would have been more than I could endure. Might just as well have been a case of gas-stasis from going without a hat or decent clothing or substituting tonic for much calcium (in milk, cheese, eggs, greens, nuts and cereals). If the seizure had been what I insist doesn't happen it could never again have faced the poor geeks who have again indigestion of one kind or another beyond any doubt of which their minds are capable.

But, happily, and I mean happily, for it was a tremendous relief when the seizure subsided, after I was hospitalized and never any trouble afterwards.

I gave many cases of alleged "acute indigestion" prove to be appendicitis, gallbladder colic, renal colic or perhaps the discomfort, pain or agony that the patient feels in the upper, middle or lower belly referred from the solar nerve plexus. Sometimes it is felt in the upper, middle or lower belly referred from the solar nerve plexus. Sometimes it is felt in the chest, as one feels a tingle in the little finger upon striking the ulnar nerve (funny bone) inside the elbow.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE FINAL GIFT

Heaven! What is it? A place, or a condition of mind and heart?

It is both. Here on earth—and heaven begins right here and now—it is a state of mind and heart, as Jesus said, "The kingdom of God is within you." Jesus declared "I go to prepare a place for you." "Place" in the spiritual world may be considerably different from "place" in the material world, but there must be a correspondence between earthly place and spiritual place, else Jesus would not have left the figure He did use.

The teaching of the Christian gospel is that heaven begins for all men and women as soon as their hearts are submitted in faith to Jesus Christ. The limitations of the flesh and the imperfection of the world in which we live restrain those heavenly joys with certain finality; but in the final judgment, when this world shall have been destroyed and every man, as it shall is earthly in us shall have received his or her appropriate sentence, eternity for heavenly joy shall take on infinite proportions.

Heaven must and now simply indicates who is a fit candidate to live eternally with the heavenly realm through all eternity. God will lift up our poor incomplete-ness, and that is a thing of such infinite beauty that we may well sacrifice all the petulant joys of earthly life in order to attain the final gift.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

"Where," asked the elderly lady ahead of us in the bus line, "do I get the bus for Forest Hill?"

"This is it," replied the bus driver, "All you got to do, lady, is look up toward there, at the sign."

The lady got in and I sat across from her.

"There's too many signs," she pitied. "I gave up looking at them long ago."

That is right. This is the age of inattention. Our attention is demanded beyond its capacity to cope with it. We cry out the front door of our homes, we have had to pay attention to a million and one things that demand attention, such as the buttons and switches that turn off the light, the electric stove, the toaster, the electric blanket, the radio. A few years ago, only a few years, we did not even have to remember to lock our doors and front door when we went out. We fixed the damper on the kitchen stove when breakfast was over. That was decided.

When we step out the front door, our attention is instantly demanded by traffic. We have to be alert for our lives. And if we let our attention wander, for an instant, we are likely to be swiped. The minute we are outside, everything makes for our attention. The houses along the street are all different, each striving for our notice. People dress to be noticed. By the time we reach the shops we are in a turmoil of the violent hurricane of advertising, merchandise displayed to catch our eyes, catch-sign blurbs: red, blue and gold. Traffic signals, like three jumpy jacks: red, green, yellow to red. Cars shout their horns for our attention, and trains and buses roll over the transoms of shops, loudspeakers blast music, radio sets scream news, and, oops, slow shrill whistles, sirens shout, fully people on to the streets, hear leaflets at us, nut houses wail like odor of frying cashews out their doors, legless men ride edge of the pavement waves his yellow pencils up at us . . .

And is our attention drawn? I doubt it. The brain and the heads through which we are supposed to receive impressions of the world are armed by now almost with more calloused around the edges with each passing year. There is only one refuge for us: inattention.

Diesels Fast Replacing Steam On All Class One Railroads

By ED MORSE

NEW YORK (AP)—The thunder of the iron horse is fading to a whisper but will it ever end in total silence?

Romanticists of the rails have been chanting requiems for some time now over the death of an era, as roar after roar replaced the steam locomotive with the diesel-electric.

But the age of steam still offers resistance here and there.

The all-but-total victory of the diesel is driven home by latest figures from the Association of American Railroads: for the first seven months this year diesels performed 82.84 per cent of all freight service on class I railroads in the U.S., 85.32 per cent of passenger service and 89.24 per cent of switching service.

The diesel has triumphed because, generally, a steam locomotive gets only 10 per cent of available horsepower from its fuel while a diesel gets 35 per cent; five men are required to repair and service a steamer for every man required by a diesel; the diesel hauls more tonnage than a steamer because of fewer layovers, higher utilization and availability of power.

So it seems a paradox that the No. 1 U.S. railroad, the Pennsylvania, has 1,233 steam locomotives as compared with 2,006 diesels, a surprisingly high ratio nowadays.

Its enticing look at the Santa Fe, whose 13,000 miles make it the longest railroad in the U.S. The Santa Fe completed dieselization this year but still keeps 246 steamers in reserve. It operates with 977 diesel locomotives, consisting of 1,622 units:

Loyalty to coal'— an intangible but powerful thing—has been a big factor in the continuance of steamers on the Pennsy and some other roads. Mine executives—and they're big rail customers—hate to see anything but a coal-burning locomotive ahead of a string of coal cars.

The flag of "loyalty to coal," however, still flies above strong bastions here and there. One is the 2,135 - mile Norfolk and Western Railway, primarily a bituminous coal carrier in western Virginia, eastern Kentucky and southern West Virginia.

This road has 438 steam locomotives—not a single diesel.

Women's Christian Temperance Union Holds Interesting Meeting

The November meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held at the home. A welcome was extended to all by the president, who also read a few poems on "November."

"November begins with "All Saints' Day", a day of Remembrance since the 4th century. "For all the saints who from their labors rest." Now in the 20th century, we have our National Remembrance day, November 11th, for those who gave their lives in battle in the hope of making and able a peaceful world. "At the going down of the sun, and in the morning, we will remember them."

The devotional was led by Mrs. Steers, who spoke of "defeated people." We are defeated every day. No Christian should feel defeated for we have evidence of God's love by and around us. The happiest people are those who take on themselves the sorrow and pain of others."

THE REFUGEES

The city study was led by Miss Claris and Miss Barnum was on "The Refugees", over a million Arabs driven from Palestine by war, are refugees among their neighboring lands who have gone to help us so the U.N. has come to their aid by financing public works and helping the refugees help themselves.

Switzerland was the first country to answer to the appeal for help, and Britain a close second. Norway is helping Finnish refugees; Sweden and Switzerland took in the hopeless Hungarians; France welcomed the epileptic; Belgium, Eire, Great Britain and Holland accepted the very aged.

Mrs. M. Weese gave a fine address on "Armistice Day". She spoke of the aftermath of war; the loss of the wrecked homes; the depression. She quoted the Scotsman who said, "Wicked warriors when we're not at war."

"There is a bright side also in the expansion of interests to other nations; the exploring and learning of other lands; leading to the "Federation of the World and the Parliament of Man". Wendell Willkie's book, "One World", takes its readers to many lands of mankind.

NON-ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE

At the banquet for the Queen Mother, given by the city of Ottawa, the only drinks served were water, apple juice, and coffee. Mayor Whitton was commended by the Temperance Federation.

The Federation have asked for the resignation of Judge Robb, believing he encourages rather than controls the drink habit.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Vancouver recently held a huge public bonfire of crime and horror comics, offering any child taking 10 old comic books the Violent Variety, a well covered children's classic in exchange. This is the finer thing this has been tried in Canada and with public backing we hoped to wipe out the worst of the comics said the director.

Reference was made to the action of Premier Mendes-France who pledged to wipe out the "white" of Alcoholism in France, even if it cost him his popularity. The Premier, a milk drinker himself, spoke up bravely for drastic anti-alcoholic measures, approved by his cabinet. He said, "There are more bars per person in France than in any other country, and Frenchmen spend $1,500,000,000 a year on alcohol. In Normandy there are 1,000 inmates of lunatic asylums out of a total population of 300,000 — a proportion of one to 300 and most of them victims of alcoholism. Each year the figures are increasing".

The study book was ably conducted by Mrs. W. B. Vandervoort, who dealt with the slowing-up effects of alcohol and quoted from several athletes. She told of experimental reports and findings which are extremely important in this motor and mechanical age.

What Are Comic Books Doing To Your Child', Topic at H-S Assoc.

Members of the Queen Mary-Prince Charles Home and School Association were given the opportunity on Thursday evening to discuss and participate in a well-prepared and spirited panel discussion on the subject, "What are comic books doing to your child?"

The panel members included: Mr. Murray Irwin, head of the English Department at Albert College, chairman; Mrs. Robert Orr and the Rev. James S. A. Spearman.

In introducing the subject for discussion, Mr. Irwin stated that the comic book problem is one which cannot be solved overnight but that it was time that parents and teachers decided what they wanted for the children in their charge. Children must grow up free from hate and worry, live and learn and be taught to love and be tolerant of each other. The average comic book uses the child's poor sense of values, and in many cases plays up the wrong way of living. Children can be guided by parents and teachers. An example of guilt comics, when they were banned in a local school was that the students were not surprised at the ban, rather that it had not been put into effect sooner.

CHIEF OBJECTIONS

Chief objections to comic books were that a great deal of time is wasted in the reading of them; that English and illustrations are poor and language detrimental; that certain types are not suitable for children or teen-agers and should be banned. It is a subject that requires study with sanity and tolerance. Comic books are here and are likely to stay. Adults must base their thinking and help decide what kind their children will be allowed to read.

For her part in the discussion, Mrs. Orr took into account the so-called "good", "not-so-bad" and "Love" comics. Comic books are attractive to children for fantasy reasons; they have color, pictures, stories, action, encouraging lazy reading and provide an excellent means of barter and trade. As Mrs. Orr pointed out "Old comics never die, they just trade away." Some of these "good" comics provide harmless entertainment and a few mentioned were the Disney cartoons; various animal stories such as "Lassie" and some of the cowboy books. The "Classics" give children, some of whom might never read an original, a smattering of these works but it is doubtful if they would ever be encouraged to read a complete book from the comics.

"Love" comics are loaded and some — Since the children grow older in each book it is best to meet them at their youngest. Ransome has created real boys and girls in real situations.

The Last Birthday — Fagrell — The story tells of the disappearance of two little girls about to celebrate their joint birthdays who wander off and become lost in the Australian bush.

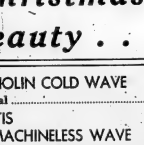
The Magic Walking Stick — Buchan — This new edition will be welcomed by any child with a sense of romance and adventure and by an older generation who will remember it as one of the finest stories for young people.

aiming at the teen-ager. Suggestive pictures and stories plant ideas in receptive minds, claiming that it is quite normal and acceptable to lie, deceive, steal and, in any way possible acquire the things one desires. In a world full of wonderful things parents and teachers should do all in their power to supplant these wrong ideas.

HORROR COMICS GLORIFIED

Mr. Spearman, in speaking of "horror" or "passion" comics said that it should startle thinking minds to read some of the statistics on the sale of comics in the United States and Canada. It has been ascertained that an average of $50 per child a year is being spent on comic books, the biggest majority of which come under the heading of "horror" or "crime."

In these books everything that is good is trampled on and crime and the criminal glorified. Instead of teaching children to love and be kind, a chaotic condition of mind is inspired, and that which is base and low is exalted instead of that which is stimulating and elevating. These books have been condemned "blue-print for delinquency".



In summing up, Mr. Irwin said that "comic book" as a plague in society; that 92 per cent of the children between the ages of six and 17 read comics and that parents and teachers must decide: first. Are you interested or do we see this as a problem? Second, Are we concerned? Parents can find out what children are reading and like to read. Teachers can guide. Adults can set an example by reading good literature themselves and by providing good and interesting reading for their children. There are many useful and entertaining publications on the same counters that stock comic books. A few of those recommended are "Seventeen," "Mademoiselle," "Jack and Jill," "The Children's Digest" and "Read."

INSTIL LOVE OF GOOD BOOKS

Mrs. Andrew Hope, children's librarian at the Corby Public Library, told parents to bring their children to the library at an early age, to instil in them a love of good books. During school years the library is always at hand when references are needed for school assignments. Children who love to read find romance, enjoyment and pleasure in good books and do not need juvenile entertainment from television, radio and parents. The librarian's mission is to find the right book at the right time for the right child.

The speakers were introduced by Mrs. Georgia King and thanked by Mr. R. G. M. Ross. A lively question and answer period followed with most of the audience taking part.

Mrs. J. F. Pugh, president, took

Theatre Guild Entry Judged Best Play at Drama Festival

At the Peterborough and district drama festival held in Peterborough on November 15, 19 and 20 the Belleville Theatre Guild won many honors when its entry "Two Sides to a Tortoise," directed by Shiner Robb, was judged the best play by Adjudicator James F. Dean, of Vancouver, well known Canadian producer, who directed "The Rose Tattoo," winning play in the Dominion Drama Festival last May.

The cast of "Two Sides to a Tortoise" consisted of Mrs. Laudner, Elsie Punchard; Marie (her daughter), Jean Sidley; Rodney (her son), Syl Quinn; Jenny Thompson (Rodney's girl friend), Miriam Bishop. The back stage personnel were: stage manager, Peggy Blakelee; assistant stage manager, Sara Vincent; properties, Winsome Lewis; make-up, Nicki Thomas; setting, Mary Moult.

Mr. Dean, in adjudicating the play, paid particular tribute to the acting of the Belleville play. He remarked on the impression of ease which Elsie Punchard transmitted to the audience and commented on the fine performance of Jean Sidley. It was to Syl Quinn that he paid exceptional tribute and awarded to him the honor of best actor of the festival. Miriam Bishop gave an excellent performance and was given honorable mention among those selected as the best actresses.

Mr. Dean said that the nine plays presented on the three nights gave a high quality of entertainment which was of a high standard. In making the selection of Belleville's entry as the best all round production based on consideration of the following factors: acting, setting, lighting, direction, choice of play, etc. The best stage set in Mr. Dean's opinion was that of the All Saints' Drama Club for "The Dear Departed" by King." The best lighting job was for "Rise and Shine" and mention for the best direction went to Peter McCombe who directed both "Mrs. Methuselah" and "Rose Theatre group in "It's Autumn Now."

Mr. Dean commented on the fine team work evident in the Belleville production, excellent grouping, movement and pace. His chief criticisms concerned the direction at one place where the mother was allowed to stand in a poor position with respect to a chair, Marie's make-up which he felt to be too youthful looking and the fact that the lighting should have been altered to create a more sombre effect in keeping with the mood of the play.

Mr. Dean also told the audience that of the nine entries, three were plays written by Canadian authors and that he was gratified to learn that Canadian groups were interested in producing Canadian plays. Good Canadian plays are relatively rare and Mr. Dean indicated that these were of a standard which would result in an invitation being extended to the winning group and possibly another from the festival to participate in the all Canadian one-act play festival in Toronto next spring.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

AN UNREASONABLE DAUGHTER IS BREAKING HER MOTHER'S HEART

Which of these two situations is sadder, it would be hard to say—the mother who alienates her daughter by taking an arbitrary and dominating attitude toward her, or the daughter who breaks her mother's heart by refusing to try to understand the mother's problems.

One mother who, in my opinion, has solved a very personal problem of her own in a wise and successful way, yet who is being abandoned by her daughter because of it, tells this unusual story:

"When I was a girl of 15, I had a beau, 19 years old, who got me in trouble.

"He wanted to marry me, but his family would not let him, so a little while after my daughter was born, I married a man who accepted and raised her. I always lived a good life thereafter, and loved my child, who is now married and has a little boy of seven.

"I was a widow when my daughter was married, and had plenty to live on, so I helped her in every way possible. I bought her home and furnished it almost completely. I also bought her a car.

"When the man who was my child's father heard I was a widow, he came to me, telling me that he had always wanted me, and wanted to right the wrong he had done me, but that when I went and got married he would not interfere then. Well, we got married, and he has always been very good to me and we have been happy, but my daughter was angry about our marriage and she won't speak to me or let me see my little grandson. She goes right past my home and would even look at me.

"Tell me, did I do wrong by marrying his father? Should I have moved away so I won't have to watch her pass by my house? I love my child, and my little grandson very much, and it is killing me not to see either of them."

So far from having done wrong to have finally married her daughter's father, I would say that it was the happiest kind of solution for everyone concerned, and I find the daughter's attitude very hard to understand.

The mother does not say when her daughter learned the facts about her birth, but it is obvious that; whenever she did learn them, it was such a serious shock that she has never got over it. On the other hand, it does not seem quite normal that she should carry her bitterness and resentment to such an extent as to refuse to accept the one happy outcome. One would think that she would be overjoyed to see her widowed mother, even living in such idyllic, happy and at peace in these later years of her life. One would think, too, that she would be equally happy and at peace herself to have a father in reality, and not in name only.

It would not be at all a bad idea if this heartbroken mother were to follow out her own suggestion and move to some other place where she would not be constantly exposed to the unreasoning hostility of her daughter. In fact, if she were to do this, it might eventually result in bringing the daughter to her senses.

Whether she moves away or not, however, my suggestion would be that she write the daughter a long letter, telling her that if it will make her happier to have her mother out of her life, she will accept this and try to adjust to it, since her daughter's happiness is, and always has been, her chief concern. She should say that she will never try to force her way into her daughter's life, but she will 'ove her always, and always hope that some day she may be wanted again.

Having sent such a letter, the mother should then try not to grieve or brood, but to occupy herself making the best life she can for her husband and herself, comforting herself with the assurance that she was wholly right and wise in marrying as she did. Let her send Christmas and birthday cards with loving messages on them to her daughter and grandson, and perhaps an occasional note now and then just to say "I think of you always," never mentioning the breach between them or referring in any way to all that did.

HOW TO REMOVE THAT "INEDIBLE" BIT

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

What is the really proper way to remove a fishbone or a seed or pit, or anything else inedible from one's mouth while one is at table? —Reader

Remove the inedible bit between your thumb and forefinger . . . as neatly and inconspicuously as possible . . . and place it on the side of your plate.

WHAT SHOULD SHE ANSWER?

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I am a widow. I have no children. At present I am not working. When the question arises "What is your occupation?" what should be my answer "Housewife" or "Widow"? — J.F.

"Housewife."

She did for her daughter, lest the daughter feels she is being reproached or criticized.

If she follows this plan, I believe in the end the daughter may come to feel ashamed of her own attitude and long to have her mother close to her again. At any rate, I believe such a program is more likely than any other to bring this about.

Dried Beef-Frizzled and Scrambled

By Mary Moore

A meat that seldom gets attention here is dried beef, but I love it.

Last night we had dried beef scramble for dinner on toast. It served four, generously and the meat part cost 39c for 1-4 lb. of this savory meat. True, I added three eggs and eggs, but, it was still an economical dinner and the flavor was excellent. We served Bermuda onions cooked whole in the pressure cooker with it and spinach—all very pretty.

Besides fine flavor dried beef has another attribute. It keeps well. If in a glass jar it may be kept with the canned goods on the shelf, to be called on when some "emergency" walks in the front door with your dearly beloved husband. If it is in a package (as I bought it) it will keep for weeks in the refrigerator.

Don't add salt to dishes containing dried beef until after you have tasted them. Usually the beef provides enough salting.

DRIED BEEF SCRAMBLE

(Ideal for chafing dish.)

One-quarter lb. shredded dried beef, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine,1 cup tomato juice (or thick tomato pulp), 1 cup grated process or mild cheese, 2 or 3 beaten eggs, dash of paprika, dash of mustard, hot buttered toast. Gently melt the butter and add shredded or chopped dried beef and stir it around in the bubbling butter for two minutes. Then add the tomato and cheese and seasonings and lastly the well-beaten eggs and stir constantly over low heat until very hot and slightly thickened. Serve on hot buttered toast or rye or wheat wafers.

FRIZZLED BEEF ON RICE

To frizzle the beef: It is necessary to use more fat than for other meats, as there is practically none in dried beef. Butter is usually used. Cook prepared meat until the edges of the meat curl (about 2 min.) Serve at once on fluffy cooked rice, cooked as follows—Wash in cold water 1 cup long grain rice. Add 1 1-8 cups boiling water, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon butter and cover tightly. Bring to boiling point. Turn off heat for five minutes. Turn on heat as low as possible and cook until all water is absorbed. Just before serving add 2 tablespoons top milk or cream.

QUESTION:

I have some deer meat and my freezer is not big enough to contain it. Would you please advise through your column how to preserve it? I would appreciate it very much if you would answer very soon.—Mrs. P. G.

ANSWER:

Your letter is postmarked Nov. 15. You did not give your name and address. I have no choice but to answer through this column and this is the first possible date that could be done. Deer meat may be canned like beef provided it is processed under steam pressure.

CANNED MEAT

Cut meat into pieces for serving. Bring to boil in water in oven. Then cover and simmer for 30 minutes. Using steel forks, etc., pack immediately in sterile jars. Cover to within ½ inch of jar top with boiling liquid in which meat was cooked. Add salt— 1-2 teaspoon to pint, 1 teaspoon to quart. Seal with new rubbers, glass tops and new rings, all of which have been sterilized. Screw tops to within one inch of tight. Process at 240 deg. Fahr.—pints 85 minutes, quarts 120 minutes.

Canadian Daily Newspaper Circulation has hit a record high of more than 3,750,000 in spite of competition for the reader's interest from television, radio, magazines, week-end publications and other media.

Retail and Classified Advertising Linage has also reached a record high.

NEVER BEFORE

has such a high dollar volume of national (manufacturers') advertising been placed in daily newspapers – and this in spite of the increasing competition of other media.

Advertisers at both the manufacturer and retailer level are becoming more analytical and selective in their choice of advertising media as business competition steadily increases.

Daily newspapers welcome the fullest investigation of their ability to SELL merchandise. No other medium can LINK the interest of the man who buys, and the man who sells, as can the daily newspaper.

Don't Be Fooled By Imitations

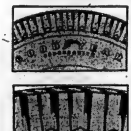
It's one thing to say you're best... quite another to have others agree by imitating you.

But that's exactly what has happened with the Goodyear Suburbanite winter tire.

Goodyear developed this famous winter tire tread—tested it—proved it was best and staked their claim in the patent offices.

Now—certain manufacturers and sales organizations, despite the fact they run the risk of legal action, are selling imitations of the Suburbanite.

Some of these imitations may look like the Suburbanite. Some have a name that sounds like Suburbanite. Some aren't even new tires—they're retreads!



But the fact is:

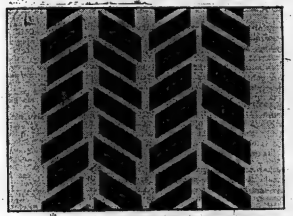
THERE IS ONLY ONE GENUINE SUBURBANITE WINTER TIRE TREAD

The genuine Suburbanite is made only by Goodyear. It is one of the few tire treads in the world to be patented. The exclusive features that make the Suburbanite so great cannot be copied. There is no such thing as a "just the same" tire, or a "just as good" tire. Only Goodyear can make the genuine Suburbanite, and only Goodyear can give you Goodyear quality and performance.

SO DON'T BE FOOLED!

When you buy winter tires, make sure you get GENUINE SUBURBANITES BY GOODYEAR.

Here's how to tell:



1 A new genuine Suburbanite will have this mark plainly embossed on the side of the tire.

2 All genuine Suburbanites made after September 20, 1954, carry the inscription "1954 Patent No. 503502".

3 The genuine Suburbanite, both new and retread, has a small diamond embossed between each of the shoulder ribs of the tire.

SUBURBANITE RETREADS ARE PRODUCED ONLY BY CERTAIN LICENSED GOODYEAR DEALERS. To make sure you get a genuine Suburbanite retread, look for the embossed diamonds on the shoulder of the retread before you buy.

Goodyear's patented features make this the only logical winter tire tread in the world!

4 rows of varied-sized sharp-edged cleats in this tread (see above) are spaced and angled in a patented manner exclusive to Goodyear—to cut into snow! That gives you sure grip on any road. There are 464 of these cleats with a total of 1856 sharp edges that grab, take hold, boost you along any winter road—loose snow, packed snow, even ice.

What's more, Suburbanite gives you sure traction in the slush and mud of winter thaws and spring break-ups. The tread cleans itself as it rolls—it's always ready to bite and grab again. And this tread kills "snow tire hum". You get a smooth, quiet ride even on bare pavement.

If you own a light truck— make sure you get genuine Grip Tred winter tires. They are the same patented tread design as on the Suburbanite and are made only by Goodyear.

IT CAN BE DONE!

The Memos' power potential hearded the Cornwall Colts senior "B" line in its own den on Sunday afternoon, handing the powerful crowd-leading easterners a 2-0 shellacking that proved a thrilling experience for the 1,000 fans that were before some 900 of their faithful. It was the first shutout of the season for the Memos and Colts and, incidentally for the group.

Turk Barclay took on the goal-keeping role in place of Parisi and came up with a sparkling effort. He had the protection of the best defensive efforts displayed by the Memos this year, but at that, the "Turk" kicked out plenty of Cornwall rubber to earn one of the mythical stars. The Duncan wall rubber to earn one of the mythical stars. The Duncan twins were the scoring heroes with Erwin scoring in the dying seconds of the first period and brother Edwin notching the insurance marker with two minutes to go in the third heat.

The whole team came up with an outstanding effort and their hard-driving offensive was not to be denied. "Red" Doran was back in harness with Bettiol playing in place of Davey Jones.

The victory gave the Memos eleven points and enabled them to keep pace with the Clinton Comets in third spot. The Comets handed the third Peterborough club a 9-1 defeat in Clinton yesterday afternoon. It was the third game in as many nights for the Petes, who went down before Kingston 7-1 on Saturday while Whitby was handing Brockville an 8-1 setback.

The Memos meet the Brockville Magedomas here tomorrow night and on Wednesday trek to Peterborough. The Cornwall Colts will be their guests on Friday and the teams clash again in Cornwall next Sunday afternoon.

ATTENTION MINOR COACHES, MANAGERS, REFEREES!

The Ontario Minor Hockey Association is up to its old tricks, but they're always good ones. "Pop" Mike Weichel, who held down the presidential chair for the past two years, has been authorized the association's popular Referee Forums, although on a modified scale.

Only four of these interesting and educational get-together gabfests have been planned for Ontario this year—and one of them is slated for Belleville. A number of fact fit gets into the way in the city hall council chambers here next Wednesday evening. Executive member Doug Patterson, of Stirling, that busy little bee of the minor pucksters in this part of "Upper Canada", lectures us the forum will be the only one of its kind in Eastern Ontario.

The instructor-in-chief, the president of the podium, will likely be none other than that well known sweater-and-whistle exponent, Maurice "Mos" Walsh of Alma, who, it has been discovered known words other than "That's enough" out of you, ten minutes," or "You've had it matey, scram," and such other polite verbiage as hockey referees are wont to use to erring players—and some that are not so erring.

To give the devil his due, Maurice, hereafter known as "The Ole Prof," knows his hockey from cover to cover, although some fans have seen him officiate won't concur in that statement. Truly, the "Prof" knows the book of words and nons in Ontario is better qualified to instruct officials, especially those on the minor league circuits.

Every hockey coach and manager in the city and district should make it a point to attend the forum. It will be informative and highly interesting. New rules and regs. will be discussed and explained along with a number of the old ones. Everybody and anybody is welcome to attend the forum and it is the hope of the OMHA that all concerned make it a point to be on hand.

Executive Patterson today expressed the desire to see all the coaches, manager and referees of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association on hand Wednesday night. "Belleville," said Doug, "is rapidly developing into one of the finest minor hockey centres in Ontario, doing a wonderful job and keeping hockey abreast at a high level."

As a fact, Doug went on, minor hockey is making grand strides in the district. A pre-season league is due to start soon in Marmora where five juvenile, six midget and three bantam teams will see action. Picton expects to have a midget entry to match their insurrural entry into organized minor hockey. Over that way Ron Sivel and Don Foster are the prime movers behind the scheme. In Trenton, Mr. J. M. Seale is battling hard to get the puck-chasing moppets organized and a few sponsors would help out no end.

So make it a date to be at the Referees' Forum in the city hall come next Wednesday. Executive members Patterson and Albert Watkins of Peterborough, will be on hand, and it should be an evening well spent for all those concerned with the hockey future of the youngsters of the city and district.

Varsity Edges BC Gridders By 5-3 Score

VANCOUVER (CP) — Steve Oneschuk's accurate right toe carried Toronto Varsity Blues to a slim 5-3 exhibition football victory here Saturday against the fired-up University of British Columbia Thunderbirds. The Blues had to come from behind to win.

In winning, Varsity turned next Saturday's eastern final against University of Western Ontario Mustangs into an unofficial contest for the Canadian collegiate championship.

A disappointing crowd of about 5,000 braved a light rain to watch the winless Thunderbirds lay their last home game and come within an ace of upsetting the unbeaten seventh Toronto squad. They were expected to win by at least three touchdowns.

Outplayed, Thunderbirds, led by their hard-rushing line, kept the easterners from crossing their goal line and three times came within an ace of registering an upset.

All the scoring was confined to the second and third quarters, each club making good on a field goal in the second quarter and Oneschuk's booming punts accounting for two rouges in the third.

Pirie Wins

BRUSSELS (AP) — Britain's Gordon Pirie won the 11.1-kilometre (seven miles) "Criterium des As" cross-country race Sunday.

Pirie who also won the event in 1952, was timed in 35 minutes and 56 seconds.

Forty-five athletes from seven countries competed in Sunday's race. Jozef Kovacs, Hungary, was 50 metres behind in second place with third going to Fanjo Mihalic, Yugoslavia, 1953 winner.

Bruins' Long John Henderson Hangs Collars on Habs, Leafs; Toronto, Wings in Second Spot

By AL COLLETTI
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Sawchuk, Rowe, Belliveau, Richard, Lumley and Lindsay are among the dozen or so "color" players in the National Hockey League that writers always seem to have a spot for in the headlines.

All turned in fine performances—some were outstanding—in providing an interesting six-game weekend as the NHL rolled into high gear. But it was a rookie goalie who stole the show with a pair of shutouts on successive nights.

Long John Henderson, a 21-year-old Tarentonian brought up by Boston's Bruins from their Hershey, Pa., farm in the American Hockey League, did it the hard way by blanking two powerhouses, Toronto Maple Leafs 1-0 Saturday night, and Montreal Canadiens 2-0 Sunday night.

The six - foot, four-inch, 195-pounder has appeared in three NHL games in his four appearances since he replaced the Boston veteran Sugar Jim Henry Nov. 17.

LEAFS' GAIN TIE.

With Gordie Howe back in the fold to pull the Detroit Red Wings into a second-place tie with the Leafs, Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins also hit the four-point jackpot and now are just one point behind the fourth-place Rangers. New York has 15 points, Boston 14. Chicago is in last place, six points behind.

GOT SOME HELP

Left winger Lorne Ferguson gave the rookie Henderson the margin he needed Saturday night as the Bruins played on Toronto ice. Ferguson rammed home a rebound Eddie Sandford late in the first period and the goal stood up. Sunday Henderson had 20 saves to 16 for Lumley.

Sunday night on home ice long John got a bit more help. Cal Gardner and defenceman Fleming defended splendidly in the second period, taking a pass from Leo Labine and jamming in the shot behind Montreal's rookie goalie, Charlie Hodge. The Canadiens came close at 19:05 of the final period when Fleming Mackell skated in alone on the unguarded Montreal net just after Hodge had been removed.

Howe, back in action after missing seven games due to a shoulder injury, proved as dangerous as ever around the nets. At home Saturday night he scored one of the five Detroit goals against the Black Hawks. Marcel Pronovost, Alex Delvecchio, Marcel Bonin and Vic Stasiuk got the others.

At New York, Canadiens' goalie Gump Worsley had the Leafs shut out for more than two minutes until the veteran Sid Smith converted a 10-footer at 12:28 of the final period on pass from Dave Creighton. Rookie Parker MacDonald got the tying goal three minutes later, The Rangers' goals were by Ron Murphy and Larry Popein.

Windsor Defeats Winnipeg Rods For Junior Title

WINDSOR (CP)—Windsor AKO, three-time eastern Canada junior champions, came from behind Thursday to edge the Winnipeg Rods, first-time western Canada titleholders, 5-4 here, returning the Regina Leader-Post Trophy to the East.

More than 4,000 fans were kept in a state of high suspense as the lead changed hands three times before AKO pushed across the winning touchdown in the last 15 minutes of the game on a 60-yard march.

Windsor was defeated last year by Saskatoon Hilltops 34-6 in the title game.

Trailing 9-7 until the minutes ticking off in the last quarter, AKO started its game-winning drive from its own 59-yard line.

WENT OVER

Marv Larsen passed down the centre and to Pete Murphy who got to the Winnipeg 24 before he was hauled down. Larsen gained seven and Angus Morrison four. After Morrison was stopped for no gain Bob Fletcher went over for the major and Eddie Mularchyk kicked the convert to complete the scoring and give the eastern team its second Dominion title in three years.

Early in the fourth quarter a touchdown by Steve Gratkowski and a convert by Dick Metcalfe on a pass from quarterback Frank Murzyn gave AKO a 9-7 lead.

But AKO, one of the top teams in Canadian junior football for the past three seasons, refused to give up. They drove from their own 40-yard drive on the Winnipeg 20, they started all over again from their 30 with Larsen leading the attack which carried over the Winnipeg goal.

AKO jumped into the lead in the first five minutes of play when Mularchyk kicked a single to give the easterners a 1-0 advantage. Winnipeg came back in the second quarter with Gerry Vincent kicking three singles to put the Rods ahead 3-1.

Alouettes Wallop Tiger Cats, Meet Eskys in Grey Cup Final

By MEL MORRIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes, who rejoice give the opposing team a break, handed Hamilton a pair of touchdowns on Sunday but still had plenty of firepower left to down the Tiger-Cats 26-18 and advance into the Grey Cup final.

The victory put the Als the two game total-points series 38-38, the exact 10-point margin quoted by Montreal oddsmakers before the start of the set. Montreal defeated the defending Grey Cup champions 14-9 in Hamilton last Wednesday.

Once more, it was the uncanny passing of all-star quarterback Sam Etcheverry that carried Montreal to victory before 21,025 fans. He combined with Alex Webster, the Big Four's leading scorer during the regular season, for a 183-yard touchdown play and hit Chuck Hunsinger with a short toss for another major after moving the ball into scoring position on a 70-yard play with Joey Pal. The Als quarterback scored the other Montreal touchdown himself on a one-yard plunge.

Twice, fumbled fumbles, three of them recovered by Hamilton, kept the Tiger-Cats contention until late in the fourth quarter, however.

Pete Karpuk scooped up a fumble by Webster on the Montreal 25 in the second quarter and raced into the end zone for the first Hamilton touchdown. Hunsinger dropped the ball on his own 36 while running back the kickoff to open the third quarter and the Tiger-Cats drove to another touchdown. Lou Kusserow taking an eight-yard pass from Bernie Faloney later.

Hamilton's last touchdown was scored by Ray Ramsey, who earlier threatened to become the goat of the game by dropping two passes while in the clear, Ramsey finally gathered in a long heave by quarterback Ed Szegda in the fourth quarter and ran for a score on a play that covered 85 yards.

The Kickers accounted for the rest of the points. End Ray Poole converted two of the Montreal touchdowns and kicked a field goal and a pair of singles. Tex Coulter added two more singles parlay for the Als, while Tip Logan converted the three Hamilton touchdowns and Cam Fraser picked up a point when Bill Bewley was brought down in the Montreal end zone on his long kick.

The Tiger-Cats' ground attack was seriously hampered by a back injury that kept all-star tackle Vince Mazza out of the lineup. Songin spent most of the game firing passes out of a short punt formation despite a muddy field at Molson Stadium at McGill University. He tried 51 passes but connected on only 20 for a total of 277 yards through the air.

Etcheverry's average was more respectable. He completed 20 of his 33 attempts to give Montreal 234 yards passing. The Als also held a wide margin on the ground, outgaining the Ticats 118 yards to 58.

Memos Score First Shutout; Defeat Cornwall Colts 2-0

First Home Setback of Season For Powerful Eastern Squad; Duncan Twins Fire Winners

Unleashing a sustained offensive backed by a hard-hitting defence, the Belleville Memos handed the league-leading Cornwall Colts their first home defeat of the season on Sunday, blanking the powerful eastern club by a 2-0 score.

The shutout was the first scored by the Memos and the first to be recorded in group play this season. The win gives the Memos 11 points and a half-share of third place in the league standing with the Clinton Comets who defeated the third Peterborough Petes 3-1 Sunday in the American arena.

"Tuck" Barclay took over the goaltending chore and turned in a sensational effort. He turned out rubber galore from the swarming Colts at times and came up with one of his best performances since donning the pads.

The game was one of the cleanest played in the league this season, with Referees Stan Pratt and "Ching" MacDonald, of Ottawa, handing out but five penalties, three of them to the Memos. Both teams relied on speed and passing rather than the man with the puck in the Cornwall fans were treated to one of the best games of the season.

The Duncan twins scored the goals, with Erwin getting the winner after 12 minutes of the second period and brother Edwin banging home the insurance marker after clustered scrambles play in the third chapter. Both chalked up shots on chances to score with "Nobber" Day coming closer than a gnat's whisker on three occasions. Singles and twin goals were scored with the teams at full strength.

The game started some thirty minutes late, due to the Belleville team and officials being held up on the 2.30 p.m. opening time. Keith Macdonald, goalie in the injured shoulder, and Davy Jones, did not play for the Memos. "Red" Quinton, who was injured in the latter a week's rest due to business commitments.

The Memos had a decided margin of play in the first two periods, but after the second goal whipped into the net in the opening minutes of play in the third heat, the Colts had an edge in desperation drives. The Memos forward line came up with their finest back-checking job of the season, and their efforts to work to this respect was no small factor in the victory.

FAST GAME

The game opened at a fast tempo with both teams driving in for the body-checking. The puck was the thing and as the game progressed, it was pinned not bounded over the boards three or four times, there would have been a stoppage. There were no penalties and no goals.

The first penalty was in the second heat opened but the penalties, in fact all of them crept in the middle heat. Bellini went off for holding at 6.03, and Bethel, of Cornwall, followed him a minute later. Bingley got the gate at 10.33, but the driving Memos failed to score in the Cornwall defence.

Angus Hagan went off for an elbow job at 13.14 and it was the Colts' turn to lay siege. The Memos' solid back-wall held and again it came up with a superlative job of penalty-killing when Muckler got the gate at 16.31. That ended the visits to the hoosegow.

With the clock ticking off the seconds, Erwin Duncan broke over Ed's pass to finally beat Devaney on a play that was started by Goyer, to put the Memos one up.

QUIET ICE

The fans had scarcely settled into their seats in the third period when "Nobber" Day grabbed the puck, flipped a quickie to Edwin Duncan in front of the net and he twist made no mistake. The clock read sixteen seconds.

From then on, and mixing it with sudden, dangerous dashes into enemy territory, the Memos came up with brilliant defensive action. Barclay and his blueline mates turned back drive after drive of the desperate Colts and held the fort successfully until time ran out.

The Memos entertain the Brockville Magedomas here tomorrow night.

Winnipeg Rams Defeat Petes For Grid Title

WINNIPEG (CP)—A key pass interception Saturday in the dying minutes of the game snuffed out a belated rally by the Peterborough Petes and provided the Winnipeg Rams with a 16-12 victory and the Canadian intermediate football championship.

Rams' Gerry Duguid, former Winnipeg Blue Bomber and Calgary Stampeder, intercepted Pete Petrow's desperation pass on the Winnipeg 15-yard-line with only one minute and 43 seconds remaining.

A crowd of more than 4,000 saw Rams freeze the ball until the final gun.

Rams succeeded Montreal Lakeshores as Dominion champions and gave Manitoba its second intermediate title in three years. In 1952 Riverwoods Beehive Leaguesires captured the title by defeating Portsmouth 21-18.

SCORED MAJORS

Quarterback Dede Brown and halfbacks Bill Senyk and Mort Corrin scored Winnipeg touchdowns. Norm Lampe converted Senyk's angler.

Halfback Dave Alexander and halfback-quarterback Bill Huntley voted the most valuable intermediate players in 1954 this year. tallied the Orfuns' two majors. Huntley converted both.

Rams led 6-0 at the end of the first quarter, 11-6 at the three-quarter mark and increased it to 16-6 before Alexander counted his second major of the afternoon.

Winnipeg outushed Peterborough along the ground, 223 yards to 128 but the visitors held an edge in passing where they picked up 149 yards compared to Winnipeg's 27.

OPEN SCORING

Rams opened the scoring midway through the first quarter. After an exchange of kicks, Winnipeg moved to the Orfuns' 35-yard line in the third quarter in what was the smartest flailing play of the game.

On recovery of a partially-blocked Peterborough kick on the Orfuns' 35, quarterback Dede Brown worked the Rams to the five-yard line and then bootlegged the ball around left end unmolested. The convert was missed.

Orfuns took advantage of Bus Jenson's pass interception on the Rams' 34 late in the quarter to mark up their first major.

MADE PASS

Quarter Pete Petrow hit Eagle Hitrock for a 15-yard pass. Four line plays carried the ball to the 13. Alexander picked up four yards in another pass and a Ram offside gave the visitors two more yards. Huntley bulled over the remaining nine yards. His convert cut the score to 11-6.

Winnipeg went ahead 16-6 in the last quarter when Corrin bounced through the middle to score. A Corrin-Neufeld pass and two solid bucks set up Corrin's touchdown. Lampe's convert was cancelled because of Rams' rough play.

After the kick-off Petrow passed to Huntley who lateralled to Alexander and the quarter ran the remaining distance to make it 16-11. Huntley again converted. With less than four minutes remaining in the game, Orfuns thwarted a determined downfield march. They bucked their way to two straight first downs up to their 20. Huntley gathered in a Petrow 21-yard pass but brought the ball to Rams' 28.

Petrow again went back to pass and threw one down the centre, intended for Huntley, but intercepted by Duguid.

Queen's Loses Heartbreaker To Western in Dying Seconds; Gael Player Attacks Official

By JIM EASTABLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—A spectacular struggle by Queen's Golden Gaels for a crack at their first college football title in 17 years blew up in 19 staggering seconds.

In that time a weirdly bouncing ball in the Gaels' end zone shocked the desperate hands of all-star Ron Stewart and the fumble turned into a touchdown for Western Ontario Mustangs. It gave Mustangs a 20-18 victory on the last play of the game in their Intercollegiate Union semi-final Saturday.

In one of the most unbelievable finishes in college history, the defending champion Mustangs were propelled into almost-certain defeat into the sudden-death final against Varsity Blues at London next Saturday.

SHOOK FANS

The stunning play, with Western end Don Emmerling leaping on the loose ball for the major, wiped out an 18-15 Queen's lead and shook the 17,031 fans at Varsity Stadium. In the confusion that followed, umpire Fred Gardiner of Toronto was attacked by Queen's half Al Iverson and pounced by the coach and a member of the Gaels' band.

There were only 10 seconds left when Gael Senyk kicked to centre half, tried a field goal from the Queen's 39 — a short line and started the play. The ball was low, dropping at the five.

Stewart, who minutes before had scored two touchdowns to move to 139 but the visitors held an edge in passing where they picked up 149 yards compared to Winnipeg's 27.

Huntley gathered in a Petrow 21-yard pass but brought the ball to Rams' 28.

Petrow again went back to pass and threw one down the centre, intended for Huntley, but intercepted by Duguid.

"That pass interference penalty really did it. He was all broken up emotionally after that."

Western coach Johnny Metras said it "is a shame we have to crucify the kid (Kocman). They was a lot of excitement on the field when it happened and it was just one of those unfortunate things."

Szambatti reported the incident to referee-in-chief Rec Crighton. He will report to Dr. Duncan McLarty of London, president of the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union. Dr. Duncan said no action would be taken until he heard from Crighton.

"The CIAU will go into the matter thoroughly when we receive a report," he added.

It was heartbreaking for Stewart, a five-foot-six ace who was named to the Canadian Press all-star team last week. He led Gaels to a first-place tie with Western and Varsity in the regular season schedule. On Saturday he was tremendous, crashing for 146 of the Gaels' 253 yards rushing and running back punts for nearly 50 yards over a field made treacherous by intermittent rain.

In the 30-yard Stewart, who finished in the second-place tie in the scoring race this season with 40 points, had fallen on the ball it would have given Mustangs a single point. But Gaels would have won 18-14.

Fracas was the big scorer. He went over for two touchdowns, kicked a field goal and converted one of the majors for a 14-point total. Ted Roman kicked a third-quarter single.

Half Gary Schreider scored a Queen's touchdown before Stewart picked up his two majors. Gary booted one convert. Jocko Thompson kicked two singles to round out the Queen's scoring.

Rangers Call Johnny Bower

NEW YORK (AP)—As if New York Rangers haven't enough trouble, they learned today that goalie Lorne Worsley will be lost for a month or 12 days.

The Rangers today put in a rush call to their Vancouver farm of the Western Hockey League for Johnny Bower, last year's netminder. They won't get the job to Worsley this season. Worsley suffered a sprain in his left ankle making a save against the Toronto Maple Leafs Sunday night. He finished the game out, but the Leafs salvaged a 3-2 tie.

Bower, 30, has been in goal for 10 games this season with the Seattle Americans of the Pacific Coast Hockey League. He has a 3.50 goals against average.

Worsley's injury is the latest in a series of misfortunes to hit the Rangers' goaltending corps. Gump Worsley, the regular netminder, has been out since Nov. 7 with a pulled muscle in his back. Emile Francis, who has been filling in for Worsley, suffered a broken finger in practice last week.

Worsley's ankle is not broken, but it is badly bruised and swollen. He will be out of action for at least a week.

Bower, who has been in goal for 10 games this season with the Seattle Americans of the Pacific Coast Hockey League,

Mercs, Dutchies Still Tied For Top Spot

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen and Owen Sound Mercurys still are neck-and-neck for first spot in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A league—but Kitchener has a slight edge, one game in hand.

Both teams won their 10th games during the weekend. Dutchmen defeated Canadian Marconis of Toronto 2-0 hometown fans and Mercurys beat Windsor Bulldogs 5-4 in a tight game at Windsor. In another game Stratford Indians defeated Niagara Falls Cataracts 5-3 at Stratford.

TOOK LEAD

Dutchmen took a 1-0 first period lead and widened it to 4-1 in the second.

Jack MacKenzie scored twice to lead the Dutchmen and Jack Lo-gan, George Scholes and Ken Lauf-man added the others. Rod McRoy, Ernie Dick and Danny Blair scored for Marconis.

The Mercurys spotted the fourth-place Bulldogs a 2-0 lead early in the first period before tying the score and taking a 5-4 lead enter-ing the third.

Vern Gardiner scored three goals for Owen Sound. Elmer Skov, 255 Lantiff, Buck Furlano and Jack Kirk scored one each. Gord Haldy and Walt Pawlowich scored two goals each for Bulldogs. Reg Ab-bott and Bob Brown added singles.

Intercounty Will Stay With OBA Meeting Decides

ST. THOMAS (CP)—Officials of the Intercounty Baseball Associa-tion defeated a motion by Ernest Rogers of Galt Saturday to break off affiliation with the Ontario Baseball Association.

The 40 delegates to the annual meeting disagreed with association secretary Jack Bakney of Brant-ford who said there is a general feeling the OBA is 30 years behind in governing Ontario baseball. He also said the OBA is bankrupt.

The association decided to make every effort between now and next spring to press the OBA to revise its constitution and methods of governing amateur baseball in On-tario.

Intercounty commissioner John Gillies of London, presiding at the meeting, said there has been a general change in the attitude to-wards baseball in western Ontario.

He said the Intercounty League, operating since 1919, came through last season with a surge of spec-tator-popularity.

Tim Proctor of Preston was elected president. Others chosen were: Gordon Whitfield, St. Thomas and Charles Wager, Brantford, vice-presidents; Norman Parker, Waterloo, treasurer; Jack Blak-ney, re-elected secretary; Jack Hannon, Waterloo, East Coast, St. Thomas, Marshall Arios, Kitch-ener, and Ernest Reeve, executive members.

Mazza May Quit Football

MONTREAL (CP)—Vince Mazza Hamilton's all-star tackle who sat out the final game of the Big Four playoffs against Montreal Satur-day, said he may be in his last game unless doctors can cure a pain-ful recurrent back injury.

"I've had it," Mazza said after the game, won by Montreal 24-19. "I've been laid up two often this year. I'm 28 years old and it's tough out there playing against those kids."

Mazza joined the Tiger-Cats as an offensive tackle and defensive end five years ago from the Buf-falo Bills.

Six Killed In Road Race

MEXICO CITY (AP)—One of the bloodiest of all Pan American road races entered its fourth and next to last day today with no driver in any of the five classes holding a safe lead.

Six persons have been killed and more than a score injured in the first three days of the $117,200, 1,908-mile race from Mexico's trop-ical southern border to Ciudad Juarez opposite El Paso, Texas, on the Rio Grande.

Two spectators were killed Sun-day, three injured, and five drivers hurt, two seriously.

Eskimos Trample Dutchmen 38-6, Miles Hurt After Scoring Two TD's

By LORNE BRUCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos trampled Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen 38-6 Saturday night and the scoreboard says they had an easy time. But the game brought complaints that the Grey Cup semi-final between the West-ern Interprovincial and Ontario Rugby Football Unions isn't worth the candle.

The win qualified Esks, as ex-pected, to meet Montreal Alou-ettes in the Grey Cup final at Varsity Stadium in Toronto Satur-day but the risk of injury, and to a much lesser extent the risk of an upset defeat, may wipe out any renewal if some westerners have their way.

Miles scored two touchdowns for Esks before he left the game and halfback Johnny Bright, a Calgary Stampeder castoff, also counted a couple.

The other Edmonton majors were scored by Lipsman and tackle Jim Weatherall.

Tackle Bob Dean converted the majors and added two single points on separate tries for field goals.

End Gerry MacTaggart caught Celeri pass for the last major scored by the eastern champions and halfback Paul Amodio con-verted it.

After the game, coach Harvey Johnson of Kitchener said his players became "demoralized" in the final 15 minutes when Esks once scored four converted touch-downs and that their football play-ing near the end of the game left something to be desired.

Johnson decided his team played rough. He added: "But my boys aren't the type to stand around when they are punched."

Kitchener-Waterloo players con-ceded the game "wasn't their best."

St. Mikes Majors Break Away From Junior Pack

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

St. Michael's College Majors broke away from the pack to take a six-point lead in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A league during the weekend.

The Majors, who defeated Kitch-ener-Waterloo Canucks 6-1 at Tor-onto Sunday, were poised to give St. Catharines TeePees and Tor-onto Marlboros, in second spot with 16 points. Guelph Biltmores and Gall Black Hawks share third place with 13 points each.

In other games, Galt defeated Barrie Flyers 4-3 at home Satur-day and Marlboros defeated TeePees 6-3 at St. Catharines. Sunday Marlboros and Guelph fought to a 1-1 tie.

It was St. Michael's 11th win in thirteen starts. The Majors lost the other two. It was their sixth consecutive win.

The last-place Canucks were no match for the St. Michael's. Dick Duff led the scoring with two goals. Les Duff, Brian Anderson, Ken Listerman and Frank Malovich scored the others. Jake Smola spoiled Gerry McNamara's at-tempt for his third shutout of the season with less than three min-utes remaining in the game. Majors were two men short at the time.

In the first game of the Sunday doubleheader Captain Billy Mc-Creary shot the second-period goal which gave Biltmores the tie. Bob Pulford scored Marlboros' goal with 48 seconds left in the first period.

Montreal Canadiens continue to dominate the National Hockey League scoring race with their three top point-getters gaining more ground during the weekend.

Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion failed to add to his 16-goal total, but he assisted on Jean Beliveau's two Saturday night markers to maintain his scoring leadership with 24 points.

Maurice Richard scored Mont-real's second goal Saturday as the Canadiens downed New York Ran-gers 4-1 to keep a narrow lead over teammate Beliveau. Richard has 13 assists and one goals for 21 points.

Rams Bunt Giants 17-16; Eagles Lose

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cleve-land Browns and the New York Giants, two of professional foot-ball's most defensive clubs, collide at the Polo Grounds in New York Sunday in a game that should rattle the wrestling for the cham-pionship title of the National Foot-ball League.

"They'll have a psychological edge," New York coach Jim Lee Howell said. "They beat us last month 24-14."

The Los Angeles Rams climbed over the Giants 17-16 in a close game Sunday.

The Browns, at the other end of the argument, turned in a great defensive effort to defeat Phila-delphia 6-0 and move into the east-ern lead, a half-game in front of the Giants with 6-2 against the Giants.

Detroit, after a bad scare, slipped by Green Bay 21-17 and took a firmer grip on its third straight western division cham-pionship.

In other games, the Chicago Bears took Baltimore 28-13 and the Chicago Cards thumped Washing-ton 38-16. San Francisco dumped Pittsburgh 31-3 Saturday night.

Noted Appliance Saleswoman Has Lead in Comedy Hour Play

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Betty Fur-ness appears on television Sunday, but she won't open a refrigerator door or roast a turkey in the stove.

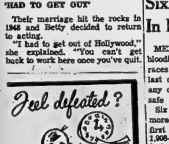
The noted appliance saleswoman is starring in the Comedy Hour's version of "Let's Face It" on NBC.

She was supposed to do one of the supporting roles. But when Joan Blondell fell ill, Betty took over the fe-male role. It is the one Eve Arden—another star who did all night on TV—played on Broadway with Danny Kaye and in the mov-ies with Bob Hope.

I had a chat with Betty between rehearsals and found out how she switched from a screen ingenue to queen of the commercials. A New York girl, she began her active career in the movies during the late '30s and early '40s. She quit films in 1945 to keep house for her husband, composer Johnny Green. They have a daughter, Babbie, 14.

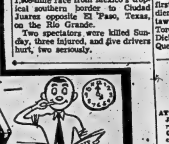
'HAD TO GET OUT'

Their marriage hit the rocks in 1948 and Betty decided to return to acting.



"I had to get out of Hollywood," she explained. "You can't get back to work here once you've quit. You've got to go to New York." She had middling luck in radio and TV, which was then blossom-ing forth.

"My career was going along in bits and pieces—nothing brilliant," she admitted. "Then one day I was doing a small part on Studio One. One of the advertising agency men saw me sitting around re-hearsals and suggested I might do the commercial. At that time they had no one doing them regularly and were not sure they wanted someone."



She gave it a try, despite friends who advised against being identi-fied with TV ads.

"But I have the theory that as actor should keep working, no mat-ter what the job," she reasoned. "And I must say that it has worked out very well. I have been with the company (Westinghouse) for years, and I have three more to go. The whole thing turned out much bigger than I anticipated."

Six Killed In Road Race

MEXICO CITY (AP)—One of the bloodiest of all Pan American road races entered its fourth and next to last day today with no driver in any of the five classes holding a safe lead.

Six persons have been killed and more than a score injured in the first three days of the $117,200, 1,908-mile race from Mexico's trop-ical southern border to Ciudad Juarez opposite El Paso, Texas, on the Rio Grande.

Two spectators were killed Sun-day, three injured, and five drivers hurt, two seriously.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Times are when I wish I were born only yesterday. The masters of bridge have changed so often during my lifetime it is impossible to tell which of us is more con-fused. But what do they say to-day?

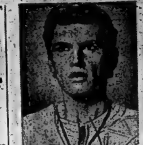
Culbertson says an opener is in the minimum zone if he could not open with the removal of an honor trick or trump card. Goren says opener is in minimum range if his count is 13 to 16 points.

Both mainly agree on what an opening bidder should do if part-ner responds with a takeout to a new suit. An eyedropper might measure the slight difference, if any, between them.

Keep remembering that a take-out to a new suit is forcing for one round, a partner's new suit takeout obligates a weak or strong opener to keep the bidding alive once more.

Culbertson says to try to show distribution by a no-trump bid at the one-level; by a single raise with adequate support; by a new lower-rank suit; or by rebidding a rebiddable suit.

Goren says to clarify the hand's nature as to type and strength by a no-trump, by a rebid of your own suit; or a single raise in your partner's major suit with four trumps in support.



These recommendations are each a duplication of the second bid by an opening one bidder with a minimum zone or minimum range hand. Mainly the second bid is decided by distribution.

According to Gorden, opener simply follows T-A-N order of choice (takeout, assist, no-trump) with only this restriction. Any raise in the last partnership number shows another trick.

Your opening is one heart with the south hand shown here:

♠ A Q 9 5
♥ A K 6 4
♦ 10 5 3
♣ 8

If partner responds with a spade it is a new suit takeout and forces you to bid again. Your second bid is one no-trump; not a bid of two diamonds. All masters will agree. Reasons I'll give you.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is according to the stars for TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1954.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Full benefits may not be attained now but partial ones are possible if you augment your knowledge and use your innately keen mind. Allocate tasks to as to get everything possible for your efforts.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Don't waste any time on matters that really do not concern you or have no bearing on the day's important issues. Maintain a steady pace and cooperate with associates and superiors.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — You can do a lot better with this day than you may think at first. The really important thing is to take note of the hidden benefits, the "little" blessings.

June 22 to July 22 (Gemini) — Review past efforts and their results. Now see how you might have done better and, in some cases much better, right? Remember, it is never too late to begin anew.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Do things in the order of their importance. Don't rush from one activity to another with just spending sufficient time on any one matter. Consider anyone, but protect your own interests as you should.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — You can do much to help others who may find themselves in "tight" or unhappy circumstances. Yet at times you'll do best to handle your own affairs entirely. Plan, study a bit today.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Where you can assist. So so without wearing down your own health or nerves, but back your principles and God's laws staunchly. If in a wise map who knows his own talents.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — A big day in many ways, and for you this can be a very important period. You can formulate plans that will be effective later; can finish matters in an unusually clever manner.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Whole-hearted operation with honorable people for sound purposes will help you to accomplish now. And, no matter how ably you think you have done before, try just a little harder now.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — This day will not be as difficult as it may seem at first. When one knows more about situations, they become easier to handle—even more interesting! Study, investigation is in order.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — You can make gains if you bend your future and your family's welfare are concerned. Accept others with your ideas; don't be timid. But don't be blunt either. You have much to offer.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — A wee warning which we all need at times: Don't count your chicks before they are hatched. However, don't become confused, don't falter and don't sit down. Firmness, albeit patience!

YOU BORN TODAY have many strong, forthright characteristics. You have courage and seldom think of personal danger when a job must be done. Others usually accept your leadership or suggestions as a matter of course. You can develop a small project into an important one. Just don't wear down your vitality and energies that should be sensibly distributed — and saved, too. Fields especially suited to your talents: Law, brokerage, politics, art, athletics, surgery, dentistry.

Don't permit a tendency to criticize, haste or resentment to spoil a great life. Birthdate of: Franklin Pierce, 14th U.S. President.

BIRDS KILLED

VICTORIA (CP) — More than 1,000 water birds were massacred by gunfire on greater Victoria's oil-covered beaches Saturday, leaving an additional 2,000 dying waterfowl to be killed within the next few weeks, Almost 3,000 have been killed since last Wednesday when covered by a thick oil scum which collected on the beaches following the grounding of a freighter. The ship's bottom was punctured, releasing heavy fuel oil.

FLY CUP FILMS

TRENTON (CP) — RCAF training command headquarters announced Sunday it is co-operating with the CBC to speed television films of next Saturday's Grey Cup final in Winnipeg and Edmonton in time for showing in western Canada right of the game.

The films are expected to be ready to leave Toronto's Malton airport by 9 p.m. EST. Two T-33 Silver Star jets from the RCAF school here will fly the films to Winnipeg, a waiting jet from Winnipeg will take over and carry the film that will be shown in Edmonton.

HELIOSCOPE WINS

BALTIMORE (AP)—William G. Hails Jr.'s Helioscope led all the way over the 1 3-16 mile route Saturday to win the Pimlico Special from four other three-year-olds in the slop and fog. Walmac Farm's Hasseyampa was re-ced by four lengths and one in front of C. V. Whitney's Fisherman. Maine Chance farm's jet action finished fourth and King Maple, owned by the McMacken Stable of Toronto, was last.

It took Helioscope one minute and 59 seconds to run over the slippery track and win the $35,000 first prize.

TAKE RIFLE MARK

CARACAS (AP)—Russia dominated the free rifle competition in the world shooting championships Sunday, winning in team title with a record and twice breaking the individual international mark. The Soviet marksmen compiled 5,610 points in taking the team championship. The performance broke the old record of 5,540 set by Switzerland, at Oslo in 1952. Switzerland was second, followed by Sweden and Finland.

Ohio State Trims Michigan; Gets Rose Bowl

NEW YORK (AP)—Ohio State, Arkansas and Nebraska rallied into post-season bowl games Saturday—the final big weekend of the U.S. college football season—but only the powerful Buckeyes, top-ranked in the nation, marched through the front door.

Ohio State, overlooked in the preseason ratings, trounced Michigan in the nationally-televised game of the day 21-7 and in the process clinched the Big Ten championship and became Southern California's foe in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1.

Southern California will be the Pacific Coast Conference's second-string representative, having taken a 34-0 shellacking from UCLA Saturday in the title game. The Uclans, ineligible for the bowl because they played last Year Ohio's Day, erupted for, 27 points in the last quarter.

Arkansas dropped a 7-6 decision to Louisiana State, but the game is inconsequential as far as the Razorbacks were concerned. Their interest centered on the Southwest Methodist - Baylor game, Baylor won it 13-6 and as a result knocked SMU from contention in the Southwest Conference race. SMU LOST

That gave Arkansas the host spot in the New Year's Eve Cotton Bowl game. If Southern Methodist beaten Baylor and Texas Christian next week, the Mustangs would have had it.

Nebraska was clubbed by Oklahoma 55-7 but was awarded the Big Seven Orange bowl berth as a result of Colorado's 36-14 victory over Kansas State.

Ralph Toohy Sets New Play For Big Four

MONTREAL (CP)—Ralph Toohy captain of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats came up with a new play for Big Four teams in practice on the first Saturday's game against Montreal Alouettes.

Late in the second quarter of the game, won by Montreal 24-19, the Als set up a sleeper play with Jackie Webster standing on the sideline. Toohy, noticing that none of his teammates on the field had alerted Webster, jumped up off the Hamilton bench on the opposite side of the field and raced across the gridiron to attract their attention to the Montreal halfback.

He ran over the sideline before Montreal put the ball in play and Hamilton was not penalized.

"It was one of the smartest things that's ever happened in Canadian football," said referee Hap Sheddick. "If Webster had put the ball into play I would have been obliged to penalize Hamilton for having too many players on the field, or allowed Montreal to decline the penalty.

"But Montreal didn't put the ball into play until after Toohy ran out of bounds on the other side of the field."

Spanish Riders Dominate Horse Show

TORONTO (CP)—The 1954 Royal Agricultural Winter Fair ended Saturday in a colorful display of equitation.

The Spanish riding team, in its first appearance in Canada, lined up in their colorful uniforms as international champions. The five other international teams—Mexico, West Germany, the United States and Canada—lined up with them and with the rest of the grand champions of this year's Royal in the coliseum to hear the closing address by Lord Irwin of Newmarket, England. The national anthems of the five international teams closed out the ceremony.

The 1952 Royal did not attract as many people as other Royals but fair officials said the quality of the exhibits—about 18,000 of them—was the best ever.

Directors left with the hope that before next year's Royal a start will be made on a $2,000,000 expansion program to include a new judging ring as large as the Coliseum and Coliseum and dormitories for grooms and herdsmen.

Two Spanish riding team—Commandant Jaime Garcia Cruz, Commandant Alfonso Rivera Gonzales and Francisco Garcia C. Goyoga—were the hits of the horse show. They won all the eight events, including the international team jumping Saturday, to win the world's top international riding event.

Two Spanish riders won individual events. Gonzales won the faultand-out competition Thursday and Goyoga won the individual championship Monday.

In the other horse show events, Canadian horses held their own with those from the United States. Canadian horses won the jumping and harness events while U.S. horses won the hunting and saddle horse events.

Textile Industry Denies Charge Of Federation

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian wool textile industry has denied a Canadian Federation of Agriculture suggestion that a tariff increase against competing United Kingdom goods would increase costs to consumers in this country by $12,000,000 a year.

J. Grant Glassco of Toronto, representing the Canadian industry at a one-day tariff board hearing Saturday, said any increase in Canadian consumer costs as a result of raising the present maximum tariff of 50 cents a pound on U.K. wool cloth would be only moderate. And it would be gradual, spread over one or two seasons.

The Canadian industry claims many of its firms have been driven out of business by low-priced imports from Britain. It seeks a boost in the tariff.

HELP CONSUMERS

Mr. Glassco suggested a tariff increase would actually help in the interest of consumers since it would preserve the Canadian industry. He said if current conditions continue, the Canadian industry may completely disappear.

Agriculture federation economist Dr. Ernest Hope estimated a tariff increase would cost Canadians about $12,000,000 a year. The extra cost from highest retail prices resulting from the tariff would be too much to pay for the sake of providing a few more jobs in the Canadian wool textile industry, he said.

Dr. Hope, representing the 400,000 member federation in opposition to the increase, agreed the Canadian industry has suffered damage, but said this was due to British competition in only a minor degree.

CLAIM DENIED

Gordon Henderson of Ottawa, counsel for the British industry, denied the British industry is the cause of the Canadian industry's problems.

Basic causes of the Canadian industry's difficulties are found in British wages and production costs but over-expansion of the industry, contraction of the Canadian market, the buyers' shift to synthetic materials and the wrong kind of manufacturing capacity in relation to the Canadian market.

Burglar Fears Companion Slew Mrs. Sheppard

CLEVELAND - (AP)—While the murder trial of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard today entered its sixth week, police investigated a report a convict's story that his burglar friend may have slain the octopath's wife.

Fred Henry Fuehrer, 31, walked into a police station in a Cincinnati suburb Sunday and announced: "I've got something on my chest."

Then, officers said, he told of going to Bay Village, a Cleveland suburb, on a burglary mission the night of July 3 an' fleeing in panic after he heard yells, cursing and scuffling come from behind a house his companion had entered. Pregnant Marilyn Sheppard was found bludgeoned to death in her bed early in the morning of July 4.

Fuehrer was brought to Cleveland today for further questioning and to see whether he can identify the Sheppard house and a Cleveland bar in which he said he met his companion. He said he knew the other man only as "Pat."

Sheppard, on trial for his life, has contended his wife was killed by a tall, bushy-haired man who twice knocked him unconscious in a battle that raged through the house and down an outside stairway to the Lake Erie beach below. The state has accused the osteopath of bludgeoning her to death during a quarrel over his affairs with other women.

RETURN FROM TRIP

New Organizations Appear In South for 'Preservation Of Our Southern Heritage'

By BEM PRICE

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A new type of anti-Negro vigilante movement—using boycotts instead of bullwhips—has arisen in at least one state in the southern United States.

In the wake of last spring's Supreme Court decision declaring segregation in public schools unconstitutional, new organizations have appeared elsewhere in Dixie to sound the call for "preservation of our southern heritage," the old rallying cry of the Ku Klux Klan. At present most are weak, capable of drawing crowds of only several hundred even when appealing for mass protest meetings. But two of them exhibit considerable vigor and have some powerful backing.

The two with muscle are the American States Rights Association, with headquarters in Birmingham, Ala., and a network of citizens' councils in Mississippi. It is the citizens' councils which have advocated, and apparently already put in use, the idea of substituting economic pressure for physical force, the traditional weapon of the Klan.

Councils have been organized in 22 of Mississippi's 82 counties and are spreading. Their purpose is to apply economic pressures to "troublemakers" who would upset the "southern way of life." A "troublemaker" is anyone who advocates compliance with the Supreme Court decision.

DRAWN FROM BOOK

While the councils propose to fight the court's decision by legal means, there are undercurrents which suggest violence would be tolerated if necessary to "keep the Negro in his place."

The plan for the councils is reported to have been drawn from the book, "Black Monday" by circuit Judge Tom P. Brady of Brookhaven, in which the theory of economic pressures is advanced.

Mississippi state officials are firmly committed to fight integration of the state's schools. The legislature has approved a proposed constitutional amendment permitting abolition of the public school system. This would pave the way for the state to turn over schools to "private" operators who could continue segregation. The proposition will be voted on in a special election Dec. 21.

The other large and apparently well organized private group fighting segregation, the American States Rights Association, was incorporated in Alabama last February. There were 600 names on the list of incorporators, including a substantial number of prominent and wealthy people.

The two leading figures have been Otis M. Horton, personnel manager for the Employers Insurance Co. of Birmingham, and his boss, William H. Hoover, the chairman and president. Asked how it was planned to combat school integration, Hoover answered, "what we are going to have to do is abolish the public schools and set them up as private and take 100 years to pay for them."

Hoover also observed, "It may be that a hundred million white people will have to get together and send 15 million Negroes back to Africa."

OTHERS EXIST

Scattered through the south, mostly in Georgia and Florida, are other organizations. Among them are the "white brotherhood" in Florida, headed by Bill Hendrix of Tallahassee, former self-styled grand dragon of the southern knights of the Ku Klux Klan, and the "national asm. for the preservation of the white race" at Augusta, Ga., whose president is a former Klan member.

There is no indication of the strength of these organizations save that none which has announced mass meetings has been able to attract more than a few hundred people.

No one can predict with certainty whether they will grow stronger or find their momentum slipping away in the months ahead. But if there is violence in the south over attempts at integration, it is likely these groups will find themselves involved.

St. Laurent and Duplessis Unveil Monument to Laurier

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP) — Two political leaders who recently called a truce, in a 10-year scrap between governments over taxation rights stood together with bared heads Sunday at the foot of a statue of a Canadian statesman who made national unity his life's work.

Prime Minister St. Laurent and Premier Duplessis of Quebec met at a ceremony to unveil a monument to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, first French-speaking prime minister of Canada.

Before a small crowd of 300 standing in a cold drizzle of rain Mr. St. Laurent unveiled the cut sign-draped, nine-foot bronze statue of Sir Wilfrid, prime minister from 1896-1911, who died 36 years ago.

Mr. St. Laurent said Canadians must strengthen national unity while "carefully preserving the basic characteristics of the nation."

Mr. Duplessis quoted Sir Wilfrid as having said once that Canada's federative form of government was adopted "to safeguard for Quebec the unique position it occupies on the American continent."

Archbishop Maurice Roy of Quebec was the only speaker to underline the significance of the presence of the two leaders on the same platform, a presence which "honors them both greatly," he said.

"Since Laurier," the Roman Catholic prelate said, "sons of Quebec have continued to play an important role in the political life of their country."

"The two statesmen who are here today illustrate this noble tradition . . . if different views sometimes divide them, a desire to serve the country unites them."

The meeting was under the joint chairmanship of Lt.-Col. Oscar Gilbert, president and publisher of the Quebec daily newspapers Le Soleil and L'Evenement-Journal, and Grattan O'Leary, Commonwealth member who sat in the federal house at the same time as Sir Wilfrid.

Mr. Gilbert headed a committee of businessmen who launched a $35,000 subscription campaign to erect the monument. The Quebec government donated $20,000.

Business Leaders In U.S. Advocate Tariff Reduction

Five-Year Extension Urged Of Reciprocal Trade Program

DIVORCEE SLAIN ON TORONTO STREETS

Mrs. Merle Hibbs, 32, an attractive blonde divorcee, was shot and killed 200 feet from her home in Toronto, police charged the body of Herbert Kersey, 42, beside her, a bullet through his forehead. The couple were to have been married but it is believed Mrs. Hibbs had decided that Kersey was too jealous. — Central Press Canadian.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Committee for Economic Development, a private research organization of business leaders, today urged a five-year extension of the present Reciprocal Trade Agreements program and a policy of "gradual and selective tariff reduction."

The committee issued a policy statement that in the main supported President Eisenhower's foreign trade proposals. In some respects, it went further than Eisenhower, who has asked Congress to extend the Trade Agreements Act for only three years and to accept his broader tariff-cutting powers.

Eisenhower retitled this year for a one-year extension of the old reciprocal trade program without change in powers. It appeared that Congress would not take up his recommendations at its legislative session then drawing toward a close. The trade law is scheduled to die in June unless Congress accept the simple one-year extension. Eisenhower urged Congress to act on an early start next year on considering his full program.

HOPE FOR FORD SETTLEMENT HAS BEEN RENEWED

Leaders of Union To Confer With Daley

WINDSOR (CP)—Reports that Ontario Labor Minister Daley has re-entered the long - deadlocked Ford of Canada-United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) dispute re-newed hopes here today that a settlement will be reached shortly.

It was learned that leaders of Local 200, representing the striking Ford workers here, were in Toronto Monday to confer with representatives of the other two striking Ford locals.

It was expected they will consider the possibility of inviting the company to resume negotiations through the offices of Mr. Daley.

Mr. Daley said he had talked with Charles MacDonald, president of Local 200, and Jack Taylor, international representative of the UAW at Oakville, in an effort to "determine the union's attitude."

NOT INCLUDED

The company was not included in Mr. Daley's talks.

The Windsor dispute, which has dragged through more than 11 months, is the only one of the three 43 days ago when 3,700 workers at the local production plant walked off the job.

They were joined five days later by 1,200 workers at the Ford assembly plant in Oakville, midway between Toronto and Hamilton, and by about 1,000 UAW workers at a parts depot plant in Etobicoke, Metro Toronto, as the complaints union talks since the strikes started.

Both Daley and his chief conciliations officer, Louis Fine, entered the dispute three days before the walkout here started, but in spite of almost continuous talks, neither has been able to accompany and union to a peaceful solution.

STRIKE PEACEFUL

The picketing of the three plants have been peaceful. Picketing by the strikers has been light at all three plants, and a wide gap between pickets have been mounted at company gates.

The UAW early called for the full moral and financial support of its union affiliated with the Canadian Congress of Labor, and it has been reported that funds are coming to address the affiliated locals, asking them for their support.

The international UAW has head offices to Toronto shortly after the strike here began, and since then has been directing its policy from there.

The average wage of the workers here and in Oakville is $1.69 an hour, but the workers get fringe benefits paid by the company bring the average to $2.04 an hour.

Etobicoke workers earn an average of $1.57 an hour.

AT STAKE

The material issues at stake in the, strike are wage increases of 15 cents an hour, plus five cents more for night shift workers for the Oakville workers; increased vacation pay; a union maintenance revised seniority right; and other contract revisions.

The strike, however, has repeatedly said it is striking because the company has "set up another unreasonable attitude" towards the union. George Burt, president of the UAW, charged the company was trying to "break" the union.

The company denied this, and said it could not afford to give the union its demands without injuring its competitive position. It said the Ford workers were among the best treated in Canada, and that they enjoy the greatest protection afforded by any union.

Jacob Malik Will Assume Vishinsky's Duties at UN

By PAUL S. UNDERWOOD

NEW YORK (AP)—The body of the old Communist Andrei Vishinsky, encased in a coffin for a millionaire, goes back to Moscow tonight. Meantime Jacob Malik will be crossing the Atlantic in the opposite direction to take up temporarily the duties of representing the Soviet Union at the United Nations.

After Vishinsky died Monday a spokesman for the Soviet delegation announced that the body would lie in state today at the public could view it at the delegation's Park avenue headquarters. But today police announced the public had been barred, and only members of other United Nations' delegations, government officials and such would be permitted to enter the building.

The tart-tongued deputy foreign minister of Soviet Union died Monday of a heart attakk. He was 70.

Moscow radio annoulced early today that the Soviet government and Communist party have appointed a commission to take charge of the funeral arrangements. Members are to try Premier M. G. Pervukhin and Andrei Gromyko, another deputy foreign minister who once held Vishinsky's job as chief Soviet delegate to the United Nations.

The Soviet embassy in London announced that Jacob Malik, Russian ambassador to Britain, will take over temporarily as head of the Soviet UN delegation. Malik, who has previously served at the international organization headquarters, leaves London by plane tonight.

Speculation as to Vishinsky's permanent successor centred on Gromyko, Malik, Georgi Zarubin, Soviet ambassador to the United States, and Arkady Sobolev, No. 2 man in the Russian delegation.

Vishinsky, while preparing a statement to the UN outlining Soviet disarmament proposal Eisenhower's plan for a peaceful international atomic energy pool. The debate was immediately suspended until today.

Representatives of 59 of the 60 countries represented in the UN paid tribute in their dead colleague's skill at a special meeting Monday, even though many of them had bitterly opposed the ideas for which he fought. Nationalist China, whose UN seat the Soviet Union has long sought for the Chinese Communists, was the only UN member not represented at the memorial meeting.

The news was announced from the White House, but State Secretary Dulles offered his condolences to Vishinsky's family "as one of the Soviet delegates was "an able and vigorous advocate of his country's policies."

Vishinsky's Death Seen Blow To Soviet Propaganda Drive

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

The death of Andrei Y. Vishinsky is a blow to Moscow's propaganda drive to win friends around the world and the Communist world, Vishinsky was a powerful Communist.

At this stage of the current global tug-of-war, Vishinsky was a symbol of the Soviet drive to convince the world that Moscow alone is the bulwark of peace. With arguments peculiarly suited to the task, he succeeded in convincing many Soviet people that was transmitted to him and announced by him as chief delegate to the United Nations, creating the impression that Russia intended to make the organization the principal arena of its political war with the United States.

For many reasons it will be difficult for Moscow to replace Vishinsky. The Kremlin has nobody at the moment of his calibre and talents.

Dour, unsmiling Andrei Gromyko might be regarded as the logical successor, but some factors could rule him out. Though a veteran of the diplomatic battle, he appears to be in extremely poor health and gossip has it that he suffers from an incurable ailment. In addition, Gromyko is believed to be a prototype of Premier Minister Molotov, which might be enough in current high-level Soviet politics to keep him from rising higher. At present he is "first" deputy foreign minister, the same rank Vishinsky held. His present station is in the Moscow foreign office.

But there are others in the ministry's collegium to choose from, able diplomats who have proved their worth.

Prospective candidates include another deputy foreign minister, Valerian A. Zorin, a tough negotiator and dedicated diplomat who helped engineer the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia, and Jacob Malik, who has headed the Soviet UN delegation in the absence of Vishinsky or Gromyko and who now is ambassador to Britain. It is also possible that there will be a general diplomatic shift to permit the appointment of someone like Georgi Zarubin, now ambassador to Washington, to the UN post.

It is unlikely, in any event, that the Soviet regime can come up with a man who had Vishinsky's remarkable talents—his flair for invective, his sharp memory, his ready wit and his penchant for twisting unpleasant realities even from those who most violently opposed him.

Even the chief delegate has nothing to do with making Soviet policy. He merely carries orders to it out. Vishinsky demonstrated his capacities in that respect, following orders to the letter in presenting a stubborn Soviet front without revealing the slightest maneuver swerving in debate.

Among diplomats in Moscow, it was rumored that Molotov had no love for Vishinsky, yet Vishinsky was able to cling to his high post despite many a slip that would have toppled a less agile man.

Ultimate Objective of Russia World Revolution--Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today Vishinsky's greatest mistake America could make would be to lose sight of Russia's quest for world revolution and domination.

This was the statement at a press conference was in reply to a question as to whether Vishinsky's death is indication that the Soviet Union's talk of peaceful co-existence means a basic change in policy.

Eisenhower said Russia lately has been talking in a somewhat different tone. But everything he had ever read about the Communists made it clear that their ultimate objective is world revolution and domination by whatever means controlled state.

Eisenhower's discussion of the international situation was touched off by a request for comment on Vishinsky's travelling habits regarding Kowloand of California, Senate Republican leader, that he was not accepting a policy of peaceful co-existence as a Trojan horse to lull the U.S. into a false sense of security.

Eisenhower said he have to disagree with between peaceful co-existence and just co-existence.

And, he said, he wanted to emphasize that there is no tendency on the part of the United States to take anything for granted in connection with relations with Russia.

He said the United States will remain alert, vigilant and strong.

The president said he would not favor a big three meeting with Russia until: (1) the London and Paris agreements have been ratified, and (2) enough time for such a conference would have real fruitfulness; and (3) adequate preparation had been made for such a meeting. He made those remarks in commenting on a proposal by French Premier Mendes - France that a Big Four meeting be held immediately, however, he wanted to repeat that meeting the United States has any real reason to believe any country wants to talk earnestly about peace, the talks will be held.

Were Hit by Two Cars, One of Which Drove On

KINGSTON (CP)—Two men who bumped cars on a highway near here Monday night were killed when about the accident when another vehicle crashed into them. Both were killed.

John Robinson, 54, of Kingston and Sol N. Fels of Montreal died while talking near their parked automobiles.

Head of Union Disappointed Over Findings

OTTAWA (CP)—President H.A. Chappell of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (CCL) Canada's largest transport union, Monday expressed mixed disappointment and commendation at the arbitration decision in the union-railway contract dispute.

The immediate outcome is disappointing, the head of the 34,000-member union said, but it will have long-range benefits for railroaders.

The award of Chief Justice Gordon Sloan of British Columbia gave the union men only a fraction of their demands, but the arbitration commission got a federal subsidy to counteract low freight rates on export grain in the West. He said these rates have helped send rail revenues into a decline.

"So far as the contract terms laid down by the arbitrator are concerned," Mr. Chappell said, "it is an extremely disappointing picture. We gave us the absolute minimum.

"But on his long-range analysis of the factors entering into the railway financial situation, he has laid a foundation for a stable job. It is a complete confirmation of what the railwaymen have been saying."

The way in which he has pointed out how the railways are helped is also to be of long range benefit to us. He has brought the matter into the open and put it on the doorstep of the government, and this or some subsequent government is going to have to do something about it."

United Europe Seen As Possible By Mendes-France

May Become Living Reality As Result of Paris Pacts

NEW YORK (AP)—French Premier Pierre Mendes-France said today that udder provisions of the Paris agreements "a united Europe may become a living reality sooner than many people think."

"The new agreements were greatly facilitated by the candid discussion . . . on the problem of Franco-German relations, which is the central problem of Europe," the premier said in a speech prepared for delivery before the Foreign Policy Association.

He continued:

"There was no mistake our intentions. When we speak about Franco-German understanding and co-operation, we are not thinking of setting up an exclusive bilateral club at which the other countries of the Western European Union could take justifiable offence. On the contrary, we are firmly resolved to bring our continental partners into the closest possible association, in order to give harmonious development of the relations between France and Germany. . . ."

FRUVDE FOR CONTROLS

Mendes-France pointed out that the Paris agreements provide for reciprocal controls which apply to the Ruhr and which are determined by a consultation and vote in which Germany has an equal voice.

"I wonder," he said, "if the world can realize what a difficult and soul-searching decision this was for the French people. One out of every two Frenchmen alive today lost a close relative in either the First or Second World War, or was himself wounded, or had his home destroyed. We have founded our present state of international co-operation with our former enemies less than a decade after the most horrible conflict in history in an achievement in which all the European peoples can take deep pride."

Family Troubles Blamed for Big Jail Population

TORONTO (CP)—Family troubles are the root cause of the majority of problems in the Canadian penitentiary, told the board of trade the only effective way to reduce prison population is to build up in them a usually-lacking sense of recognition.

He said this is the main concern of the "new penology" which is based on 1938 and integrated at Collins Bay in 1947.

The new treatment, he said, places emphasis on the personality of the prisoner, the offender like coming inmate and not "just a number" or a convict.

Under the system, there is an ever-increasing degeneration in morals and Christian principles, he said, for scored parents who fail to care whether their children go to church or not.

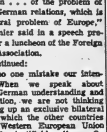
Wooden Boat, Buried 5000 Years, Found in Shadow of Great Pyramid

CAIRO (AP) — Workmen whose ancestors sweated to build the pyramids lifted a 20-ton limestone slab today and revealed a wooden boat buried 5,000 years ago.

A crowd of diplomats, scholars, officials and reporters crowded forward when the workmen lifted the slab of the so-called solar boat of the Pharaoh Cheops, builder of the narrow chamber in the shadow of the Great pyramid.

Cheops' wood to form a stylistic flower, the prow had been detached and lay on the deck along with a perfectly preserved 300-foot coiled rope, planks and pieces of framework.

Many of the spectators declared the boat's scent was a faint aroma arising from the well-preserved woodwork of a car originally brought from Mount Lebanon five millenia ago.



Witnesses of today's ceremony collected in a wooden shed at the base of the Great Pyramid, while working workers lifted with pulleys one of 41 stone slabs forming the boat buried 5,000 years ago.

When the slab was pulled away they descended, one by one, down the front end of the craft nestling in a chamber mysteriously too small to accommodate it.

Kamal el Mallakh, the Egyptian chief of the archaeological department who discovered the chamber last spring, explained that the boat is longer than was previously believed. The length of the chamber indicated the boat would be 119 feet long, but if the detached prow were replaced the boat would be some 130 feet long.

Zaki Nour, chief inspector of the Giza area, explained that the ancient Egyptians frequently buried boats as the best means of transport to immortal life.

ON TRIAL FOR TRIPLE MURDER

77-year-old Gaston Dominicl, a local farmer of Digne, France, brushes tears from his face in one of his varying moods in court during the start of his trial in the 1952 slaying of British matrimon expert, Sir Jack Drummond, Lady Drummond and their 11-year-old daughter. In the opening phases of questioning the farmer told the court he had nothing whatsoever to do with the "disappearance" of Lady Drummond after it was known in France. An identification into the slaying were reopened in 1953 when two sons of Dominici, Gustave and Clovis gave testimony damaging to their father. — Central Press Canadian.

NATO Postpones Discussion On Arming Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Atlantic Treaty Organization leaders have decided to wait until next month before discussing rearmament of West Germany as a member of their anti-Communist alliance.

This was disclosed Monday in a communique at the close of an unexpectedly brief conference of the NATO military commitee, composed of the top officers of the 14 member nations. Gen. Charles Foulkes represented Canada.

The communique said consideration of West German rearmament had been postponed until the December session of the Paris Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Paris in mid-December, presumably to give NATO governments more time to study agreements covering West German participation.

Sir Winston's Portrait Finished, Minus Famous Churchillian Stogie

LONDON (AP)—Artist Graham Sutherland has finished his portrait of Sir Winston Churchill minus the famous Churchillian stogie.

"The cigar was in the picture at one sitting when the prime minister had, in fact— but Sutherland painted it out. Recalling that the portrait is in a way a state picture, Sutherland decided the cigar had to go.

The stogieless picture will be presented to Churchill by Parliament in honor his 80th birthday Nov. 30.

Asked how he found the task of painting the prime minister, Sutherland said: "Very difficult—he said many men."

The portrait shows Churchill in a working mood with his hands relaxed, his gaze challenging and direct, his jaw thrust forward, his striped trousers and a spotted bow tie, his normal attire in the House of Commons.

The prime minister sat eight times, ranging from an hour to two minutes. The sittings were at his country homes, Chequers and Chartwell.

A painter himself, Churchill took considerable interest in the way Sutherland worked. It has been reported that he asked to see the portrait and then the painter wasn't looking, but Sutherland had no comment on this point.

Rotarians Told Of Conservation In Ohio Valley

Advantage of conservation to the general public in the community was pointed up to the Bellerilla Rotary Club Monday night when Ed. Youngman, representative of the Department of Lands and Forests, Dutton County station, spoke to the club's weekly luncheon in the Hotel Quinte.

Mr. Youngman, using as his text "Ohio Valley Flexibility Assets," took for his main example the Muskingum Conservancy," in Ohio.

In 1884 the Muskingum valley sustained the worst flood in the "the same old trouble"—excessive felling of trees by the pioneers leaving insufficient resources to absorb moisture. Nearly 14 years later a worse flood descended on the valley, while the residents of the town of Zanesville were still in the process of evolving a protection device against the flood. Before the second flood engineers suggested that if complete immunity from floods was to be achieved it would be necessary to take the 9,000 miles of the river valley into their scheme. Following a third flood, which incidentally caused $300 millions damage in 1913, the municipal officials approached the state authorities for aid in the scheme and after some more disagreement both parties applied to the Federal government No pertinent results have been forthcoming as the schemes were interrupted by the outbreak of World War II.

EXPERIENCED DROUGHT

Then in 1932 the process of recurring floods and drought recurred and the valley experienced a drought. The authorities then, realized they not only needed water control but also had to develop a method to impound water to guard against another drought.

Nearly 50 years after the first flood had struck the valley action came to be completed by the announcement of Roosevelt's intention of government-sponsored public works programs as part of the New Deal plan for relieving a nation-wide unemployment. Within hours of the announcement the Muskingum Conservancy enfolds a network of four dams, plenty for flood control and ten lakes. One of the things which Mr. Youngman said he liked about the lakes was that they had been stocked with fish, while on the shores cottages and cabins have allowed cottages to be built near them. However, he noted one stipulation that applied to those intending to build the cottages was that no cottage could be built nearer than 100 feet to the edge of the lake. This ensures that all of the lake is open to the public.

SHOW RENEWED INTEREST

(A recent report published by the Muskingum authorities notes that as a result of the control of water and forest conditions, plus the new recreation facilities that have been made available, commerce and industry are showing renewed interest in the valley.")

Mr. Youngman described the conservancy as "one of the most outstanding examples to be seen anywhere of bringing water benefits into assets."

The speaker was introduced by Bill Hurst and thanked by Walter Pierce.

Garbage Collection Will Cost $183,000 for Five-Year Term

Morley R. Smith will be this city garbage collector for the next five years at a contract price of $183,000 over the five-year term.

Mr. Smith's tender for the garbage collection job was accepted by city council Monday night. The tender being chosen over that submitted by Golden Fitzgibbon, whose tender for the five-year term was $174,600. Mr. Smith has been the garbage collector for the past 10 years.

The garbage collection contract was the subject of considerable discussion by councillors before the tenders were accepted.

Comparison between the different types of equipment to be used by the two tenderers took up most of the discussion time but when the tenders were opened and the tenderers' proposals were read their recommendation for acceptance of the Smith tender on the fact that Mr. Smith would be using three new closed trucks for collection with the new by-law and one used truck expected to be used by Mr. Fitzgibbon.

Both tenderers were given the opportunity of addressing council and both were asked by Alderman Gerald Hyde whether the private collection was a firm price for the full five years or whether more money would be asked for if the city annexed more property.

Mr. Smith said his price covered the full five year term regardless of how much the city grew. On the other hand Mr. Fitzgibbon said he had tendered on the garbage collection on the basis of the city's present boundaries.

Several Aldermen said they would favor the Smith tender despite its higher figure if a clause were inserted holding Mr. Smith to his price regardless of whether the city's boundaries were expanded.

Acceptance of the Smith tender was carried 11-1 with only Aldermen Doc Thomas opposing. Favoring Smith were Aldermen Clarke, Duffy, Hyde, Keegan, Moran, Reid, Safe, Sills, Humphreys, Tice and Mayor Both.

Firemen May Get Another $100 Increase

The arbitration board ruling that Belleville police should get a $200 increase in salaries this year will cost the city tax payers another $100 if the increase is also required for the police department.

The award to the police means that city firemen will also receive a $200 increase in wages this year.

The subject was raised in council Monday evening by Mayor John Both who asked that Alderman Ben Sale, chairman of the fire committee explain how the arbitration award to police would affect more than the police department.

According to Alderman Duffy the matter boiled down to the fact that on the first of the year firemen had accepted a $100 increase, across the board on the understanding that if the police went to arbitration and received more than $100 the firemen were going to receive the same increase.

Alderman Duffy noted that the arbitration award to police would thus mean an additional $2,000 to cover similar increases for firemen. He asked that council give him the information to the process made firemen.

Alderman Reid Named Chairman Traffic Committee

Alderman Bryson Reid will finish the year as chairman of the council traffic committee. He was named to the chairmanship at Monday evening's council meeting. Clerk Comptroller H. W. Mitchell announced that with the resignation of Alderman Temple the traffic committee was left without a chairman and also some alderman should be appointed to fill the vacancy.

Two councillors were nominated. Alderman Bryson Reid and Alderman Ben Sale. Alderman Reid got the appointment on a vote of council.

Mayor Answers C of C Critic

Canada is a free and democratic country where the people have power over persons or organizations outside of council.

This was pointed out Monday evening by Mayor J. Both at city council after George DeVuyst, local restaurant owner, asked questions when the local Chamber of Commerce was dictating to council on the type of city government to adopt.

Mr. DeVuyst said there was nothing wrong with the present system of city government by elected representatives and asked why members of the Chamber of Commerce should try to dictate to council.

Mayor Both replied that this was a democratic country with freedom of speech and freedom of the press and council had no control over the activities of any organization outside of council.

Mr. DeVuyst also asked what action had been taken on his request of five weeks ago for a traffic light at the corner of College Street and Canniffon Road, which he described as a very dangerous intersection for school children.

He was told that due to the resignation of the traffic committee chairman there had been no meeting of this committee.

Fifty Millionth Car Produced By General Motors

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — General Motors will celebrate history today as it assembled its 50,000,000th automobile.

The car, a gold-plated and gold-painted model, was assembled in the Chevrolet Flint assembly plant 46 years after GM built its first car.

Production of the car was the signal for the start of a coast-to-coast celebration. Here in Flint, schools were closed and a parade was set through a gaily decorated business section.

It took General Motors a little more than 50 years to build its first million vehicles. Between 1918 and 1929 it built 5,000,000 more. The 25,000,000th vehicle was assembled in January, 1940.

With the production today of vehicle No. 50,000,000, Harlow Curtice, GM president, said the next 50,000,000 will come within another 14 or 15 years.

Catholic Bishops Ask Peron State Basis of Charges

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters) — Members of Argentina's Roman Catholic hierarchy have sent a letter to President Juan Peron asking to be informed of any "concrete charges" he makes against them.

In a recent speech the president accused priests of a clerical conspiracy against the state, and warned them not to interfere in politics.

The bishops' letter said they were "astonished and amazed by the excellency's declarations against a very small number of priests and other Catholic workers and students' organizations."

It expressed "deep pain caused to all of us by the charges made against three of our brothers in the episcopate as open enemies of the government."

Y's Men Charter New Club At Cobourg

Last week presented more than its usual activity for members of the local Y's Men's club. On Monday evening the club carried through its annual radio auction. The club members are appreciative of the co-operation and support of the general public, the local business men, and all others who worked and contributed to making "Radio Auction" successful again this year.

For some time, president Robbie Clarke, and his committee have been organizing and making plans for the charter night of the new Cobourg club. Nearly 40 local men.bers journeyed to Cobourg, Saturday evening. Fifteen Y's Men's clubs from other centres in Ontario were represented with greetings to Y's-dom in far east as Ottawa and as far west as Guelph, Niagara Falls, and Orillia, Sound.

GREETINGS

Among the head table guests, who spoke briefly were, Hon. Dr. J. Burnham, M.D., A. Goodfellow, M.L.A.; Dr. F. G. Robertson, M.D., and Rev. Richard-Jones, Ministerial Association representative. Each in his own words brought greetings to Y's-dom in general and the new Cobourg club in particular. The following Y's Men spoke briefly bringing words of encouragement to the club: Mac Kinnon, international vice-president; Wilf. Robertson, Belleville, Ontario; Gerry Hyde, Eastern Ontario District Governor, and Mac Carthy, Ontario Regional Director of Extension.

The guest speaker was Rollo Smethers, past pres' nt of Y's Men's International, who brought to all a stirring and inspiring address.

"Sickness over past years has made the world a smaller place. Where a trip around the world formerly required several weeks, such a journey now means merely a few hours. Because the race, the peoples of the world are really living much closer together. Naturally, this brings about many more world problems resulting from closer contacts in business in customs, in countries and of course human nature itself.

WORK TOGETHER

"Y's-dom operating in so many countries of the world has such an opportunity for building character and for making the world a better place in which to live. The world will judge Y's-dom on what it has done. One of the great principles of Y's-dom is to work together with the Christian church. Our motto is 'Y's Christian way of life.'"

Rollo Smethers in his inspiring address presented a challenge, not only to the new club members but to all club members present. Y's Men must be enthusiastically active and as live that each may be an example of world Christianity. Be world-minded and try to make the world better by improving themselves each in his own way.

The speaker was introduced by past president, Linton Read and introduced by Ken. Wood, of Cobourg Club.

The members of Cobourg club were then inducted into Y's-dom with an impressive ceremony under the direction of Oscar Wagar. Those assisting were: Ilton Read, Gerry Hyde, Bryson Leslie, Jack Boyd, Don Williams, Gordon Trill and Robbie Clarke.

At the close of the evening, Jack Finlayson, president of Cobourg Club, thanked all who had assisted in making the evening such a success, and gave the club some ideas of the immediate plans for Y's-dom in Cobourg district.

TV Installers Require Licences

Starting on January 1st, individuals or firms doing installation of TV antennas on a commercial basis will have to take out a license to do business in Belleville.

The by-law covering licences for TV installers was given three readings at Monday evening's meeting of council with a fee of $100 set for Belleville firms and $150 for outside firms. In addition there will be a $2 fee covering the installation of each antenna over 15 feet in height. Installations will be subject to inspection by the city building inspector.

Alderman Duffy wanted to make sure that the city was not liable following inspection of TV antennas by a city official. He was assured the matter of liability was fully covered in the by-law.

The by-law calling for licensing of TV antenna installers was requested some months ago by local firms doing installations.

Ald. Angus Duffy Will Not Seek Re-Election

Alderman Angus Duffy, popularly known as the Belleville "fightingest" councillor, will retire from municipal politics next year and will not offer himself for re-election.

This was made known by Alderman Duffy at the conclusion of Monday night's council meeting, when in announcing his retirement from council after eight years in office he said that his time was being too much taken up with both council and duties of his office.

He observed that he thought he had a few good years left and would prefer them with the militia.

"Being an alderman has been a great experience but has been hard and bitter work," said the retiring alderman.

He said he was hoping that good men would come forward and offer themselves in service to the city. He congratulated all persons offering themselves for public service and noted that the city should be grateful to such men.

Service on council was given only at great sacrifice in time and abuse.

SHOULD LEARN HOW

He advised that councillors should learn how to do all committees and then "do the job and let it stop there."

Reaffirming his stand on what he felt were the duties of city council, he said that the job of a council was to raise the money necessary to operate the city through taxation and to determine policy. Execution of that policy should be by paid officials and not by council. Such a program would mean better civic government.

In his eight years in council Alderman Duffy has served on several committees with the fire committee being his first love. He has served as chairman of this committee for several years.

"I am sincerely grateful for the co-operation shown me in council and for my support at election time," he concluded.

Public Relations Manager Will Be Guest Speaker

Fred O. Clayden, industrial and public relations manager of the John Bertram and Sons Company, Ltd., Dundas, Ont., will be guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Quinte District Foremen's Club to be held this evening in the YMCA.

Mr. Clayden, a graduate of the Stockport School of Commerce, joined Lever Bros. in 1929 and in 1939 with the company rose to the position of manager of employee relations. During World War II he was loaned to the Dept. of Labor and assigned to defence plants where he specialized in management training and internal plant public relations.

He was responsible for the introduction into Canada of Job Relations training and conducted the original institutes in this course.

He has been associated with Foremen's Clubs since their inception and was first president of the Fort Foremen's Club organized in Canada.

15 Years' Service Will Bring Three Weeks' Vacation

OTTAWA (CP) — Non-operating railway employees will be granted three weeks' vacation with pay after 15 years' service under the award of Chief Justice Gordon Sloan, chairman of the board of arbitrator in the union-railway contract dispute.

The maximum paid vacation now is two weeks after five years. The unions had asked for three weeks after 15 years and four after 25 years.

Refer to a transmission error. The Canadian Press reported erroneously Monday that the vacations-with-pay provision called for four weeks after 25 years in addition to three after 15).

Bram Humphreys Takes Over Seat Of Ald. Temple

Bram Humphreys, local shoe store operator, shoe repairman and Salvation Army worker, will carry on Ald. Clarence Temple's term of office in city council. With another year of his two-year term still to go, Mr. Temple resigned his seat in council to contest the mayoralty.

Alderman Humphreys attended his first council meeting on Monday evening, occupying the chair left vacant by Mr. Temple, city Clerk-Comptroller H. D. Bateman noted that Mr. Humphreys had stood next highest to elected aldermen at the last municipal election and thus was eligible for appointment to council. He noted that Mr. Humphreys had already taken his declaration of office.

Alderman Humphreys was officially welcomed to council by Mayor Bouth. "I welcome you to council to help take part in conducting the city's business," stated Mayor Bouth.

West College Street Too Narrow For Safety H & S Club Tells Council

A request from the King George Home and School Association for city action in relieving a dangerous condition on West College Street was before city council last night.

The letter from the association noted that the roadway was extremely hazardous for school children and cited one instance where a young school girl had to jump into the ditch to avoid being struck by a passing car. The street is too narrow for safety, the letter said.

The communication was referred to the traffic committee.

A request from the suburban planning committee for the use of the services of the city building inspector for a few hours each month was referred to the public works committee. Alderman Kerr said the work of the planning committee would be extremely valuable but the services of building inspector Barker were available to assist in taking out-lines on property before the roadway extension.

A by-law granting the Shell Oil Company an easement over certain city property in Foster Ward was passed. The company to pay a fee of $250 for the easement. Council was told that the work had been done 20 years ago but that the easement from the city was necessary before the property could be sold.

CRITICIZED FOR STAND

Under general business Alderman Angus Duffy noted that former assistant city engineer Keith Hinson has been criticized for the stand taken by the engineering department in the dispute between the city and F. B. Nash over the amount of material moved during the levelling of a portion of the city industrial area.

He noted that Mr. Hinson and city council had agreed to a survey being made by J. T. Ransom to determine the amount of material moved. The cost of the survey to be paid by Mr. Hinson and the city on a 50-50 basis.

The survey had shown the engineering department, said Mr. Duffy in his statement, in its estimate but Mr. Hinson had not paid his share. The engineering fee and the report was not officially given to council.

Alderman Duffy said the only reason he brought the matter up at this time was because former assistant engineer Cowan who, he felt, had been unjustly criticized for his actions.

Mr. Hinson was in the council chamber at the time and granted permission to speak, said his certified cheque had been in Mr. Ransom's hands for some time.

The Clerk Comptroller said the city's share of the fee had been paid because he had been informed by Mr. Ransom that Mr. Hinson had not fulfilled his part of the bargain.

SUGGESTION NOT APPROVED

A suggestion on the part of Alderman Bruce Reid that part of the $1,200 annual grant given to the Belleville Municipal Band be turned over to the Kinsmen Boys' Band did not meet with the approval of band committee chairman Aldeman Duffy.

Crafts Specialist Conducts Course At K.G. School

Mr. Henry Longstaff, crafts specialist with the Community Programs Branch of the Department of Education, arrived in Belleville to conduct a series of lecture classes, on Monday, and between 50 and 60 enthusiastic Crafts members were present at the afternoon and evening sessions.

Two excellent films were shown in the afternoon "Paper Sculpture" and "Making a Mask" to highlight the theme of the course, "Creative Approach to Craft Design" and to prove that all one needs for those hobbies are paper, scissors, glue and ideas.

Proceeding with the creative idea, Mr. Longstaff distributed the tools and squares of battleship linoleum, and everyone designed a pattern cut into the block, following along the explanation of the seven elements of design: line, direction, shape, size, texture, value, color. The three principles of design: balance, rhythm, repetition, harmony and contrast.

At the evening session, two more films were shown, "Decorating Pottery" and an artist's conception of the music performed by Oscar Peterson's Trio. These films were much enjoyed by everyone present. Mr. Longstaff then directed the printing of the block-prints which had been made during the afternoon session, and the many colored patterns produced was evidence of the interest and enthusiasm of the club members.

These classes are being held in the Arts and Crafts club rooms in King George School every afternoon and evening of this week.

Chin Lacerated As Car Leaves Road, Hits Tree

Mrs. Stephania Elika, Lambert, Quebec, suffered a badly lacerated chin shortly before noon today when the car in which she was riding went off the highway east of the city and struck a tree on the boulevard. She was taken to Belleville hospital by Bush's Ambulance.

Mrs. Elika and her husband were east-bound following another car and truck. The car ahead turned out to pass the truck just as the Elika car swung out to pass both vehicles. The Elika auto went out onto the boulevard, travelled about 175 feet and was spun around as it struck the tree. Damage to the car amounted to about $1,200.

Farmers Want Change In Regulations

TORONTO (CP)—A committee of St. Lawrence river valley farmers said Monday it will back councils asking Premier Frost to make changes in provincial legislation covering compensation of 6,500 valley residents.

The residents will be flooded from their homes by the St. Lawrence seaway power project.

Representatives of the Federation of Agriculture from Leeds, Grenville, Stormont, Glengarry and Dundas counties, forming a special seaway and right-of-way committee, unanimously endorsed the council plan to meet the premier directly, it was reported here.

The committee will seek the support of its parent body, the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, for the councils when they visit the premier.

SAYS PROMISED

In a resolution the committee told the premier that in June he promised to change the St. Lawrence legislation to better protect individual rights in the valley if such a change became necessary.

The committee said under present terms offered by Ontario many farmers will be out of pocket after their forced moves. As a result they will be unable to re-establish themselves at the same standard of living they now have.

It said the valley basis for compensation—fair market value plus a percentage of consequent hardship—was not an adequate yardstick in the St. Lawrence valley. It said the threat of flooding over a period of years had depressed land values until it was impossible to establish fair market value.

Last week Hydro expropriated Monday men, most of its farm land, to provide the site for relocation of hospoals, largest community affected by the seaway project.

INCOME TAXATION STATISTICS

With the compliments of Hon. James J. McCann, Minister of National Revenue, we have received a volume which, while it will never make the "best-seller" list, yet bestirs our interest.

It is entitled "Taxation Statistics—1954."

This is a misnomer. The book actually deals with 1952 figures—or rather figures for the 1952 "taxation year," that twelve-month period which terminated on March 31, 1953.

From it we learn that 7,190 Belleville residents have declared that they had taxable incomes during this period.

Their total declared income was $23,844,000. they claimed exemptions amounting to $13,159,000, and paid $2,311,000 in taxes on the remaining $10,685,000 of net taxable income.

All these statistics are, in the vernacular of the accounting trade, "rough figures."

"All money figures in thousands of dollars," says the report. We can appreciate the reason for that. It saves a lot of time and effort.

We are, however, at a loss to understand why the number of persons paying taxes is just given to the nearest multiple of ten. The report does not say that this is the method followed, but we are certain that this is so. The figures for the number of income taxpayers in all the cities in Canada all end in a zero and it is obvious that that cannot be true.

The number of taxpayers in different income groups is also broken down in similar manner, to the nearest multiple of ten. Here a little guesswork has been added by using an asterisk, in the place of a number, where the total in any income group is under 100.

It may be interesting to learn that there were fewer than 100 Belleville residents who filed a taxable return and who had incomes of less than $1,000. Similar asterisks appear after the $7,000 to $8,000, $8,000 to $9,000, $9,000 to $10,000 and over $15,000 groups, but in the $10,000 to $15,000 income class there were 110 fortunate citizens.

Largest group of taxpayers was 1,120 in the $2,000 to $2,500 bracket, followed by 1,100 in each of the $2,500 to $3,000 and $3,000 to $3,500 classes. In Ontario as a whole the largest group of taxpayers is in the $3,000 to $3,500 class, next in line are the 217,850 in the $3,000-$3,500 class and the 197,190 in the $2,000-$2,500 group. Smallest group is the $8,000-$10,000 class, 5,685, which compares with 14,570 between $10,000 and $15,000 and 11,650 over $15,000.

WHITTON'S WITS

Charlotte Whitton, Ottawa's diminutive but dynamic mayor, burst onto the front pages of many Canadian dailies recently with the announcement that Liberal and Progressive Conservative groups had forged a "get Whitton" alliance to oust her from the mayor's chair in the December election. She said that she was not able "in the day left to me" to fight that sort of combination, but that she might change her mind if the situation alters.

Both Liberal and Progressive Conservative groups in Ottawa and Miss Whitton's opponents have denied any such alliance. They also pointed out that Miss Whitton still had not declared any intention of seeking another term at the time of her announcement.

Any doubts about Miss Whitton's candidacy should have been dispelled by her latest manoeuvres. Her subsequent announcement as a candidate came almost as an anti-climax. Her harried opponents must be suffering the acute frustrations that accompany attempts to punch smoke as they deny the existence of an alliance on the one hand, and any association with a purported alliance on the other.

Miss Whitton, her protestations to the contrary, is in no need of sympathy as the public object of a "get Whitton" alliance. She is perfectly capable of taking care of herself if any such alliance ever dares to confront her. Her announcement of such an alliance, and the creation of an underdog role for herself, is sufficiently astute to destroy the effect of any possible alliance on the thinking of the voters. Her own excellent Charlotte Whitton Committee is a match for the public opposition, singly or-in combination, that might be mustered against her.

Miss Whitton has proven again, if further proof were needed, that her brand of dramatic personal politicking, in contrast to the decisive efforts of alliances, is indigestible to Ottawa. If it is to escape the characterless municipal anonymity of its role as provider of room and board for the federal governments.

Ottawa would not be the same without Miss Whitton insisting on councillors wearing robes of office and tricornered hats; having civic celebrations with council barring down the Rideau canal; receptions for a Queen Mother with toasts of apple cider, and Big Four football inaugurals with Miss Whitton's opening kickoffs.

Most cities have mayors. Only Ottawa can claim Charlotte Whitton.

Albert Bouchard, vice-president of the Quebec rural electrification commission, described as an unknown figure politically, is likely to receive an appointment to the Quebec Upper House. Out of obscurity into obscurity.

THE WEATHER

It's obvious the weather pays
No heed to man when he complains.
When he invents pleasant holidays,
It is in the mood it rains.

The grumbler finds his wishes vain
However dear to him they are.
He can't expect that it will rain
The day when he has washed the car.

The weather isn't made to choose
For him it's plain it little cares.
It rains the day he shines his shoes
Or when some raiment new he wears.

It's just a waste of time to wail.
The blazing sun, the cold that nips,
The rain, the snow, the sleet, the hail,
All have to take whatever comes.

At an appropriate time during the evening a presentation on behalf of the whole floor lamp was made to Mr. and Mrs. Mills who expressed in a fitting manner their appreciation of the gifts. It is with great regret that the members of the club and fans in general have learned that Peeper" has definitely decided to retire from the sport he has honored so long in this district.

Professor Plays Trick

(Saturday Night)

Our respect for electronic brains increased when a playful professor (let him be nameless) fed what he believed to be a collection of endearing words into the computer at Manchester university. And the lost-suffering machine dutifully re-assembled the mess in the following order: "Darling sweetheart, you are my avid fellow feeling. My affection curiously longs to your passionate wish. My liking yearns for your heart, for you, my wistful sympathy, my tender liking. Yours beautifully——"

It is quite clear that these computers as well as being handy with figures, have pretty strong stomachs, and the next logical experiment would be to give the Manchester machine the professor to chew, digest and spit out, all nicely re-assembled.

Shirk Burdens

(The Rural Scene)

In recent years some of us have forgotten that, as John Stuart Mill pointed out, "the worth of a state, in the long run, is the worth of the individual composing it." Instead we have tried to transfer the characteristics of the individual to the State and hoped that the latter would carry on its corporate shoulders the burdens which the individual citizens were loath to assume.

Generals Vs. Privates

(The Times of London)

The relations between the private soldier and his general have never been wholly satisfactory. Nobody is to blame for this. In all armies the private soldiers outnumber the generals, more often than not by a very large majority. This numerical disproportion is in itself sufficient to create, especially in a democracy, a sense of malaise. Other factors contribute to this. All the soldiers (who reason the matter very closely in their spare time) agree that there are too many generals; all the generals (who are paid to reason the matter very closely during office hours) agree that there are too few soldiers. The intellectual disequilibrium thus created is bound to have, and always does have, emotional repercussions. What with the generals complaining that there were more soldiers, and the soldiers wishing that there were fewer generals, the chances of anything like a cosy understanding between the two them were always slender; and these slender chances are further impaired by the nature of their circumstances.

The general is often compelled by the exigencies of the service to think—or anyhow to talk and to write—in terms of hecatombs in somewhat abstract and technical language. The man-power ceiling, the intake, the divisional silos—jargon of this kind recurs in the memoranda of generals which, as the French Army was in modern times the first to realise, is a great help if you want to pass off an art as a science. The general, thus equipped, has poor and less ulcerous days, has fewer sleepless nights and feels (like) them; this increases his urge to stop talking about them to colleagues over lunch and go and see them not on a graph, but in the flesh.

At this project does not always meet with the approval of the soldiers. They, after fighting for their lives, the appearance of a general, or a politician, or a popular comedian in the forward areas would hearten them. But their morale is also boosted in a number of duties and preparations which seem to them, on a broad view, to tend to the end of defending their Queen and her realm.

It is true that they may be impressed by, they may even like, the big picture in their generals' heads—the big picture which, as Montrose once said, "a child of ten could see" (Query: What Crown?) but Wellington's "Publish not Anthony's Garters" are safe, but if there have been any appointments to the Order of the Thistle, these being made by Her Majesty, the Queen of Scotland, they are worthless. Mr. Justice Abbott has not really been appointed to the Supreme Court nor Mr. Pickersgill to the Cabinet. The fact is that the situation is fraught. And we don't quite know what with.

Tragic Laugh In Yugoslavia

(Democratic Digest)

The elections in Russia and Yugoslavia have returned Malenkov and Tito to power. The outcome, in neither country was an upset, except both candidates achieved improved majorities. Malenkov's vote was 99.77 per cent. This compares with the previous high of 99.73 per cent established by Stalin in 1950. Last year parliament elected Tito by 854 to 1. This year the vote was 535 to 0, which leaves the marshal very little room for future improvement. In reporting this vote, the New York Times printed the saddest sentence of the year: "Laughter rippled through the chamber when the presiding officer asked if there were any other candidates."

Thought for Today

(St. Catharines Standard)

There were never more liars in the world than there are today. Instead of meaning the word religious. He possessed no Bible and just given up rolling somersaults every morning, doing the daily breathing exercise two or three times a day and now is getting a canister exercise I enjoy excellent health. I'm a stinge if I gave a thought to my low blood pressure or my heart—I know nothing about it—these pulsations that don't come through.

Remembering in the junkroom the other day I noticed my Jaccoway sphygmomanometer (measury column) and it reminded me that the few times my blood pressure was measured was when I was forty years (life insurance examinations and so on) and on the underwent general health examinations for the fun of it, I have not asked or cared just how systolic, pelvis, degrees, notches, inches or millimeters I was. Scots Raise Ticklish Point

(Calgary Herald)

Two Scottish spinsters have refused to pay their income tax in Scotland, as in Canada or anywhere else, refusing to pay your income tax inevitably leads to difficulties with the Revenue, and consequently these two ladies have landed in hot water.

Their explanation is, to say the least, intriguing. Income tax, they say, is levied "in the name of Her Majesty." They once heard the Queen speak on the radio, and they thought—though one must admit less to some difficulty in believing this) that the Queen referred to herself as "Queen of England." But, the spinster ladies continue, income tax north of the Tweed is levied in the name of the Queen of Scotland—a title—which, they argue, Queen Elizabeth, on her own admission, does not hold. Therefore HM Commissioners of Income Tax are attempting to levy income tax upon Scots in the name of a Queen who doesn't exist.

The Scottish judge, having listened to the evidence, ruled that the ladies had "raised an interesting constitutional point," and has reserved judgment. Nothing that we say here is to be taken as influencing his decision, but speculation one way or the other; we are not entitled to be cited for contempt in Edinburgh.

"An interesting point" is this week's understatement. If the spinster ladies are right, they are likely to be the only entire British Commonwealth. For if, having described the Queen as Queen of England, the Queen thereby disqualified herself from the throne of Scotland, she presumably follows that she is equally disqualified from the thrones of New Zealand, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Pakistan and Canada.

In all these countries, income tax is levied since the Queen is the name—and none of the tax levied since Her Majesty's accession is illegal. And since she uttered the fateful word "Queen of Regina" in 1952, much money has been collected. Every taxpayer in the British Commonwealth outside Great Britain will be entitled to a full refund.

Not at all. Hundreds of statutes have been passed in the Queen's name. ("Her Majesty, by and with the consent, etc., enacts . . .") None of these laws will be valid. Thousands of citizens have been arrested, tried, convicted and imprisoned in the Queen's name. They will be entitled almost always sure to be trusted and heeded.

The Y.M.C.A. organization has an emblem and motto which we can all adopt as our own—body, mind, and spirit—balancing each one with the other. Integrity is far more valuable possession than

Hindu Way To Dun Debtor

A study of the ways of Hindu non-violence shows it does strange things to bill collectors.

Not the old days, when the Thirsty, the foot in the door, the threat of civil suit and the tactics of quick repossession. Instead, they take themselves to the debtor's residence, camp on his doorstep and fast until he makes settlement.

This system never works here. Too many debtors would be only too happy to have you out upon a loan shark, or other bill collector, who was slowly yielding to the inroads of malnutrition.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

HOW OLD ARE YOUR ARTERIES?

Medical authorities have been publishing their views on the doctrine of the hardening of the arteries (arteriosclerosis), which, in his own, since the first issue of the "Scientific Monthly" in 1892.

I'm no authority about this or anything else, armed with little respect for those who use words to fill the blank spaces between thoughts. But I have browsed on the medical literature ever since Hoppy was a colt; learning just enough about blood pressure and arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) to realize that most people and some physicians regard one or both subjects as dire ones, whereas in fact high blood pressure and/or arteriosclerosis in most instances may be a favourable, compensatory change which maintains good circulation, and not a malady to be "treated blindly with drugs, diets and other measures beneficial to the doctor and Aunt Polly.

TODAY'S TALK

KEEP WELL BALANCED

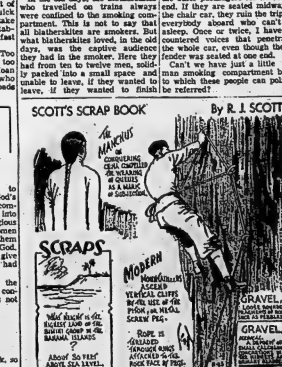
The well-balanced person is the best one for a friend, for then every discussion will be one in which all sides are included so that in the end both parties gain and have increased their mental store from the talk. It's the off-balance person who starts to make up that is unworthy.

A well balanced and you will have many valuable followers. You will even have friends at court.

You will find a companion, friend or associate in business. It's such a pleasant experience to have a well-balanced person around and with-in easy call. Who wouldn't want to be that kind?

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK



It is a tragedy to see the old smoking compartment go from the Pullman cars. But we are powerless to allow smoking right out in the coach itself. The porter comes along and sets an ash tray beside each chair.

Being a smoker, this appeals to me as the ideal arrangement. People who do not smoke must find it extremely annoying. But the reason the ability of the little smoking compartment at the end of the coach is large enough to be left, but the washbasins is lose upon us all.

In the old days, the washbasins who travelled on trains always were confined to the smoking compartment. This is not to say that all washbasins are smokers. But what blatherskites they were in those days, was the captive audience they had in the smoker. Here they could bore ten to twelve men, solidly packed into a small space and unable to escape, as they wanted to leave, if they wanted to finish their smoke. A characteristic of these bores in those days, was that eternal grind and groan of male violees coming out of the room. The sound of it as you walked through the train corridor.

Then the ear itself, a lovely peace prevailed. But how is it now? The blatherskites have no audience at all so much of it as they can reach—for their audience. Each one is like a dentist's drill has not trespassed on the lawful privacy of the smoking compartment to which it belonged. If they are seated midway of the chair car they ruin the peace for the unfortunately aboard who can't fall asleep. Once or twice, I have encountered voices that penetrated the whole car, even though the offender was seated at one end.

Can't we have just a little two-man smoking compartment back, which would keep people on pollery for the City's Reception For Grey Cup Will Be 'Dry'

TORONTO (CP) — The city's Grey Cup reception following the annual East-West football final will be "dry" this year.

Mayor Leslie Saunders, a teetotaller, said Monday the city will not supply liquor at the annual dinner in the Royal York Hotel honoring the two teams in the final.

"It's up to the visitors to supply liquor for anybody," he said.

Liquor has been paid for by the city at the reception in previous years.

It is possible the guests at this year's reception will be served liquor as somebody will "squeeze in a room near where the city's reception is held."

The city frequently works closely with other organizations on major functions, one supplying the food, the other the refreshments.

Invite Orthodox Churches to Join Canadian Council

By STEWART ANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KINGSTON (CP)—The Canadian Council of Churches has decided to ask orthodox churches in Canada, such as Greek, Russian and Ukrainian, to send representatives to council.

A committee is to be appointed to determine a way to cover all branches of these churches.

Canon W. H. Wade, Church of England clergyman from Dorval, Quebec, and Mrs. Wade, head of representatives from the orthodox churches limited ecumenical development.

Dr. W. J. Gallagher, general secretary, said no official move had been made as there was no central body to approach.

CONSIDERED REPORTS

Council today moved on to consideration of reports on the evangelism and Christian education departments, the Student Christian Movement of Canada and the World Council of Churches meeting last summer at Evanston, Ill.

Earlier, council decided to send to its resolutions committee a statement, brought in by president Rev. E. E. Hallman of Fenwick, Ont. He said a statement was needed to council "in the growing trend, in national and community life, to exclude practically all elements of worship from public observances, from which the Christian will citizens, would ordinarily invoke the blessing and guidance of God.

"While we favor the complete separation of church and state, and while we recognize the differences in faiths in our community and national life, still we do not want to see the complete exclusion of public ceremonies and observances in a predominantly Christian country," said Mr. Hallman.

He called for unified action "wherever or however the trend whenever and whenever it arises."

Dr. Gallagher said three major concerns of council were Christian fellowship among churches, interchurch co-operation and the search for a more adequate and more effective expression of Christian unity.

"We are one in Christ, yet we are divided in our churches," said Dr. Gallagher. "This paradox distresses most of us and we believe it ought to be resolved."

He said it was not council's function to promote schemes of church union.

"But it is our function to keep this paradox before the churches, and to keep alive the question whether they really can be satisfied with the present situation as being in accord with Christ's will for His church, and whether we are doing all that we can and should to manifest our unity in Christ."

Sought Air Time Stirs Speculation

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rumbling Senator Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) appeared to strike out with fresh blows at his critics or is he ready to make some sort of retraction designed to soften the tensure charges pending against him in the United States Senate?

Colleagues puzzled over this question today even though the Wisconsin Republican was refused the forum he sought—free television time over the National Broadcasting Co. network on Thursday. Nobody was talking turkey down, without explanation, the senator's bid for 15 minutes of free air time.

McCarthy himself wasn't answering calls placed to him by reporters, although he posed for newspictures showing him with his son Jean, at Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital where he went last week for treatment of an injured elbow.

In his absence, the Senate is marking time until next Monday with the likelihood that debate on a censure resolution will be delayed beyond that date if he is not out of the hospital.

McCarthy was said to have undergone minor surgery Monday, although there was some confusion over the question—whether one or two different definitions of the word "operation."

A hospital spokesman, declining to elaborate, said "no operation was performed."

However, McCarthy was quoted by Al Muto, photographer for International News Photos, as saying that "doctors operated on the injured right elbow . . . to remove fragments of glass" and might do so again today.

McCarthy has said he incurred the injury when a well-wisher shaking hands with him jammed his elbow into a glass table top.

DISAGREEMENT IN HIGH PLACES?

Georgi Malenkov (right) Soviet premier, and Nikita Khrushchev (left) communist party boss, are reported in disagreement over co-existence talks with the West, according to newspaperman Kingsbury Smith. Smith cites a Moscow report from French Ambassador Louis Joxe, who stated Khrushchev was violently opposed to German sovereignty, declaring ratification of the Paris accord would leave nothing to talk about. Needless to say, believed future talks important. Smith is European chief of International News Service. (Central Press Canadian).

Britain Prepares to Celebrate 80th Birthday of Churchill

BY FRASER WIGHTON

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain is preparing to celebrate Sir Winston Churchill's 80th birthday Nov. 30 with messages and written tributes to his statesmanship, his political genius, his versatility and his wit.

Appropriately, a group of new books timed to coincide with the prime minister's birthday includes one devoted to "The Wit of Winston Churchill" (Hart Parrish and Company, London) by Geoffrey Wilans and Charles Rostron.

The book gives an intimate picture of the less serious side of the prime minister's mind and the way which he exploits it in the House of Commons.

RELATE STORY

Let the authors tell what once happened in the tough Caldwell, forechamber of the House of Commons.

"At first only a few members noticed what was going on, but soon the whole House, even the people in the galleries was craning in his direction. Mr. Gaitskell hesitated and then stopped, the thread of his argument broken beyond repair. He had 'lost' the House.

"Sir Winston seemed to be blissfully unaware of what had happened until he looked up to find everyone's eyes upon him. He glanced across at Mr. Gaitskell and was heard to mutter by way of explanation—'I was only looking for my jujube.'"

CEREMONIOUS ENTRANCE

The authors describe the daily scene when Churchill takes his place on the government front bench in the House.

Accompanied by a bustle of activity behind the Speaker's chair. The tall elegant figure of Mr. Patrick Buchan-Hepburn, the government chief whip, steps gravely into the chamber preceding a hushing a hurried warning to the ministers present.

Then comes a quick glance in the direction of the doorway . . .

"Captain Charles Pretyman, Sir Winston's son-in-law and his parliamentary private secretary follows in some ceremony, his shoulders hunched and his massive head thrust forward. A quick look around the House, at the (opposition) front bench opposite . . . at the public gallery, and he slumps down in his seat, fumbling with his hearing aid."

The authors say that when Churchill first had to resort to hearing aids in the House, he was extremely reluctant to be seen using them. Now, they declare, however, he has come to employ them as a weapon in debate, like his glasses."

CHOSE LAWYER

GALT (CP) — South Waterloo Conservatives Monday night chose Ray M. Meyer, a local lawyer, as their candidate in the next provincial election. His name was the only one brought before the convention.

Hastings Farm Forum

(By WANDA SINE)

Brookdale, Hazzards and Bivalley Farm Forums report interesting discussions held on the topic, "The Farmers' Share" on November 15. Hazzard's had a top attendance of 26, while the others each had 11.

There has been a great change in our method of buying in the last few years. (1) Smaller quantities packaged and processed and of greater variety; (2) farmers do not make bread or butter any more; (3) apples are never bought by the barrel, only by basket or hamper. (4) Fresh meat and fish are preferred to salt pork; there is a meagre storage space in small houses and apartments; (6) the introduction of specialized farming is the cause of more farmers buying their own farm products.

Every one of these factors has some bearing on the higher prices paid for food.

Some of the things the farmer must do: (1) produce a product that must appeal to the consumer, attractive package; (2) high quality product, e.g. washed vegetables, sterile container, lean meats, etc.; (3) farmers leaving small amounts of cheese can be bought, cut and wrapped in tin foil. (These are preferably over larger cheese and promote sale and consumption.)

Hazzards seem the answer to the problem of supplying the demand. A central market for quality and attractive packaging, in order for the farmer to receive a fair return in a marketing cooperative. Here the produce could be processed and packaged to suit the consumer.

Brookdale enjoyed a geography match for recreation.

DEMORESTVILLE

Bear and Three Cubs Killed Near Millbridge

DEMORESTVILLE — Theodore Trumble is not going to forget his 1954 hunting trip for some time. One deep footprint and he would have landed in the centre of a modest sized bear and three cubs.

He had pushed his way through the poplar slash and stood on a log to get a good view. On peering he saw a bear coming. He growl and nearly at his feet was an angry bear, ready to protect her cubs. His first shot proved to be a lucky one. The rest of the hunting party dispatched the three cubs. Hunting near Millbridge with him were Noel Trumble, Pierce Jones, Cecil Hambly, John Hoit, Amos Shortt, and Linton Hambly. The party brought home four bears and six deer.

Weddings

JACKSON—STEVENS

St. Peter's Presbyterian church, Madoc, was the setting on Saturday, November 20, at 3:30 p.m., for a very pretty autumn wedding when Doreen Marie Stevens, of Madoc, Ontario, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Sanniel Stevens, became the bride of Kenneth R. A. Jackson, of Northbrook, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackson. The Rev. J. F. Lane officiated before a lovely background of white, yellow and bronze pom 'mums, and an altar surrounded with spruce boughs.

Mrs. Emma Reid, of Madoc, was organist for the occasion, and accompanied the soloist, Miss Anne Nickle, of Madoc, who sang "I'll Walk Beside You," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. J. Sanniel Stevens, the bride was attired in a lovely bridal gown of white nylon net over satin with lace bodice with iridescent sequin trim on neckline. She wore a nylon net fingertip veil with matching net coronet, and carried a bouquet of red Sweetheart roses and white carnations.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Shirley Stevens, of Toronto, as maid of honor, gowned in yellow nylon net over satin in ballerina length, with matching head dress, and carrying a semi-cascade of bronze pom 'mums.

Miss Marion Stevens, sister of the bride, and Miss Doreen Bailey, both of Madoc, were bridesmaids, wearing mauve, ballerina length gowns of nylon net over satin with matching headdresses, and carrying semi-cascades of yellow pom 'mums.

Little Bonnie Stevens, also sister of the bride, was flower girl, sweet in her blue nylon frock with matching headdress and carrying a basquet of pink Sweetheart roses mingled with bronze and white pom 'mums.

Mr. Gordon Stoat, of Northbrook, Ontario, attended the bridegroom, while Messrs. Albert Jackson, of Kingston, Ontario, brother of the bridegroom, and George Both, of Northbrook, acted as ushers.

At the reception, which was held in the church Sunday school rooms, the bride's mother wore grey nylon bengaline with black and white accessories, and corsage of red carnations. She was assisted in receiving by the bridegroom's mother, who wore navy crepe with pink accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls and the United States, the bride chose a blue-grey suit with navy accessories and corsage of orchids.

Guests were present from Northbrook, Toronto, Belleville, Kingston, Kaladar, Napanee, Sulphide, Queensboro, Delora, Marmora and Redneersville.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson will reside in Northbrook, Ontario.

Mrs. C.D. Howe Has Ample Opportunity to Practise Role Of Grandmother in Summer

By PEGGY THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Mrs. C. D. Howe styles herself a matriarch. She has 12 grandchildren.

"It is the role in which I feel most competent and most at home," the wife of Canada's minister of trade and commerce and defence production said in an interview.

She had ample opportunity to practise the rôle of grandmother this summer when 12 grandchildren visited her summer home at St. Andrew's, P.Q., at one time. She has two sons and three daughters.

ROCKCLIFFE HOME

A dignified and gracious woman, Mrs. Howe was wearing a simple brown wool dress when interviewed in her large stone house in Rockcliffe. She combs her grey hair straight back into a bun at the nape of her neck.

Her living room supports her claim to the title of matriarch. Side tables, piano top and mantel are crowded with family photographs.

Mrs. Howe was born in Boston and educated at Smith College in Massachusetts.

"But I've been a Canadian more years than I was an American," she said. She has been in this country since her marriage in 1914.

"However, my children often say that I was born in New England and never got over it," she added with a smile.

SOMETHING BETTER

"The children, being born Canadians, often have entirely different notions," she added.

"Mrs. Howe has been a cabinet minister for nearly 20 years, longer than any other member of the present cabinet. During this time, however, Mrs. Howe has never been involved in her husband's political life. In fact, Mr. Howe once said in the Commons that he always has tried to separate his family from public life.

Despite long experience as a cabinet wife, Mrs. Howe says that she has no strong opinions.

"I suppose it has a number of advantages and privileges, but then it also carries responsibilities," she said. "It is rather a double - barrelled existence. You find yourself tied to the life of your constituency and at the same time to the life in Ottawa.

"This can be rather complicated when your constituency is as far away from Ottawa as ours." Mr. Howe is a member for Fort Arthur, Ont.

GARDENING HOBBY

Social life can be complicated, too.

"I may plan a dinner party for some friends and then discover my husband has made a speech somewhere else."

The Howe home is, as Mrs. Howe expresses it, creeping with books. She enjoys reading, particularly biographies and books on gardening, her favorite hobby.

Christ Church E.B.W.A. Plans Coming Events

Last evening the Evening Branch of Christ Church W.A. met in the parish hall for its fall business meeting of the year. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Everett Smith.

Mrs. H. Ingram read the Scripture, which was followed by reports given by Mrs. W. Edwards, Mrs. J. Spencer, and Miss F. Reid. Letters were read from Mrs. G. Base, who recently left the city. The monthly Diocesan letter was also read.

Mrs. A. Cooper was welcomed back after her holiday spent in the south, and a film "The Tribe from Canadian mills. Six Montreal models will parade the styles. Furs, shoes and accessories all come from this country.

Hon. Ray Lawson, Canadian consul general in New York, will open the show and Barbara Markham, Miss Canada of 1954, will show off three outfits from her new wardrobe, supplied by the couturier association.

Following the New York showing the association hopes to send a collection to the international trade fair in Brussels next spring, with the blessings of the Canadian government.

Through the marriage of the textile industry's technical skill with this new group of talented creative people, we believe Canada's fashion industry could gain world-wide recognition and markets," said association president Raoul-Jean Fourie of Montreal.

Sister Mary Timothy; recording secretary, Mrs. Jack Hallonan; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mark Reid; treasurer, Mr. Leonard Farrell.

President James Culligan took the chair and welcomed the new executive.

Mr. Bruce Thompson gave a brief talk and suggested that the newly formed Holy Rosary P.T.A. purchase the quiz pack, the formation and organizing of this unit to be held over until the next regular meeting, Thursday, December 7.

The meeting was closed by Rev. Father Michael Simson.

Designers to Have All-Canadian Show in N.Y. Next Month

By PAULINE KENNEDY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian fashion designers have decided on the big plunge — an all-Canadian show in New York next month.

Organized this year, the Association of Canadian Couturiers has already exhibited in Montreal and Ottawa, but this marks its first salon outside Canada.

On Dec. 7 at New York's Hotel Pierre 11 designers will present 40 cruise and resort-wear outfits to the critical eye of some of the world's top fashion authorities.

JOINT EFFORT

The show is exclusively Canadian. It is sponsored jointly by the government, the couturiers and Canadian textile industries.

All well as spotlighting native designs, all materials—wools, cottons, and synthetic fabrics—come

Miss Y. Frank Addresses CAS

Prior to the November meeting of the board of the C.A.S., the members were introduced to Miss Veronica Frank, field supervisor, Child Welfare Branch, Ontario Department of Public Welfare, who addressed the meeting.

Mr. J. F. Wilson, who presided, welcomed the members. The minutes of the last general meeting and those of the finance committee were read by Mrs. C. Holmes. Mr. C. L. Ryde submitted the treasurer's report.

PLACED FOR ADOPTION

Mr. Bruce Kerr, superintendent of the C.A.S. reported there are now 348 children in the care of the society. Three children were placed for adoption in October. Mr. Kerr spoke of the protection, child care, and adoption services, and also the work in connection with unmarried parents.

Plans for the Xmas gifts given and received by the children are being made. Each child will be sent, as has been the custom, to foster parents.

RESIGNATION ANNOUNCED

It was with regret that the resignation of Mrs. E. Littlejohn from the staff was announced, as she and her husband are leaving Belleville. A new staff member has been appointed, although the need for one has not been advertised in Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto or Kingston.

A committee was formed to arrange for changing of one of the cars used by the staff, to a station wagon.

Mr. Wilson commended the workers on the Community Chest Campaign.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mr. Kerr expressed pleasure in introducing Miss Veronica Frank and said she had had many years of experience as field supervisor.

Miss Frank stated that, in Child Welfare work we were all trying to get the best service for the children, but there are not enough trained people. We want well adjusted, happy citizens. Are we keeping those in our care to be responsible people in the community? We should be very grateful to foster parents. A worker has to be able to help them with advice through difficult situations.

FINE PROGRESS

Miss Frank congratulated the local C.A.S. on the progress that had been accomplished. The field and clerical staffs have been increased so that the case load on each worker has been reduced, so one member of the staff remarked. "We have time now to get to know our children." There is more study of foster homes, a capable worker, placing children for adoption, we her salary over and over. The first time service of a psychologist has been good.

Mrs. E. E. Follwell thanked the speaker, and expressed pleasure that head office should compliment this agency.

Mr. H. C. Seldon introduced Mr. D. Sterling, assistant principal of Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School, who was chosen unanimously as a member of the board of the C.A.S.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

GOOD DAYS ARE COMING!

Good days are coming . . . Christmas, New Year's! And a good time it is, a particularly good time, for Good Thoughts, Good Words, Good Deeds, Good Manners.

FIVE BASIC RULES FOR NAMES ON CHRISTMAS CARDS

Do you know. . .

1. That: If you want your Christmas cards to be informal, . . and naturally most Christmas cards are informal. . . your name on them must be your informal name. Your informal name. . . whether imprinted or written. . . is your signature after the message: Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. . . Ruth and Peter Holly

2. That: It is absolutely incorrect to use your formal name. . . whether imprinted or written. . . after the message. This is incorrect: Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. . . Mr. and Mrs. John Frost

3. That: When the time for signing the Christmas cards to be sent by her husband and herself, she should, necessarily, sign her name last:

Peter and Ruth Holly

When the husband signs any of the cards, perhaps some to business friends, he, courteously signs his name last: Ruth and Peter Holly.

4. That: When the names of husband and wife are imprinted at the end of the message, the wife's name comes first:

Christmas Greetings

Ruth and Peter Holly

5. That: When children's names are included in the signature, whether written or imprinted, the father's name comes first:

Joe-and Josephine and Joey

The names of several children may be included in this informal way: The Nesons—John and Mary, and Polly and Joan and Johnnie

TEACHER SIGNS HER CHRISTMAS CARDS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:
